

KING EWING, Honorary Member of the Golf Course Superintendents Association of Northern California was recognized as 1983 MAN OF THE YEAR BY LANDSCAPE AND IRRIGATION MAGAZINE.

King has been a member of GCSA of Northern California since 1948. He was voted as an Honorary Member in 1974 because of his sincere interest in the turf industry and for his dedication to advancing the golf course superintendent profession.

King almost single handed guided the Northern California Turfgrass Council for nine years and persuaded the University of California to establish turf plots at Davis.

Ewing Irrigation Products, as the company is now known, distributed Buckner Sprinklers in Northern California since the late forties. Some prominent irrigation people who worked for King are George Bell, Don Burns, Bob Steen, and Russ Mitchell. Susan, King's daughter and son-in-law Ray York became active in the business in 1963. King retired in 1974, but still keeps an eye on the business attending board meetings and remains in an advisory capacity.

KING EWING stands tall, not only in the irrigation industry, but to everyone whom he touched. We honor you, King.
