The Andersons Adds Distributors

The Andersons has added distributors for its professional turf products in an effort to expand reach and support growth. Relationships with Chicagoland Turf (Addison, Ill.), Keystone Turf (Export, Penn.) and The Hodges Rash Company (Coraopolis, Penn.), all full line golf and landscape distributors, along with Simplot Partners (Palm Desert, Calif.), who will distribute a limited offering of premium products, including Contec DG, in selected markets in the Western states, comprise this expansion of The Andersons distribution network.

FarmLinks Maintenance Facility Destroyed

The maintenance facility at FarmLinks Golf Club in Sylacauga, Ala., was a total loss after a fire devastated the building in the early morning hours of Wednesday, March 9th.

“Everyone is OK – no one was injured,” Erle Fairly, president of FarmLinks, told Golfdom. “It’s an unfortunate situation, but we’ll rally the troops.”

The Experience at FarmLinks hosts 1,200 superintendents every year. FarmLinks is well known in the industry as a one-of-a-kind research and demonstration facility as well as a championship caliber golf course.

A fire inspector was investigating the damage as Golfdom went to press, but Fairly believed the fire was caused by a lightning strike.

Once again, the turf industry showed its class, Fairly said, as word was spreading about the fire.

“This industry is close-knit, there’s been no shortage of support,” he said. “Our partners, suppliers and superintendents have all offered help. Courses are already lending us equipment.”

Two Golfdom Winners

As the dust settled from the 2011 Golf Industry Show, Golfdom was able to make two more attendees quite happy with their trips to Orlando.

Golfdom notified Tim Kennelly, superintendent at Baltimore CC, and Sean Tully, superintendent at the Meadow Club in Fairfax, Calif., that they both won prizes for stopping by the Golfdom booth at the GIS. Kennelly won an expenses-paid trip to Pinehurst Resort for the first ever Golfdom Summit in November. Kennelly won a copy of the July, 1962 issue of Golfdom magazine, signed by Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus.

“Any time you get an opportunity to learn and improve yourself, you have to take it,” Kennelly said of the Golfdom Summit (www.golfdomsummit.com), an invitation-only three-day event which will include presentations, case studies and meetings as well as a round of golf on Pinehurst No. 2. “I’ve heard a lot about the work (Bill) Coore and (Ben) Crenshaw have done on No. 2… I’m excited to see it!”

Tully, meanwhile, plans to display the autographed copy of Golfdom in his office. Coincidentally, Tully has a collection of old issues of Golfdom, with his oldest issue previously a copy from 1965 featuring the construction of Spyglass Hill.

“I’m glad you guys do things like (the giveaway), it’s pretty exciting,” Tully said.

BASF, Golfdom Play Trivia for Charity

At the Golf Industry Show in Orlando, BASF Professional Turf & Ornamentals hosted a game show called “Superintendent Thouandsaire.” Superintendents competed for cash prizes, while BASF (represented by Tom Hill, communications manager, left) asked the turf media to participate for charity. Golfdom’s Seth Jones (right) missed his final question but still walked away with a donation to the Wee One Foundation (www.weeone.org) for $1,900.

The Andersons Adds Distributors

The Andersons has added distributors for its professional turf products in an effort to expand reach and support growth. Relationships with Chicagoland Turf (Addison, Ill.), Keystone Turf (Export, Penn.) and The Hodges Rash Company (Coraopolis, Penn.), all full line golf and landscape distributors, along with Simplot Partners (Palm Desert, Calif.), who will distribute a limited offering of premium products, including Contec DG, in selected markets in the Western states, comprise this expansion of The Andersons distribution network.