'AM I INTRUDING' FIRST THETA ALPHA PHI PLAY TO BE PRESENTED

OTHER PLAYS IN SERIES ARE 'TAKE MY ADVICE' AND 'JUST LIKE HIM.'

By T. L. Christie, '27
Encouraged by a splendid season last year, the local chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic fraternity, is now laying plans for a splendid series of plays during the coming semester under the direction of Ralph Morrish, president of the organization, and E. S. King, professor of dramatics. In addition to those upperclassmen who have appeared in previous plays, a large number of new students and freshmen signified their desire to act in signing the student activity enrollment list. These applications will be taken care of as soon as facilities permit.

'Am I Intruding', 'Take My Advice', and 'Just Like Him' are the titles of the productions which will be given within the next ten weeks. 'Am I Intruding?' will take the boards about the fifteenth of November and the other two will follow at intervals of a week.

The first vehicle, 'Am I Intruding?' is a thoroughly modern three-act comedy causing laughter and merriment from start to finish and comes out quite differently than anyone in the audience expects. There is really no star part, all the people in the cast having an unusual opportunity to shine as individuals.

Throughout the three acts of this play, the rapid action brings about the situation after another in which the mingled thrills and laughs. The comedy is natural, not forced, the characters have the little mannerisms which we see about us in every day life and the interest is well sustained to the final curtain.

Professor King has cast the characters in the following manner:
Mrs. Hastings, the housekeeper
Evelyn Corman
Blair Hoover, the advertiser
Ted Christie
Harriet Rathburn, Janes secretary
George Woodbury
Marjory Van, the elder daughter
Mury Wing
Dickie Waldron, a romanticist
Lerton Horton
Mona, the maid
Eleanor Bonninghausen
Horse Vane, the father
Gordon Whitburn
The young doctor
Annie Laurie Walls
Aster devoted to Vi
Leon Green
Don, a friend of Vi's
Bernice Crowley

COLLEGE GLEE CLUB TO BEGIN PRACTICE

First Rehearsal Scheduled for Thursday Evening in H. E. Building.

Regular practice for the Michigan State Glee club will begin Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in Room 191, Home Economics building, according to Prof. J. S. Taylor, director.

Eighteen freshmen attended the vocal try-out for the college glee club held at the music center last Friday evening. Prof. Taylor reports the discovering of much talent for the second bass and first tenor positions, which suffered great losses last spring through the process of graduation.

In talking about plans for the glee club, Prof. Taylor said that the department is attempting to get under way at once to assure a very high grade entertainment in the proposed concert.

Plans are maturing for an extended tour in the spring with the college military band. In past years, the band and glee club have presented joint concerts at the college and in neighboring Michigan cities.

New awards have been added for proficiency in the work. Prof. Taylor said it is now possible for a man to get a token of recognition for his work every year. The new awards include silver and gold chain riders for the third and fourth year men, respectively. Names of the winner will be engraved on the back side. Two year men will receive a white glee club sweater, as has been the custom.

FROSH THROG CHURCH FOR REGULAR MIXER

Class of '29 Guest of College Church Last Friday Evening

The church was the host to a merry throng of frosh at the freshman mixer held in the auditorium of the old church last Friday evening. The place was crowded with '29ers' seeking entertainment and new friendships.

A regular "mixer" program included "getting acquainted" stunts, acts and games were featured. An unusually hearty participation in all the doings of the evening was a point of interest and pleasure to the entertaining church folks.

Of the several annual mixers sponsored by the People's church, this was considered by many the most successful yet held. The interest in the annual event has increased in a greater ratio than the enrollment in the school.

Meeting of M. S. C. Fellowship club at Masonic temple, Thursday, Oct. 1, at 7:30. All student Masons invited. L. W. Case, secretary.

PLAN ELIMINATIONS FOR FRESHMAN CLASS

Eliminations for freshman class officers will be held Wednesday at five o'clock in the main lecture room of Olds hall, according to H. K. Wakenfield, president of the student council.

