GENERAL PLANS FOR CHEMISTRY BUILDING MADE

State Board Approves Architects' Plans for $600,000 Structure.

J. R. McCall, of Detroit, chairman of the building committee of the Michigan State Board of Agriculture, submitted the general plans for the new $600,000 chemistry building which will be constructed here, to the board at its monthly meeting Wednesday. The plans were approved and sent back to the architects in order that the detailed plans might be made.

The new building was authorized by the state legislature during the last session when the money was appropriated, providing that the building should be constructed when funds are available. With the detailed plans, which are expected to be ready in a few weeks, bids can be asked and construction started just as soon as the administrative board has available funds.

To Move Barns

The cost of moving the college barns off the campus and across the Red Cedar river to a new location was discussed at the meeting. A detailed report of these costs was asked for the next meeting. Plans for the construction of a service bridge across the river were considered, and an architect instructed to make a detailed drawing and estimate of cost. The road system and the water plants at the college was also considered, however the new armory, which is on the college building program when funds are available, and the sewage disposal system plans which are being prepared by the college engineering department were not mentioned before the board.

ANNUAL CO-ED PROM WILL BE STAGED EARLY SPRING TERM

Newspaper Reporters Plan For Getting In On Party.

Reporters of the Michigan State News and students representing professional newspapers are already making efforts to secure entrance to the annual co-ed prom at Michigan State college, to be staged by and for co-eds only the first Friday night of spring term.

Males are not wanted at this affair. One student took on feminine costume and evaded lynx-eyed guards some four years ago. At the affair he was detected and escaped being expelled by the mere fact that he was a reporter and wanted to cover the Union building for that night.

Efforts are being made to secure an out-of-town orchestra to play instead of one composed of local students. Management of the prom is also attempting to secure the entire Union building for that night.

Mabel Gittel is president of the publicity committee; Lela McCarty, chairman of the finance committee; Ruth Ketcham, chairman of refreshments committee; Elaine heads the decorations committee; June Ranney, stunts; Arla Pangborn, tickets; Gwin Goodwin, programs and favors, and Belinda Watson, music.

"BELIEVE ME, XANTIPPE" BOOKED IN MASON

Theta Alpha Phi Production to Be Given March 25.

March 25 has been decided upon as the first date for the outside production of "Believe Me, Xantippe," national honorary dramatic fraternity production. The play will be produced in Mason under the auspices of the American Legion in the Pastime theater on that date.

Starring Dick Lyman, Rudy Boehringer and Bill Schulgen in the lead male roles, and Pauline Scott in the feminine lead, the production experienced more than usual success in the Little Theater March 10 and 11, and a showing is expected in the less critical audience which will probably greet it at Mason. The theater at Mason is much better fitted with stage facilities and should lead itself better to the production.

Wanderlust Lures Them Around Globe

Wanderlust, and the lure of foreign lands, strange people, new thoughts, are the incentive for an 18-month vagabond trip around the world by two Michigan State college graduates.

Carl H. Boehringer, Bay City graduate of June, 1925, and Robert H. Powers, Hartford, finishing college March 26, two recent editors of the Michigan State News, have decided to take a post-graduate course in the world, depending on their own resources to get them around. With $100 each, both will leave Lansing April 5, take automobile drives to New York, and there attempt to get a job on some ocean boat to Spain.

Following the weather and spring time, Boehringer and Powers have decided to start in Spain where the spring festivals will be held at that time, go through France, Belgium, Holland, to England, Germany, then south to the Alps, and Italy. The Levant, with Greece, Constantinople, Palestine, Egypt, will be the next route. Overland routes will be followed as much as possible to afford greater opportunity for study of the people untouched by occidental influences. Bicycles, old Fords and motor cars of their own means of transportation will be called upon to make the travel.

Considerable time in the Orient is being planned. India with the Taj Mahal at Agra, the view of the Himalayas from Darjeeling, Ganges, and the other attractions of that great oriental country are on the itinerary.

