The Farmer is of More Consequence Than the Farm, and Should be First Improved.

for ourselves before we begin the great and difficult work of rearing a race. What can we do for them and what can they do for us? These are the questions that must and will be asked. What good can we do them? It is useless to point to the number of instances you can call to mind in which we have done good. The plan is a probable one in these days, but it is no assurance of eventual success.

Our farmers have it furnished with chairs, tables, and benches, in all the localities where a little improvement of the kind can be made; and 30th days of September the fair was opened in all the townships or group of townships acknowledged as important. It may be that the offspring of workers are not always healthy, strong, and good enough without a grain ration. The animal will not eat it and it does not need it.

Another way in which we might help our boys is that of enabling them to study the law, or enter the profession of law. The increased discussion of all the various phases of intemperance, which is by the large public of Michigan as it has been in the past, will prove a great gain to the cause of temperance by showing that the control which the public have always exercised over the press is being used for the right and proper purpose of making the public aware of the true condition of the subject. The time for discussing the questions of prohibition and the various phases of intemperance command and receive the most active attention of the people of this State. A Woman.

That one can step to the angel song and not hear her, and the words are frozen on the lips of the one who wrote them, is a complete solution of the problem of the woman's mission. There are those who are utterly convinced that the woman is a child of God, and that she should be as useful as the man. The woman, as the book of Genesis states, is made to be a helpmate for her husband, and the work of the woman is the work of her husband. And so it is that the woman, as the book of Genesis states, is made to be a helpmate for her husband, and the work of the woman is the work of her husband. And so it is that the woman, as the book of
woman is the work of her husband.

That having been said, there is no doubt in the mind of the author that women are entitled to the same rights and privileges as men, and that they should be treated as equals in every way. The woman is a human being, with all the rights and privileges that are enjoyed by men, and she should be treated with the same respect and dignity that are given to men.

That being said, there are certain points that should be kept in mind when dealing with women. Women are not to be treated as children, and they should be given the same respect and dignity as men. Women are entitled to the same rights and privileges as men, and they should be treated as equals in every way.

PAYS THE DUTY!

Why should I Subscribe for the Grange Visitor? For the Grange Visitor is:

1. Grange Reading is requisite to that study devoted to know the characteristics of the life of an agriculturist.

2. The Grange Visitor is the organ of the Michigan State Grange. As a Patron I am by due authority to its support. As a Farmer I am by due authority to its support. It has been termed, "Our strong right arm," and another has said, "It fights our battles."

In its honest effort to promote the best interests of the Order it is still the farmer's paper whether he is in the Grange or out. Its farm departments are filled with reports of experiments, practical indexes and valuable suggestions. The literary columns are regularly contributed by many of the members of the order, and in their way, it has therein, its staunchly helped its constituents to their honored places among workers for a higher and nobler standard of man and manhood.

The miscellaneous matter is selected with the highest care of the home of view. Its advertisers are reliable. The Postal department has a liberal patronage from all classes of readers, and vigorously maintains its catholic spirit and popularity.

The editorial department seeks to candidly express its unbiased opinion on whatever topic the Good of the Order and the interests of agriculture at large seem to demand.

It takes but Fiver to save a dollar in the year. I may subscribe for it and get my neighbor to take it, also for what of it we often spend on one-fourth as much needing matter.
