SWINGING AROUND GOLF

News of the Golf World in Brief

By HERB GRAFFIS

FRONT COVER

Venerable Joe Valentine looks very well pleased to be receiving the USGA's fourth green section award for distinguished work with turfgrass, but possibly not nearly so much as his son, Dick. The latter has reason to be proud of the old gentleman, who is 78, served as supt. at Merion GC in Ardmore, Pa., for 50 years, and discovered Merion bluegrass. Dick succeeded his dad at the Pennsylvania club in 1961.

...As the bus moved along the Eastex Freeway, billboards were being erected to start a membership drive for the new El Dorado CC...

Jimmy Demaret wants to build a 36-hole course in Harris County near Houston, Tex... The plan, pending court approval, is for the county to apply to Washington to use the proposed site for development rights and then to lease the land to Demaret... Harris County stands to earn an estimated $127,800 in seven years without obligating taxpayers or using public funds... Wyckoff Park G&CC in Holyoke, Mass. is facing rough times... New highway construction scheduled for 1965 will reduce grounds from 110 to 85 or 90 acres... Marco Marinello, club president, is trying to find a way out... Wyckoff, Holyoke's only 18, has housing developments and highways on three sides and a community reservoir on the fourth... Proposed new layout on remaining land would result in an exhorbitant expenditure.

In an era of 21-gun salutes for every new course, clubhouse, resort and locker-room improvement, it's refreshing to be surprised by a new club opening with the course and clubhouse complete and ready for play... In Houston, Noble Ginther carved a new 18 out of his family's game preserve without a whisper to local residents or the press... Five months of construction work that created a million-dollar layout went almost unnoticed... The surprise unveiling of the George Fazio and Jay Riviere designed course came in late January.

After viewing diagrams of Ginther's course in downtown Houston, the press corps was taken by police-escorted shuttle bus to the new El Dorado CC... As the bus moved along the Eastex Freeway, billboards were being erected to start a membership drive for 750... Ginther's plans for the future include housing developments and a race track to match New York's Aqueduct or Los Angeles' Hollywood Park... The El Dorado pro is Bill Stephens.

Construction of additional nine at McKinney, Tex. muny is slated for 1964... Lake Bluff, Ill. proposes to use the community's Rockland Park site for new 18... Residents of Dover, Mass., in an effort to preserve the country climate of their community, have raised $200,000 and purchased 97 acres from a development contractor... Plans are for an 18-hole course on the site... New causeway development in Texas City, Tex. on the Gulf of Mexico, include homesites, marina, and combination yacht club and golf course... Sidney, O. is considering a muny 18 northeast of the city to serve Shelby county residents... Petition circulators in Valpariso, Ind. are fighting proposed $175,000 bond issue to expand the Forest Park muny nine through purchase of adjacent land.

New York state is moving along on acquisition of land to form Braddock Bay State Park on Lake Ontario near Rochester... Present facilities include a parking lot, picnic tables and restrooms... Proposed park will have 18-hole course, marinas, bathing beaches and a refuge harbor... Petitions are going the rounds in Lamesa, Tex. to garner support for 9-hole muny course at cost of $45,000... No opposition was voiced in the Clio, Mich. rezoning of residential land to commercial use as an 18-hole course... Birmingham (Ala.) CC is remodeling clubhouse to better serve its 1600 members... Wallingford (Conn.) CC plans $100,000 expansion of course and clubhouse... Crystal Lake CC in Clinton, La. is swapping land with a real estate developer... Club gets seven new holes and the developer gets seven old ones.

Marlon Smith is the new Ozona (Tex.) CC pro... New nine added to Redland CC in Homestead, Fla... Shepard Hills CC, near Waverly, N.Y., has acquired land for expansion to 18 this spring... Riverside GC in Central City, Nebr., plans to finish its new clubhouse by next winter... Bob Clare is the pro at the new Gray Oaks GC, La Verne, Calif... The course starts out with nine holes snuggled in a canyon... Construction of second nine and clubhouse starts this spring... Ridgewood CC in Waco, Tex. has okayed a $750,000 clubhouse including three swimming pools... Completion date is set for May 31... Waco architects Bush & Witt and Robert S. Bennett drew the plans for the two-level, modern, stone and glass structure... Cherokee CC in Jacksonville, Tex. is starting a new clubhouse... Prior to campaign for 200 new members, Cherokee had signed up 89... Hhusum Hills GC, near White Salmon, Wash., is attempting to raise $75,000 to complete a course and clubhouse. At present only the water system is complete.

