

SENATOR CAPPER SPEAKS AT FIRST CONVOCATION

Is Main Speaker In Evening At Banquet Given to Master Farmers.

Wednesday afternoon the college was honored by the visit of the most prominent member of the United States Senate. Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas was the guest of the campus, making his appearance at convocation and giving a short address.

In his talk Senator Capper spoke of laws that were passed, not only at the national capital, but by state governments, by the cities and by the villages. He said that a real service could be rendered by the repealing of a great many of them. "The greatest need of the country at the present time," the Senator said, "is a strict enforcement of all laws, particularly the Volstead law." The campaign to modify the eighteenth amendment should be changed to one for strict enforcement of that law. Mr. Capper stated; the responsibility for the lax enforcement of laws was due to "passing the buck," too much bureaucracy and red tape. The Senator said that he would like to see every young person become actively interested in politics.

Wednesday evening Senator Capper again appeared at the banquet given to the newly chosen master farmers of Michigan. Eleven of the most prominent and successful agriculturists of the state were selected by a system of nominations and questionnaires to become charter members of the Master Farmers Club and to form the nucleus of a group which will inaugurate a movement to place Michigan agriculturists in the forefront of the nation's agricultural circles. This movement is sponsored by the Michigan Farmer.

On the banquet program, there appeared with Senator Capper, Mr. Burt Wernuth, editor of the Michigan Farmer, President Butterfield, United States Representative Ketchum, Senator Capper attributed Michigan's agricultural success to the diversity of products raised. He said that agriculture was not on an equal basis with other industries because of the peculiar position of the farmer. The reason given for this was the great disparity in prices between farm and other products. The farmer had to sell for the prices offered him and to buy at the prices demanded. In the marketing of the product the farmer received only thirty cents out of the dollar paid by the ultimate consumer.

Senator Capper said that one of the greatest aids to the modern farmer is the automobile. It has immensely lightened the monotony of farm life, by making frequent trips possible and lightened the drudgery of the agriculturists. Running a close second to the automobile, continued the Senator, is the radio, which has made it possible for the farmer to obtain market information practically as soon as the men on the market.

The Master Farmers were presented medals after Senator Capper's address. Out of the eleven men chosen, six were graduates of Michigan State College. Those honored were: Ralph Arbogast, Union City; Floyd M. Barden, South Haven; Paul C. Clement, Britton; Albert Baldwin, Owasco; Garfield and Minard E. Farley, Albion; Frank Kinch, Grandstone City; C. S. Langdon, Hubbardston; C. R. Oviatt, Bay City; M. E. Parmelee, Hilliards; H. F. Probert, Jackson.

MAKE PLANS FOR SPECIAL TRAIN

May Charter Train to Carry Students to Cornell-State Game.

Plans are under way under the auspices of the Student Council to charter a special train to carry the band and all students who wish to attend, to the Cornell football game at Ithaca, New York.

The president of the Student Council, after negotiating with railroad representatives, reports the following:

If 200 students sign up to go, the round trip fare may be obtained at the price of the regular one way fare, which is $16.75. Pullman accommodations would be extra—$4 for an upper berth and $4 for a lower berth, regardless of whether it be used by two or one.

If the required number of students are assured to make the train possible, it will leave Lansing about 6 o'clock eastern standard time and arrive at Ithaca about 9 the next morning. Following the game, it will probably leave about 9 o'clock eastern time, arriving at Lansing Sunday.

If there is a special train, the band will be sent.

Petitions will be circulated in the near future among the students by the Student Council to determine how many wish to make the trip.

STUDENT WARNING

All students must procure their athletic books before 12 o'clock noon Saturday in order to gain admission to the opening football game with Adrian that day. This is the announcement of Assistant Director, Fredrick and no exceptions will be made to the ruling. The Adrian game starts at 3:00 o'clock eastern standard time. Students are also warned against delay in making their applications for tickets to the University of Michigan game at Ann Arbor on Oct. 9. Explanations in full are contained in the envelope given out with the student pass books. Next Wednesday is the final day for guaranteed consideration of these applications. After that no distinction will be made between classes.

STATE BAND MAKES INITIAL APPEARANCE AT GAME TOMORROW

Will Play At First Football Game; Bids Well to Have Big Year.

