Horton Smith's getting the USGA's Bob Jones Award for sportsmanship paired two valiant spirits... Bob and Horton are in poor condition physically and have been for several years... Yet in all that time neither has done any complaining... That is something that can't be said of some of golf's notables who three-putt or get bad lies... Horton was in a hospital for 70 days of the four months preceding his hard and valuable work at the PGA school at Clearwater... He went back to Springfield, Mo., for hospitalization after the PGA school... In Horton's absence, Jimmy Thomson accepted the Jones award for him at the USGA meeting.

Thomson told amusing tales of the exhibition tour that Smith, Lawson Little, Harry Cooper and Thomson made as the Spalding "Flying Circus." That promotion created tremendous golf interest and made thousands of new golfers, especially in the smaller towns... You wonder how that promotion compares with TV... Sarazen has been doing great as commentator on the Wonderful World of Golf series... Smith plans to play in the Masters to keep his record of never having missed one of them intact.

Nita Wotherspoon, wife of Bill, pro at Southern Hills CC, Tulsa, recovering from heart attack that hit her at home the day the Wotherspoons intended to leave for the PGA Seniors in Dunedin... Hurricane Carla, followed by miserable winter prevented Corpus Christi (Tex.) board of education director of athletics, Chester H. Allen, from starting construction of Par 3 courses at high schools until recently... Jim Fisher's ace for First Flight Co. $50,000 during the PGA National CC championship was a reminder not to pick up when you feel discouraged... Jim's ace on the 162 yd. 16th followed his 9 on the 15th.

Herman Barron's 9-under 135 to win the PGA Quarter Century title at Dunedin had some veterans recalling how close Herman came to National Open titles in the 40s... He and Hogan were a stroke back of Mangrum, Nelson and Ghezzi at Canterbury in 1946 where Mangrum won the second 18 of a play-off... Jim Stamps, of Dalton, Ga., in winning the 1962 PGA club title in Dunedin, got an extra $1,000 of Jack Harkins' money for playing First Flight clubs and balls... Jim works for the company... Stamps hits the ball so far it looks like it's going into orbit.

Los Angeles' 11 municipal courses had a record 983,921 rounds in 1961, up about 21,500 from 1960... Seven of the courses had their biggest play in 1960... Chicago District GA handicaps list shows 225 players from the plus 2 of Bob McCall of Flossmoor through the 3
The Jersey Golfer, Orange, N.J., plans to establish Jersey public course golfers' handicap system based on three scorecards submitted, one of which will be processed by the Callaway system.

Charles Bartlett, Chicago Tribune golf reporter and sec. of Golf Writers Assn. of America, is back in circulation again after hospitalization for a kidney infection and spinal misery... Paul Hahn flying the Caribbean tournament circuit putting on his trick shot exhibitions... Hahn's 1962 program is the brightest this sparkling golf showman has put on, the way we see it... Olympia Fields (Ill.) CC financial report on 1961 PGA championship showed the promoter was the leading prize winner with $18,272.76... The PGA champion, Jerry Barber, was second with $11,000 out of total purse of $64,800.

Ted Rhodes, veteran Negro pro, in VA hospital at Nashville, Tenn... Benefit for Ted recently staged by Linksmen GC, 364 E. 63rd St., Chicago... Trend in newer fine course architecture is definitely away from those holes that haven't much but length to make them

Chicago area unit of the UVS Swing Club held its annual meeting recently in the Ambassador Hotel . . . The Chicago group has 5,000 members and does much to promote rehabilitation at VA Hospitals, partly through golf . . . 1962 Western Junior will be played at the University of Minnesota GC, Minneapolis, Aug. 7-11 . . . Phil Marston, who won it in 1961, won’t be eligible to defend his title . . . Northern California PGA medal championship is to be played Apr. 9 and the Open Championship will be started four days later . . . Berry Haug is the new club mgr. at Blue Hills CC in Kansas City . . . This club, incidentally, recently decided to trade its present location for another in the K.C. area . . . Tom Sams

Watch for This

Every golf club in the U.S. is being mailed a form card on which space is provided for names of operating personnel entitled to receive GOLFDOM. Unless this card is filled out and returned, we cannot continue mailing GOLFDOM to these people.

