agers and other employees must adhere:
1. Sold to professionals only, and only when the professional is regularly employed as a teacher and merchandiser of golf goods with an active club connection.
2. Pros without club connections may buy Armour clubs only through some other pro who has a club.
3. Greenkeepers. Only at very small clubs and where they have the selling concession and are doing business legitimately — only then in very limited quantities.
4. Driving Course Professionals. Only when they legitimately stock clubs for sale and only then when they resell at regular list prices — providing that other legitimate professionals in the district do not object to their having those clubs.
5. Club Secretaries, Officials, etc. At extremely small clubs where in your judgment a pro could not possibly exist, club officers may be sold for reselling, but must be warned that the Armour clubs must not be provided to members at less than advertised retail prices — only to those clubs with legitimate equity memberships. All orders must have a club purchase order attached.

PGA members are to be given every consideration. Please invite their local officers to co-operate with us by sending us information of any suspected illegitimate selling, and when you receive such information investigate at once and report to us.

We reserve the right to reject any account where we have any reason to feel that these clubs are not being retailed to the professional's own members at legitimate retail prices.

Our promise is to keep this line clean, and as no chain is stronger than its weakest link — it is up to you not to become this weak link so that our chain must be repaired — FOR MAC GREGOR HAS PLEDGED.

SAVE for your club by purchasing acclimated, winter-hardy BENT GRASS SEED

The best we can do is break even. You can’t lose. It’s what you want

THE LINKS
By ROBERT HUNTER

NOW - COMPLETE - 163 PAGES - FULLY ILLUSTRATED - WELL BOUND - ONLY

$1.25 POSTPAID

Hunter’s book is the standard authority on golf architecture. It gives you the principles and examples of sound golf course design so that when a hole is built to conform with this book’s teachings you can be sure the hole — and the whole course — is of lasting interest and merit.

Every pro, greenkeeper, club official and manager who has anything to do with course design will save his club money, add to the playing charm and value of his course, by following the authoritative information of The Links.

There were a small number of unbound copies of The Links in Scribner’s possession. GOLFDOM bought them and had them handsomely and durably bound. Although the book sold well at $4.00 and became the most referred-to authority on golf architecture, we have cut the price to $1.25, post paid, so this valuable book will get the wide circulation it should have for the good of golf and golf clubs.

There are only a few hundred copies of The Links available at this $1.25 price. When they are gone you are out of luck.

Send cash with order. These books are being handled by GOLFDOM at cost. They are what you want — and need.

GREEN CHAIRMEN... Gift copies of The Links to your greenkeeper and pro make thoughtful and helpful evidence of your appreciation of their earnest efforts. Why not order copies of The Links today as presents for your top-sergeants?