China, the Philippines, Japan and some of the South Sea Islands as well as the Hawaiians are listed. Back home across the Pacific to San Francisco or Seattle and then to Michigan.

Alumni of the college will be visited in the various countries, and R. J. McCarthy, alumni secretary, will keep in touch with the boys on their travels.

A study will be made of the newspapers of England, France and Germany. Both will carry introductions to newspaper men in every land they touch.

REMONIMATE BAKER FOR EAST LANSING MAYOR

Independents Prime for Annual Elections.

Luther H. Baker was named a candidate for a second term as East Lansing mayor at the caucus of the Citizens' party Monday night at the East Lansing high school.

Dr. F. W. Chamberlain, of the Michigan State college veterinary department, was selected by the independent party to run against him. Independents held their caucus in the People's church.

Aldermen named by Citizens' party to succeed Dr. E. T. Hallinan and O. J. Ayres, retiring aldermen, were Dr. H. J. Haber and O. J. Ayres. Independents selected Glenn S. Kies and J. Hendryx.

B. A. Faunce was renominated for city clerk by Citizens' caucus, his 15 years of service being considered and approved. H. J. Clark will be his opponent.

Harold B. Fuller, Citizens' party adherent, will compete with Mrs. Florence Patriarche for position of treasurer.

MAKE CONTRACTS FOR GRADUATION SPEAKERS

Bishop F. J. McConnell and Dr. L. C. Douglas On Commencement Program.

Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the Methodist-Episcopal church in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, will be the chief commencement speaker at Michigan State college next June according to announcement made today by the president's office.

Bishop McConnell's topic will be Social Imagination. Besides having been unusually active as a preacher and lecturer, Bishop McConnell is the author of nearly ten books dealing on modern religion and allied topics.

For the baccalaureate services Dr. Lloyd C. Douglas, pastor of the First Congregational church at Akron, Ohio, has been secured. Dr. Douglas also has a long record of service in the religious field. He has several times been a member of the national council of Congregational churches, and has taken a large part in religious war services. He is the author of the noted book, "Wanton." A Congregationalist.

SENIORS TO DECIDE ON WATER CARNIVAL

Will Vote On Annual Pageant

Next Term, Says Class

President.

Michigan State college seniors will decide next term whether they will have a water festival this spring at the college.

At the class meeting Wednesday night the matter of following the precedent established several years ago was brought up and left to the students to vote on at the next meeting to be held during the first week after spring vacation in April.

RETURN PROOFS

All proofs of individual pictures must be returned by March 26. Proofs of pictures returned later than this date will not appear in the Wolverine.

PLAN CO-ED BANQUET AFTER DEMONSTRATION

There will be a banquet at the Union building Saturday for all members of co-ed teams, as a final windup to the demonstration.

Honor team members in volley ball, basketball, rifle and bowling will be announced, and awards will be given out. All co-eds are urged to be present.

Ruth Ketchum of Hastings has been elected president of the Michigan State Union board. Paul Eagle and Charles Doyle of Lansing were elected vice presidents.

SELECT "FRANCESCA DA RIMINI" FOR OUTDOOR SPRING TERM PLAY

PROF. E. S. KING BREAKS OVER DECADE OLD CUSTOM OF STAGING SHAKESPEAREAN PLAYS; PLAY IS SPECTACULAR.

WOLVERINE WILL CONTAIN VARIED FEATURE SECTION

Prominent Cartoonists Contribute; Sororities and Fraternities To Be Pictured by Trott.

Outstanding in the sections of the 1926 Wolverine, as compared to former years, will be the humor and feature sections of the book.

Blosser, a nationally known cartoonist who is the author of "Freddie and His Friends," has contributed a cartoon for the annual. Another complimentary cartoon will be furnished by Ben Botsford, author of "The Duffs."

