

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

MICHAEL R. CLARK, CGCS

has set in. The board will continue to do its best in running the Association. If you want something other than what you are getting, it's time to come to a board meeting and speak up.

I have asked our new program chairman, Steve Carlton, to make every effort to have our monthly meeting "the second week of each month" in accord with our present bylaws. This may make it more difficult for some clubs to host our meetings, but I hope it is not a major problem. By having the meeting the same week each month, you should find it easier to make your long range plans to attend. Better attendance should mean more effective meetings.

Our recent survey has had a very poor response from the membership. Either everyone is completely happy or a certain amount of apathy

JOHN LLOYD started golf course work at the Alameda Municipal Golf Course in 1957 as a laborer under William Souza and worked as night waterman for 2 years. Worked there for 22 years and proceeded to work his way up to Foreman. In the meantime, attended many seminars and Chabot College and took many classes in horticulture. Quit Alameda Golf Course and became Superintendent at the San Leandro Golf Course in 1979. John and his wife and family live in Union City, California.

The City of San Leandro in June 1963 opened the Marina Golf Course, a nine hole par 29 executive course. The course and the adjacent boat marina were financed through funds from the State of California Green Belt appropriations.

Initial planning called for construction of an additional eighteen hole regulation golf course within five years. However, because of the City's pay-as-you-go policy, construction was deferred until the landfill program's completion. Subsequently, another temporary nine holes were added to the Marina course, which created a 59 par course. The second nine holes were built on five of the permanent Tony Lema Course holes and opened in 1971.

Finally, exactly 20 years after the Marina Course was opened, the Tony Lema Par 71 Course was dedicated and opened for play on June 6, 1983.

The course was 100% financed from funds set aside by the City over the years and is totally paid for.

Improvements over the years include a fully lighted driving range, additional tree plantings, drains and beautification of the entire Marina complex.
