

HOST SUPERINTENDENT

ALFONSO "AL" G. RAMOZ began his career at Santa Teresa Golf Course in November of 1974 under a federal program as a golf course maintenance trainee. He also had training in forest fire fighting as a park ranger, and on pesticide and herbicide application and safety. He worked at Dixon Landing Golf Course for two years and then went to Pleasant Hills Golf Course as the Superintendent. Two and a half years later Al came to Fairway Glen Golf Course.

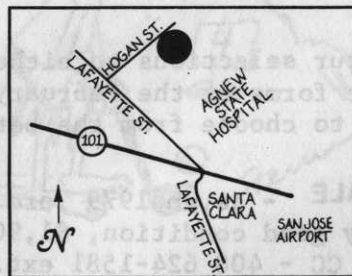

The City of Santa Clara bought the Golf Course from Wallace Stevens in 1975 for 1.5 million dollars when it was losing money and looked like a cow pasture. Phil Talluto became Superintendent - Starter - and Manager of Fairway Glen Golf Course for the City of Santa Clara. He built it up to what it is today. The Golf Course has 1,500-2,000 plays per month. The City of Santa Clara has just constructed a new Golf Course next to their new Convention Center. It will be an 18 hole tournament golf course, over 7,000 yards long and par 72. Along with the driving range, chipping and practice greens there will be seven tennis courts and a tournament court with bleachers.