Independent in brand new uniforms and strengthened by additional recruits, the Michigan State college military band will march out upon the gridiron tomorrow afternoon to initiate the State football season. This year the band will consist of about 45 trained musicians under the direction of Carl Kuhlman and all indications point to even a better musical aggregation than in previous years. Jimmy Hands, clad as a true military drum major will lead the band.

Since the start of school, the students have been meeting daily, drilling on new march numbers to be played on the parade on the football field tomorrow.

With former band men and new members together, 170 are out for the band, and competition for places will be keen. The band will be its full 45 pieces this year, and in addition Kuhlman is training a group of "second string" men, which he says will be as good as last year's varsity band.

Order New Uniforms

New uniforms have been ordered and the band musicians are now being measured for them. Practices will be held five nights a week from 5 to 6 o'clock, for the first three weeks and after that, three times each week.

The State college band has been asked to accompany the team to Cornell university for the football game Oct. 10. Kuhlman visited Tuesday at S. Silcox, president of the New York State Alumni association has announced that it is the particular wish of this group that the band make its appearance at Cornell.

Although it is not certain whether or not the invitation will be accepted, several other public appearances are planned for the near future. The band will, of course, be present at the University of Michigan game, to supplement the U. of M. band in providing music for the occasion.

The M. S. C. band is also to appear on the program of the Michigan Educational association meeting in Pruden auditorium, Monday evening, Oct. 25.

CROWD ATTEND COLLEGE MIXER

Old Acquaintances Renewed and New Ones Formed at All-College Get-together.

The first social function of the year, the all-college mixer, was held in the gymnasium last evening. Accompanying the string of success which facilitated dancing, the usual amount of hand-shaking and reviving of old acquaintances, along with the establishment of new contacts between upperclassmen and freshmen and between the first yearmen who did not complete the rounds last week at the freshman mixer, predominated.

A heavy rainfall followed by an extremely warm temperature during the party to dampen the morale and pep of the party.

Under the wing of "Big Sisters" the freshmen girls were related about meeting the upperclassmen. The customary system of using the introductory card was followed. "I am, who are you?" and a great scribbling of illegible signatures which remain to puzzle the individual at a latter date.

STONE-CLARK MARRIAGE SURPRISES STATE STUDENTS

The matrimonial bureau of the Michigan State college has awarded its membership with the elopement of James Stone, 28, and Miss Mary Clark, 28, to Chicago Tuesday where they were married.

"Everglades" Stone was a member of the fresh football squad and last spring played one of the leading roles in "Francisca da Rimini", the senior play.

Miss Clark is one of the prominent girls in her class and a member of the Ero Alphan society. She is the daughter of George M. Clark, former justice of the supreme court of Michigan.

Give History of College Library, Oldest of Type

Editor's Note—The history of the Michigan State college library which is a part of the oldest institution of its kind in an interesting one. It was started May 13, 1857, in a very small way and has been gradually improved and enlarged until at the present time it is one of the most modern and best equipped of its kind, occupying new and thoroughly modern buildings.

The history of this library has been prepared by the college librarian and the Michigan State News has been able to obtain it for publication. We feel that it should be of great interest to our readers.

This history will be published in two installments. The second installment will be published Tuesday.

The library of the Michigan State College of Agriculture and Applied Science dates from the opening of the college on May 13, 1857. At the dedicatory exercises Joseph R. Williams, the newly appointed president, in his inaugural address, said, "An agricultural library should be gathered here, more perfect than any which the country now affords. All knowledge relative to the agriculture of the past, and its history, its progress and its conditions in modern states, should be accessible to the students. The library

State Graduate Chosen by Senator Couzens to Operate 900-Acre Farm

It was a Michigan State college graduate of the agricultural division and his brother who met the requirements of United States Senator James Couzens when he decided to offer tax free and rent free, his 900 acre farm near Detroit to men who had the experience, knowledge, and proven ability to operate it on a paying basis.

Mark and Frank Williamston were the men chosen from a list of about 1,000 applicants who thought they could make farming pay on a large production basis. Frank Williamston graduated from Michigan State in 1925.

Senator Couzens undertook farming as a hobby on a large scale several years ago and spent a great deal of money on buildings, purchased livestock, and most modern equipment but the venture lost money steadily until the owner lost patience.