Dale Kraemer is the new Glendora (Calif.) CC manager. Ray Helmy, pro at Cold Springs G&CC in Plaserville, Calif., is getting a new pro shop as part of a new $60,000 clubhouse. New CC in Dresden, Tenn. to be built for $125,000 with nine-hole course, swimming pool, tennis court and clubhouse. Los Coyotes CC re-opened its clubhouse facilities late in Jan. The original structure was razed by fire in Nov., 1962. The purse for the Twelfth Annual Tournament of Champions (Apr. 30 — May 3) at Desert Inn CC in Las Vegas, Nev., has been raised from last year's $60,000 to $65,000.

The Illinois Women's Golf Association has scheduled its State Amateur Invitation for June 15-19 at the Quincy (Ill.) CC and the Three Day Stroke Play Invitation for Aug. 4-6 at Maum-Nah-Tee-See CC in Rockford. The Women's Open Championship is set for July 9-11 at San Diego CC in Chula Vista, Calif. The 1965 site is the Atlantic City CC in Northfield, N.J. In 1966 the distaff golfers will meet at the Hazelton National CC in Chaska, Minn.

Miami Lakes CC in Miami, Fla., has given the go-ahead to Florida architects, Robert M. Little and Marion Manley, for a new clubhouse. The completion target date is Nov. 15. Businessmen's grill and accommodations for overnight, weekend and week-long guests will be included. Harold Weston three-time past president of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association, was given the George Bertz memorial golf award at the annual Hayward banquet of champions. Weston was instrumental in establishing the Chick Evans scholarship for caddies in the Northwest and Western Canada. Zell Eaton, pro at the Palm Springs (Calif.) CC, reported an increase of 611 golfers this Jan. over last. Also, the fiscal accumulation for 1964 is $2,456 greater than last year.

Bill Livingston takes over this month as supt. of Fred Waring's Shawnee-on-Delaware courses in Stroudsburg, Pa. Livingston formerly was greenmaster at Silver Spring in Ridgefield, Conn. Joe Dinelli, supt. at North Shore CC, Highland Park, Ill., estimates that about 20 per cent of his members attended the Open House equipment show he held in his maintenance building in late January. Gordon Leishman moves from pro post at River Road CC in Louisville to Idle Hour in Lexington, Ky.

Pro spot at Plainfield (N.J) CC was left vacant when Bill Moran joined A. C.

Chances are against Arnie Palmer, or any other pro, matching Arnie's $128,000 record winnings . . . It's not a matter of loss of skill, but the new PGA purse distribution schedule is designed to give the low 40 (instead of the low 50) a greater share of the purse . . . For instance, at the $50,000 Los Angeles Open Paul Harney won $7,500 instead of $9,000 and runnerup Bobby Nichols went home with $4,000 instead of $4,600 . . . Players toward the middle of the prize list, though, received up to $100 more than usual.

USGA's 70th annual meeting in New York jacked the prize money for the Open to about $95,000 . . . Charley Coe of Oklahoma City, twice Amateur champion, a member of six Walker Cup teams and twice a runnerup in the Masters, received the USGA's Bobby Jones Award for "distinguished sportsmanship" . . . The September USGA Amateur championship at Canterbury CC in Cleveland, O. will limit opening day match play participants to 150 . . . Lloyd Monroe, N.J. amateur champ in 1958 and 1962, joins Stan Mosel as assistant pro at Essex Fells CC, Essex Fells, N.J.

Jean Mulkeen, member of the Ladies PGA since 1957 is the new head pro at Florissant Valley CC near St. Louis, Mo. . . . Doral CC in Miami, Fla. will be the site of the National Amateur Tournament of Champions, June 23-27 . . . Sime Braio, supt. at Worcester (Mass.) CC, has retired after 42 years of service . . . New supt. is John Almonte . . . Fred Seitz has moved from the Oakmont (Pa.) CC to manage the Sunnehama CC in Johnstown, Pa. . . . Senior Women's Amateur Championship is slated for Oct. 14-16 at the Del Paso CC in Sacramento, Calif. . . . The 1965 Senior Women's is scheduled for Exmoor CC in Highland Park, Ill.