Each sorority and fraternity of the college will be pictured in cartoons by Trott. In the short time Mr. Trott has been a student at Michigan State he has gained a wide reputation as a cartoonist for various campus activities and especially for the Green Onion, some of his work having been reprinted in College Humor from the Green Onion.

The Wolverine this year will contain an alumni section, a feature that has not appeared in the book for a number of years. This section will contain pictures of prominent alumni typical of the work they are engaged in and short editorial sketches.

A large number of snapshots were secured in the snapshot contest and they will have a special section in the book. The contest was divided into three sections—scenic, action and humor, and there will be three prizes awarded in each section of the contest. The three first prizes will be a Wolverine and the next two in each instance will receive honorable mention. The awards will be announced in the Wolverine.

Prof. A. G. Scheele, Dorothy Bernell, feature editor, and Gerald Reynolds, snapshot editor, were the judges for the contest.

Co-eds Wage Duel For Handsome Man

The power of Aladdin's Lamp returned to the M. S. U. campus Wednesday for a night as staid old Abbot Hall became a Madison Square Garden. Mother Weaver took on the aspects of Harry Erte, famous referee, and two vivacious young co-eds suddenly turned into toothy-browed gladiators of theistic circle before a cheering, hissing, stamping crowd of erstwhile female students.

Wearing the crimson of Harvard and the black of Princeton in the guise of feminine undermentionables, the two modern Amazons whose identities are better left unknown and unsung fought seven bloody rounds in the reception room of the girls' dormitory. So close was the encounter and so exhausted were the battlers that the decision was in doubt till the final stanza. Not until the largest of the two pugilists stuck out her tongue in a last outburst of ferocity did Referee Weaver lift her hand in token of victory.

Humor has it that a man was at the bottom of the trouble. Yea, a handsome man. Thrice yes, even the handsomest of all the men that roam the great expanses of the State campus! Assuredly, the parties concerned insist that a stolen bathrobe was the "census bell" of the argument, but woman cannot be trusted in these affairs of the heart. "Bathrobe," to be sure. Bathrobes have been the favorite cloaks for men since Cleopatra first threw a steel dressing gown over Anthony!

VARSITY QUARTET SINGS IN FLINT MARCH 28

The varsity quartet of the college will sing in Flint March 28, under auspices of the Matinee Musical company. Concerts sponsored by this civic organization have played before crowds of more than 2,000 people for the last two Sunday afternoons.

On April 11 the quartet will go to Ionia and sing under auspices of one of the churches.

Not "Hamlet," "Othello," or "The Tempest," but "Francesca Da Rimini," is the play selected by Prof. E. S. King for Michigan State college students for their annual outdoor senior play in June.

Announcement of the change in custom comes as a surprise to students and Lansing and East Lansing play lovers, accustomed to viewing the colorful dramas each spring in the beautiful open air amphitheater at the college.

"Francesca Da Rimini" by George H. Baker is derived from the famous "Episode of Paolo and Francesca," by Dante. The play is a drama of typical Italian life in elite circles and is easily adapted to the outdoor stage. Baker effectively pictures the setting in Italy, developing his character in this atmosphere with adherence to Italian traits. Passion of Italians is brought out possibly with striking dramatic appeal.

The name George Henry Baker suggests a series of friendships men pledged to the pursuit of letters. Baker was a wealthy New York banker but along with Richard Henry Stoddard and Charles Godfrey Battard, devoted his time to literature and travelled extensively. He has written a good deal but probably "Francesca Da Rimini" stands as his best work.

The play experienced more than usual success in actual production, lending itself to the hand of Otis Skinner and other prominent actors in lead roles.

DR. W. L. CHANDLER MAKES VALUABLE IODINE DISCOVERY

Opens Enormous Fields in Medicine and Surgery, Says Dr. Chandler.

A "discovered" opening up enormous fields in medicine and surgery" is the remark made by Lynn Ward Giltnar, head of the college department of veterinary medicine, in commenting on a recent discovery made by Dr. Wallace L. Chandler, research worker in bacteriology.

