RAINPROOF GOLF JACKET

"The House of Featherweight Rainwear" announces a featherweight, semi-transparent hip-length jacket of waterproof plastic material that can be folded into a small square or roll to tuck into the pocket of a golf bag when not in use. With a zipper fastener in front, this practical golf jacket is designed to fit snugly at wrists and neck to keep out rain. It is cut amply full for free body movement. Quickly and easily washable with soap and water, the translucent plastic from which the jacket is made is not only waterproof but also resists damage from alkali, acids and is not affected by extremes of heat or cold. It will not crack, peel or rot.

The rainproof golf jacket is made by the Whitewater Raincoat Company of Whitewater, Wisconsin.

WEDEATH PUSHED—Howard Hanson & Co., Beloit Wis., specialists in agricultural chemicals and hormones, has begun a national distribution and sales promotion plan to introduce Weedeath, their 2-4D formula. Experimental work in weed control has been conducted for several years on farms owned by the company's principal, Howard C. Hanson, and its salesman, J. A. Parker. Last year successful Weedeath tests were made by more than 20 county highway departments in Wisconsin and Illinois. Weedeath, according to the Hanson Co., is a completely water soluble liquid that will not deteriorate with age, clog spray equipment, or harm livestock.