Bob Baldock, course architect operating out of Fresno, Calif. plans 1964 construction of nine sites, all in states west of the Rockies . . . George Wesley Walton has contracted to build a new nine for Senior citizens at Temelec, Sonoma

March, 1964
Guy Paulsen moves west from the pro spot at Old Elm CC in Chicago to the new Shorecliffs CC in San Clemente, Calif. Joe Williams, who designed the Shorecliffs course, is staying on as supt.

New residential site is being developed on a 515-acre tract in Chester County, Pa. 18-hole course was designed by Alfred Tull. Other recreation facilities include swimming pool, tennis courts, stable and bridle paths. The former Gilbert Mather colonial mansion is scheduled for remodeling to serve as a clubhouse for the development.

The Pee Wee golf championship is all set for its 18th annual renewal at Rio Pinar CC in Orlando, Fla. Youngsters from 3 to 15 can enter free of charge. There are five divisions. The contest was organized by the Orlando Daily Newspapers, Inc. and is now sponsored by the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce and Minute Maid Company.

Veteran Maurie Luxford again did a marvelous job in conducting Bing Crosby’s 1964 tournament. Over $200,000 was donated to youth welfare causes and $55,000 was set aside as pro money. More than $13/4 million has been given to youth welfare operations from Bing’s tournament since it has been held on the Monterey peninsula courses. Bing’s tax situation, his brother Larry’s business savvy, Maurie Luxford’s superb diplomacy in handling the amateur invitations and other expert free services have made the Clambake the great affair it is.

Terry McCann now director of Youth-Sports Development program of United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, which puts on the nation’s largest junior golf championship. It gets about 25,000 entries. Pepsi-Cola contributes $20,000 a year to the program. Paul Scott, formerly Jaycee Youth Sports director, now is assistant to minister of First Christian Church at Tulsa.

At the New York Golf Writers’ annual dinner, Willie Turnesa in accepting an award the writers bestowed on the “First Family of Golf,” said that his five brothers and their father had been “gainfully” employed in golf for 290 years. Willie, the amateur of a grand family, made another fine talk at the USGA green section meeting. He jolted the meeting by remarking that putting requires the least amount of golfing talent. Willie added that achievements of course supts. in vast improvement of putting surfaces accounts for a great deal of the improvement in tournament scoring. Now 30 to 32 putts a round are about “par” for the pro who’s going to win much money in tournaments, Willie said. He also said that a bad lie on a fairway doesn’t bother the expert golfer unless he happens to miss the shot. Then, of course, he blames the supt.

Fred Corcoran is writing his memoirs. They should make a lively story of the growing-up period of golf. Fred followed Bob Harlow as PGA Tournament Bureau manager. With Fred, tournament golf expanded into big business. The International Golf Assn. and the Teacher’s Trophy international ideas. He started tournament business for the Ladies PGA and managed Sam Snead, Ted Williams and Stan Musial into big money. Glen (Bud) Harvey is aiding Corcoran in his literary labors.

John Derr, former director of sports for CBS, has dropped his longtime position as press aide to Arthur Godfrey.
Interlocking link construction prevents misalignment and provides dimensional stability. Precision-molded grease resistant vinyl links are woven on a non-rust steel network, which is metal-reinforced on the ends. Non-slip surface. Eliminates hazards of wet floors. Even the tiniest heels cannot catch. Keeps dirt, mud and slush outside. Rolls for easy handling. Individual links come in 15 fade-resistant solid decorator colors, and the first marbleized polychrome colors. Design can include name.

Derr, who now represents professional golf societies and country clubs, plans to concentrate on sports broadcasting, promotion and public relations. This season, Derr will handle eight PGA tournament broadcasts and the Masters at Augusta, Ga. This will be Derr’s 16th Masters.

Golfers who take Pan American enroute to South America, Panama and Mexico City will get a reduced freight rate for playing equipment. Pan Am, with the approval of the Civil Aeronautics Board, put the lower club-carrying rates into effect Feb. 18. Speedy golf is played at the Southampton Golf and Beach Club, Pembroke, Bermuda. New Par-3 18 promises two-hour rounds in place of the usual four-hours plus, common on standard courses. 64 traps and three water holes add interest to course designed by Alfred Tull.

