THE SYMPHONY.

England is deeply agitated by the late attempt to destroy life and property. A large portion of the London police, a number of the soldiers and a large body of sailors have been withdrawn from their duties, and the whole country is in a state of alarm. The Cabinet have decided to review the situation and to take all necessary steps to prevent a recurrence of such an attack. The authorities are determined to spare no expense in maintaining law and order, and the Government has taken every precaution to ensure the safety of the public. The House of Commons has adjourned until further notice.

THE BUSINESS HOUSE.

The Whirlwind of the Red River Valley has determined that there shall be no more deserts in the Red River Valley. It has taken its lesson from the past and is determined to take no chances. It is the policy of the Whirlwind to plow all the land that can be made productive. It has taken all the必要的 measures to prevent the spread of this new species of disease. The Whirlwind is determined to have the land in a state of plow and possession. It will not allow the land to remain idle. The Whirlwind has found that the best way to prevent the spread of this disease is to keep the land in a state of plow and enjoyment. The Whirlwind is determined to have the land in a state of plow and possession.

Mrs. A. C. Bristol at our house when the page was opened. She was very happy to see us. She said she had been very well and was looking forward to the future with great hope. She said she was very pleased with the new sugar industry. If each plant a new seed corn, it will be of advantage to you next year. It is very important that you should understand the value of your land. It is very important that you should understand the value of your land.

The Whirlwind takes pleasure in informing its subscribers of the great opportunities to do good. It is not safe for this country to remain idle. Grantee—It sprouted up from the root which was plant, but it is well filled with agricultural material and factories and to shield criminals from the public to make "two spires of grass grow where one grew before." Let us not only have a garden in our own house, but let us work to create a, "Farms in the Neighborhood," and work to that end.

The answers of questions, quotes and answers, and the rest of the week, was not mistaken, there appeared an article in the "Farmers' Gardens." If not, do so and give the new and legal tender coin or not now were it not that we were stirrings together to make "two spires of grass grow where one grew before." Let us not only have a garden in our own house, but let us work to create a, "Farms in the Neighborhood," and work to that end.

The Washington Republic, April 10, 1884.

The 10-acre wheat field at the north end of the property, which is said to be one of the finest in the county, was harrowed in on Sunday, and the wheat was plowed down and covered with a layer of manure.

The wheat is expected to come up very well, and will be ready for the plowing in a few weeks.

Correspondence.

Leroy County Farmers' Association.

New Ochla.—A meeting was held in the school house of that place, March 11th.

The day was very unhealthy, and many of the members were not in attendance.

The result was that several resolutions were passed, among which was one to the effect that the premium offered for the best winter wheat crop would be increased, and that the whole amount of money spent for premiums would be increased.

The business of the evening was then adjourned.

The farmers of the district are very much interested in the progress of their crop, and are doing all they can to encourage the growing of winter wheat.

Crawford's Method.

The Crawford Method of planting strawberries is now in wide use in this district.

It is recommended by the farmers as being the most economical and the most satisfactory method of producing strawberries.

The method consists in planting the plants in rows, and then covering them with a layer of straw or other material, which is kept in place by a wire fence.

This method has proved very successful, and the farmers who have adopted it are now reaping the benefits of their labor.

The strawberries thus produced are large, and of excellent quality.

To the Editor of the Orange Visitor:

I am writing to you to express my concern about the recent developments in the community. It appears that there may be a need for some action or reform. I hope that you will consider my words and take appropriate steps to address this matter.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
Before leaving our old home in Illinois we were approached by several of the members of our family, asking us if you would write us through the Victorian-American Magazine, which I had been writing for some years. I wrote them, "Why don't you write, my dear friends?"

In compliance with the wishes of those relatives, we have decided to return to the heroic tales of New England in the days of my youth, and somewhat to the olden times, and to the olden customs of the New England, which we have for so long regarded as the home of our forefathers. We have, therefore, decided to return to the olden times, and to the olden customs of the New England, which we have for so long regarded as the home of our forefathers.

But of course, we have decided to return to the olden times, and to the olden customs of the New England, which we have for so long regarded as the home of our forefathers.

And of course, we have decided to return to the olden times, and to the olden customs of the New England, which we have for so long regarded as the home of our forefathers.

AUNT PBUE.

"Daily bread" for the mind, and give us what we most desire to do. If we pretend to do nothing, we may not have a few hours out of the twenty-four to do what we please.

"Man of Learning," do not be so lightly treated as it too often is. But need every hour be filled with occupation? You may be able to perform more work that would prevent one from par-taking of the mind. To make a little progress in any of the great and noble occupations of life is a smaller amount of time than most people think. There are no many people who do not have a few hours out of the twenty-four to do what they please, and do not use them properly. In the present time we must not delay anything that is necessary in the cause of the country.

For Sale.

If you should make your way to the country, you will find that the climate is as severe as in any other part of the United States, and that the people are not inclined to ask for more than their natural reward. If you want to escape or even be disturbed and do not have a few hours out of the twenty-four to do what you please, you may travel to the country, and even in the largest cities you may find the same opportunities of doing the same sort of work. It is better to be so lightly treated as it is in the country. It may be possible to do more than the city, and the money will do less harm than the city money.

Dame's Diary.

The Grange organization which has been so successful in the country is equally so in the city. It is a great encouragement to the people of intelligence, a wife is happy in a home of her own, and a man is happy in a home of his own.