If your club failed to receive this card or misplaced it—use the form on page 180. Our circulation auditing association requires that the list of persons to whom GOLFDOM is mailed be kept up to date. Without this updated information we are instructed to stop mailing the magazine to old names on our list. To make certain that your 1962 officials and operating heads receive GOLFDOM, please fill in the form and mail it today!

is the new pres. of the Kentuckiana GCSA; Bob Hinkle is vp; and Charley Cunningham, sec.-treas. . . . Morgan Boggis bowed out of the latter job after holding it for nine years.

Mrs. Mary Cromb, 85, died Feb. 15 at Monifieth, Scotland, after a long illness . . . She is survived by her daughter Stella Cromb of Monifieth, and sons, Marty and Jimmy . . . Marty is pro at Toledo (O.) CC and former pres., PGA Seniors, and Jimmy is pro at Tarpon Springs (Fla.) CC . . . They were at the PGA Seniors when informed of their mother’s death . . . Marty flew to Scotland . . . Their father was on the staff of the Dundee Advertiser and wrote golf news for the World of Golf, a Scotch magazine of some years ago.

PGA members who have been complaining about being kept in the dark about the deal for the PGA course, clubhouse and office building at West Palm Beach, Fla., are promised official information soon . . . Negotiations and planning hadn’t been completed at the time of the PGA Seniors championship at Dunedin but construction at West Palm Beach of the two 18s to plans of Dick Wilson was well on its way . . . Courses will be playable in December.

Reliable sources estimate that the PGA deal at West Palm Beach is, on paper, about a $2,000,000 enterprise . . . The PGA is being given 400 acres including the two 18-hole courses completed . . . Courses are to cost about $300,000 each and the raw ground about $3,500 an acre . . . Clubhouse and office building is expected to cost $750,000 . . . Financing methods are yet to be determined . . . The $10 the PGA charges members annually for support of the PGA course and the assessment the PGA has been adding to dues are sure to be continued . . . What PGA members would like to see is a budget for the proposed operation at West Palm Beach on the order of the budgets of expected income and proposed operating expenses that are customary at well managed private clubs.

PGA problem of informing members is part of the organization's growing pains . . . USGA is far ahead of the PGA in telling its members what is going on . . . USGA annual executive committee report, presenting summary of a year’s work and a detailed financial statement, gives PGA a model to grow up . . . Tremendous improvement in PGA routine publicity has been effected by Bob Russell . . . With Eddie Ervin going from Golf World to become head of the USGA’s new Public Information department, the USGA’s policy of informing golfers of what the association is doing for them is further implemented . . . Sports writers who are qualified as authorities consider the USGA the best directed and operated of all sports organizations, amateur or pro.

PGA officials deserve credit for awakening to the danger and acting to protect PGA against being used as an unwitting tool of promoters looking for a fast buck . . . They also can take bows for making progress in bringing club and tourney pros closer together . . . Club pros can make or break millions in prices of new or trade-in clubs bearing the tourney pros’ names and have immense backstage influence in getting first class clubs to accept Open tournaments.

Major point now that separates pro golfers from the amateurs, from whom all blessings flow, is the Rules of Golf.

More than 7000 18-hole and about 700 9-hole rounds played in January on the PGA National course at Dunedin . . . Moving PGA from Dunedin to its new course at West Palm Beach now being cheerfully accepted by all concerned . . . Play was too heavy on the Dunedin course in the winter to make golf there especially desirable . . . The facilities had been outgrown . . . Although Florida real estate business is in a lull, property in the attractive community of Dunedin commands a price that probably will yield a profit on what was paid for houses during the earlier years of the PGA occupancy . . . PGA will bring enough to West Palm Beach to give that new community good promotion in getting it off the launching pad.

