56th International Golf Course Conference & Show

The Golf Course Superintendents Association of America's (GCSAA) annual conference for 1985 will feature new and exciting things - even a new name. It is now known as the International Golf Course Conference and Show. Director John M. Schilling states, "The Association's Executive Committee felt the term 'golf course' better explains the focus of the Conference than did the term 'turfgrass' although many seminars do pertain to all aspects of turfgrass. The Conference does bring the attendees the latest in research, equipment, education and management practices specifically for golf course managers."