All freshmen are urged to attend this meeting in order to assure the selection of officers by the majority of the class. Class rush is looming up in the near future and organization must therefore get under way as quickly as possible, it is said.

Freshman Red Head Runs True to Type at Sophomores' Urge

By J. Kelly
Several hundred Michigan State students were treated to a love scene that rivaled even Valentino's best efforts last Friday night. The event occurred on the steps of Abbot hall just after supper and several hundred freshmen and sophomores were witnesses.

It appears that the Wells hall delegation of sophs sneaked out of Club A early Friday evening and lined up in front of Wells. When the frosh had finished eating supper they were collared by the sophs as they came out and were taken to the brick pile behind Olds hall. Each frosh was presented with a brick and the entire delegation moved to the front of the gymnasium, where the freshmen were put to work effacing some of the works of art that they had perpetrated there sometime previous.

After the '29s were removed from the walks by dint of much elbow grease, the entire crew of workmen and overseers departed for Abbot hall, where there were several remnants of the freshman jamboree of a week ago. The frosh were once more put to work removing their own handiwork and several of them were pressed into service as singers and entertainers.

One enterprising young freshman with a flame-colored crop of hair that made a ghastly combination with his nice green coat, wished to be excused from scrubbing. The sophomore chief told him that he must either sing or propose to one of the beautiful Abbot inmates. The young man, being a person of sound judgment, chose the latter way out and decided to ask one of the young ladies to marry him. Work had ceased by this time and a crowd of several hundred had gathered to watch this proposal.

The plans of all present seemed to strike a snag when the young victim, stated that he was not a Mormon and thus could not propose to all of the young ladies standing in front of the hall.

Whereupon, an extremely attractive young lady proved a martyr to the cause and stepped forth and offered herself for the sacrifice, just as ages ago young maidens offered themselves to the gods for sacrifice. The name of this heroine is not known, but if it could be ascertained it would go down in the history of the college.

Our fiery-haired hero, in true Romeo or Valentino style we cannot tell which style his form resembled, pulled out his handkerchief and spread it daintily on the cold stone steps of historic Abbot hall. Then before the assembled multitude he knelt thereupon and took the fair damsel's hand in his and drew her toward him, speaking the words that all young ladies are anxious to hear from the right party at some time or other.

Then came the unexpected. Our hero, with his ruddy hair glowing in the reflected rays of the setting sun, rose to his feet, placed his arm about the fair lady and proceeded to kiss her with all the devotion of a newlywed and with all the form of a Valentino. This climax was as startling to the spectators as it was to the party of the second part, although she took her share in a very commendable manner.

In the story books one would say that they lived happily ever after. It is hoped that they did, for it is rumored that Friday night at the freshman mixer this young Romeo with the russet top managed to place his name upon his Juliet's card and thus renew the acquaintanceship of the afternoon. No more information could be gleaned in this case, but developments are awaited anxiously by many.

DEBATERS ATTENTION!

Men students interested in trying out for the Cambridge debate are asked to report to D. C. Eckerman, Room One, Woodshops building from 10:00 to 11:00 on Wednesday and Thursday and from 2:00 to 3:00 on Friday or by appointment.

Former Michigan State debaters, freshmen, new students or any others interested will receive equal consideration without regard to class distinctions. The fact that only one member of last year's traveling team is in school, leaves two and possibly three places open on the squad.

AG EDITORS WILL MEET AT COLLEGE OCTOBER 10 DATE OF CLASS RUSH

College Editors to Hold Convention On Campus. Sophomores to Have Hard Battle With Largest Freshman Class.

Michigan State college will be the next meeting place of the American Association of Agricultural College Editors as a result of the choice of the 1925 convention held at North Carolina State college, Raleigh, North Carolina.

The association is composed of editors of agricultural publications representing the land grant colleges of the United States and has been in existence for the past 14 years.

Michigan's comparatively central location appealed to the delegates as an aid in securing a large attendance for the next gathering which will be held during the first week in July, 1926.

Invitations from several other states were recorded at the convention and Michigan may be considered fortunate in securing for the first time the annual convention of agricultural college editors which will bring to the Michigan State college representatives from all sections of the country.

