

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE - Robert E. Livesey, CGCS Plaza GC, Visalia

After the meeting of the California Golf Course Superintendents Associations at San Luis Bay Inn, several of us started discussing the changes that have taken place over the past decade. Our Farm Advisors are now involved with ornamentals. More research on turfgrass and tufgrass problems are being done by the univeristies. Equipment manufacturers are making their products more versatile. The chemical industry has given us better fertilizers herbicides, fungicides and insecticides. More educational opportunities are now available. These are but a few, but seem to fit into the more important group.

As you can see we have available to us, people with the expertise to help with some of our problems. It is not only people from our universities and industry who can help. It is also your fellow superintendent, our Association. All you have to do is ask. It is much easier to ask for help than it is to try and fight it alone.
