Hopkins Cup Matches Set for Montreal, June 5-7

Montreal again will be scene of the International PGA Team Matches between the U. S. and Canada and as an added feature a series of international invitation team matches will be held. John Jay Hopkins, international industrialist, is donor of the international trophy and sponsor of the event.

Dates assigned for the match by the PGA (June 5-7) coincide with coronation week, an event of paramount importance in the British Dominion.

The Hopkins Cup Matches, scheduled between the Western Open in St. Louis (May 28-31) and the U. S. G. A. Open in Pittsburgh (June 9-13), will be played by six-man teams from each country. Play will consist of three 36-hole four-ball matches the first day, followed by six 18-hole individual games each of the following two days.

The added event, scheduled for June 2-4, immediately preceding the Hopkins Cup match, will be played by two-man teams of top pros from half a dozen countries who have been invited to participate. Bobby Locke, also participating in the main event, has already accepted. Other acceptances are expected shortly from Peter Thomson and Norman von Nida of Australia, Julius Boros and Jack Burke, Jr., of the United States, Max Faulkner and Harry Weetman of Great Britain, Stan Leonard of Canada and two leading money-players from Mexico. Invitation matches will consist of three days of match play.

"CADDY TIPS" IS NEW TRAINING BOOKLET

A pocket size, 16-page, two-color booklet — "Caddy Tips" — has been published for use by caddy committees and other golf club officials. Twenty-six cartoon illustrations are in the attractive yellow and green booklet. It is written in an easy-to-understand style and covers all phases of a caddy's duties. Special sections deal with caddy chores on the tee, fairways, in roughs, sand traps, water hazards, on greens, around the locker room and clubhouse, and "in general."

Nicholas Popa, a former caddy and now Public Relations Director for the Byer & Bowman Advertising Agency, Columbus, Ohio, is author and publisher of the copyrighted publication. He is a member of the Brookside G&CC near Columbus.

Golf club officials may obtain a sample copy free upon request. "The nominal 25-cents per booklet charge is far less than it costs any club to train a caddy if done haphazardly with mimeographed instruction sheets," Popa remarks.