He offered to give the use of his farm free to a young man or men for a period of five years, stipulating that they must operate it on a paying basis. The two brothers had learned the fundamentals of farming by experience and believed that this experience, together with scientific knowledge, would make it possible for them to make the Couzens' farm pay.

Mark Williamston, the elder brother has operated his own farm successfully for the past five years at Waterford. Frank completed a post graduate course in agriculture at the university of Minnesota last spring. At Michigan State, Frank was well known on the campus. He was an officer of the R. O. T. C. unit and a member of the varsity wrestling team.

Mark and Frank Williamston have their plans all made and are going to specialize in dairying and sheep raising and also keep a large number of laying hens. The farm is located near several good markets.

The contract has been made out and signed by Senator Couzens and the two brothers and they are ready to go to work. They agree to maintain the buildings and till the soil according to the best known methods in agriculture.

ATTENTION FRESHMEN

The year book of State college is known as the Wolverine. You have already paid your subscription to same to aid in making the book your book. You who are interested in publication work or business management, or you who have suggestions, are asked to further the cause by applying for the various open staff positions at the Union tonight (Friday). The Wolverine office is on the fourth floor. The meeting is called for 5:00 o'clock.

KELLY IS NAMED SPORTS EDITOR

Grand Haven Man to Handle Sports Section of 1927 Wolverine.

Next week will find progress on the 1927 Wolverine actually under way. The first complete staff meeting will be held tonight in the Union building, which houses the office of the Wolverine, since its removal from the basement of the new library building.

Two additional staff members have been named since the last staff announcement. John Kelly is sports editor of the book, to be known as the Spartan issue, and Russell Daene is appointed assistant business manager. Kelly will be associated in the sports department with Levon Horton, assistant to Arthur Hannah, editor-in-chief, and with J. D. Modill, business manager of the publication. Responsibility for the sports section will rest entirely with Kelly, however, who will have full charge of the athletic survey. This section of the book is one of the most important, and the arrangement for same is planned to be different than in previous editions. An active assistant to handle minor sports will probably be appointed to work under Kelly.

Organization editor, co-ed editor, and co-ed assistant business manager are yet to be named. In addition to these major jobs, there are approximately thirty other staff positions vacant, and freshmen applicants tonight will be considered on the basis of past experience and interest in publication work for these positions.

NOTED ARTISTS ANNOUNCED ON ARTISTS' COURSE

Borglum, Stone Mountain Sculptor and Rickey, Manager St. Louis Cardinals, Feature.

Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, will be one of the outstanding numbers of this year's Liberal Arts lecture course. He will give a talk here December 1.

This year's series of entertainments will feature several artists and musicians of national reputation. Probably one of the most interesting numbers will be that of the sculptor artist, Gustav Borglum of Stone Mountain fame. Mr. Borglum, besides being a notable sculptor and painter, is an authority on aeronautic dynamics.

He has received much notice from the press, because of his differences with Stone Mountain Memorial committee. Mr. Borglum conceived the memorial, which will be of heroic size when completed. There has been no date set for this lecture because Mr. Borglum recently went into the Black Hills leaving orders that he was not to be disturbed, and as a result it has been impossible to set any definite date.

Another number in the series will be a joint concert by Helen Friend, soprano, and Jose Eschanez, pianist. Miss Friend, though not yet twenty, has been with the Chicago Civic Opera company for two years and has achieved considerable notice. Jose Eschanez recently was with Tito Schipa, the famous tenor, as accompanist. It is said that Mr. Eschanez received, as much notice with his playing as the tenor. This concert will be held December 14.

Glenn Drake, a concert singer, will entertain an M. S. C. audience on November 17. Mr. Drake is a tenor known to many overseas veterans as the "Singing Troubadour." He was released from the army by General Pershing in order to entertain the fighters. Mr. Drake has a pure lyric tenor voice.

The last number in the lecture course will be especially interesting. Mr. Phillip Gudella, a notable English historian, will give the lecture. The committee obtained the services of Mr. Gudella with difficulty and only through a personal appeal. His talk will contain many interesting observations. Mr. Gudella will appear March 7.

NEW MEMBERS ON COLLEGE STAFF

Make Additions and Changes In Many Departments; Create Two Major Positions.

