Twenty-two Bands Compete For State Championship

Twenty-two bands, 1,300 musicians. No wonder Orpheus arose from his resting place on the heights of Olympus and looked down on East Lansing Saturday. For the Michigan State campus was the scene of the biggest and most elaborate band tournament ever staged by the local institution.

Michigan State college has been producing things in a big way this year and Saturday's band contest was no exception. Sponsored by the Michigan State college band, this host of visiting players held sway in the college gymnasium from 9 in the morning until 6 in the evening. Music from the various organizations represented flowed forth in an unbroken stream.

Following a number of selections by the college band, in a hush of expectancy, South High school of Grand Rapids was declared state champions and the best of the class entrants. This organization, which is under the direction of Leon W. Merrill, received 93.8 points out of a possible 100. Flint High, winners of last year's tournament, placed second with 92.4, and Lansing Central took third honors with 91.8.

AN EDITORIAL

The Student Fee for Publications

Editor's Note: Since student publications were started not only at Michigan State, but at other colleges and universities as well, one of the big problems has been finance. Various means have been employed to insure financial success and among them the uniform fee to be paid by all students has been outstanding. This problem will be presented to the student body in the near future for their decision. There are a great many arguments to be considered on both sides of the question and it is the duty of every student to consider these arguments carefully and to vote after making a deliberate and conscientious decision. Members of the board of the student fee in an effort to avoid an unfair and an biased viewpoint. The arguments are stated herewith.

FOR THE STUDENT FEE

The point has been reached in the problem of Michigan State college publications where some definite, reliable, and more efficient means of financing must be employed. If these publications are to continue to serve the college and the student body in the manner in which they should.

At the time when the new editor and business manager of the Michigan State News took over the paper this year, they inherited a debt which exceeded $1,000, a gradual accumulation over a period of years. The senior class this year is paying for the financial failure of the 1925 Wolverine to the tune of $5 per member.

A student fee in the first place would reduce the price of the State News from $2.50 to $1.00 and the Wolverine from $5 to $3.50, thus bringing the price of both within the reach of all. In the second place it would make possible better publications, which would be a greater credit to the college and of more service to the student body. Third it would

NO STUDENT FEE

The proposal to add a student fee of $5 for the support of the two all-college publications, the Michigan State News and the Wolverine, is merely another means of forcing the students into a uniform mold. Not only that, but it means that a student will have that much more expense whether he really desires the publications or not.

If a student publication cannot justify itself to the students on its merits, and secure its circulation through the efforts of its business manager and his assistants, there is something wrong with the publication or with those in charge of it. Such being the case, it is not under a system where a student is forced on the part of the business manager will mean the general decay and disintegration of the paper. Surely Michigan State students are smart enough to support the publications in the usual way without requiring a blanket fee.

It should be recalled, also, a greater danger exists in that the two publications will not become the

CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT HOLDS SCIENCE CONTEST

One Hundred Sixty High School Add Ladies' Hunters Class; Detroit Leads As Many New Entries Are Received.

A high school science contest, the first of its kind ever held, was staged in the physics and chemistry departments Friday, May 21. 160 high school students representing nine high schools took part in the contest.

The contest was divided into three parts: the physics spelling contest, the chemistry spelling contest and the apparatus handling contest. The latter took most place in the apparatus contest and chemistry in the chemistry contest. At 10 in the physics contest, three were girls.

The spelling contests were really examinations in physics and chemistry with the questions handed out in the same way as were the words in an old-fashioned spelling match. It is a remarkable fact that the last four to go down in the physics contest were girls and all of the last four in the chemistry contest were girls.

Entertainment was provided for the visitors by the officials of the college, and a picnic lunch was held at noon. The ice cream for dessert was a gift of the physics department. Members of the Green Key showed the contestants about the campus and escorted them to the parade and track meet in the afternoon.

To Consider Commencement Week Plans and Furnishing of Women's Lounge.

