Here's Table for Budgeting Course Labor Cost

Compiled by WM. H. ASTON, Detroit

There is always an element of uncertainty when preparing a budget of labor costs. The length of the work day may vary in spring, summer and fall, and there are holidays, half days on Saturday, and some rainy weather to be taken into consideration. In order to simplify this, I have prepared this schedule. As the rate paid for labor may vary from year to year, I have taken the hour as a basis and figured an average of 24 full working days to the month.

As an explanation of how the scale works, assume you wish to employ 8 men for any one month on a 9-hour day. Notice by the schedule that you set up 1584 hours for that month; multiply this by the hour rate you contemplate paying and the result shows the labor cost for that month.

Night Watering of Fairways

Based on one man for 10 hours per night, $9 nights—average of 270 hours per month—if 2 men are employed double the hours.

Sunday Morning Work

Raking traps, mowing greens, etc.—3 hours per man—6 men each Sunday—Average 11 hours per man per month.