Seventeen new members of the college staff are beginning their work on the campus this week as instructors, research assistants and extension specialists.

R. D. McLaughlin, R. Wayne Newton and Ross Mayer took up their duties on July 1 and the remaining fourteen started their work at the beginning of the school year or shortly before. Mr. McLaughlin replaces Prof. P. A. Herbert as instructor in forestry and aiding in conducting the forestry summer camp at Dunbar reserve. Mr. Newton is a taxation expert and is making a special study of farm taxes. Ross Mayer has been a student at the college and is now engaged as assistant to the president.

Mrs. Elizabeth Whitaker, Mrs. Sarah Coolidge and Miss Roberta Hershey have been added to the home economics staff as research assistants. Miss Ruth Cowan of the department had been granted a year's leave of absence.

Two new members filling major positions are Dr. John D. Willard, director of continuing education, and Mrs. Clara Powell, social advisor for women students.

Miss Catherine Winkler is the new instructor in drawing and design and Miss Florence Birdsell has been added to the staff of the music department as instructor in violin. Miss Margaret Caswood, '26 has been appointed field worker in sociology. Glen Bradt will be extension specialist. (Continued on page 3)

At the Union

All students must register at the Union.

Student receipts are numbered and will be used throughout the year as Union cards.

Organizations wishing to use the ballroom or other rooms should sign up for them immediately since some of the dates have already been reserved.

Football scores will be posted in the lobby beginning September 25. World series results will be received by incoming.

Your name is engraved free on pens and pencils purchased at the main desk.

ENROLLMENT MOUNTS AS LATE COMERS ENTER

Freshmen and New Students Number 993; Total Enrollment Reaches 2,440.

The latest figures from the office of Miss Elida Yakoly, registrar, show that the total number of students now enrolled is 2,440. The figures have steadily climbed since the class of '30 began reporting, and it is thought that there will be a few more added to the list. There are now 126 more than the total for fall term last year.

The freshmen class and other new students now number 993. The remainder, 1447, is made up of students previously at the college. As yet the registrar is unable to tell the number enrolled in the different departments, but it is thought that the liberal arts division will receive the majority of the new students.

The usual time of late entries is still passing into the office of the deans. All attempts to force tardy students to complete their registration and classification before the regular time for classes to start seems only to have been partially successful. Considering the number of late entries in school the majority of classes are rather late in getting into the work. It is doubtful whether the major portion of the classes will be in full way before next week.

Providing the usual drawback which accompanies the first week of school, the fraternity and sorority rushing draws the attention of both upperclassmen and freshmen from the studies and the settled work of college. The more strenuous part of the rushing season will be completed this week and a more regular course remains open to the muddled freshmen and tired fraternity and sorority members with the start of another week.

TO PUBLISH NAMES OF FRESHMEN VIOLATORS

Hazing to Be Treated Severely By Faculty; Sophomore Discipline Committee Devised.

Names of all freshmen violators of campus traditions are to be published in prominent places by the sophomore discipline committee. This method has been devised to put a stop to hazing or punishment of individuals by self appointed groups of sophomores.

The committee is to consist of fifteen sophomore men chosen from a group of twenty-five.

Sophomores violating the rule and hazing freshmen, will, if apprehended, be dealt severely with by the faculty, according to the announcement printed in the student handbook.

NEW BOOKS ARRIVE AT COLLEGE LIBRARY

Hundreds of new books are coming into the college library. An appropriation of $7,000 was made by the state board of agriculture at a meeting during the summer for the purchase of new books.

The college librarian began sending the orders August 16 and the books are now being catalogued and filed as they come in. The new volumes cover all types of subject matter from fiction to scientific research and are expected to fill the immediate needs of both faculty and student body.

DATE FOR ANNUAL CLASS RUSH SET

October 23 is the date which was set for the annual class rush by the Student Council at their first meeting this year. The event will be on Saturday morning, the day of the Lake Forest football game. This day is also "Parents' Day" at the college.

FRATERNITY RESPONSIBILITY

A great deal has been said about the responsibility of a man to his fraternity, especially within the organization, but the responsibility of the fraternity to the man is a subject not considered quite so seriously or nearly so often.

