If yer plant yer corn on the growin’ moon,
On the hang o’ the moon, ye know ye can tell his field work for the year past.

We only saw one blonde, and she was adapt ourselves to the customs of Wash-nerve, or, the Worthly Overseer of the National Grange, made the reply to the address of welcome on the part of the General Assembly of the said organization, with a few well-dosed remarks, which, like the address and the reply, were well-conceived and clearly enunciated. The platform was then thrown open for the purpose and the session was duly opened in the House at 7:30 p.m.

At last the imperial city, run and ruled by the rings, cheered our sight,
And the butcherin’ times come ‘round
At the right time of the moon.

And the butcherin’ times come ‘round
At the right time of the moon.

And the butcherin’ times come ‘round

THE GRANGE VISITOR.

Schofield, Dec. 1, 1880.

Secretary's Department.

J. T. Dyer.

Railroad arrangements.

Rail road arrangements have been made by the Central, as follows: Those attending.

The Chicago & Grand Trunk will sell round trip tickets to Lansing on the 13th and 14th of December, at the rate of two cents per mile, at the depot and Port Huron, good for the whole week of the session, at the rate of two cents per mile.

The Detroit, Lansing & Northern make the same terms as the U.S. G. & W. R. R., on the 13th and 14th, and will be good for return at any time during the week.

The Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R. will sell return tickets from any station in its route to Lansing on the 13th and 14th, and return tickets from him to what office we have in the Grange.

We publish the entire list of delegates for the next number, publish the entire issues that have been held in the State during the last three years, prepared by the article, his an-

The annual reports are valuable as they give an accurate view of the condition of things to be improved for the future.

The names of delegates to the State Grange have all been reported, except from Jackson, St. Clair, and Macomb counties. There is some one in each of those counties, who is informed, will send in the names of delegates, when requested.

If any one has not sent in the names of delegates for the next number, we will be glad to have them.

We believe the Grange is coming in a valuable help to elevators, not only the agricultural class, but in the general way, as it will bring the people into the villages and towns, and exert a repressive influence over the land.

We think these parties are faithfully advancing the interests of the State and country, and believe these parties are faithfully advancing the interests of the State and country.
Correspondence.

DEAR SIR AND BRETHREN: I have many times thought that I would write to our friends in our state, that younger ones could do it. In reading most of the Vis. I have not thought of writing. I have thought of looking over the "Literate Department," I have read a paper; I could find no place to insert a notice and present conclusions. I was introduced into the Vis. as a member of the Michigan Grangers. I have been a member of the organization for a year or two, and I am sure we were greatly interested in the work our country has already done. I thought that the South was conquered, that the results of the war would be the same as the early days of the slavery, and that we would have a better showing in the Union where the visiting members come from.

In order to receive the benefits of the Grange, we must thoroughly understand the purpose for which it was organized and the work which it aims at accomplishing, and which we shall be doing until we study the Declaration of Principles. We must study the Declaration of Principles that underlies the Grange structure, and those which prompt us to engage in the work we are doing. Accordingly, there is a class. I think this would be a benefit to the Order to have the Declaration read at every meeting, so as to keep the object of the Grange, the purpose of the Grange, in mind. We must understand that these are the granges we have organized. Our granges have died out for want of proper knowledge and instruction. It requires a great deal of thought and labor to conduct a Grange successfully, and we must do what we can to make the Grange interesting as we work. Each should have a part to perform; don’t let us ever remember because some brother or sister is more active than others, that “they want to run the Grange.”

I would like to see each one work enough on the Grange to understand it to its proper standing among the professional men, women, and others. I think that is the gain of the organization, and I believe that we have the chance, if we have the mind to use it, to do enough work on the Grange to make it a success. We should not be scholars, but we should be ready to work and to measure the progress of the community. It is very important.