Familiar names still not on the roster for this year’s $65,000 Tournament of Champions include Jerry Barber, Tommy Bolt, Jay Hebert, Don January, Ted Kroll, Billy Maxwell, Cary Middlecoff, Gene Littler, Bob Rosburg, Earl Stewart, Jr., and Mike Souchak. The tourney is scheduled for April 30-May 3 at the Desert Inn CC in Las Vegas, Nev. Long-time Athens (Ga.) CC pro, Pooley Hubert, retired in January. Pooley had served as head pro since 1937. He plans to open a 9-hole course near Athens.

Pro Joe Simon moves to the Los Robles Greens course in the new Janss/Conejo, Calif. project. The course is part of a 10,000 acre total community in southeastern Ventura County. Simon had been associate pro-manager at Sepulveda GC, which has two public 18s in Los Angeles, Calif. Bellevue CC in Syracuse, N.Y. now has an automatic fairway irrigation system. Course supt., Tom Topp, outlined the details in a recent bulletin of the New York Turfgrass Association. Six chapters of the GCSA of California have organized a federation to act as a clearing house for information on maintenance.

Mary Lee Lindeman, a teaching member of the Ladies PGA since 1961, steps in as pro at the new Riverside GC in Dachau, Germany. Riverside is the only American course in the Munich area. Mary Lee hopes to stay at Riverside until her husband, Major Arthur Linde-

You can sharpen the bedknife and the reel in the mower with a MODERN lawn mower sharpener or you can remove from the mower for separate sharpenings.

NO COMPLEX ADJUSTMENTS

Just raise the entire mower to the proper height. Bring the reel and bedknife into grinding position with a single hand lever . . . and sharpen.

PRECISION RESULTS

The MODERN lawn mower sharpener precision grinds to tolerances of .001 or better, so there's no need for "finish filing".

A MODEL FOR ANY MOWER

MODERN lawn mower sharpeners are available in two sizes. One handles mowers up to 36 inches; the other is capable of sharpening blades up to 53 inches wide. With the optional Rotary Blade Holder, either model will sharpen and balance rotary blades, too.

He was hired at a salary reported to be about twice that of Jim Gaquin, PGA tournament mgr., and very much more than what the PGA pays Joe Black, tournament supervisor . . . Jim and Joe are the guys who book the tournaments, arrange the schedule, are "sitters" for the sponsors, players and PGA officials . . . So, they are made to feel they are welcome to a pension plan of ulcers . . . That's not a good way of building and maintaining the one happy family the PGA needs.

A sportswriter recently said that after tournament golfers read about the fancy prices paid for baseball and football television and read what Liston and Clay get out of a fight, the golfers are bound to feel cheated . . . "A pro who makes about $20,000 a year in prize money and who reads that Kelso has won over $1 1/2 million running, is liable to listen when somebody comes along and offers to sell him two more legs," the writer added.

However, no oceans of tears were spilled after Carmichael's remark, following a meeting with Bing Crosby's brother, Larry, and other tournament sponsors, "If they call us Capones we can talk about how they treat golf pros like a bunch of fugitives from a caddy shack." . . . With tournament purses this year being well over $2 million, the unpaid labor of club members and their sacrifices of courses and convenience at an amount that can't be estimated, and considering that the USGA, Western GA and PGA don't have good clubs clamorously volunteering to accept their tournaments, this is no time to cry about caddy treatment.

Where Carmichael was absolutely right was in saying to Jay Workman, Arizona Republic sportswriter, after the threatened players' strike at the Phoenix Open and the meeting with tournament sponsors, "It hurts golf to bring this to trial into the newspapers." Naturally, newspapers have TV giving them a hard time for the advertisers' money, so why should the papers be reserved about telling what the score is when TV is on the short end?

It was brought out that Nielsen ratings indicated the National Open was seen in fewer homes than an average American League game. A Masters' play-off ranked 16th among sports attractions. The USGA got only $70,000 and Augusta National $55,000 for TV rights of these top attractions. Both ran at least two days and maybe three, with a play-off. Of course, it has been established that the Nielsen ratings aren't 100 per cent what they should be.