There is a definite and well defined responsibility of the fraternity to the man which applies in the case of the pledge who is usually a freshman and at the age when he is plus the easily led and easily influenced—at the age when the forming of habits and the methods of development are going to exert a great deal of influence on his future life.

The very word fraternity suggests at once, brotherhood, good fellowship, and the spirit of helpfulness toward one another. Fraternities have great possibilities in the development of the individual because they are directed cooperatively by a group of individuals working together with a common purpose for the good of all concerned. As long as this is the case, such organizations are a valuable factor in college life.

Sometimes, however, a fraternal organization loses sight of the purpose in which it is founded in the quest for the things which make it appear great in the eyes of the world. The most common, of course, is the desire for prestige. Prestige is desirable, but it should be a result rather than an aim.

Fraternities should accept with their school the challenge of the nation to its institutions of higher learning, that they turn out individuals who will be better citizens and capable of a greater service to humanity for their college experience.

Probably no college or university is without the type of fraternity man who exerts a bad influence and through close association with brother members, especially the younger ones, leads them to what may prove to be destruction as far as obtaining real benefit from a college education is concerned.

The freshman, especially the one who has been perhaps too much sheltered during his previous life, often needs the influence which is within the power of the fraternity to exert. College is quite a different experience from high school and the start that the beginner gets may mean the difference between flunking and passing. Again, the new man may be possessed of latent talent which would never be discovered because of inherent backwardness or lack of self confidence were it not for the influence of the fraternity in bringing this out.

There is no doubt that many men are the worse for fraternity experience. Perhaps it is their own inherent weakness that is to blame, or bad individual or general influence. There is no doubt also that there are many men who have been greatly benefited by fraternity life. The compilation of the grades for the last year shows that, at least, fraternity men maintained a slightly higher scholastic average.

It lies within the power of the fraternity, in many cases, "to make or break" the man. There is a responsibility of the fraternity to the man.

STATE NEWS DISTRIBUTION

A number of people have been asking the question, "why don't you mail the State News to each student?" There are several good answers to this question which do not fall into the category of alibis. The element of time involved was the most important thing taken into consideration when the present system was decided upon. A newspaper subscriber wants his paper very soon after it is off the press and if the State News were mailed, a great deal of time would be lost in delivering it. For instance, the Tuesday paper would not be apt to reach the subscriber until Wednesday and the Friday paper on Saturday. Twenty-five hundred additional pieces of mail would be more than the force employed at the East Lansing postoffice could distribute in a short period of time.

The second consideration was the amount of money required for mailing. With the $1,200 debt inherited by the present officers of the State News, it is necessary for them to practice economy and a substantial saving can be made by eliminating the mailing cost.

In the third place, the present system eliminates a great deal of work which would be involved in constantly checking and revising a huge mailing list besides doing away with the expense of making stencils and addressing each copy. If a student does not get his paper under the present system, it is his own fault.

In view of these facts, it was deemed logical to use the present method, which is employed at most colleges and universities where the publications fee is in effect. The present distribution points are conveniently located and should cause no one any great inconvenience. It was planned, after the first issue, to distribute from the Union building only, but there are a number of students who have all of their classes in the Engineering building and an additional group which lives in Wells Hall and does not necessarily pass near the Union building every day. This issue and subsequent issues will be distributed from the Union building and the Engineering building.

NO MORE EXTRAS

Cabs of this company no longer make the 20c each charge for extra passengers.

Therefore, two, three, four or five passengers may now ride for the price of one.

This should appeal to students as groups of five may now use taxicabs at but slightly more than street car fare.

 contract. The contract for cover supply and the engraving bids are yet to be considered and voted on. As already announced, this year's book will be the largest ever published here, and necessarily it will be published by the largest staff used in an annual production at the college.

Prof. Schoels of the college art department is supervisor of all the art work for the book, and is at ready laying out his plans for same. It has been decided to have a tooled leather cover pattern with design on the 1937 book.

Freshmen are urged to attend the staff meeting in the Union this afternoon, if interested.

GIVE HISTORY OF COLLEGE LIBRARY

 few weekly newspapers, American Agriculturist, the Michigan Farmer, Harper's weekly and others, sent gratuitously by the publishers.
 From the board minutes of Nov. 13, 1862 we take the following:
 "Resolved: That Mr. Philo Parsons

(board member from Detroit) purchase a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica and other valuable books which he may select to an amount that can be purchased by the sum received for matriculation and diplomas during the last two years."

