Course and does not have the normal facilities for registering and training caddies. But it is 36 holes, is an excellent course and gets play from golfers from all over the city, many of whom want caddies. Any boy hanging around has a good chance of getting a job.

Highland has been the site for the past two years of the Cleveland Open.

Rod Foster, former Ohio State University football player is charged with looking out for caddies as well as being the starter. He says a small group of boys cause practically all the trouble.

"I would say about 80 per cent of the caddies are good ones," Foster remarks.
"The other 20 percent give the rest a bad name and lead some of the good ones into trouble.

"Most of the older fellows are out to make a living. It's the young ones who get tired sitting around and start the trouble."