Officers for the year 1925-26 were elected as follows: President, A. J. Sims, Tennessee; vice-president, C. E. Rogers, Kansas; secretary-treasurer, J. B. Hasselman, publicity director at the Michigan State college.

WOLVERINE PHOTOS BEGIN NEXT MONDAY

LeClear is Yearbook Photographer; Tyrell Asks Keeping Appointment.

A student in school will be taken starting Monday at LeClear photograph studio, for use in the 1926 Wolverine. All students regularly enrolled at Michigan State college will be given an appointment to have their picture taken for the Wolverine. Cards stating the exact time the student is to be photographed will be mailed three or four days in advance of the appointment, allowing sufficient time to plan for the sitting. It is absolutely necessary that the student keep the assigned time given him if he wishes to have his picture in the 1926 Wolverine.

Two hours will be allowed the student to go down town and return, said Norval Tyrell, editor. If the appointment conflicts with a class, the student will be excused 40 minutes before the appointed time by showing his appointment card to the instructor. If the card is lost, go into the Wolverine office in the basement of the new library and another will be issued. These cards must be with you when the picture is taken. Appointments may be changed if the appointee brings another one of his class to substitute for the set time.

LeClear photograph studio is on the fifth floor of the National bank building, one block south of Michigan on Washington. The entrance is around the corner.

CAMPUS IN DARKNESS WHEN CUT-OUT BURNS

New Lighting System Fails First Time Since Installed.

College buildings were plunged into darkness last Thursday a "little after six o'clock, the cut-out of the lighting system in the caput of the new horticultural building having been burned out.

Wells hall was entirely without lights and Club A was obliged to finish dinner in semi-darkness. The library lost its patrons, for knowledge without light seemed impossible. Among the most amusing incidents the accident created was in the Union cafeteria. People began to go through the line with lighted matches in order to pick out their food.

F. H. Mitchell, college electrician, explained the accident as being due to a defective connection. This is the first time since the installation of the new electrical system that the lighting system has failed, he said.

ALL OUT CHEERLEADERS!

Cheer leader "Larry" Skellenger is calling a meeting for college cheerleading material every day this week beginning Tuesday at 5 o'clock. The meeting will be in the handball room. The meetings will be rehearsals in preparation for the Michigan game. Regular positions on the cheerleading team will be given to the best of the applicants.

PLEDGE DAY SET WEDNESDAY AT 8

Council Does Away With Midnight Pledging Practice.

Following the successful system inaugurated last fall by the Inter-Fraternity council, no pledging will take place until Wednesday, September 30, at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Freshman work, which at first offered a problem, was finally decided on as constituting the beginning of the school year. Accordingly, Monday, September 21, was made the date of the beginning of school. At its last meeting the council interpreted the rules to mean 8 o'clock Wednesday, thereby doing away with the late Tuesday night smokers and 12 o'clock pledging Wednesday morning.

Also as an aid to the incoming members, the men are not permitted to live in a fraternity house until properly pledged. The main purpose of this rule is to give them a chance to pick their own group without being unduly influenced by any one organization, it was said.

Difficultly along these lines has been experienced in former years. Last year the Inter-Fraternity council, cooperating with the faculty, attempted to remedy conditions by adopting the aforementioned rules. They proved successful last year and it is the opinion of authorities that the same results will be obtained again this year.

NOW CHARLESTON PARTY TICKET SALE STARTS

Tickets for Michigan State News Charleston party, to be held in the gymnasium on Oct. 9, may now be purchased from any member of the staff.

MICHIGAN SPECIAL TO ANN ARBOR

Train Leaves Campus at 8:30 Saturday.

Michigan State students and football men will be able to leave East Lansing Saturday morning on the special train arranged for transportation to the Michigan game at Ann Arbor. The train will leave from the rear of the R. E. Olds Engineering building at about 8:30 Saturday morning, returning that evening following the game at the University.