Ralph Beach and Jack Ryan, as the two most recent past presidents of the PGA Seniors, arranged and conducted the veterans’ annual banquet in the absence of the Seniors’ newly elected chief, Horton Smith . . . Horton had to stay home in Springfield, Mo., for further medical attention . . . He’d worn himself down conducting classes at the PGA business school at Clearwater and wanted to build himself up for another session at the PGA school in Dallas . . . Ronald Teacher, the sponsor whose money made the Senior PGA tournament a major championship; PGA Pres. Lou Strong, and Clearwater and Dunedin officials at the banquet, expressed gracious farewells and thanks for the memories . . . Paul Runyan’s 278, putting him three strokes ahead of Joe Brown, Errie Ball and Dutch Harrison, made the 53-year old former PGA champion the first PGA Seniors winner to repeat . . . “Little Poison” won the PGA in 1934, beating Craig Wood, and in 1938, beating Sam Snead . . . He’s hitting the ball now longer than he did 30 years ago . . . He exercises and practices a lot.

Bob Goalby, PGA tournament player, is board chmn. of a group that is building a Par 3 and golf center in Belleville, Ill. About $220,000 is being put into the project which will include a putting green, range, miniature course and pro shop in addition to the lighted short course. Pete Dye of Indianapolis is the designer and Clete Idoux will be the pro-manager. In the photo are (l to r) Cliff Hammel, A. Yorker Wade, Bob Goalby, Ray Erwin and Clete Idoux.

National Golf Day, sponsored by the PGA will be June 2 . . . The idea of one National Golf Day for fund-raising for golf educational welfare and charity purposes, must look good to others who want to tap golfers . . . Nationwide drives on golfers for physical fitness, heart fund and cancer fund campaigns are proposed . . . Western Golf Assn. and National Golf Fund’s Golf Day are the two fund-raising campaigns okayed by most private clubs and fee courses although the clubs often are strongly solicited to engage in fund raising.

PGA plays its own championship by Rules of Golf as codified by the thoroughly qualified USGA and R&A . . . Hence the PGA champion is a golf champion . . . What game is played when paid golfl ers think playing golf is too tough for them and make different rules at their ease and convenience nobody has named yet . . . But the game isn’t golf by the rules that govern the play of five million golfers in the U.S. and many millions elsewhere . . . Is the man who wins a tournament not played by the Rules of Golf a genuine “golf champion?” . . . That’s something the bright young men of sound judgment on the PGA Tournament committee — Don January, Lionel Hebert, Arnold Palmer and Ken Venturi — have to decide . . . Nice old ladies and men who say they are playing golf but don’t count whiffs also have their rules but they don’t play for money.

Gene Sarazen missed the fourth round of the PGA Seniors due to the one-day washout of the tournament and his job at N.Y. of recording more comment on the Wonderful World of Golf TV program . . . The program, which has gone across very well, is the idea of the president of Shell Oil Co. . . . Gene says the best greens the pros played on in the “Wonderful World” were in Japan . . . He also remarked that if Byron Nelson had his old touch on and around the greens he could be the best golfer today . . . This is judging by Nelson’s performance at Pine Valley against Venturi in the WW match . . . Sarazen was greatly impressed by Chen Ching-po.

of China pro, who now is at Tokyo CC . . . This Free Chinese youth has been looking good for several years . . . At the end of the third round in the 1958 Canada Cup matches at Club de Golf de Mexico, he led Hogan . . . But none of them, anywhere, come close to Palmer, according to Sarazen . . . Gene says Palmer is like Jones used to be: he has the rest of the field playing for second.

Tom Creavy, 1931 PGA champion, begins his 14th year as pro at Saratoga Springs, N.Y. . . . Russell Stonehouse, pres., Indianapolis Park Board, while at the PGA Seniors, told about Indianapolis adding seven courses to its park golf system, bringing total public courses to 12 . . . Russell is a former pro . . . He and his brother Ralph, who has a semi-private course at Middleport, N.Y., play the Stonehouse family championship each winter in matches in the Miami area.

Quite a little talk at PGA Seniors about Olin Dutra being passed up in voting for the PGA Hall of Fame . . . Big Olin is long overdue, many old pros say . . . He won the National Open in 1934, the PGA in 1932 and was on two Ryder Cup teams (1933 and 1935) . . . Something else the veterans were chatting about is the possibility of a revival of the PGA championship at match play . . . They think that in about three years the present crop of tournament pros will be rugged and colorful competitors and will want to prove that head-on they’re better than the next guy . . . The long list of exemptions for this year’s PGA championship had old pros laughing . . . They asked what two or three pros will have to qualify for what used to be the hardest championship to win.
