last year, there were 72 youngsters enrolled. The series of lessons are given every Tuesday for an hour, and this is followed up on Friday when the youngsters are teamed up according to ability and then age. The younger ones usually play one or two holes, but some of the older ones will go nine or 18.

Their scores become important as an indication of their ability, obviously, but Limback and Toler do not beat them with it. At the end of the year, however, they run a junior tournament according to ability, and there are trophies and prizes in addition to door prizes for everyone. Another important aspect in the junior tournament is the annual banquet which is held at the club, and is keyed to a younger lever, although formal in its appearance.

Tanglewood is a busy course, and the shop is kept busy with the in-and-out traffic. During the summer, there will be seven or eight employees including the pro and assistant pro. Hours usually are from 8 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., six days a week, closed on Monday. Canteen help is separate, but there is a strong walk-through traffic which Limback naturally encourages. In fact, the merchandise in the pro shop can be seen from the canteen so that individuals sitting at the tables can peruse the merchandise, and then afterwards go up to the racks.

How does Limback view it all? "I think it's a matter of getting to know your people," he said. "It's difficult to set down hard and fast rules. But I think it's important that your customers feel that the pro shop is a friendly place first of all, and then, of course, that you have the merchandise. You can't keep showing the same thing in the same place. Don't forget that we're competing against downtown and shopping center stores that thrive on merchandising techniques. We've got to show the members that we can go one better.'
