The Visitor—Its Duty.

And what is it? As we have always understood the purpose of the Order, it was to be essentially here and now. It was, in fact, no more than one of the services which the Grangers had performed up to that time, and we have received we find here and there a pattern that is inoperative just as we have found at times when, in the language of the Constitution, a grumble against the principles of the Grange in all good careers, we have exchanged with more than one person, more particular than the electorate, the news which we have of late written. While it is true that the truth we have uttered, yet we shall not say that it has been as free in its extent and in the just release of the Declaration of the Purposes of the Order.

"We always bear in mind that on no account should we give to budgeting individuals and the party that we have are free under what is many or simply little. It has been made of much sound sense, and we have made use of this fact to the advantage of the cause.

The Visitor has boldly stood for and favors attending to their interests as they are; and we have always been interested in the extension of the old Grange principle, the Declaration of the Purposes of the Order.

Meeting of the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor was held in New York City on the 15th of October last, following a convention of the Knights of Labor held at Philadelphia on the 10th of October last. The meeting was addressed by the President, W. L. Mackin, and a feature of the meeting was the call of delegates to the national assembly, scheduled for December 10th at Buffalo. The meeting was addressed by W. L. Mackin, who mentioned the need for unity and cooperation among the various labor organizations. He emphasized the importance of the eight-hour day and the need for continued struggle for better working conditions. The meeting was also addressed by other speakers, who discussed various issues and challenges facing the labor movement.

Unfortunately, the text is not fully visible or legible in the image provided. It appears to be a page from a newspaper or a pamphlet, possibly discussing labor issues and events. The text mentions the Knights of Labor convention and the national assembly, and references to other labor-related organizations. However, the details are not clear enough to provide a coherent summary or full transcription.
The Funeral.

I walked through the church door, closed the door behind me, and then stood in the vestibule and surveyed the funeral service that was about to be presented to me. It was a solemn and touching scene, with the mourners gathered around the casket, expressing their grief and sorrow for the departed soul.

The door was then opened, and I entered the church. The interior was beautifully decorated with flowers and candles, and the congregation was seated quietly, waiting for the service to begin. The minister stepped up to the podium and began to read the eulogy, describing the life of the deceased and offering words of comfort to the grieving family.

I couldn't help but feel emotional as I listened to the words of the minister. The service was moving and heartfelt, and the people around me were clearly moved by the words being spoken.

After the eulogy, the minister led the congregation in a prayer, offering strength and support to the family and friends of the deceased. The service concluded with the singing of a final song, and the casket was then brought forward, accompanied by the sound of the church bell ringing in the background.

As I left the church, I couldn't help but feel a sense of closure and peace. The service had been beautiful and meaningful, and I knew that the family would find comfort in the memories they had of their loved one.

Under Contract with the Executive Committees of the Pennsylvania and New York State Granges and recognized by the State Granges of Ohio, New Jersey and Delaware to furnish Granges with all kinds of Groceries. We carry a large and complete stock of all Groceries, Sugar, Syrup, Molasses, Coffee, Tea, Spice, etc. We will fill all orders from Patrons on the order of the undersigned, and signed by the Master and Secretary of the Grange, and warrant the goods and furnish satisfactory proof of payment to be made within 90 days from date of bills. We are now filling orders from Patrons in Michigan as the through rates from Chicago are very reasonable, as the railroads are cutting through rates. A trial order from Granges in Michigan will convince them that they can purchase Groceries to advantage in Philadelphia in regard to prices on goods in our line of business or freight rates do not militate against it. We endeavor to answer all inquiries promptly and satisfactory.

We will mail upon receipt of your complete Price List of Groceries, giving the wholesale prices of all Goods in the Grocery Line.

The Glory of the Farmer's Wife.

May be the one thing he values most in this world is the opportunity to be a farmer.

Watching what she is saying and doing, your heart is sure to be filled with admiration at the wonderful way she manages, and your work will no doubt be made easier by her kind and considerate manner.

So let us all do our best to show our appreciation of all the good she has done for us and the country.

Household Hints for October.

Baker—If you saw carrying home a loaf of bread, and if you saw carrying bread to the table, you would be content.

The doctor is up at the house now.

The only way to get along is by being a farmer.

There is no end, of course, of the ways in which a farmer can be used.

There is no better way to learn than to work in the fields.

There is no other way to get along than by being a farmer.
