New Mechanical Blotter
Mops Wet Turf

Wet turf now can be attacked by a new "mechanical blotter" which soaks up excess moisture in much the same way as a household sponge mop.

Called the Aeri-Dryer, a product of West Point Products Corp., West Point, Pa., the new machine is self-propelled and features a 24-in. long cellulose sponge roller which absorbs moisture as it rolls across the grass. The specially fabricated Du Pont sponge, which holds up to 20 times its weight in water, is squeezed dry by a wringer and the water whisked to a removable sump pan.

Golf courses and other outside recreational areas face major problems in rain and dew. The manufacturer claims the Aeri-Dryer offers protection for expensive grass which can be seriously damaged when rain is followed by blazing sun. Dew can be removed quickly for earlier mowing, providing more playing time on perfectly conditioned greens.

Golf officials have expressed interest in the Aeri-Dryer as insurance for major tournaments. After a downpour, wet areas can be blotted quickly and play resumed. Puddles can be removed by a special vacuum attachment which sucks up the water and pumps it by hose to a safe drainage area.

Chicago Club Installs New Cast Iron Sprinkling System

Ridge CC of Chicago is now in the midst of installing a completely new irrigation system on its golf course. The system will take care of all fairways and greens. It will be of modern design, so that large areas of the course can be watered with minimum labor. Each of the irrigation stations will sprinkle an area having a diameter of 86 ft. Spray nozzles are supplied from a 6-in. cast iron water main through 13/4 in. riser connections. These riser pipes are assembled from several elbows and short nipples so that when a tractor or other vehicle crosses over a connection, no damage occurs.

A large lake for water distribution is being carved out near the center of the course. It will serve as a balancing reservoir for irrigation needs. A pumping station is being erected to deliver water from the lake to the irrigation system at 125 lbs. pressure using a 500 gpm pump with a 60 hp motor. The distribution system consists of over four miles of pipe. The 6 in. and 4 in. are class 150 mechanical joint cast iron pipe and the smaller laterals are of galvanized pipe. These serve 210 irrigation outlets. Use of water from the artificial lake or reservoir for irrigation purposes will imand will be drained during the winter. Irrigation outlets are being attached to mains by the use of saddle and swing joint connections.

The contractor is required to flood all trenches, then compact the dirt around and under the pipes in such a manner that no spoil is left over. All trenches are kept to a width of 10 in. and no heavy equipment is allowed on the course. The supt. is removing sod in advance of the excavating contractor as the pipe lines are staked out. As soon as the contractor has compacted the backfill, the supt. reinstalls the sod and a small layer of black dirt so that within a weeks time, it will be difficult to detect where the new water mains have been installed. Assembling of the pipes in the trenches is being handled by a plumbing subcontractor as well as the assembling of the riser pipes. The two contractors are able to install some 600 ft. of pipe per working day in good weather, with only small inconvenience to players. Total cost of the irrigation system will be over $70,000.
Mechanical Crabgrass Control
Henderson Mfg. Co., Fisher, Ill., will soon publish a booklet on mechanical crabgrass control and turf renovation, written by William H. Daniel, Purdue University agronomist. The booklet tells how when grass is weakened by disease and summer heat it is invaded by annuals such as crabgrass. Daniel goes on to describe how a machine now available, the Henderson “thin cut” (an auxiliary reel assembly that can be substituted for a lawn mowing assembly) selectively weeds out competitive grass. The unit renovates turf by thinning and replanting and also is practical for normal grass mowing and mulching.

Someone apparently just got off a good lockerroom story to get this Spalding group smiling like this at the Open in Toledo. The picture was taken at a get-together of the company's golf advisory staff the day before the tournament started. In the photo are (I to r, front row): Jerry Barber, Gene Littler, Henry Ransom and Shelley Mayfield. (Second row): Jimmy Thomson, Ralph Hutchinson, Johnny Pott, Walt Burkemo, Al Brosch, Don Fairfield and Don January. Burkemo was still smiling three days later when he shot a final round of 65 and finished with a 284, only two strokes off the Mayer-Middlecoff pace.
