Spalding Registered clubs are the lead-off item of the Spalding 1947 line of golf clubs. Spalding proudly claim they alone go to such extreme measures to insure the finest quality of materials and craftsmanship combined with the proper relative size, weight and balance. They say that they can duplicate any club from a Registered set if they know the Registered number. And, they tell you they can introduce any owner of a Registered set to the particular workmen who produced his clubs.

In the polishing room Registered sets begin when the finest heads and shafts, both in quality and workmanship, are carefully checked, graded and sorted. At one of the work benches a young man named Irving Cohen carefully scrutinizes iron heads. When one measures up to all the requirements he compares it with some others in a small batch. Finally he gets 8 iron heads that meet with his approval and the Bobby Jones Registered Set Number 184637B is begun. This number had already been stamped on the No. 9 iron so it automatically becomes the master number for the entire set. At this point the special Registered Card is attached, the steel shafts are selected and placed with the heads, and No. 184637B is ready to commence its journey down the production line.

The clubs arrive at Herman Bienvenue's bench and he screws the heads on the shaft with the patented thread assembly. Next, Ed Sliva, a young man wearing goggles cuts all the shafts to their proper lengths. The next stage is having the ferrule turned down by Bernard Lafleur. This means planing off the edge of the plastic ferrule so it's flush with the hosel. The shavings are washed off by Cookie Pajak—a low 70 player on the Spalding Williamsept plant championship golf team.

Now the 8 irons pass to assembly inspection by Joseph Rafferty. If any particular club fails to pass one of the frequent inspections it is corrected without delay and the set continues; if the defect is of major proportions (an infrequent occurrence) a new iron is specially made and brought along to whatever stage the set is in and then substituted.

The set then is ready to acquire the patented Jones grip. Rose Bulecza marks and primes the ends of the shafts; Tom Paige (another golf team member) puts on the foundation or cork forms; Wanda Urbanik winds thin paper strips around these cork forms to hold them securely in place until they have thoroughly dried; Peggy Susasseville lines up the forms; John Smelhurst wraps and trims the grips; Mae Cluski winds long pieces of cloth in the grips; Al Ryan puts the whole set in an oven to bake the grips onto the shafts; Josephine Bulecza pulls off the cloth strips after the baking is finished; John Michalski trims the grips; Louise Korona puts collars on the grips; Alexander Zamorski caps the shafts; Alec Craig finishes the caps; and, Irving Goldberg washes, dries and inspects the finished grips.

Next the heads became the focal point of attention—Aener Holmquist finishes off the heads and Walter Grych buffs the shafts. At this point Mac Harton measures and weighs each club, then tests its balance in a specially designed machine, recording all this data on the Registered card. Bernard Fitzpatrick finishes the final super inspection, initials the card, detaches the portion which is kept at the plant and tosses it into the "To Be Filed" basket.

The set now goes to E. Dupre who stamps No. 184637B on all shafts so they'll all have the Registered number of No. 9 iron. Lottie Krezminkins puts a little decalcomania "True Temper Dynamic" around the shaft and Nell Zamachag wraps it for shipping.

LOUISVILLE BOASTS OF ITS NEW 9-HOLE PUBLINX

To residents of Louisville's South End, the new Iroquois course is a million-dollar baby. The new 9-hole layout will cost $40,000 when completed by Decoration Day this year and is expected to pay off a million dollars in civic benefits. Architect Robert Bruce Harris, Chicago, says it is "one of the finest I have ever designed."

The course came into being primarily as a result of the campaign waged for it by the Beechmont Civic club in the late 1930's and early 40's. The club pointed out to city officials that all other sections but the South End had golf courses. The Iroquois course was subject of Larry Boeck's story and Harold Davis photos in a recent Louisville Courier-Journal Sunday magazine.