The Alumni Council of Michigan State college will hold its final meeting Tuesday evening at 8:30 beginning with a cafeteria supper in the Union.

SPARTANS BEAT MICHIGAN FOR FIRST TIME IN ELEVEN YEARS

Kuhn Strong In Pinches Allowing Two Earned Runs; Fleser, Haskins, Zimmerman, Fremont and Baynes Feature.

The Mound Victor

GEORGE KUHN

After waiting 11 years to register a victory in baseball over the fast-traveling University of Michigan nine, the Michigan State Spartans finally broke down all mental and physical barriers yesterday afternoon at College field and trounced the Wolverines, 8-5. The victory is all the sweeter as Michigan has clinched the title in the Western Conference race and is one of the leading teams in the middle west.

What the incentive was for the Kobsmen to step up and claim the victory is uncertain, but it is plain that yesterday State had the better team. Timely hits with men on bases, brilliant running catches and a 1915 State beat Michigan twice, 3-1 and 4-2, but since then Michigan has been adding Green and White baseballs to its collection in the Yost Field house uninterrupted for the last 11 years.

From the game yesterday there is evident proof that Coach Koba has turned out a really great team. It takes a smart team to get the breaks as State got them yesterday and from the beginning Michigan was the underdog fighting to tie the score never to go ahead. State assumed a four run lead in the second inning and was never headed.

Zimmerman's home run in the second inning started the fireworks. Fleser's great running catch in the sixth with the bases full and his pet Fremont for a double play kept the ball in motion and finally the collapse of the entire Michigan team when State outgassed, outhit and outplayed the Fishermen. Zim's four base clout took one run before

END INSPECTION OF MILITARY UNIT

War Department Representatives Spend Two Days Reviewing and Inspecting at State.

One thousand cadets, received a check of what is the annual war department inspection was concluded at 7:30 Saturday afternoon. Maj. T. L. Johnson and Major Stouffer of the war department general staff at Washington conducted the inspection.

The entire day was spent in reviewing the company and inspecting the various units. Today was spent in inspecting the buildings, grounds and equipment of the military department.

All that could possibly be done has been done by the members of the cadet corps to earn the coveted distinction. The results of the inspection will not be known until the inspecting mass their final report at Washington. Whether the college has again with the distinguished rating depends on the results of this report. Out of a group composed of practically all the better universities and colleges in this country, only 13 each this year each year.

The inspecting officers were the guests of the military department at the Michigan M. S. C. baseball game.

UNION NOTICE

There will be no meeting of the Union Board Tuesday, June 1, as formerly scheduled.

Botanical Gardens Contain Common Plant of Michigan

The botanical garden was started by Dr. W. J. Beal in 1877. Its aim was to bring together in one place the common plants of woods, field and swamp growing naturally in Michigan. The site chosen was along the banks of a little stream flowing across the campus into the old Cedar river. The area of the garden at the present time is about 2.1 acres lying roughly in the shape of the letter T, with the stem pointing east. The sloping banks, which surround the garden on all sides but one, are grown mostly to woody plants. Herbaceous species occupy the low ground, the great majority being perennials.

There are about 60 different beds, some of which are devoted almost exclusively to certain families. These beds are numbered in order, beginning on the east side and extending west. The numbers are to be found on green posts set in one corner of the bed.

In the case of several shrubs, the flowers precede the leaves, so that by the time the plant is covered with foliage the flowers are gone. With a little practice, a shrub can be recognized just as well when covered with tiny flowers as when in full leafage.