With only about $120,000 being paid for the television rights of the two top events in golf and not a whole lot added for the PGA championship, why should there be a lot of big mouth about the jillions pros are to get out of tournaments? If the PGA-sponsor deal is played with common sense and patience there will be some mutually satisfactory approach to the 75 millions TV will be paying pro and college football in 1965. Of course, fellows who overbid about $10 million on the newest pro football TV contract will be out of jobs by then and advertising agencies will be viewed with suspicion when they try to pass the extravagance on to clients. But golf will keep on growing. That should be kept in mind!

Good thing this explosion did come out. It may produce sound business thinking based on actual figures instead of dream money. There is need of pension plans for tournament and club pros. Especially the club professionals who may stay on a job from 15 to 30 years and then are retired with small incomes or canned with none at all. Pros aren't tournament specialists that long — except the richest of them, Sam Snead, Hagen, Sarazen, Snead and Hogan, the foremost tournament veterans, are in better condition financially than most other pros.

Course supt.s., usually neglected in club retirement programs, have started to work up their own plan — a sort of an insurance-saving combination on the order of the Canadian PGA plan . . . Not enough to live on but a help . . . Supts. and club pros haven't been happy about the tournament TV revenue argument . . . The unsung homebodies say they are the fellows who are putting a lot into golf and not taking much out . . . At the PGA Seniors' banquet, Arnold Palmer, referring to the argument with sponsors about television rights said tournament golfers realize that they are extended privileges of good clubs and courses because the pioneer pros earned that courtesy.

Palmer, talking to pros he hopes will sell his clubs, made his customary attractive, convincing presentation . . . Jay Hebert, Bob Goalby, Johnny Pott and Dave Marr of the PGA Tournament committee are the same high type of businessmen and professional athletes as Palmer, so they'll come up with the wise and happy ending to the controversy with sponsors . . . It will be one that will keep the PGA strong and happy together, instead of splitting it into club pro and tourney pro sections . . . The PGA is lucky to have a solid businessman, Warren Carrell, as its president in a sticky situation such as that involving tournament players and the sponsors . . . Another bright sign is that the PGA Tournament committee worked out a uniform rules agreement with the USGA . . . That required the same type of good sense the sponsor negotiations need.

A major reason for the tournament committee-sponsor jam in the press was the customary reason for PGA public relations troubles . . . Poor "communications" due to failure to use the competent publicity men on the PGA payroll . . . Jim Gaquin and Don Giffin, press men as good in their specialized line as the tournament players are in theirs or Carichael in television, were not used for the job they could have done well for the PGA, the players and the sponsors.

Graduates of the 1964 PGA Business Schools got small pocket knives from U.S. Royal and an attractive key ring engraved “PGA Business School—1964" from the PGA . . . Ten two-hour weekly classes in "Beginning Golf" are being taught in the Adult Evening School of the Libertyville (Ill.) Fremont high school by Gary Rehfeld, pro at Knollwood Club, Lake Forest, Ill.

Annual breakfast put on at this year’s GCSA conference by B. Hayman Co., Los Angeles, for Southern California supt.s and their wives was highlighted by announcement that the Hayman organization, led by Ray McMicken and the company’s director of turf sales, Warren W. McCleary, had won the 1963 award as the nation’s top distributor of Jacobsen turf equipment . . . Milwaukee Sewerage Commission Milorganite staff executives and agronomists, with sales manager, Charley Wilson, signing the tab, also were hosts at a breakfast during the GCSA meet . . . Guests were supt.s of courses in the Milwaukee area.

California Federation of GCSA has been formed as a consolidation of Northern and Southern GCSA, the Hi Lo, Midway, and Central (Fresno area) organizations of supt.s . . . George Lanphear of Thunderbird CC, Palm Springs, was elected president . . . First vp is Cliff Wagner of Del Rio & CC, Modesto; second vp is Wm. Hood, Stockdale CC, Bakersfield; and secretary-treasurer is Dave Mastrole, Fox Hills CC, Culver City.

GCSA voted against constructing a headquarters office building in Jacksonville Beach, Fla. . . . It’s a pretty place but too far off the main line for the permanent headquarters location of a national organization that should be conveniently located for all members and for close, effective publicity contacts, so the GCSA members decided . . . PGA has been handicapped by not having its headquarters centrally located.

