

*The Horse unable to out-race the Hart,
Implores the aid of man to take his part,*

*Then won the prize, but hence his fate began
For ever since he's been enslav'd by man.*

Morall

*He who by th'Rables power a Crowne does weare
May be a King, but is a Slave to feare.*

F A B. XCIV. Equus & Cervus.

MORALE docet

Condignè Eos pati infortunium gravius, qui de tranquillitate sua se volentes detraberint.