Again, Board minutes, Nov. 12, 1863, "Report from the faculty to board favoring the purchase for the library of Silliman's Journal of Science, complete, and also; that a balance of $127.34 of the funds for the gradual increase of the library remains."

May 25, 1864. The board authorized the purchase as recommended by the faculty, Michaux and Nuttall's North American Sylva, 6 volumes, Bigelow on the Tariff, Truman on Iron manufacture, Ward & Johnson's Atlas, Whewell's history of scientific ideas, 3 volumes, Whewell's Newum Organum, Bonovatum and Whewell's Philosophy of discovery; also the expenditure of $75 for the works of Wilson, Bonaparte and Agassiz.

March 29, 1871. The matriculation fees for the year were appropriated for purchase of books.

Dec. 30, 1873. Resolved that the librarian be authorized to purchase with the advice and consent of the faculty, $500 worth of books.

May 27, 1874. The same, $400."

As may be seen, the library grew very slowly. It was located in a room on the third floor of College Hall, the oldest agricultural building in the country, now only a memory. Upon the completion of the chemical laboratory, the first on the campus, the library was removed to the first floor of College Hall to the room vacated by the chemistry department.

In 1881 the library and museum building was completed, and the library was removed to that building. Professors Albert J. Cook and George T. Fairchild had labored unceasingly for many years for this building because their consternation when the president of the college decreed that the executive offices should also occupy rooms in this building, and proceeded to appropriate the best part of what had been set apart for library purposes. Four years later, in 1885, began an agitation for a library building which was to continue for more than forty years.

In the early years the library was administered by the professor in English. The first regularly appointed librarian was Mrs. Mary J. C. Merrill, who came into office in 1883. Mrs. Merrill was a graduate of the college. She was in charge of the library five years, and was succeeded by Miss Mary Abbot, daughter of the president. Miss Abbot remained but one year, and was followed in 1889 by Miss Jane S. Sinclair, who resigned after serving the college for two years. In 1891 the administration of the library was entrusted to Mrs. Linda E. Landon, who is still in charge.

It was not until the winter of 1892 that any attempt was made to systematize the work of the library, which then numbered 13,100 volumes. It was decided that the entire collection should be classified and cataloged, that an accessions book be started and a shelf list made. An expert cataloguer was employed to start the work. Miss Annie White, of the Boston Athenaeum came, bringing with her the Cutter Extensive System of Classification which was accepted by the faculty, and the very interesting work was begun. Miss White remained with us but a short time, and the work of putting the library in usable order was continued by the librarian, with the assistance of students. All new books were cared for as they came in, and the work on the old books was rushed as rapidly as time permitted. The Cutter system served the purposes of the library until 1923, when it seemed advisable to make another change, and the "Dewey" system was adopted. The work of recataloging the library is still in process.

SPARTAN STRENGTH WILL BE TESTED AGAINST ADRIAN COLLEGE TEAM SAT.

McCosh, Fouts, and Gordon Out of Game; Sophomores Loom Strong In Race for Varsity Honors As Coach Young Prepares Defense to Stop Aerial Attack; Boehringer, Smith, Deacon, Dickeson, Kanitz and Teachout Favorite Backs; Game Starts at Two-thirty.

Backfield losses face Coach Young and his staff almost on the eve of the initial battle of the 1938 campaign. Jim McCosh, veteran fullback and Spartan punter is under observation for appendicitis. Lee Fouts, varsity quarter last year is still on the hospital list with a bad leg, and Ross Gordon, a potential fullback is reported out of the game for a month with injuries suffered last week. He became inflamed with a bad injury to his knee, and at first it was thought one week would suffice to see him back in the lineup, but yesterday his case was declared hopeless for the first three games at least. Herbert Raths, a reserve quarter from Dunkirk, N. Y. recently underwent an operation for appendicitis and is stricken from the roster at the local camp.