The State band and approximately 20 football men and varsity coaches, trainers and managers will be in the retinue. In addition to the varsity crew, Coach Young announced yesterday that every freshman football man who had been faithful in practice sessions so far and had been in regular attendance would be carried on the Ann Arbor trip.

Between 500 and 600 students are expected to make the trip, in addition to the nearly 100 grid men and coaches.

The definite train schedule and fare will be announced in the next issue of the State News. In all probability the round trip fare will be $3.50.

HOLD CONFERENCE ON NEW CHEMISTRY HALL

Further discussion of plans for the new chemistry building, which is being planned for the college, took place Friday afternoon. Prof. A. J. Clark and Supt. A. H. Lavers conferred with specialists from Detroit.

Chief object of the meeting was the planning of power and heating tunnels from the college power plant to the proposed structure.

EDUCATION IS WORTH WHILE IF IT TEACHES ONE TO SEE AND FEEL

REV. N. A. McCUNE ASKS FOR MORE INTENSE STUDY WHILE IN COLLEGE.

By P. Eagle, '27
"Eighty-five per cent of the young people of today go to college because it is fashionable—the thing to do."

The above quotation from the newly appointed President Little of University of Michigan was among the opening statements of Rev. N. A. McCune when he made his address Sunday morning to college students in attendance at the People's church. The church was well filled with East Lansing folk, a goodly per cent of which were students.

In his address on "Why Go to College?" Rev. McCune gave, in beginning, a few reasons why college attendance has become so popular. In the first place he pointed out that college life was easier than the working life of the farm or factory.

"College equips us to make more money" was the second reason he gave. He added "The desire for financial success is the leading motive in America today."

"Another motive for attending college is to satisfy the natural hunger for knowledge," he declared. "It should create an intense hunger for books. The popularity of the new liberal arts course is a sign of hope for the students in it have no thought of financial gain. They are simply satisfying a hunger for a greater knowledge of things."

Rev. McCune in the course of his sermon remarked that most students want to do something worth while, that many of them are not satisfied with the mediocrity of common life.

"If a college course teaches a person to see it is worth while," said the pastor. He pointed out how the scientists can see more beauty in the most common weed, how the students of literature can see beauty in other men's writing, and how a general education helps all to see the worthwhile, the good and the true in life.

"College should teach us to feel," said Rev. McCune. "Only the most painful happenings arouse us now. War has brutalized us. There must be a struggle to get out of this condition."

"No great reform was ever carried on by intelligence alone. There must be feeling," was another of his remarks.

There is no better place to develop the religious soul than in college. Our religion is in a molten state while here and final shape depends on the cast we choose, was, in summary, his closing appeal.

FOOTBALL AND CHEERING

Contemporaneous with the Green and White football squad, the Michigan State cheering section demonstrated that it is still in pre-season form in its first encounter with alien "howlers" last Saturday. The presence of several "scouts" also kept many trick yells under cover for later use.

Inasmuch as the first game was more or less of a practice tilt, it provided an excellent opportunity for State rooters to round into shape for stiff schedule yet remaining. The students in general and the Freshman section in particular, gave evidence that they had the stuff out of which auctioneers and town criers are made.

"Coach" Skellenger and his assistant "line" coaches have some "holes" to fill and some rough "edges" to polish off, however, before their proteges stack up against the Maize and Blue of Michigan. Greater attention to "signals", more power behind their "drives", and some of that "bulldog adhesiveness" on the "defense", are a few of the points which the State rooters must brush up on during the coming week.

Nothing less than mid-season form both on the field and in the stands will defeat Michigan on October 3. Superiority in numbers, in experience, and in liquid capacity is liable to work havoc with our "formations". Great feats are accomplished in someone's brain before they appear in fact. If Michigan is beaten next Saturday on the football field, she will first be beaten in the cheering section.

Neither brains nor brawn nor Dame Fortune can turn the trick unless they be fortified by that unquenchable fighting spirit that generates in the vicinity of the heart and escapes through the mouth of the supporter. We can if we think we can! Its the will to win!

WHAT IS YOUR OPINION?

