“THE  FARMER  IS  MORE  CONSEQUENT  THAN  THE  FARM,  AND  SHOULD  BE  FIRST  IMPROVED.”

[TO  OUR  SUBSCRIBERS.]
We  have  been  met  by  a  number  of  the  editors  of  our  Western  papers  this  week,  and  the  result  of  what  we  have  been  told  in  the  conference  of  the  farmers  for  the  purpose  of  disposing  of  the  number  of  the  land,  and  correcting  the  system  of  the  roads,  was  that  the  great  improvement  was  to  be  the  doing  of  the  roads  in  their  present  condition.  In  fact,  our  house  grew  increasingly  as  we  went  south,  and  as  we  went  north  the  roads  were  always  very  muddy.

[ENLARGED.

The  officers  and  members  of  the  Grange  of  the  United  States  are  determined  to  be  the  first  to  improve  the  roads  in  their  present  condition,  and  to  correct  the  system  of  the  roads,  which  is  the  doing  of  the  roads  in  their  present  condition.

THE GRANGE VISITOR.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1839.

THE STATE CAPITAL ENDURANCE.

We have seen several dozen handbills of the State Capital to those entitled to it, and the number of these handbills was sufficient to remove any doubt as to the true character of the legislature. In our opinion, there are enough of these handbills
to make it probable that the legislature will not be able to pass any laws that are not in harmony with the wishes of the people. The people of the State are not content with the present legislature
and are willing to give the people of the next session some time to consider the matter. We are not satisfied with the present legislature and are willing to give them some time to consider the matter.

THE STATE FAIR.

The show of stock was estimated at 200,000 dollars, and there were numerous exhibits of the best kind. One of the most remarkable features of the show was the woolly sheep, and it is to be hoped that this experiment will be continued. The woolly sheep are considered by many to be the finest breed of sheep in the world, and we hope that the State Fair will continue to promote their improvement.

THE GRANGE PICNIC—SILVER CREEK GRANGE NO. 644.

We have sent several dozen lithographs which have been distributed among the members of the Grange. These lithographs contain a picture of the Grange and a description of the events of the picnic. We hope that these lithographs will serve to encourage more picnics in the future.

REVIVE THE GRANGE MOVEMENT.

The Grange movement has been renewed in several parts of the State, and we are pleased to see that it is gaining momentum. The Grange movement is an important movement, and we hope that it will continue to grow.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

In this institution for the promotion of agriculture and the mechanistic arts has been an annual exhibition for 1839 at the city of Lansing.

The people have a right to demand that their representatives shall not be bound to any oath, except such as their constituents may demand, and that their votes shall be free from all personal influences or subversion to their own selfish interests. No one is supposed to exercise the functions of public office unless he be the owner of the property and property necessarily connected with his occupation. If the office be derived from the people, the people have an absolute right to demand its discharge at any time. In view of these facts it is a just inference, that every thoughtful citizen who desires to maintain the honor, the dignity, and the independence of our constitutional institutions, must peremptorily assert this doctrine, and in concert with others of like opinion, insist that the courts, to teiae upon and administer in the very corporations whose well understood their judges shall be free from all personal dignity, to the greatest extent, and that their integrity is maintained in the arrangement, sequence compared with the contents of the state, that concerns farm and for which he has paid the

A Bachelor's Epistle.

A cordial invitation has been received for the Editor and Brother to attend a meeting of the Grange No. 274 to be held at the school house in Grangeville, on Monday, October 7th, at ten o'clock A. M. It is desired to have the presence of as many of the members of the Grange as possible at this meeting, as it is expected that the business of the Grange will be transacted and the constitution of the Grange adopted. The members are requested to be present at the meeting and to give their hearty cooperation in the work of the Grange.

A Federal Letter.

Worrying Sisters and Brothers.—As it is in the interests of several items, it will not be out of place to address myself to you and express my opinions on a few points. I am sorry to say that there are many who would not be willing to change their ways. The Harriet Beecher Stowe has had a few words to say on the subject of temperance, and I think that it is a good thing to follow her example. I am sure that we can do much to improve the condition of society if we will only take the trouble to do so.

In regard to the temperance movement, I am of the opinion that it is a good thing to follow the example of the Harriet Beecher Stowe. She has had a few words to say on the subject of temperance, and I think that it is a good thing to follow her example. I am sure that we can do much to improve the condition of society if we will only take the trouble to do so.

Now, by your permission, I will have a few words to say on the subject of temperance. I am of the opinion that it is a good thing to follow the example of the Harriet Beecher Stowe. She has had a few words to say on the subject of temperance, and I think that it is a good thing to follow her example. I am sure that we can do much to improve the condition of society if we will only take the trouble to do so.

Although as Brother Cobb has said, we cannot expect our endeavor to change people's habits, yet we may exert ourselves to influence them for the better. I think that it is a good thing to follow the example of the Harriet Beecher Stowe. She has had a few words to say on the subject of temperance, and I think that it is a good thing to follow her example. I am sure that we can do much to improve the condition of society if we will only take the trouble to do so.

In conclusion, I would say that it is a good thing to follow the example of the Harriet Beecher Stowe. She has had a few words to say on the subject of temperance, and I think that it is a good thing to follow her example. I am sure that we can do much to improve the condition of society if we will only take the trouble to do so.

A Grange Visitor.

I am your friend, and I hope that you will be good enough to give me your attention. I have a few words to say on the subject of temperance. I think that it is a good thing to follow the example of the Harriet Beecher Stowe. A BACHELOR'S EPISTLE.

To the Editor of the Grange.

Dear Sir:—I am gratified to hear that you have taken the liberty of addressing me on the subject of temperance. I think that it is a very important topic, and one that requires careful consideration.

As a bachelor, I have always been a strong advocate of temperance. I believe that it is a duty which we owe to ourselves and to society.

cour, because women have no right to vote. This is clearly an injustice. Furthermore, it includes aliens as well as women, because, every human being is a person, and the right to vote is a basic human right.

Here are examples of how these issues are intertwined: if women are denied the right to vote, it is because they are not considered to be persons. This is a direct violation of our fundamental rights. It is a violation of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, and it is a violation of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

There are many good arguments against granting women the right to vote. Some people argue that women are not capable of making informed decisions, or that they are not as interested in politics as men. But these arguments are not valid. Women are just as capable of making informed decisions as men, and they are just as interested in politics as men. In fact, women are often more passionate and engaged in politics than men.

We need to think about the implications of denying women the right to vote. If we deny women the right to vote, we are denying them the ability to participate in the democratic process. This is a violation of their fundamental rights, and it is a violation of our own rights as citizens of this country.

We need to think about the implications of denying women the right to vote in the context of our broader understanding of human rights. If we deny women the right to vote, we are denying them the ability to participate in the democratic process. This is a violation of their fundamental rights, and it is a violation of our own rights as citizens of this country.

Hire English Immigrants. Among the many family, farmers, mechanics, etc., who settle in the Western States, the majority are not only men and women, but also adults who can speak the English language fluently and are capable of working in any part of this country. They are often accompanied by children who have learned to speak English in the schools and are ready to enter the labor force.

The first assessment is graduated according to age, which is determined by the laws of the State and rules governing. When its officers are elected, and without special act of the legislature, this assessment is levied. There are many other points of excellence which we recommend, and the labor of a hot air concern is not to exceed two years. The immense amount of drying capacity for a large representation of the members of the society at its most important meeting of the year, is a fact that cannot be overlooked.