Sophomore strength on the former Adrian eleven is still remaining outstanding with Bill Mueller having clinched a tackle berth. The husky freshman captain of last year is a sure starter against Adrian Saturday. With him at the other tackle will be the veteran Jack Garver. Freddy Barratt has clinched the pivot job in the past two days. Ross, last year's center has been shifted to one guard, while Arnold, Grimes and Hitchings still wage battle for the other guard berth. Grim, Drew and Christensen are likewise staking a three-cornered battle for the two end jobs.

Rudy Boehringer is due to open the season Saturday at quarterback for State, but he is being crowded by Don Con of Lansing. That Dickeson will play a fullback has been assured by his stellar work of the past two days while under fire with the all-fresh. The Hamtramck boy has every essential of a football man, and though he lacks competitive college playing he is bound to develop constantly. His defensive work declared somewhat weak at the start of the practice season is greatly improved. With McCosh out of the game the other fullback position must be filled by either Kanitz, Teachout or Deacon. Paul Smith is the logical starter for fullback duties.

During the most recent practices, Coach Young and Traynor have been giving the essentials of drop kicking under fire from the opposition. To Wareham, a youth from Lansing high who never played high school football, Smith and Deacon.

That Michigan State must build a defense to stop the great aerial game of the University of Michigan eleven on October 9 does not only apply as a prerequisite to this game but to every tilt on the schedule, has become apparent. Coach Young is daily drilling a defense to use Saturday for an initial test. Protective defense against such combinations as the Friedman to Osterbaum route is being sought and stressed by the Spartan mentors daily and increased concentration on this preparation is forth coming.

Adrian Power a Mystery

Adrian college claims an athletic distinction this year by possessing only two men on its entire squad who had from the state of Michigan. The coaching staff for the Canary and Black eleven is composed of Dale Sprankle, Ohio; Dick Watts, Dartmouth; and Wynn Gibson, Colgate.

Only three veterans will grace the Adrian array Saturday afternoon, and each of these men are stars, starting their fourth campaign of college football. Capt. Mayforth of Canton, Ohio is a veteran guard, playing on the right side of the line. Summers, of Farmington, Penn., left end and Dorsey, of Kingsport, Tennessee, left tackle complete the trio of veterans.

As shown the feature of the Adrian aggregation is its somewhat unknown football power derived from other states. In addition to two men from this state, the downstaters have drawn their varsity from Pennsylvania, New York, Tennessee, Ohio, Illinois, West Virginia, Idaho, Kentucky, California and Connecticut. The strength of the Adrian crew is a mystery to be solved Saturday afternoon. State will have a weight advantage in her first 1938 conflict. The Adrian line averages 170 pounds, while the State college gets the drop on Michigan this year in starting the football season. Not only did State start the practice season ahead of the Yostmen, but they are also initiating the campaign one week earlier. The U. of M. opens with the Oklahoma Aggies, coached by the all-American Mautschesch, on Oct. 2. State will oppose Kazoo college in its second game on that date.

The wide arm of the law hopes State is not on top at the end of the Michigan game.

Van Buren, varsity fullback last year, is reported at the football camp of Washington and Jefferson, in the east.

Ken DeLoange, one of the outstanding tennis men in Michigan during the years from 1922 to 1925, is enrolled this fall.

A feature of the Kalamazoo college game next week is the fact that many of its present players were once proteges of Coach Young, when the present State mentor was coach at the Presbyterian school. Naturally, he will know considerable of what to expect of certain men in the opposition that day.

Ed Shultz, the all-stater from Detroit Central, who was a member of the Spartan Fresh last fall, is creating quite a sensation on the Albion college squad at present.

Spartan forward wall will crowd 183 State possessors a backfield average lighter than Adrian, however. The visitors will start three backs who crowd 180 pounds.

The probable lineup for Saturday:

Adrian	State
Summers (160) L.E.	Grim
Dorsey (175) L.T.	Mueller
Foltz (185) L.G.	Ross
Sutherland (170) C.	Barratt
Mayforth (170) R.G.	Hitchings or Arnold
Eardy (170) R.T.	Garver
McGonigk (160) R.E.	Christensen or Drew
Stickley (140) Q.B.	Boehringer or Deacon
Emm (180) L.H.	Dickeson
Green (180) R.H.	Kanitz, Teachout, or Deacon
Fagan (178) P.R.	Smith

WKAR TO BROADCAST M. S. C. ADRIAN GAME

Allow Listeners to Hear Cheering of Crowds; Broadcast All Important Games.