The following are to be noted during the week beginning Monday, May 24:

- American Redbud, Judas Trees (Cercis canadensis).
- A small tree covered over with pink blossoms, making it a handsome ornamental. Leaves not out, occurs wild in southern Michigan, but is not common. Bed 17.
- Species of Currant, including the American Black Currant (Ribes americanum) and the Golden Currant (Ribes odoratum). All in Bed 47.
- Marshmarigold (Caltha palustris). Showy yellow flowers, related to the buttercup. Native perennial. Bed 23.
- Servicberry, Shadbush (Amelanchier canadensis). Small tree covered with white flowers. Native. Conspicuous in woodlands this time of year. Bed 14.
- Moss Pink (Phlox subulata). Flowers form a beautiful pink mat. Native perennial. Bed 13.
- Alpine Rockrose (Arabis alpina). A low plant with white flowers, especially adapted to growing in the rocky, native home, mountains of Europe. Bed 2.
- Longspur Epimedium (Epimedium). (Continued on page 3)

At The Union

The meeting of Union members called for June 1 has been postponed. Announcement of the new date will be made later.

The governor's night smoker was the first of what is planned to be a series of annual events. The college is situated so close to the capital that the Union has an unusual opportunity to come into close contact with the chief executive of the state.

The Union Memorial building will continue in operation throughout the summer.

President Ketchum has been authorized by the board of directors to formulate a committee of three to formulate complete plans for a Union production next year and present them at the next meeting of the board.

Twenty coupon books are turned in for purchases every day, an increase of fifty per cent over the first half of May.

THE PRICE OF VICTORY

The big game, the big victory, the big celebration—all are things of the past. The north bleachers on the old athletic field have been destroyed and with them valuable athletic equipment and other equipment used in the maintenance of the field, with no resultant good to anyone. The student body has worn itself out in frenzied celebration.

The Lansing police force and those who carried the celebration to Lansing succeeded in engaging in combat. A few students, slept in strange beds and a few more are carrying bruises. A mob is easily led and difficult to handle. The protection of property is at all times desirable and justifiable but an unprovoked attack is bad judgment.

The writer stood on the corner of Michigan and Washington and watched three street car loads of students leave for East Lansing. The crowds were thinning out and were distributed on the four corners of the square, the leaders were gone and the disturbance had ceased. By this time there were a large number of spectators mingling with the students.

It was then that the police force rallied and took a running start for the largest group congregated on the corner where the college street cars stop. An innocent bystander who was not a college man received the startling impetus of a well directed kick from behind from a brave man in uniform. His back had been turned and he was not in a position to defend himself or get out of the way.

But the Lansing police force is not to be criticized by the students. Their knowledge and understanding of college and college life appears not to extend farther than celebrations.

advertising more easily obtainable.

If the student fee passes, the State News will be permanently increased in size next fall and a relatively larger percentage of the space can be devoted to reading matter.

It is an annual proposition and for the first time very much in the nature of an experiment. If it passes the students will be allowed to vote upon it each year to decide whether or not it shall be continued.

Some of the arguments which have been brought up against it are that it will jeopardize the freedom of the press through the danger of faculty censorship; it will tend to make the editor and business manager irresponsible but the fact that a change may be made each year if it should become necessary will so far minimize these dangers as to make them scarcely worth considering. The very fact that the student fee, if it passes, is not permanently a "sure thing" will keep those connected with publications "on their toes."

In view of the present necessity for an effective plan of financing student publications, the general improvement which will be brought about, and the fact that it is the annual privilege of the student body to revoke the fee if it should become advisable, it is worth a trial.

What Is A Life Underwriter?

One who executes an individual's life insurance policy. In other words, a person whose business it is to offer the known benefits of life insurance to individuals, to corporations, to partnerships, etc.

But further, the life underwriter is one who must convince those clients of the benefits offered. This means stimulating contact with human character, and with large affairs. Some underwriters prefer the game of character and deal mainly with individuals. Others prefer affairs to them is open the great field of business insurance.

Furthermore, the business of life underwriting pays highly for initiative and ability.

And still more, the life underwriter offers to his client a commodity which has no risk in it, does not deteriorate, and adds no burden or mental worry. The life underwriter sells absolute security, the foundation of serenity of mind.

