

The Fox will with the Lioness compare,
For noble Race, cause she does numbers bear,

Who thus reply'd — tho' I but one do bring
That one shall rule thy numbers as their King

MORALL

'Tis not a gawdy title forms the great
Who should with nobler vertue be replac'd.

F A B. XXXII. De Leæna & Vulpe.

Læna, quum à Vulpe sæpe exprobraretur, quod quolibet partu unum duntaxat catulum parturiret, respondit, Unum sanè, at pol Leonem.

M O R A L E.

Pulchritudo non in Copiâ Rerum sed Vertute consistit ; plus valebat unus Themistocles apud Græcos teste Plutarcho quam numerosus Persarum Exercitus sub Rege Xerxe. Nobilitas rarò in turbâ in-venitur.