Hiring of Eddie Ervin, formerly of USGA and Golf World, as its publicity man and Reporter editor, was smart move by GCSA, easing a heavy burden on Gene Nutter and providing the supt's. organization with a man who knows publicity operations . . . GCSA has plenty of room for growing up in publicity savvy . . . The current GCSA practice of holding back copies of convention talks long ago was abandoned by organizations formed and operated for scientific and business progress.

waterfall that pops out of Santa Rosa mountain and Hardin built it so it looks as though it had been there for a few thousand years. The waterfall, spectacularly illuminated, is a scenic landmark.

Angelo Cammarotta now supt. at Bonnie View CC, Baltimore. Ross Taylor, supt., Black Mountain (N.C.) CC, building nine to add to the club's 18. Ross is a pal of the evangelist, Billy Graham, and switched Graham from playing left-handed to righthanded. In Black Mountain citizens regard Ross Taylor as leader in civic beautification. Armin Honeyager, supt. at Tumblebrook CC (Milwaukee dist.) and W. E. Davis, Penn State course management grad who is asst. to Supt. Frank Maurina at Merrill Hills CC, Waukesha, Wis., are building Elk Valley CC, on a farm belonging to Honeyager's father near Waukesha.

Joe Martinez, supt. of Bel Air CC, Los Angeles, went to work for the club in March, 1926. A year later Charley Friday, now supt. at Hillcrest CC in Los Angeles, went to work for the late Bill Stewart, then the Hillcrest supt. That gives both nearly 40 years of longevity. Oscar Borgmeier of George A. Davis, Inc., Chicago, convalescing after illness that confined him to Broward General hospital, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., during the GCSA meeting. Cigarette companies no longer using testimonials of athletes. Arnold Palmer has quit smoking and is making the good fight against the suet that piles on after cigarettes are out. But now he confesses to having putting jitters.

Gordon W. Williams, pro-supt. who got considerable European experience while in charge of U.S. military courses, is back in his home at San Gabriel, Calif. He recently finished up in Spain. Gordon says architectural work by Trent Jones, Dick Wilson and Henry Gordon tends to a considerable extent on the way the work happens to strike Senor Aranya, Spain's top golf architect, and a pretty good one, too.

Harold Kerr is building 18 for Valley Oaks CC, Clinton, Ia., and will continue as supt. Jack Nicklaus is part owner of a race horse. The horse hasn't started in a race yet but it won't wait at the gate until TV rights are divided between the track and the jockey. Bell Air CC, Los Angeles, has a section in its by-laws that prohibits change in the course unless designed by an experienced architect.
That would have saved big money for clubs who have had their courses changed by one green committee then changed again by a later committee in an attempt to correct the original mistake.

John Patterson to build 18 near Center-ville, Va. . . . Gene Hamm, Durham, N.C., designed the course . . . Lakeview CC, near Harrisonburg, Va., to open first nine in late April . . . Expect to open Millbrook CC nine in May in Windsor, Conn., the state’s oldest town . . . Dekalb County building 18 in Julian Harris Park near Atlanta to plans of Dick Wilson . . . Joe Lee of the Wilson staff is in charge . . . James A. Yates, now pro at Atlanta’s Candler Park, will be pro at the Dekalb County course.

Baiting Hollow CC to build 18 near Riverhead, N.Y. . . . Sky Mountain, $100 million community planned for Palm Springs area, to have 27 holes . . . Mike Haywood, Madison (Ind.) CC pro, plans to build public nine in Madison . . . New Jabish Brook CC nine in Belchertown, Mass., to open in May . . . Peter Wisniewski is pro . . . Townsend (Tenn.) G&CC to build 18 . . . Henry Russell, chairman of the USGA green section committee, and supts., Paul Weiss, Sr., Sherwood Moore and Jim Fulewider, put zip into the section meeting at New York with a couple of skits showing how dizzy course maintenance policies and performances can be at some clubs.

as Lost Tree pro ... Bob Thompson who retired as Detroit GC manager several years ago, was induced to come back into action as Lost Tree's mgr.