Starting to find a remedy for intestinal parasites in animals some six years ago, Chandler not only found the one remedy safe for internal use combating parasites in both men and animals but has also discovered a form of iodine which has great significance for medicine and surgery.

In discussing the discovery Wednesday, Chandler explained that the evolution of a form of iodine for medicinal purposes without the use of

COLLEGE CHORUS NEEDS MORE MIXED VOICES

One Hundred Now Attend Regular Rehearsals.

More students are needed for the mixed chorus at Michigan State college if the appearance of the group in the musical festival May 17 is to be a success. Prof. J. S. Taylor, head of the music department, said Thursday.

More sopranos and altos are needed. Although 140 are now attending the rehearsals, at least another hundred could be taken care of and advantageously used.

ANNOUNCE RESULTS OF CHURCH ELECTIONS

Following are the church officers elected at the all-college elections: Dennis Wilson and T. L. Christie, trustees; Roy Severance, finance committee; Evelyn Keays and William Newell, religious activities committee; Lewis G. Morse and H. V. Walker, elders. For Y. M. C. A., Maynard Grunden, president; Don Kline, vice president, and M. H. Avery, secretary and treasurer, were elected.

For Women's Student Bible class, Marjorie Sanford was elected president; Margaret Sawyer, vice president, and Verne Church, secretary and treasurer.

"THE END" IS ANOTHER BEGINNING

When a college career nears the end, an editorship of a publication comes to a close, and many college friendships terminate, one begins to reflect either with gentle remorse, or with a feeling suggested by "the thank God that's over" sentiment.

Doors close in back of one as quickly as we pass through them, but fortunately others begin to open and loom up in the distance. There is the "world" in which the graduate must find a place, a new work to begin, new associations to be made, new ideas to be assimilated. It is but a cycle of life, which has always a past and a future, an end and a beginning.

It is not here that we wish to begin a reverie into the "after college" nor even to retrospect on the past. All that is merely an individual matter, and everyone must think and recollect for himself.

With this issue, the last of the winter term, the present State News management comes to an end. As we look back for but a moment on what has been done we see change in the college name to Michigan State college. What has happened during that period and how much the State News has served in bringing about such changes as the college name is a matter of conjecture. The big thing is that what has been done, has been done. A glance into the past year's work is less important than a glance into the future.

We feel quite confident that the new State News managers will carry on their work in the best possible manner, keeping in mind the bringing about of the greatest good for the greatest number.

It will not be long, we believe, before the State News will be able to return to its former large size for there are plans underway which practically assure its success. But then size is not everything.

We have no fears but that the news and information to be placed before the students will be of high quality journalism and not prejudiced in any way. It is not there that we wish to place emphasis.

The editorial policy is the one which looks up to us as the most important, for after all it is only a matter of mechanical effort to assemble and print news.

The real job is to write and print editorials with a fresh viewpoint, with fearlessness, and with sincerity. We must realize it is practically impossible to present the student's viewpoint at all times. Very often the student has no personal convictions until someone else expresses them.

We are not aiming here to justify the printing of matter which will aggravate the students or a specific organization just to "start something", or to scoff at standing institutions for the mere sensation of it.

Yet we must remember that an editorial policy which shows no progress, which does not occasionally go directly against student opinion for the student's own good is a policy which is worse than mediocre.

We hope that the "keep off the grass", type of editorial policy has left the editorial columns of the State News forever. We hope that the future editorial policy will bring in new freshness, new energy and new vigor to the college.

JUNIOR LEADERS

The thing which has been most disappointing to us and which has made us turn cynical more times than once, is the student's apparent indifference to his college. Rather than radiate energy to accomplish something, many of we seniors have coiled up in our own little shells and let matters go on the best they would. As an editor we have fallen short of the mark many times, just as others of our senior leaders have fallen short of the mark.

Wake up, Michigan State! Juniors who have inherited the important duties of college activities, study your jobs singly and collectively. Carry your work to completion to the best of your ability all the time and not just once in a while.