It is worth while to think these things over now and to remember them when, perhaps, you find yourself wrongly placed in whatever business you may have chosen.

football of both the faculty and the students. Censorship will threaten it on the one hand from the faculty, and absolute irresponsibility on the other from the students. It will be a dilemma and in the ensuing clash will receive a death-blow. Too many publications supported under the blanket system, in spite of their guaranteed circulation in securing advertising, find themselves gradually sinking into mere parrot-like formulae as the veering winds may blow it. There is no freedom of the press in such a situation. Even should you care to part under compulsion with your $5, that is the big danger in voting "yes" on the proposal.

Though it is not a case of taxation without representation, inasmuch as a general election is to be held on the proposal, yet without a representative vote the results will be meaningless. As a usual thing, any proposal which comes up is of interest only to a few, and those few vote at the election, while the great mass of students do not. When that happens, the proposal carries, of course, and the remaining students contribute the kicks. As is too often the case in national elections, an active minority controls the situation.

To make this more than a minority election, it is necessary for every student to exercise his franchise and make known exactly where he stands on this proposition. If he does not care for the $5 extra and is willing to run the risk of censorship, then he should vote "yes," but if he believes in the freedom of the press and the development of business ability and principles on the part of those who are in charge of the publications, he should vote "no."

STATE NOSED OUT OF FIRST PLACE IN INTERCOLLEGIATE BY YPSI AND D.C.C.

Alderman Wins Three Firsts; Grim, Wylie and Harper Take Firsts; Ypsi Scores 48 1-3, Detroit 44 2-3, State 42 1-3.

Michigan State Normal nosed Detroit City college and Michigan State out Friday and Saturday in the Eleventh Annual Intercollegiate Track and Field meet at the stadium Saturday by scoring 48 1-3 points to Detroit's 44 2-3 and State's 42 1-3. The ability of the Teachers to score on seconds and thirds with a well-balanced team gave them the victory. The Teachers have won the meet for the last three years and have never been closely pressed until this year.

State took six first places, Alderman winning the century, furlong and broad jump, Harper the two mile, Wylie the mile and Captain Bohm Grim the quarter mile, but the Green and White failed to score in the high hurdles, high jump, low hurdles, shot put and javelin. If State's points could be computed with those made by the yearlings, State would have won by 2 2-3 points, but the one year ruling which is in vogue here is not observed at the rest of the schools which competed, hampering the Green and White to a great degree. State's fresh scored 8 1-2 points for a sixth place in the meet.

Hillsdale counted 9 2-3, Western State Normal 8 2-3, Fresh 8 1-2 and Albion 5. Adrian, Alma, Mt. Pleasant, Grand Rapids Junior and Kalamazoo college failed to place.

Bartlett of Albion broke the old javelin mark of 155 ft. 4 in. made by Harris of Detroit City college in 1923, by heaving the spear 187 ft. Morrow of Western State established a new mark in the pole vault, vaulting 12 ft. 8 in. The old record was held by Seitz of Detroit City college, 12 ft. 7-8 in. made in 1925.

Alderman won the 100 yard dash with Captain Grim running fourth. The time of 19 2 was slow, caused by a slow track and a strong wind blowing up the straightway. Wylie reached one milestone in his athletic career when he outstepped Potter of Ypsilanti in the mile, beating the Teacher by 30 yards. This is the first time Potter has been beaten in Michigan and Wylie's accomplishment means a great deal for him in state intercollegiate circles. Potter did not show fight as Wylie opened his sprint on the last lap and failed to push the sophomore to the tape as he was believed capable of. Clark won a fourth for fresh in the mile.

Williams of the fresh beat Ripper to the tape in the half mile, taking a third. Williams gave Ryan and Hill a close race until the field rounded the last turn, but the pace set from there to the tape was too fast for the first year man. Alderman had little trouble in winning the furlong in 22 7, with Henson getting a fourth for the fresh. Harper and Thomas had everything their own way in the two mile, Harper winning by 10 yards in 19:04. State's relay team could do no better than a fourth, nosing the fresh out on the last half lap. Detroit City college won the event in 3:31 2.