Denny Champagne, veteran pro at Dubsdread CC, Orlando, Fla., missed the PGA Seniors ... A heart attack hit him but word around the PGA clubhouse during the tournament was that Denny's convalescing well ... Two new USGA color motion pictures had their first public showing at the USGA annual meeting ... "The Open: Ouimet and Boros at Brookline," is fine entertainment for golf club affairs and so is "The Rules of Golf: Hazards" ... The film on rules in the hazards has Johnny Farrell as the Senior star ... It's got a smart woman amateur ("Mrs. Right") and Billy Farrell in it, too ... Joe Walsh, the artist who's made many fine golf movies, did these two ... Rental prices can be obtained on request from USGA, 40 E. 38th st. NYC.

USGA President Gus Benedict's praise of John Kielty, supt. at CC of Brookline, for the near-miracle that John worked in getting a weather-stricken course repaired for the 1963 National Open was the warmest tribute paid to a supt that anybody ever has heard at a USGA annual meeting ... Benedict referred to the Open week as "Hell Week" for a supt.

Bud Williamson, pro at CC of Lincoln (Neb.), got one of those grand surprise parties given by members to grand pros when more than 450 members and their wives assembled to celebrate Bud's anniversary at the club ... It was the largest party the club ever has seen ... The dinner was preceded by a "Beat Bud Williamson" tournament in which 150 played ... Bud went around in 70 ... Nine members beat him with net scores ... The club flew the Williamson's daughter and her baby in from Denver and one son in from Washington, D.C., to be with Bud and his wife and their two other sons ... Club has grown from 200 to 600 active members while Williamson has been pro ... At the party Bud was given a $5,000 U.S. Treasury note and a shotgun ... Bud's wife, Cecilia rated a charm bracelet.

Big Springs, Tex. has begun installation of a sprinkler system on the back nine of its muny ... International G&CC in Honolulu, Hawaii, recently broke ground for a $100,000 clubhouse ... Also in Honolulu, Bay View Golf Center, with...
Jimmy Ukauka as pro, was recently opened . . . Skagit G&CC in Burlington, Wash., has been sold to five Seattle buyers.

Warren Cantrell resigned his job as pro at San Angelo (Tex.) CC after being there only briefly . . . Cantrell's job as PGA president was taking so much of his time, even on the telephone when he was at the club, so he decided he couldn't do the club justice . . . Club officials asked Cantrell to take a leave of absence, rather than resign, while PGA job pressure is so heavy, but couldn't sell Warren on the idea . . . Warren and a brother have a big engineering and construction firm which, among other jobs, is building the roof on the Houston municipal stadium . . . Luckily for the PGA Cantrell has substantial outside income and can afford to be PGA pres.

To suggest a "czar" to the PGA, an organization of individuals who are not under contract to the organization, hence not subject to strict control, isn't realistic thinking . . . Obviously what the PGA needs is business management fitted to its growth and present conditions . . . Outgrown procedures, especially in providing information on which delegates' and executives' decisions should be based, seriously handicap the PGA, according to most of the members . . . Probably the PGA will be revising its headquarters operations along the USGA lines before long.

Dave Sonnenschein, who played in a snowbird tourney in Danville, Ill., a few weeks ago, couldn't decide whether he was a hothouse flower or cold turkey, so he compromised by wearing Bermudas over thermal undies. There were close to 200 entries in this event, which like so many similar tournaments of this kind in the Midwest, was played with no snow in sight.

Albie Pearson, Los Angeles Angels outfielder, is said to be a punch hitter in baseball, but he's applying plenty of muscle here. His driving helped him win the National Baseball Players tournament in Miami in February with a 223. One of Albie's drives hit a 300-yard green.

It's a sure thing the PGA cannot expect its president in the future to work hard for no salary as has always been the case . . . Carleton B. Treat, for many years supt. of Montclair (N.J.); CC and a pioneer of Prof. Dickinson's course maintenance schooling program at Amherst, Mass., Stockbridge school, has proteges of his own now starring as supt.'s . . . They include Don Marshall at Montclair CC, Chet Wender at Plainfield CC, Ed Britton, Ed Britton, jr., at Ramsey CC and Dick Williams at North Jersey CC.

Crash program of completing PGA National Club clubhouse and courses put whole place into very attractive condition for the PGA Merchandise Show and the PGA Seniors' championship . . . Lou Strong, former PGA pres., made a successful debut as the club's operating chief . . . Lou had expert assistance with Jack Fina, manager, Elmhurst (Ill.); CC and Jack Febel, manager, Bryn Mawr CC (also Chicago dist.), and Joe Jemsek, owner and operator of a prospering chain of Chicago district fee courses, taking some of their vacation time to get the new clubhouse going.

