The energy behind the idea never runs out.

Good ideas come and go. Even some of the best ideas eventually fade away. Why? Because it takes a constant flow of energy to keep an idea fresh and bright.

DURSBAN* insecticides are a perfect example. 17 years ago they were a good idea. But with the full energy of Dow behind them, they are among the most widely used insecticides on the market.

It all started when Dow developed chlorpyrifos—the active ingredient in DURSBAN insecticides, and still the most effective ingredient available. Since that time, Dow has invested a lot of energy in continual research and development programs to expand the uses and registrations of DURSBAN.

And each new registration means more business for you. More species of insects you can control. More outdoor customers you can serve.

Without Dow behind the idea, you wouldn't have all the different DURSBAN insecticides. You wouldn't have DURSBAN 2E and double-strength 4E liquids or new 50W wettable powder to control just about any outdoor insect.

But there's more. When you use a DURSBAN insecticide you're plugged into all the product support and marketing expertise Dow has to offer. Dow not only backs DURSBAN products and their performance, it stands behind the industry. Dow contributes financial, educational and research support to the Professional Lawn Care Association and Golf Course Superintendents Association. Dow offers you and your distributor sales literature and training programs to help you manage your business better, valuable incentive programs and a whole lot more.

Remember, anybody can come up with a good idea, but it takes a company like Dow to make it work for you. Agricultural Products Department, Midland, Michigan 48640.

The Soggy Seed Harvest of 1983

It looked like a bumper crop when seed growers cut and windrowed their crop this year. But then the rain started and didn’t stop for weeks. The crop is not a bumper one any more.

Look around you. Whether you service commercial or residential customers, the more places you find to use Roundup herbicide, the more you’ll save.

Any side-by-side comparison along fencelines, sidewalks or curblines would prove Roundup works considerably faster than string trimmers and other mechanical weed control methods. So the more trimming and edging jobs you do with Roundup, the more time you’ll save per call.

A complete weed control program with Roundup can also mean a considerable savings of time and labor on repeat treatments. With a 2% solution of Roundup you can control over 90 kinds of problem weeds—roots and all—so they won’t grow back.
YOU USE ROUNDUP®, LABOR YOU’LL SAVE.

What’s more, Roundup leaves no residual soil activity, and it won’t wash or leach out to harm desirable vegetation. That makes Roundup ideal for around shrubs and flower beds, around trees and other areas.

Using Roundup makes good business sense. Look around. The more you do, the more you’ll save. See your herbicide dealer soon.

Seed Country: Working long days adds up to better turf for everyone

The usually sleepy Northwest, seed country to us, is buzzing this summer. Between the rain, field burning and a rash of personnel changes, seed country is more like Wall Street than small towns surrounding grain elevators.

Harvest time is always tense. Everyone works long days driving combines and trucks, processing seed at the cleaning plants, and torching fields when the state says it’s alright to burn.

Seed growers like Bill Rose, Willard McLagen, and Dave Dorrler begin each day at 7 a.m. breakfast meetings with their foremen. They are constantly in touch with their crews by radio as the harvest progresses.

The state might tell a grower he has two hours to burn a 300-acre field. The grower must quickly round up enough people from other operations to drive water and torch trucks, much like a volunteer fire department. There are few complaints about helping out. The days are long and the work is hard, but pitching in is a part of life in Seed Country.

Things were rushed even more this year because two valuable weeks of time were lost to rain. Suddenly, unsold seed from last year’s harvest, which threatened to drive the price of this year’s crop down, became the surplus needed to cover this year’s potential losses from the rain.

Right in the middle of all this excitement, the editors of Weeds Trees & Turf show up, asking a bunch of questions and taking lots of pictures. Some people might have told us to get out of the way or come back later. Not the seed people. They asked us to join them at breakfast meetings, in their trucks as they burned fields, at their cleaning plants in full operation, and after a long, hard day for a barbecue. We did it all and felt fortunate to be in the middle of the nerve center of the seed industry.

If they’d make time for us, they’d make time for you too. That’s the kind of people they are.

So, next time you buy seed, you might think of it as more than just seed, but a product from a friendly bunch of people working hard to make your turf look as good as it can.

Firms trade players in sales, research

A chain reaction of management changes at the major turf seed companies, starting in early August, continues at press time.

First Mike Robinson, product and marketing manager at Pickseed, left to create his own research and marketing company. Then Steve Tubbs of Loft's Great Western Seed Co. was replaced by Dick Olson of E.F. Burlingham.

Next Gerald Pepin, International Seeds research director and owner of many turf seed patents, moved over to Pickseed. Van Engelen Beheer, Holland, purchased seed grower Willard McLagen's 50 percent interest in International Seeds Inc. in late July. J.L. Carnes, president of ISI retains a 50 percent interest in the company. Van Engelen, a division of Cebeco-Handelsrad of Rotterdam, is one of the oldest European marketers and breeders of turf and forage grass varieties.

