Scholarship Tournament A Success (even without Blake Swint!)

A big thanks go out to Affiliate Reps Craig Kilcoyne and Steve Franzen for running the Scholarship & Research Tournament at Rossmoor. They spent numerous hours behind the scenes putting together this worthy event. Host Superintendent Joe Rodriguez, CGCS, Phil Laret and staff had the course shining for the event. Their hard work was evident on the Stanley Dollar Ranch Course as nearly every tee had been rebuilt! The raffle/auction portion of the tournament went well due to the numerous generous donations provided by GCSANC members. It is the donations that make it possible to raise the funds needed for the GCSANC scholarship and turfgrass research programs. Thanks to everyone who helped out with the event!

(A list of supporters will follow next month.)

Great Links: All about MapQuest

MapQuest is a popular interactive service that allows users to find specific locations, obtain driving directions, and create and save personalized maps. In fact, you may have already seen MapQuest on the sites of other well-known organizations, such as the National Geographic Society, AAA, Reader's Digest, and numerous yellow page directories.

GCSAA will be linking to Mapquest's site from the education section to help members find regional seminar venues. Armed with the location information from your confirmation letter, you'll be able to get driving directions from your home or course to your seminar, print a map and choose your own route. The MapQuest site also features a good FAQ section, details about mapping, instructions for using MyMapQuest to create personalized maps, and special tips for AOL users.

You'll find MapQuest at:
