THOSE WHO LIVE IN GLASS HOUSES

Those who live in glass houses should not throw stones. We dislike to use this time worn phrase but sometimes the old sayings are the most forcible and there are occasions when it seems that there is nothing to take their place. This is one of those occasions.

Last spring we defeated Michigan in baseball and celebrated afterwards Michigan State students who were here at that time remember it and those who were not here read about it. Michigan State students went to Lansing and had some difficulty with the Lansing police force.

We call to mind the editorial "dig" which the Michigan Daily took the opportunity to make following the demonstration. We were scolded like a small child by a parent.

We are disappointed in the University of Michigan. According to the Michigan Daily editorial last spring demonstrations which led to the destruction of property and difficulty with the law, were out of date. It was only the smaller and more backward institutions where this could happen. Larger institutions such as the University of Michigan had done away with this sort of thing.

Someone at the University evidently spoke too quick in the aforementioned editorial. Last Friday there was a pep meeting at Ann Arbor, the night before the Illinois game. As yet there was no great victory to celebrate but the pep meeting was evidently successful judging from the amount of enthusiasm it stirred up. We give them credit for holding a good pep meeting.

After the meeting several hundred students carried their enthusiasm to the business section of Ann Arbor. They tried to push the theaters. The theaters were full and the police were on hand with tear gas. The attempt was frustrated. Several students are reported to have awakened in the jail the next morning.

Criticism is a legitimate editorial pursuit but those who throw stones should first make sure that they do not live in glass houses.

PLACING THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR EDUCATION

Two hundred University of Wisconsin students are going to be given an opportunity to try and get an education while in college. "Browsing around" is the expression used in a recent newspaper article telling of the experiment which President Glen Frank is going to try.

It is to be hoped that there are 200 born students in the University of Wisconsin, if not—the experiment is doomed to failure. These 200 students are to be given the freedom of the university to pursue their learning as they will. Attendance at classes will not be compulsory but

"PERSHING'S RIFLES" INCREASE RAPIDLY

Crack Drill Organization Meets Tuesday and Thursday.

The new organization in the military department, the "Pershing Rifles" is meeting in the Michigan State Armory on Tuesday and Thursday nights at 4 o'clock.

Their meetings so far have been a success, while the enrollment has been steadily mounting. It is thought that the additional training coupled with the regular hours of military will build up a fine exhibition squad.

Any men who are interested in this unit and who are unable to attend at this hour are requested to see Louis Smith at Phi Kappa. Tau house or have their names at the military office so that special arrangements may be made.

FIRST W. A. A. PARTY TO BE IN GYM FRIDAY EVE.

One more step will be taken Friday night of this week toward actually realizing a women's gymnasium, according to Miss Ruth Norton, president of the Women's Athletic Association. At that time will be the occasion of the first W. A. A. party to be held in the gym. The proceeds will go into the W. A. A. fund which is being created for the purpose of giving the co-eds a separate gymnasium. Miss Flossie Pangborn is chairman of the music and entertainment committee for this week's affair. Dietrich's orchestra of Grand Rapids will furnish the music.

This year marks the first real organization of the W. A. A. and other activities of the organization are bringing proceeds to the fund now established.

are now blossoming out in the garb of foresters or veterinarians.

One co-ed from the east desired the element of a smaller college and a change of atmosphere. She is all enthused over her choice.

"Oh, I thought this would be a good place to come for a couple of years but it sure is a great place. In fact, I've decided to stay all four years," said another enthusiastic student.

Upperclassmen all agree that there is something here that cannot be substituted at any other college, that something that makes it home.

"I came here to get a year of broad education before getting married," was a surprising answer received.

The answer that was voted most pleasing was one given as the enthusiast stood looking over the "campus green", now so beautiful with its colorful garb. "How could anyone help coming here," quoth she "after seeing a campus as wonderful as this."

May Meet Utah
The University of Utah and Ohio Wesleyan are both possibilities at present to be listed on the home debate program. The one selected, will together with Marquette, probably complete the home card this year. Another problem is confronted in the case of the Utah debate. The westerners desire a two year home and home con- tract and it is not known whether there will be sufficient interest to war- rant getting them here this year, and then guaranteeing a return debate next year or the following season.