There is great work to be done on this campus. The desire for more mental activity must be created. You presidents of the student council, the student congress, the union, etc., realize that you have a duty to fulfill. The college and the students demand your best abilities all of the time.

There should be nothing of selfishness or snobbery present among you men and women who inherit the positions of influence among your fellow students. Work for real scholarship, better athletic teams, individuality in even your most restricted groups. In a word, progress!

Entertain Knight Templars At Charlotte Banquet

The college glee club appeared at the Knights Templar banquet at Charlotte, held last Tuesday.

Special features of the entertainment furnished by the college organization were two humorous readings by Ivan Dennis, one of L. G. Morse's negro spirituals, and a specially accompanied glee club song, "Bells of St. Mary's."

LOSE ONLY DECISION DEBATE ON TOUR

Met Cornell College, Drake University, and Iowa State On 1100 Mile Trip.

Traveling 1,100 miles through four different states, the men's negative debating team returned the early part of the week after forensic contests with Cornell College, Iowa State, and Drake University of Iowa. T. J. Ramsdell, '20; W. F. Newell, '20; T. L. Christie, '21, and Coach Eckerman made the trip.

States representatives, Ramsdell and Christie opposed the Child Labor amendment in the argument against Cornell in a no-decision contest with the audience voting on the merits of the question rather than the performance of the two teams.

In the only decision debate of the trip, M. S. C. lost to Iowa State on the centralization of government by vote of Craig Baird, expert judge and forensic coach at Iowa State university. All three M. S. C. men participated at Ames.

In the last tilt, the Drake and Michigan State teams staged a split team, no decision argument on child labor for the citizens of Newton, Ia. Ramsdell upheld the negative and Christie the affirmative in this instance.

The Michigan State debaters compared very favorably with their Iowa opponents in every case, speaking extemporaneously and fluently, and making a very good impression wherever they stopped.

Swartz Creek band has a two day trip in view this year, according to Larry Skellenger, clown drum major.

Secretary H. H. Halladay has made it possible for the organization to accompany the Lansing Rotary club to Benton Harbor on a two-day trip April 5 and 6. The band will be excused from classes during that period of time.

To Give Series of Radio Programs During Spring Term.

Bids are being sent out this week to members of the junior class of the engineering division who will be initiated into Phi Lambda Tau, honorary engineering fraternity. Examinations and initiation ceremonies will be conducted during the first two weeks of the spring term.

A series of programs to be broadcast over WKAR each Monday evening during the spring term are being planned by Phi Lambda Tau under the direction of Dean G. W. Bissell. The programs will consist of 10-minute talks by faculty and student members, supplemented by musical numbers.

The officers of the organization are C. W. Brown, president; E. J. Tauch, vice president; H. C. Roberts, treasurer, and H. E. Houser, secretary. New officers will be elected during the latter part of the spring term.

WKAR PUTS VARIED PROGRAM ON Ether

Warner G. Butterfield, Baritone Scores Success Over College Station.

Listeners in on radio station WKAR last Wednesday evening were entertained by a diversified program of campus musical talent.

Warner G. Butterfield, baritone, was one of the features of the program with a group of solos that brought in several requests by telephone. Mr. Butterfield was accompanied by Beniah Watson, pianist. Wayland Chester, better known as "Banjo Chet," rendered several banjo numbers and a duo composed of Keith Himebaugh, tenor and banjoist, and Jerry Reynolds, baritone, sent some "red-hot blues" over the air.

Solos by John F. Brishin on three different instruments, piano, clarinet, and cello were other features of the musical program. Mr. Brishin was accompanied on the piano by Ronald B. Edwards of Lansing.

LABOR MANAGER TALKS TO ECONOMIC CLASSES

H. J. Kelly, personnel expert from the American Seating Company of Grand Rapids, talked to Professor A. B. Forsberg's classes in industrial relations Thursday. In his address to the engineering students, the speaker stressed the importance and scope of personnel work in industrial engineering.

