

*In modest times, ere impudence in man,
To all the heights of forward Fopery ran,
Only Philosophers could build in Aire,
Now every foole can raise a Castle there.*