WKAR, the college radio station, will broadcast the M. S. C. Adrian football game Saturday afternoon. The game will be called at 3 o'clock, eastern standard time, and a play by play account of it will be given to the radio listeners. J. B. Hasselmann, director of publications, who has been praised by radio listeners of Michigan and nearby states, will do the announcing.

A new system will be tried at the Adrian game. The microphone, which has formerly been housed in a telephone booth to keep out the noise of the crowd, will be placed in the open in the press stand. It is expected that the cheering and general enthusiasm of the crowd which will also go "on the air," will add to the interest of the game for the listeners.

All the important home games will be broadcast this year as they were last year.

W. A. A. GIVES ROAST IN HONOR OF FRESHMEN

Schedule Annual Cross-Country Hike for October 16.

Activities of the Women's Athletic association began Saturday night when one hundred fifty cosets attended a roast given in honor of the freshmen girls. The annual cross country hike is scheduled for October 16, all girls are urged to come and twenty points will be given to all who participate. Five points can be earned for every five miles up to the first twenty-five miles.

Every new coset urged to hike or get on teams in order that she may receive the required one hundred points to become a member of the association.

FRAT BOWLING LEAGUE STARTS NEXT WEDNESDAY

Interfraternity bowling matches will be staged in East Lansing this year, rather than in Lansing as formerly, it was announced today by L. L. Frimodig, director of intramural athletics. A more satisfactory arrangement as to the time of these matches was also announced, and the complete schedule released. The college has arranged to have reserved alleys on Wednesday and Thursday evenings starting with the opening of the schedule, Sept. 29, and continuing throughout January.

The schedule is started earlier this year than ever before and a continued success of the bowling league which was held last winter is expected. The Ties and Trimora open the season in match play with the Phyleans and Delta Sigma Phi teams playing two hours later next Wednesday night.

Last year the Ties annexed the bowling championship of the campus by disposing of the Phyleans in the finals.

A complete schedule of the league will be published in the next issue. Letters have been mailed to all of the fraternities explaining the details and rules of the league this year.

FRESHMEN TEAM FORMIDABLE "11"

Leonard, Lewis, Turner, Templar, Joslyn Leading Attack On Varsity.

Another point in favor of the optimistic followers of the grid destiny of State is gained because of the brilliant array of candidates flying the colors of the 1938 all-fresh. There seems to be no comparison with last year's yearlings, and there is little doubt, but what State possesses the most formidable array of talented freshmen gridblers in many a season.

Prominent among the fresh candidates is Howard Leonard, four season star of the Big Red team at Lansing high, and choice last year of Dick Remington for the fullback berth on the official all-state eleven. Leonard has every ounce of drive needed by an offensive backfield star, and is a whirlwind when it comes to defensive tactics. Along with Leonard is another stellar performer in the person of Turner, Port Huron grid artist, and one of the outstanding men on the first year team.

Joslyn, a 230-pound guard from Grand Rapids South's state title team stands out big among the linemen. He was all-M. I. A. A. choice at guard last year, after performing for Hillsdale college. He is a weathered player, and should prove a valuable man next fall, since he already has experienced college football.

Lewis, an all-state end from Saginaw Arthur Hill, is looming strong at one of the flank positions, along with Bob O'Keefe, sensational Evanston high player, who hails from Chicago, and was once acclaimed one of the two leading ends in his state.

Chester Smith of Tennessee and another Smith who made all-state guard at Detroit Northeastern are running with great strides in the yearling camp, under Coaches Kobs and Van Alstyne. Both are colored and the Detroit boy is as fine a line man as prep school football in this state has turned out in some time.

Templar of Detroit Northwestern is playing up strong as a freshman center, along with Hayden of Cassopolis, Hozier, a former halfback at the University of Detroit, has also reported.

All-College Quot Tourney Carded for October; Cups to Be Offered

An all-college horseshoe tournament will again take place this coming time in October, it was announced today by L. L. Frimodig. Cups will be awarded the winner and runner-up the same as in the past. All entries must be made at the athletic office in the gymnasium, not later than October 1. Two-men teams will compete, with no single matches being booked this year.