To the business administration students, Mr. Kelley emphasized the importance of special study of the human factor in industry. He showed the opportunities for service in the general field of personnel work in industry today.

C. C. Cole, secretary, John C. Cook, along registrar, Stewart Robison.

Clifford Alexander of Battle Creek was a week end guest at the house.

Will Vandekesen spent the week end in Ionia, Midland, and Mt. Pleasant, while Mort Flack was in Wyandotte and Dan Withersell in Ann Arbor.

Carlton Fischer spent the week end in Brooklyn.

Resists Corrosion

THIS picture, taken in the salt marshes near Kearny, N. J., shows two lines of 30-inch Cast Iron Pipe replacing pipe made of other material. The alternate exposure to the action of salt water and air is a severe test.

While the pipe shown in the picture is subjected to unusual corrosive influences, all underground pipe must be able to withstand corrosion to a greater or less degree. Cast Iron Pipe has this quality. It does not depend on its coating to resist rust; the material itself is rust-resisting. The first Cast Iron Pipe ever laid is in service today at Versailles, France, after two hundred and sixty years' service.

BAND WILL NOT MAKE SPRING TOUR THIS YEAR

Band Class to Be Started for Beginners' Spring Term.

The Michigan State College Military band will take no spring tour this year, according to Carl R. Kuhlman, director of the organization.

It has been the custom in past years for the band to tour the various towns of the state during spring vacation as a piece of constructive advertising for the college, but this year short trips will be taken by the outfit on week-ends during the coming spring term.

The band will give a concert some time in May and in rehearsing some feature numbers with several solos for the occasion. Mr. Kuhlman expects to start in work with a second band which will be composed of beginners on musical instruments who wish to get practice that will qualify them for the varsity outfit. This idea has never been tried before but will prove profitable in supplying the military organization with experienced players instead of raw material from the freshmen class.

COLGATE MAN NEW "STATERS" COACH

Barney P. Traynor Takes Place of Taylor As Assistant Football Coach.

Barney P. Traynor, former Colgate football captain and line coach at the University of Wisconsin for two years, has been named assistant football coach to succeed John L. "Tars" Taylor, who has been granted a leave of absence. Traynor will take up his new duties on the Green and White campus April 5, when he will charge of spring football in the State camp. Traynor comes to East Lansing with an enviable record as a gridiron mentor and as a player, having played on Colgate's varsity in 1919, 20, 21 and 22. He also won two letters in track, specializing in the weights.

Traynor was line coach at Wisconsin during the seasons of 1923 and 1924. Wisconsin was reputed to have had the hardest charging line during the above years that the school ever has had and much credit for the fine work of Wisconsin's veteran line last fall was attributed to the work accomplished by Mr. Traynor during the two previous seasons. He was assistant track coach and taught classes in basketball theory at Wisconsin, and worked under Dr. Ralph Meanwell, varsity basketball mentor at the Badger institution.

Traynor won letters in football and track at South Division high school, Milwaukee, Wis., in 1914, 1915, 1916 and 1917. He entered the service early in 1918 and in the fall played center on the grid team representing the Intermediate section, A. E. F., at Tours, France. In 1919 he entered Colgate university and played every game at guard and center. Colgate won the eastern championship that year. He was graduated from Colgate in June, 1923, with the degree of Bachelor of Science.

Mr. Traynor is a well known basketball authority in the middle west, having been a basketball official for the last three years. He studied law at Wisconsin while coaching there and continued his study as a barrister at Marquette last fall. He is married, has two children and is a member of Delta Kappa Upsilon and Phi Delta Phi fraternities.

CO-EDS SHOW NEED FOR GYMNASIUM AT EXHIBITION

Seniors and Juniors Win in Basketball and Volleyball.

An exhibition featuring all types of gymnastic work was given by the co-ed department of physical education of Michigan State college Thursday evening, March 18th, in the gymnasium. The event was a great success.