One hears so much of other's opinions that time for one's own is often wanting. Everywhere are people endorsing and condemning the acts or words of others.

College people should get out of the habit of giving their opinions in terms of "that's all wet", "it's the bunk", "great spoofer, that egg", etc. It may be collegiate, but it is not intellectual.

Right here on the campus are questions that you should answer. Be fair with your viewpoints by backing them up with concrete statements.

It is the desire of the State News staff to get the viewpoint of students concerning the questions of the college. For that reason, a public letter column is the reader's for the sake of having something to say.

College newspapers are very often prosecuted for not presenting the viewpoint of the students. The best way to have your viewpoint presented students, is to give it. Not by promiscuous talk, but by setting your opinions down on paper. The PUBLIC LETTER column is at your disposal if you have something worth while to say. Your name will be withheld if you do not wish to have it disclosed, but every public letter or opinion must be signed by the writer. Anonymous writings are worthless.

BOY SCOUTS HAVE GREAT TIME HERE

Attended Big Field Meet and Game Saturday.

Michigan boy scouts proved delightful nests of Michigan State college Friday and Saturday. The occasion which brought nearly 2,000 boy scouts to the college was the second annual field day for the Michigan division of scouts.

The boys spent Friday evening by camping next to the college stadium. They erected their own tents and prepared the usual necessary camping equipment with rapid skill.

Some of the keenest competition observed by the athletic officials of Michigan State college took place on the athletic field. The boys were evenly matched and no event was won without the hardest kind of fighting. The final event, that of semaphore signalling, completed the field events of the encampment.

Medals were presented to the winners by the scout and college authorities just prior to the Michigan State-Adrian gridiron clash. About 10,000 spectators witnessed the awarding of the trophies and the announcement of the winning troops.

SOCIETY

First Pan-Hellenic function to be held was a tea given in the Union building Monday evening from seven-thirty until nine o'clock. The council members acted as hostesses to the entering girls. They receiving line included Dean Jean Kreuger and the senior council members.

The Alpha Gamma Delta sorority held a tea Friday afternoon at their home on Bailey street, honoring their new house chaperone, Mrs. O. A. Ballmer. Mrs. R. S. Shaw, sorority patroness, poured.

The S. R. O. sign was out at the Union ballroom Saturday night when the first Union dance of the season was staged. Gay features with balloons and serpentine vied with the Green Bug orchestra for popularity.

COLLEGE MILITARY BAND DRILL IN PREPARATION FOR U. OF M. GAME

HUNDRED CANDIDATES ATTEMPT TO GET PLACES ON MUSICAL ORGANIZATION THIS YEAR.

Out of one hundred candidates for positions in the Michigan State College Military Band, Professor Clark has chosen a select organization of 65 pieces and is training them to triumph over the University of Michigan aggregation next Saturday at Ann Arbor.

Practice was begun and first try-outs held on Monday, September 21, and for every day thereafter between the hours of 5 and 6 o'clock, the armory resounded with the harmonious discharges of the band in the making. The result of the training of the week was marked, however, at the first football game of the season last Saturday, at which this year's musical organization strutted its stuff in a peppy manner.

A large number of the old members of the organization are back this year and the vacancies left by the graduated seniors are being well filled with capable freshmen musicians. There has been a wealth of material this season and great things are to be expected of the State "Windjammers".

Drilling will be emphasized this week in preparation for the Michigan football game at which the college letters will be formed between halves. This phase of the work of the band is important since it is a military organization and must therefore hold up

Captain Don Haskins got away to a good start with a fine performance on the line, as did his running mate, Roy Spiekerman.

Professor Clark is being assisted in his work by Mr. Kuhlman who will take up the direction of the band later on in the season.

Definite plans for the annual band-gee club tour have not yet been worked out by the committee in charge.

OVER 1000 STUDENTS TAKING CHEMISTRY

There are 725 freshmen now taking courses in chemistry at Michigan State, according to Prof. A. J. Clark, head of that department.

The number of upper classmen taking chemistry courses is placed at 400. This makes a total of 1,125 now taking some form of chemistry work.