On the big days, the PGA club did about $1000 in food and $800 at the bar. During the Merchandise Show there were about 425 PGA members playing in the club championship and approximately 550 salesmen, plus wives of some pros and salesmen. Final day of the Seniors, with Sam Snead headlining, had the biggest crowd ever watching the veterans play for Ronald Teacher's trophy. Prices of food and drinks at the clubhouse are moderate. If somebody could figure out how to get in 50 more weeks of play and clubhouse business like the big two weeks in February, the money needs of the PGA on the Palm Beach Gardens deal might be supplied.

Strong figures that parties from some factories in the area and bridge luncheons and book review lunches will roll in with a profit. On the Monday after the Seniors tourney ended, the PGA establishment had no more customers than any of the 31 other clubs in Palm Beach county. It is going to take genius, patience and a lot of money to solve problems of the PGA National GC that should have been solved before the place was built. Snead will stay in Britain after the U.S.-British PGA Seniors' "world" championship and will compete in the British Open. USGA's 1965 annual meeting will be held at the Biltmore Hotel, New York, Sat., Jan. 23.

Joe Jemsek, former caddie who now is owner of golf courses in the Chicago district, gave PGA $5,000 toward an "Educational Room" in the PGA clubhouse at Palm Beach Gardens. USGA Green Section Research and Education Fund, Inc., which last year got $51,840 for unrestricted use in turf research, out of its total restricted and unrestricted funds of $10,291, is getting a lot of action for the money. Work directed by Roy A. Keen at Kansas State university, on a winter-hardy Bermuda, shows bright promise of tremendously profitable return to mid-continent golf, in improved year-around turf. Other work on Ber-mudagrass, by Dr. Wayne Huffine and associates at Oklahoma State university, undoubtedly will yield revenue in increased play that is enormously greater than the amount invested in research.

National Golf Day 1963 grant to GCSA for scholarships was $4,810 of the total of $9,094 received for GCSA Scholarship and Research Fund, Inc. . . . The total was used as grants in aid to 24 turf scholars at 14 colleges and universities . . . Reports of turf research groups and the PGA Education committee make it plain that the golfer who paid his dollar on National Golf Day not only got a lot for his money but carried as free loaders many who didn’t contribute, mainly because they were not asked.

This is not the year for a muny course in Elgin, Ill., according to city politicos who have declined to okay a bond issue referendum for $400,000 . . . Jamie Jackson, currently head pro at Lakeland, Fla. Par-3 golf center, signed as pro at the Lone Palm GC, west of the city . . . Lone Palm will open sometime this spring . . . Groton, Mass. park commissioners took to the air via helicopter last month to search for possible sites for a new muny . . . Melton Hill lake CC has begun construction of 18 and a clubhouse in South Clinton, Tenn.

Orcutt, Calif. has okayed conditional-use permit to Dr. C. B. Bingham to establish 18 in the community . . . Watertown (S.D.) CC is expanding its club-house facilities . . . Mike Pareo, former pro at Eriedowns CC in Ft. Erie, Ont., has moved to a similar post at the new Beaver Island State Park course in Grand Island, N.Y. . . . New sports club, the Westchester at Sylvania, O., is being planned to include facilities for an 18-hole course . . . Atascadero (Calif.) GC has been purchased by the Atascadero Guarantee Savings and Loan Association . . . Livonia, Mich. has given the go-ahead for purchase of 130 acres for course and park development . . . Charles City (Ia.) CC has completed initial membership drive for 100 and is ready to hire an architect to design its layout.

STOP BALL MARKS ON GREENS!

Deep or shallow ball marks can now be a putting hazard of the past.

If only 20% of the approach shots hit the greens, it would total thousands of ugly ball marks per green, each year.

The golfers who wait for the Superintendent and his men to do this expensive repair job will continue to putt over the shallow and deep ball marks.

Remember these holes must be repaired a few minutes after they have been made. Your Superintendent does not have enough money or men to repair ball marks as soon as made.

This and other years, be kind to those beautiful greens, your fellow golfers and that proud and hardworking Golf Course Supt.