Among its features were final inter-class games, whose preliminaries were played a week ago. Results of the games, which were as follows: Bas-games, were as follows: Juniors won in volleyball from the sophomores, 27-17; the seniors won from the freshmen in basketball, 18-13.

The games, attended with great excitement, as they were the culmination of the series of inter-class events for the term, were refereed by Miss Blanche Vaughn Barr, formerly of

Show Clever Dances

Other features of the evening were clever dances, including a solo dance by Miss Alice McWood; a demonstration by the swimming team which included some fancy diving. Miss None White made a dive from the highest board, at a distance of about forty feet from the water. Rifle prowess was exhibited by the varsity members, and also corrective gymnastics and apparatus work.

The program was concluded by a square dance, called off by Prof. L. P. Waldo of the English department, which was danced by all the classes of co-eds, and enthusiastically carried off.

A sight which was appreciated by all the spectators was the picturesque spectacle made by the ranks of girls in their uniforms, and various colored clothes denoting the class for which they stood.

The demonstration brought out the need for a co-ed gymnasium.

PHI TAUS WIN CUP IN BASKETBALL

The Phi Kappa Tau fraternity basketball team took the final game of the inter-frat court season from the Hesperians Monday night, 12-8. The game was by far the fastest and best game played by any of the fraternities this season and the superiority of the Phi Taus was not established until the final moments, when Rooks sank two long ones in a row. "Dick" Lyman was the big offensive gun for the Hesperians and led the attack throughout the game. Felt, Lyons and Kanitz were factors in the Phi Tau win, besides the work of Rooks, who garnered three baskets from the field. The game was featured by close guarding that at times bordered the edge of foul play. This was the sixth straight win for the Phi Taus and gives them the basketball cup for a year.

powerful and corrosive solvents was not essentially one of his objects in starting the project. A type of iodine has been produced which can be held in suspension in very finely divided particles. It can also be solidified and carried in small cakes to be used with a small amount of water in the same manner tincture of iodine is now used.

All the ideal requirements of iodine are found in Chandler's preparation, Giltnar says. Tincture of iodine now used is corrosive, extremely irritating often causing blistering of the skin, and leaves an undesirable stain. The new form is non-irritant, non-toxic, does not blister skin and leaves no permanent stain.

Three forms of the preparation can be used. An aqueous suspension to be used as a disinfectant for animal kennels and quarters was the original material sought, iodine being the only substance known to kill parasite eggs.

Applicators dipped like matches can be made. They would be used as occasion demanded with a little moisture. Vermicidal iodine in very small amounts, absolutely harmless internally, has been tested to rid animals and men of parasites and has been found extremely efficient.

BASEBALL ASPIRANTS GET DOWN TO SEASON GRIND

POSITIONS ARE UNCERTAIN AS BEST MATERIAL IN YEARS GREETS MENTOR; HITTING STRESSED.

Varsity baseball candidates under the guidance of Coach John Kobs are getting down to the real grind of the approaching season, after rather light workouts to work the men into shape. The practices are assuming the proportions of mid-season workouts and all forces are working hard to get the squad into shape for the southern trip that is about to be undertaken.

Kobs and his staff are laying special stress on hitting. A batting cage has been fitted up in Ag hall for the diamond hopefuls and it appears as though the baseball mentor is figuring on doing away with one run losses by strengthening his offense. The batting eyes shown by the majority of the candidates thus early in the season is heartening and some real talent is being uncovered for use in the spring campaign.

The starting lineup that will open the 1928 season is as doubtful as the roster that will get the call to make the southern trip. The majority of the positions are being fought for by at least four men of ability and the going for the oldtimers is proving fast. A varsity monogram does not assure a man of his position this year and there are not more than two or three positions that are anywhere near cinched as yet. Captain "Baldy" Kiebler will probably get the call to the third base job for the one reason that there is no one put in an appearance who is able to head him
