CONCLUSION AT MIDWEST COUNTRY CLUB:

"One of the best things is Cast Iron Pipe in use."

So says Marv Gruening, superintendent of grounds at Midwest Country Club, Hinsdale, Illinois. Marv has supervised a continuing program of modernization at the club—including installation of a cast iron water system to irrigate greens and tees. He’s seen the performance cast iron delivers.

"We installed cast iron pipe ranging from six inches to three inches," he says. "We used the new slip-on joint, and to date we have never had to dig out or repair one foot of it."

Cast iron pipe is naturally strong—tests out at 500 psi at the foundry, and easily takes the high working pressures needed by golf courses. Joints are as strong as the pipe itself for down-the-
The dependability. Result: full, steady water flow. Leak-free performance that rules out torn-up tees, fairways, greens and annoying expensive water system repairs.

Long-term performance, too. Cast iron pipe stays on the job for at least a century or more. Resists temperature extremes, adverse soil conditions, high internal pressures, surges and external loads.

For worry-free water delivery, install cast iron pipe. Do the job right the first time!

Sell the ball that keeps your golfer out front on every hole...the Super Maxfli...and see how easy it is to stay out front in profits, too. • Apparently more and more golfers are discovering the winning difference the Maxfli makes because last year saw every previous sales record smashed...again. And you can expect more of the same in '63. • This year we're telling your golfers to "hit it a Maxfli mile" through their favorite golfing magazines...in our biggest advertising effort ever. And we're backing up every word of this challenge with the ball that delivers all that it promises. From its Energy-Bank center to its gleaming white, chemically-bonded finish, the Maxfli is engineered to the "nth" degree to give your golfer greater distance, accuracy and consistency...and to give you a ball that keeps 'em coming back for more. And when they do...make sure you're well-stocked. A Super Maxfli fan won't settle for anything almost as good!