These changes leave two seed management positions open, one at Burlingham and one at International. Since there is a limited number of experienced managers of turf seed, it is likely the chain reaction will continue for the next few months.

AAN's Lederer predicts fall surge in sales

In a special report to the American Association of Nurserymen Board of Directors, Executive Vice President Robert F. Lederer said that important financial and economic indicators are clearly pointing to a potentially strong turnaround for sale of living plants this fall season. In his report, he urged the Board to call on the industry to prepare for a big fall season and to take steps now to help make it happen.

"Plant product retailers should stock up on plants and supplies to make certain that as the turnaround builds, the industry is fully prepared to capture those sales," Lederer said. "Good fall weather coupled with the vastly improved economy could very well makeup for spring losses."

The primary cause for the weak spring season was the unusually poor weather.

"If we get reasonably good weather this fall, the market will rebound with great strength," Lederer said.

He also suggested that the retail industry begin now with aggressive advertising and promotion programs to help stimulate demand for the fall season.

ABA defers membership ruling

After a five month nationwide campaign by the National Club Association to protect the private social rights of judges, the American Bar Association House of Delegates has deferred action on a resolution that would make it "inappropriate" for judges to belong to private organizations with alleged selective membership policies.

Resolution 119, sponsored by the ABA Committee on Ethics and Professional Responsibility, seeks to amend the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct. Judges would be banned from maintaining memberships in private, social, civic, service, fraternal and sorority groups which practice "invidious discrimination." According to the Committee report, these memberships "may give rise to the perceptions by minorities, women and others, that the judge's impartiality is impaired." The term invidious discrimination proved to be a trouble spot. It was never clearly defined within the resolution.

In the end, the ABA Delegates agreed to defer consideration of the resolution until its next meeting in Feb. 1984.

McLoughlin settles prior to trial

James McLoughlin, recently resigned executive director of the Golf Course Superintendents of America, will not have to face a jury for alleged gambling violations due to an arrangement his lawyer worked out with the judge in Lawrence, KS, in August.

McLoughlin said earlier he would fight the charges against him, but chose instead to accept good behavior conditions which could prevent charges being recorded. A trial would have required testimony from many GCSAA staffers and board members, a great inconvenience. The arrangement sets a period of time for "good behavior" with the result of charges being dropped. Since McLoughlin lives in New York, and both McLoughlin and the association would like to put this situation behind them, the judge agreed to the special arrangement.

McLoughlin tendered his resignation the end of May, citing the Association's two-year delay in relocation and the need to be closer to his family in New York, as reasons for leaving. McLoughlin's directorship had always been riddled with controversy. The press for relocation, alleged gambling violations and financial condition of the GCSAA weighed heavily in the Executive Committee's decision to accept McLoughlin's resignation. John Schilling, formerly in charge of marketing for the annual conference and Golf Course Management magazine, has been named associate executive director. The Executive Committee is studying requirements for the top post.

Cheeseman leaves turf for teeth

Jerry Cheeseman, the driving force of the Lake City Community College, FL, School of Golf Course Operations, will leave the teaching ranks to enter the student ranks at the University of Florida school of dentistry.

Cheeseman was also director for the Lake City Community College School of Landscape Design and Sales. Cheeseman was very active in state and national golf organizations and was responsible for making the small community college a sought-after school by students from across the country.

AAN says goodbye to 230 Southern Bldg.

After 45 years in the same location, the headquarters of the American Association of Nurserymen has moved. Its new address, effective Aug. 22, is 1250 Eye St. NW, Suite 500, Washington, D.C. (202) 789-2900.

"With the uncertainty of the future of the old building we were in and with the tremendous incentives we received from the owners of the new building, we decided the time to move was right," said AAN Associate Manager Larry Scovotto.

The Association had been considering building its own headquarters for the past year-and-a-half, but the economy and prohibitive cost of building in the Washington, D.C. area curtailed those plans. Incentives at the new building included seven months free rent and $70,000 in improvements, suited to the needs of the AAN.

NAA picks Las Vegas for February meeting

The National Arborist Association will have its 47th Annual Meeting at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas Feb. 12-17.

Although the entire agenda of the meeting has not been finalized, it will focus on management. Las Vegas was selected in keeping with the Association's policy of moving the Annual Meeting from East to West on alternate years.

Pacific Sod likes its old name best

Pacific Green/Nunes and Pacific Green has returned to using its original name, Pacific Sod, and has completed an internal reorganization, according to Richard Rogers, president.

Pacific Sod, founded under that name 15 years ago, is one of the West's largest commerical sod growers.

"The reorganization allows us to position ourselves in order to quickly expand our operations to meet anticipated increased demands for the balance of 1983 and 1984," said Rogers.

Rogers said the decision to resume
