A durable green fairway is par for the course with Armour Vertagreen Tournament Fertilizers.

Expect a dense green fairway when you nourish your turf with Armour's Tournament—a fertilizer formulated especially for fairway turf.

Vertagreen Tournament's richer balance of root-growing nutrients feeds grass roots more of what they need to grow long and strong...roots which nourish a thick, green, healthy turf...roots that help your turf green-up faster in the spring and stand up under heavy play.

Look to Armour's Professional Turf Program to keep your whole course in championship condition. Armour has a complete line of fertilizers and turf protection products—all backed by reliable Armour research and the services of your experienced Armour representative.
In your business you can’t ignore the weather.

Better use a working herbicide that can.

Balan™ granular won’t wash away. It couldn’t care less about heavy downpours or repeated irrigations.

Balan is the dependable turf herbicide. Excessive rainfall or irrigation won’t move Balan out of its protective zone. Unlike many turf herbicides, Balan is highly insoluble in water and has the unique ability to cling to soil particles for months. There it stays to kill smooth and hairy crabgrass, plus goosegrass (silver crabgrass), watergrass (barnyardgrass), and yellow and green foxtail as the seeds germinate. In warm season areas where the growing season exceeds 4 to 6 months a second yearly application may be needed. Formulated for turfgrass professionals, Balan is an easy-to-use granular. And just as easy on your budget. Try it. Balan goes all out...all over...all season.

We style, we manufacture, we sell, we deliver Touring Pro® Sweaters. No one else can make that statement.

There's nothing like the real thing. The original. The leader. Copycats are a dime a dozen. In golf sweaters, the Touring Pro is the one.

It's not just a sweater with a label that says it's a golf sweater. Touring Pro was created with golfers in mind by golfers. It is sold by us exclusively to golf pro shops. Nobody else can handle Touring Pros.

Others can try to duplicate our designs and our low, low prices. But no one can make a sweater just like ours. Because nobody can build the quality and knowhow into a golf sweater like we can. Maybe that's why we're called a lot of things, including the Sweater Guys.

Unlike gear or cam-driven rotors, Rain Bird's Rotor Impact Drive sprinklers can pipe sand and dirt from well or lake water straight out again—through large water flow channels. Thus: lower maintenance costs. (Parts for field repair average less than $1.00 per head.)

Rain Bird's positive drive Pop-Ups are also of much simpler design, with only two Teflon seals and sufficient tolerance on the riser shaft. The positive Precision-Jet arm no-splash action allows placement of these Birds alongside walks, club houses, trimmed areas and so on—they'll never splash back.

The watering arc is adjustable from part to full circle. And a tough vinyl coating protects the sprinkler.

What this bird gives you is all the usefulness of reliable Rain Bird above-the-surface sprinklers, but out of the way, underground, until the water is turned on.

Rain Bird Rotor Pop-Ups have a long, wear-free life, and the entire sprinkler assemblies inside are interchangeable. For full details on the range of Rain Bird Rotor Pop-Up heads available, call your Rain Bird distributor. Or write: Rain Bird, Glendora, California 91740 indication of bolder prints to come. These slacks have self belts, western pockets and are washable. On the more conservative side, but in a wide and wild range of colors, is the new 100 per cent Dacron polyester double knit slack ($27.50).

Botany also shows strength in its trousers for the golfer, especially with its knitted seersucker ($20)—stretch and texture story combined. A rough textured linen weave ($14) and a boucle polyester/rayon which assumes a metallic look in gold, blue or silver ($20) also make interesting news. To be ordered in packaged groupings are “Flower Power” slacks ($16) in wild colors and all screen printed in Japan.

Munsingwear, long a well-known name among golf shirt manufacturers, has entered the golf market full force with their Grand-Slam coordinates. Besides the traditional shirts ($5-$10), this line consists of sweaters ($15-$25), slacks ($15-$17), walker shorts ($10), jackets ($12-$17), and socks. There will be six slack models which will include side tabs, self belts or belt loops. Added to the permanent press pant is a Scotchgard “soil ban” protecting film. Within the golf jacket line will be a nylon shell ($12). Imaginative in the Munsingwear shirt line is a Nehru collar with contrasting mock-turtle insert ($6).

