

Pasatiempo to Host Golf at The Institute

the 1921 U.S. Amateur Golf Champion. While living in Del Monte, near Monterey, Hollins was intimately involved in the planning of the Cypress Point Golf Course; the design of its world famous 16th hole and the organization of the Cypress Point Club. From Cypress Point, she turned her focus north toward the hills above Santa Cruz. In 1928 she acquired the 570 acres that became Pasatiempo and commissioned Dr. Alister MacKenzie to design her course, naming it "Pasatiempo," Spanish for "passing of time."

Widely known as one of California's hidden treasures Pasatiempo is a golfer's dream come true. From it's rich history to the breathtaking scenery, Pasatiempo promises captivating moments to all of its guests. Please join the GCSANC and experience for yourself what many have come to believe is one of the finest championship golf courses in the country.

Legendary for its gathering of greats, Pasatiempo was home to one of golf's outstanding architects, Alister MacKenzie. Pasatiempo was his most beloved design, its sixteenth hole his favorite par four in all of golf. Intriguing and inviting, Pasatiempo's course overlooks the spectacular Monterey Bay providing both beauty and challenge to amateur and professional golfers. Bobby Jones, Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, Ben Crenshaw, Joyce Wethered, Mary Pickford, Ty Cobb, Babe Didrikson, Jack Dempsey, Bing Crosby and Tiger Woods are just a few of Pasatiempo's celebrated guests.

The 1920's was a dynamic period in golf history. Pasatiempo was created from the vision of Marion Hollins,