HAVE A CAMEL

The most welcome call to smoke ever sounded
NEVER was there a smoke invitation that could compare with "Have a Camel!"
On swirling city streets. In the roadster as it bounds over the hills. In the study or by the fireside, no other smoking phrase is so provocative of enjoyment and friendship. In its realization comes a boundless sense of gratitude and contentment.
That is because Camels are the favored smoke of millions of experienced and successful men. To ever-increasing millions who have tried them all, who could well afford to pay more, Camels are the first and only choice. Since the dawn of smoking, there has never been a success like Camel's.
Camel preference is the inevitable expression of Camel quality. No other cigarette made is like Camels. No other smoke was ever so smooth and mellow mild. For your own high pleasure, we invite you to rise to the world's most celebrated smoke call. Have a Camel!

Co-ed Edna Says:

I suppose you all passed your exams yesterday? Why does every teacher in college pick that particular blue day to give us written work? Some day I'm going to teach, and believe me, there's going to be none of that stuff! But I guess that's what they all say at first; after you once get hardened to it, you give tests on Monday just for spite.

But speaking of men, the disesteemed creatures, did you go to the class rush? And did you come away with the feeling that fellows are nothing but brutes anyway, and too horrid to have around? I'm sure that very few of us regarded them as the conceited things thought they were being regarded; we certainly didn't think of them as wonderful heroes and examples of manly strength and prowess. Oh, yes, I know they're demigods and all that, but just the same they don't look so hot when they're participating in things like the football rush. And if anything, the sophas are a little more hard to stand than the frosh, especially when they're kicked out of the bloody combat for dirty playing!

But people if you must take your grievances out on the hockey field use your strength on the ball, not on your opponents! Don't be like men killing them as you go. The only legitimate prov for a young lady, you know is one of those stupid boys around here—or all of them.

SPARTANS DUE FOR HARD DRILL PREPARING FOR COLGATE GAME

State Expected to Score Crushing Defeat Over Lake Forest But Illinois Outfit Wins Moral Victory; Spartan Offense Superior But Fumbles Costly; Green and White Power Spasmodic; Trip East Will Cut Week's Drill Short; Last Road Trip of Year.

By Dale Stafford
Preparations for the Colgate game Saturday at Hamilton, N. Y., were begun by Michigan State college's football team Monday night. Indications were that the team would be handed some mighty stiff sessions this week. The showing in the Lake Forest game apparently has aroused the coaches to an uncertain degree. Lake Forest seems to have the faculty of catching State teams when they are farthest from "right." After the humiliating defeat of last year, it was thought that the Spartans would completely crush their small college foes this season. Instead of this, State was made the victim of a moral victory for Lake Forest, when it was held to a scoreless tie.

State Held Even
The game Saturday started off with State rushing the ball forward at will. Fumbles, incidentally the first of the year, seemed to halt every onrush toward the Lake Forest goal. On several occasions State advanced the ball to the five yard stripe only to fail in scoring.

Critics agree that Lake Forest played a safe game. Kicking from the 20 yard line on the second and third down was not unusual. As far as offense was concerned State was far superior to the Illinois school, but on defense the Illini were far superior. The game offered by Lake Forest was an ancient one that did not even boast a forward pass in its repertoire. The moss covered feet of the quarter-back handling the ball on nearly every play was the throat of the Gold Coast.

Spartans Spasmodic
The play of the Spartans was probably the most spasmodic of the season. At times power that could not be halted was evident, while again the thrusts at the Lake Forest line were weak.

Garver, Deacon, Hitchings and Barrett were probably the outstanding men on the field for State while Parcells and Voelker shown for Lake Forest.

The week's drill will be cut short again because of the necessity of the team leaving for the east. Colgate has lost its last two games and undoubtedly will be out for blood.

The Colgate game marks the close of the Spartan road season.