Damon has coordinated its line of imported knit sweaters and shirts with 10 new slacks. Among the most exciting are the broad, broad stripes ($27.50) and window panes ($30) and in the texture category the unusual cotton corduroy ($30). Damon also has woven cotton as well as wool on a silk loom for a fabric smoothness to rival any new textured surface. In addition, the company has domestic cotton boucle sweaters which fall into easy-to-order programs.

Francesca for Damon shows a group of knit dresses ($75-$200) which would add glamour and style to any shop. The pleated skirts could be used for active golfwear, but they are even more perfect for spectator and around-the-club wear. Many v-necks are in the line as well as a new two-pocketed jumper with arm holes extended to the waist and sold with white sweater blouse ($95). Colors are clear and strong; they are completely coordinated.

Gilson Knitwear continues to show variety with color in its alpaca sweaters. Of new interest is a red peter-pan collar alpaca sweater for ladies ($22). Ideal for comfortable golfing is the cardigan alpaca jacket for women with hemline reaching just below the waist ($22).

From David H. Smith comes big plaids, clean prints and good detailing. In the Louise Suggs line fall several new golf jackets (ap-

Good Christmas season business (as well as year round business) results from skillful application of many merchandising principles, not the least of which is effective newspaper advertising.

Here are good, tested ideas, used by golf merchandise retailers in the past. Each one can be used with equal success by other club professionals. All of the ads illustrated with the article contain at least one or more of the eight copy points highlighted in the accompanying "DO's" box.

Layout is the second important factor in creating an ad that sells and should be handled by an artist if the budget permits. However, for the club pro who has neither the money nor the artist, and who in fact has never placed an ad in a newspaper, professional help is available at no extra charge. He merely has to call his local newspaper, and they will have a sales representative make up the ad for him.

Harris-Conley, Seattle, Wash., presented an excellent method of promotion of gift certificates, point seven, which should never be neglected as part of the overall holiday merchandising schedule. The suggestion, was carried through with two suggestions, i.e., "Certificates may be for any amount," and "Certificates may be redeemed at any time." An important part of this ad was the incorporation of a coupon for ordering. The indirect appeal, point eight, was the technique used to tie in the gift certificate.

Here are some basic ideas worth incorporating or stressing in your ad, whenever they may apply.

At least one of the following points was emphasized in each of the ads accompanying this article.

1. A wide price range so that you appeal to budgets of all customers
2. Credit card charges available
3. Free merchandise offered with certain purchases
4. “Specials” on sale
5. Promotion of sale theme, ie. “Xmas buys”
6. Services available without charge such as gift wrapping
7. Gift certificates
8. Indirect appeal, ie. to the golf widow

DONT’s

Here are some common wrongs that inexperienced advertisers should watch out for.

1. Don’t overcrowd your copy. Advertisers tend to try to get too much into their space and wind up with a confused mess.
2. Don’t leave out credit cards that you honor.
3. Don’t advertise specials to get people into your shop if you have a very limited supply for the sale. People sour on you.
4. Make sure your sales help is aware of the ad or sale. Nothing is more frustrating and embarrassing to the customer than having to explain the ad.
5. If you expect your ad to reach new customers, don’t forget to put your store hours down.

Alma Golf Course, San Jose, Calif., pushed points one, three, four and five—offering a wide price range, free merchandise, specials and suggesting that the reader should “Make this a Golfman’s Christmas.” The latter two contained suggestions that fall into the line of accessories for the golfer. Since he uses and wears those items out regularly and is therefore usually in the market for them, they were “Xmas specialed” as a come-on. As an extra inducement to the reader, one free ball was offered for presentation of the ad prior to December 25. Another inducement was free head covers with any bag purchase of $17 or more.

All of these examples can serve as starters or for references to create even better ideas and promotional approaches for selling golfers.