From these figures it is easy to see the need for larger class rooms and more extensive laboratories.

To Whom It May Concern:
Recent newspaper reports crediting the writer with the authorship of a certain editorial in the October number of the Green Onion, force me to issue an explanatory statement.

However much I might wish to claim credit for the article in question, I must decline the honor with regret and state that I am in no way responsible for such a brilliant commentary on college life.

To my personal knowledge, the editorial was written by Herbert Allen Hall, late of the Michigan State college and now of the University of Michigan. To him all praise is due.

ANNUAL CONFLICT WITH MICHIGAN LOOMS NEXT ON STATE GRID CARD

GREEN AND WHITE PLAN JOURNEY TO ANN ARBOR FOR TIME HONORED FRAY.

With the opening battle ticked away, Coach Ralph Young and his assistants turn to the Michigan game at Ann Arbor next Saturday, the time honored battle toward which all Michigan State fans point each year. The feeling is prevalent that the Michigan State eleven has "arrived", that is to say their day has come. For the past fifteen years, Michigan has annually been one of the opponents of the Michigan State grid ders. Out of those fifteen frays, the Green and White teams have carried away but two verdicts. Last fall Michigan was given the surprise of its life when the green jersey athletes fought the Wolverines to a standstill for three quarters of the game only to lose the decision in the final moments of play on a forward pass which netted a touchdown for the Maize and Blue. The Michigan State line held the West gridgers to two first downs and the backs displayed an alarming drive.

This fall, despite the fact that the backfield of the 1925 eleven is practically missing, it is thought that the State team possess more power than any Green and White eleven in recent years. What the State gridgers missed last fall is the goal of the State backers.

Lead by the powerful Van Haskins,

the State forward wall looms as a handful for the best Michigan can offer.

Haskins paired with Roy Spieker man made one of the most formidable tackle combinations in the country. Back of this combination is a worthy list of reserve material, which has been lacking in former years. The guards, Hackett, Garver, and Rummel will pit Haskins and Baer, the Michigan guards to test. The center of the line, left vacant by the graduation of Eckerman will be filled by Vogel, Eberback or Ames. Vogel was the reserve center last year. The other two men are sophomores. Whoever man is given the job a real task is in store for him when he meets Captain Bob Brown of the Michigan team.

Kenneth Drew will probably fill one of the end berths for the Michigan State team opposite Flora of Michigan. Grim, Hackett, Anderson, and Wolsen are all possibilities for the other flank.

The backfield will probably be chosen from Fouts, Ruhl, Smith, Boehringer, Van Buren, Lyman, and Kiebler. Each of these men have demonstrated that they have the goods but the lack of experience is the handicap under which they travel. Upon them lies the burden of the responsibility for the success or failure of the team against Michigan. With the backfield shattered by graduations, only sophomore backs with a few exceptions were left to be depended upon. Adrian was not a fair test of their actual worth and Michigan must be the test. Man for man, the State backs, who a fair match for the West, will hold his own in having one disadvantage which State teams have carried with them in recent years being the absence of a reliable punter. Fouts or Lyman may not be the equal of Benny Friedman in the passing game but should give him a run in other departments of play. The showing of Ruhl, Boehringer and Jack Ruhl in the Adrian fracas lead one to rely upon them to hold their own in competition with whoever is chosen as the Wolverine "kicker". Gregory, Parker, Heintz, and Heston are all competitors for the two posts. Van Buren should rate on a par with Stamman, the Michigan fullback.

KIPKE AND BLOTT WATCH STATE TEAM

Indicative of an interest which the Michigan clan is taking in the Michigan State college football team, their next opponents, Harry Kipke and Jack Blott, two all-American football players who played at Wolverine eleven and who are now actively engaged in rounding up the Michigan eleven into working shape, were in the press stand at the Adrian game, watching the movements of the Michigan State team in behalf of the Maize and Blue. Both Kipke and Blott watched the play of the Green and White eleven closely and supposedly returned to Ann Arbor ready to divulge their knowledge upon the Michigan gridgers.
