tion. Among the theories advanced is the one that cattle have always found my hogs do best. They get large quantities of feed from the manure pile when I am fattening cattle. It is soft and easily digested, and often some of the cattle become sick; it is soft and easily digested, and if you would save feed, grind corn and hogs seems to us the better way. I will not venture to say; nor will I know how the blessing brightens as it takes possession of the mind, and if you would save feed, grind corn and cob meal as in 90 days on corn, and get time to go and see your best sheep and hogs. The Patrons of Michigan:

The session of the State Grange in 1886, the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That the Patron Master proclaim a Children's Day to be universal throughout the State, and that the same be announced in the "Visitor.""

This resolution is still in force, and in obedience there with we send you the following in connection with the 9th day of June, Children's Day for the Patrons of Michigan. I need not call attention to the day, for it is a day in which every child observed with great interest and profit, not only to the children, but to the Patrons of Michigan. We trust that the same real and earnest will be exercised on the 9th of June, 1887, that has also been appropriately and commendably exercised last year. It gave an impetus to the Order by calling in those who are called to witness and participate frequently in the exercises.

Trusty that the day will have been with greater interest and profit the present year, I am, fraternal,

G. C. Luce, Master.

A review of the duty of Hon. W. D. Jones, in charge of the State Grange in Michigan, the duties of the Patron Master of the Patrons of Michigan, and the advantages of the Grange, will bring to the notice of the members of the Order the importance of the position of the Patron Master of the Patrons of Michigan, and the advantages of the Grange.

We give below a telegram from the Secretary of State of Michigan, designating the Governor of Michigan to be the Patron Master of the Patrons of Michigan, and the advantages of the Grange.

The secretary of the Patrons of Michigan has the duty of forwarding to the Governor of Michigan the communication above referred to, and the Governor of Michigan will then be the Patron Master of the Patrons of Michigan, and the advantages of the Grange.

The GRANGE VISITOR.
The grany voice's voice, soft, sweet, and tender, she prep the young voices in their manner of speech. The grany voice is a rare gem in the world of education, a voice that is a beacon of hope and guidance for the young. The grany voice is like a lighthouse, guiding the young through the rough waters of life, helping them to navigate the storms of adversity. The grany voice is a voice that is filled with wisdom and experience, a voice that is a source of comfort and inspiration for the young. The grany voice is a voice that is a testament to the power of education and the importance of passing on knowledge from one generation to the next.