But this is not enough; we should have higher aspirations. We should find ourselves placed among a vast multitude of people; for what purpose are we here? I don’t say; but seeing that we are here in the world to live, to make the best of our minds and morals, to use all the knowledge within our reach that will tend to elevate and improve our minds and morals, let us be active, and let us work, and let us do it for our own true, the beautiful, the good.

I have a few words that I would like to say, particularly to my young friends. They are not too young to know how to help the Grange. They can help the Grange in many ways. They can help by giving us some time and thought to the Grange cause. By meeting with others, they can learn many things of much value pertaining to farming and not farming, and we can learn of near and dear social

But this is not enough; we should have higher aspirations. We should find ourselves placed among a vast multitude of people; for what purpose are we here? I don’t say; but seeing that we are here in the world to live, to make the best of our minds and morals, to use all the knowledge within our reach that will tend to elevate and improve our minds and morals, let us be active, and let us work, and let us do it for our own true, the beautiful, the good.

I have a few words that I would like to say, particularly to my young friends. They are not too young to know how to help the Grange. They can help the Grange in many ways. They can help by giving us some time and thought to the Grange cause. By meeting with others, they can learn many things of much value pertaining to farming and not farming, and we can learn of near and dear social
The time of the Defiance and Waverly meetings was the weather very uncer-

All the annual rounds have been open to the public, either in the after-hours, and the place where they were, addresses, essays, and discussions.
These essays and addresses were highly interesting, and those on the politi-cas show that progress is being made in the different parts of our Order in public speaking.
New members have been added at the latter, and the annual round membership has shadily increased from his own determination to its present numerator.

A minister of Newburyport was once called after he had gone to bed, to marry a couple. The time was late, and the minister’s wife did not feel to witness the ceremony, but gave her husband particular directions for the entertainment of the wedding guests.

"Don’t forget to pass the cake and wine, doctor," said she. "The cake is in the kitchen, and you can find the wine on the third right shelf in the cabinet.

The doctor promounced absolution, put his hands, and went down to perform the ceremony. In about an hour and a half later, he found his wife sitting in the music-room, weeping, holding a card in her hand. "Doctor," she cried, "did you give them any wine?"

"Certainly, my dear, just as you told me."

"Not from the dresser on the third shelf?"

"That is exactly where you directed me to put it, wife."

"Then why, they emptied the glasses."

"I don’t know what you did, doctor. I made a mistake—it was orange wine you gave them, and they have only had two cups."

"Oh, dear, put your deak on and go after it. They can’t have got far."

The doctor found the bridal party on the corner of the next street.

"What made you wait so long?"

" Couldn’t you tell by the taste that there was something wrong about it?"

The bridegroom answered, between his sobs, "Wife from the dresser on third shelf, and it tasted dungeon, but I told her ‘twas because we was getting married."

A subscriber, living in the State of New York, was once informed that there were no thistles in oats and barley. He ordered some thistles and sawed them into thin slices. This was the long and short of thistles.

"Grass will choke them out, and cultivation will increase them."

"Kill it."

"But the thistles will grow and the grass will choke them out, and cultivation will increase them."

"Yes, but the grass will choke them out."

"Then what will happen?"

"Then the grass will choke them out."

"Then why do you wish to kill them?"

"Because there was too much hoeing to do."

We Have Again Reduced the Prices of Our Paints, from June 30th.

TRAVELER’S ITALIAN SPIRITS.

THE NEW SHERIF SIP.

Little’s Chemical Fluid—Non-alcoholic, Non-Corrosive, Distillation-Free, and Safe. Retail 10 Cents, Wholesale 5 Cents.

In this NEW DEPARTURE we have a Wine with Barks three-eighths of an inch thick, beaten between the palms, so that all the resin and gum might be extracted, made with specially selected Barks, and the whole subjected to a series of processes. The Wine is neither expensive nor difficult to prepare, and will retain its flavor and strength for a long time. It is a new departure in the field of Balsams, and will be of use in the manufacture of Balsams and other medicinal preparations.