McAtee and Smith tied for third in the pole vault, making 11 ft. 4 in. Morrow had everything his own way in this event, giving one of the best exhibitions of vaulting ever seen at East Lansing. Kenyon gave the fresh a point in the low hurdles, coaching a point in the javelin and Barrett a fourth in the shot. Tillotson was beaten by Allman of Ypsi in the discus but the Petoskey boy got a good second.

CARNIVAL FLOATS TO REPRESENT NEWSPAPER

Each Float to Represent Some Part of a Newspaper.

This year's water carnival will offer something really new and especially attractive on its program for the annual affair Thursday, June 10. The floats will present the novelty while the contests and other attractions will be similar to former years.

The floats will be arranged as a newspaper and each society will have a float representing a part of a newspaper such as scandal news, advertising, and pictures. This with the real ingenuity of the various people in charge to create thrillers promises some rare treats in the makeup of the floats, especially if they try to copy the Police Gazette.

SPARTANS BEAT MICHIGAN FIRST TIME IN 11 YEARS

it rolled into the river. He hit it with the count three and two, and lined it over Miller's head near the foul line. State cut two Michigan runners down at this place, both coming at crucial times when it seemed certain George Kahn would be relieved. Zimmerman cut Wilson down at home in the third with a perfect peg and Fleser got Lange the same way in the seventh. Fremont made great plays in both men to retire them.

Michigan always threatened as State has done with Michigan in the past, but lacked the punch to break through. In the first inning Kuhn wounded Loos with the first ball pitched and it looked as if Kuhn's years were to be repeated. But Wilson popped to Fleser, Fremont who doubled Loos at first, destroying the first attempt of the Maize and Blue to score.

Zimmerman opened the second with his homer as has been told. Fremont was thrown out by Loos, but Spiekerman walked and took the ball and let Don go to first. Fleser advanced on a passed ball and Spiek counted on Rowley's effort to Loos who failed to get the ball to Davis in time to tag the big first sacker. Kuhn's sharp angle scored both Rowley and Haynes. Reutz was relieved by Walters and Fleser pitched to Jablonowski and Haskins to Loos for the third out.

In the fifth inning the Wolverine infield blew up. State counted another quartet of runs. Kuhn was out at first, Walters taking Wilson's throw. Captain Wilson dropped the peg on Fleser and he was safe. Fleser stole second. Haskins took three strikes but Davis dropped the ball and let Don go to first. Fleser took third and Haskins went to second without drawing the throw. They both scored on Kiebler's single. Kiebler went to third when Lange dropped Zimmerman's fly back at third and Zimmerman went to second. Friedman threw low to Davis in an effort to get Kiebler at the plate on Fremont's bid for a hit and all hands were safe. Kiebler and Zimmerman scored. Fremont stole second but Spiek and Haynes were infield outs.

State threatened again in the sixth with a double and a single but failed to dent the plate.

Michigan scored twice in the third when Kiebler muffed on two plays in a row before Wilson doubled, Friedman and Reutz scoring. Wilson was out at the plate trying to score on Lange's single. Zimmerman to Fremont. With one out in the fifth, Rowley erred on Wilson's drive, he was sacrificed to second and scored on Jablonowski's single. Triples by Davis and Wilson in the sixth and Walters' one-base clout produced two more runs and the last ones for the Maize and Blue.

After watching Michigan win incessantly for the last four years while George Kahn has been doing mound duty for the Green and White, the big boy came through and wrote a page on the athletic history of State. To Captain Kiebler goes the honor of leading the team that beat Michigan, to Coach Kiebs the tribute for turning out a team capable of doing what it did yesterday to one of the strongest teams in the country, and to Don Fleser, Don Haskins, Del Zimmerman, Perry, Fremont, Roy Spiekerman, Carl Haynes and Pat Rowley goes the satisfaction of being able to take part in a
