

*A Maid who by a Lyon was ador'd
Consents to love, but first she him implor'd*

*To quitt his nailles, and teeth, the Monarch yield
Which done, with ease she her fond Lover kills,*

Morall

*Almighty Love asailes with powerfull charmes,
And both our Prudence, and our strength disarmes.*

FAB. CIX. Leo Amatorius.

LEO Sylvani cujusdam filiam perditè amavit, & patrem virginis sollicitabat, ut illi virgo in Matrimonium daretur. Respondēbat Rusticus filiam ejus esse tenellam & delicatulam virginem, & nunquam hamatos ejus ungues dentesque: Passuram passus igitur Leo dentes & ungues evelli, ut virgine fruēretur. Quod quam vidisset pater Fustibus illi involabat, & longius imbellem abigebat.

MORALE indicat

Vesaniā inutilis amoris, propter quem pretiōcissima perdimus & Captivitatem patimur.

FABLE