The Spartans have a chance to redeem themselves Saturday when they go out against Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y. Last season State gave the crimson clad eleven the hardest fight it had all season, and some mighty tough eastern eleven's were included on the Colgate schedule. Colgate has been beaten in its last two starts by starting its heavy scoring too late in the fray. Last Saturday the Navy staled out Colgate 13 to 0.

When the Haskell Indians oppose State on the home field, the fans will have an opportunity to see a pair of backs who have signed professional contracts before the start of the season. Miles McLain, Irish Indian back, and George Leal, another back, are the two stars who have received many generous offers.

McLain was one of the country's high scorers last season and is far ahead of his last year's mark this year. Last year he scored about 140 points. This season he has scored that many in three games. Certainly he should run up a tremendous total in the tilts remaining on the schedule.

Football fans of Lansing are in a bad way as far as schedule making is concerned. Each date State has on the

PHYSICAL ED. DECISION DELAYED BY STATE BOARD

Regular Meeting of Board of Agriculture Postponed to Nov. 6

Decision of the state board of agriculture regarding the proposed four-year course in physical education will be delayed for some weeks, since the regular monthly meeting of the board, scheduled for Wednesday, has been postponed to Nov. 6, it was announced Wednesday.

The board will hold its meeting home-coming day when hundreds of visitors will visit the campus. Several other important issues will be brought up at this meeting.

WRESTLING CANDIDATES TO REPORT THIS WEEK

Wrestling candidates have been asked to report in the gymnasium Thursday, Oct. 28.

Rumors say Coach Leonard plans no work of an intensive nature until after the Thanksgiving recess. No announcement concerning the schedule has been made as yet.

Lansing high does likewise. Each home-day each team is at home. Games with college teams are far more difficult to get than high school ones and we see no reason why the Big Red schedule makers could not have avoided some of the conflict. It certainly would have been to the financial advantage of both.

STATE HARRIERS MAKE GOOD IN NOTRE DAME RUN

Lose By One Point to Irish; Start Intensive Training for Meet With Michigan.

By Ted Smith
Coach Mason's harriers today start intensive training for their run this coming Saturday with the University of Michigan over the local course. They were considerably cheered by their showing at last Friday, when Notre Dame boasting the greatest team in the history of the university, was able to gain only a one-point margin over the Spartans. State lost the final meet 25 to 27 only when two sophomores, facing their first intercollegiate competition, faltered near the end of the race.

Crowd Sees Run
The exciting run at South Bend was witnessed by several hundred cheering students, by striking contrast to the crowds of from six to 12 fans that silently witness the cross country runs in their local meets.

Although Notre Dame boasted virtually the entire team that last year came to East Lansing and administered a decisive defeat to the Green and White, and although State had only one man who had ever won a cross country event, it appeared almost at the end of the race that State would win. The difference of one place it feared the head team, which undoubtedly ran over its heads and gave a splendid exhibition of their determination as has ever been seen by a State cross country team.

Michigan Next
Captain Severance led his men to the stage. He was close on the heels of Young Notre Dame's great runner, Henry Wyle and Derrick Waterman followed Severance. Wyle's great sprint, which moved him up into third place, elicited considerable surprise from the crowd. Following Wyle came the remainder of the Notre Dame team, the last man of which was only a little ahead of Williams and Backles, who concluded the State scoring. The time for the three and a half mile course was 18:38, considered fast for

NOTICE
There will be a meeting of all candidates for the varsity wrestling squad in the varsity club room in the gym Thursday night, Oct. 28, at 8 o'clock.

FROSH CAGERS REPORT FOR INITIAL PRACTICE

Freshman basketball is scheduled to get under way Friday night. As present Coach VanAlstyne will handle the coaching duties, but later a shift is expected so that he may devote his entire time to the varsity.

The freshman will undoubtedly play a schedule this year. The games last season proved quite popular.

The weather, which was most unfavorable.

While State was scoring the remarkable Irish, the University of Michigan triumphed Purdue 25 to 24. Little of Purdue won the race, but he was followed by the university veterans. The veteran coach, Steve Farrell, will bring a team to East Lansing this Saturday. They will meet the great running traditions that Michigan has, whereas last year Coach Mason will send a plucky group of runners, however, to meet the Green and White.
