

MILITARY PARADE FINDS FAVOR WITH GRANGE GROUP

Michigan Grange in Convention Here Put An Unexpected Stamp of Approval On Military.

PARADE TURNS TIDE

A. B. Cook Jr. Is Leading Defender of Military Training At Meeting.

A parade and exhibition by the military department gained a lasting favor and sanction of the military department by the Michigan State Grange association. The Grangers, 500 strong put the stamp of approval on compulsory military drill in this college late Thursday. The decision was unexpected, since all pre-meeting skirmishes in committee pointed otherwise. A resolution was introduced in the Wednesday morning session to make military training ruled out of this college. The resolution was prepared for presentation to the State Board of Agriculture at its next regular meeting.

The sentiment expressed by the Grange delegates during the meeting which voted down the resolution of the day previous, was one which apparently had been created by the military demonstration, Col. T. L. Sherburne had ordered for Wednesday. The delegates, many of whom were unfamiliar with such reviews, expressed themselves in substance as believing there must be something concrete to the military program here in order to have such a splendidly drilled corps.

A. B. Cook Jr. of Owosso, son of the state grand master of the Grange was one of the leading defenders of the military program as it stands today. Mrs. Dora Stockman, member of the State Board of Agriculture spoke to the Grange in defense of compulsory military, believing that this nation is going to be prepared for emergencies then this is as good a method as any why take it from Michigan State College.

Other issues considered and passed upon by the Grange were: pay-as-you-go finance plans for villages and townships; greater enforcement and clean-up of the prohibition question; more strict observance of the Sabbath blue Sunday laws; two terms for governor; and a suggested movement by Mrs. Stockman giving agriculture a higher standard in the educational system of the country through placing it on a basis of equality with other occupations in the matter of gaining legislative aid.

The demonstration held Wednesday will probably be marked by the local R. O. T. C. as an especially important one because of what it obviously accomplished. In addition to this it was a very successful demonstration which was well received by the spectators who watched over 1,000 student cadets march across cavalry drill field to the stadium and the return for "breaking ranks."

Following the splendid military exhibition a special football scrimmage between the Varsity and Freshmen football eleven took place at the stadium. This too, attracted a large number of interested spectators from the group of Grangers and students alike. A mass pep meeting of the student body prevailed over the whole affair, led by George L. Dirks, president of the student council, and "Duke" Whittington, varsity head cheer leader and his staff.

MILITARY DEPT TO HOLD ARMISTICE DAY DANCE

Social observance of Armistice Day at Michigan State College will be featured by a dance to be staged by the military department on the evening of Nov. 10. The party will be restricted to officers of the military department and their wives and will take place in the armory.

Gentle Tips Are Advanced to College Dog Owners

Lend an ear, all ye dog owners, individually and collectively. A thought! When friend Fido is let loose to romp and play out on the lawn, or ah, the college campus, how can you tell where he has wandered? How know ye that he will come to feed? Oh where, oh where, is my wandering mascot tonight? Eh, what say?

A timely solution has been advanced, however. When in Rome be as the Romans do. So say the poets. Therefore, bell the dog. And it's being done, never fear. But be sure to vary in the tone of the "tinkle" so you will know your own dog.

This will also be inspiration to the down-hearted pedestrians wandering along, reluctant to go to class, or elsewhere. Lo, music in the air, and they are cheered.

Rather than that ill should be vented upon the over-playful mongrel as he capers about, it is deemed advisable to tender a warning. Allow some kind soul to recognize the pup by the tinkle of the bell and his fraternity affiliations and send him on his way.

Our Dumb "FROSH"

In spite of the many thrilling dates Oswald has had at Michigan State, the little girl back home has not lost her charm.

DECIDE DATE FOR SOPH BARBECUE

Stage Annual Barbecue on Nov. 19: Will Also Be Pep Meet for Haskell Indian Game.

The sophomore barbecue, staged annually in the fall term by the members of the sophomore class, has been set for Nov. 19, according to the latest action of the Student Council. The event, which is regularly held in the hands of the second year men, will be held in company with the Student Council since it comes the night before the day of the Haskell Indian football game and will give the nature of a pep meeting.

Plans are being made to have three speakers, Coach Ralph Young, Martin Rummel, captain of the football team, and an outside speaker to deliver the regular barbecue talk. As yet, the outside speaker has not been procured, but efforts are being made to get a speaker to fit the occasion.

The barbecue is the official discard of weapons between the two under classes, and is a signal to "bury the long-used, battle-scarred hatchet." The sophs hold the barbecue as a public acceptance of the yearlings for better or worse on future contacts without show of feud. The event provides one of the colorful occasions of the college year.

The most lasting remembrance of the occasion is furnished in the huge bonfire made, which reflects all over the campus. This remains long after the taste of sweet cider and the flavor of barbecue sandwiches have gone.

Max Goodwin is chairman of the committee in charge of the barbecue.

DAN CUPID ATTRACTS TWO STATE COLLEGE ALUMNI

Miss Hazel Marion Cobb and Howard C. Rather Were Married Saturday.

Saturday evening at the People's church, Miss Hazel Marion Cobb, 26, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lee Cobb of East Lansing, became the bride of Howard C. Rather, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rather of Lansing. Rev. N. A. McCune conducted the ceremony for these two popular former students of Michigan State college.

Mrs. Rather was a member of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority here, and was well known in campus life, as was Mr. Rather, who was a member of the Euphonia fraternity. At present he is an extension specialist in the farm crops department of the college.

Following a brief trip to Chicago, the newly married couple will reside in Chesterfield Hills, this city.

Friday night, November 12, has been set aside as the date for the junior class fall term party, which will be held in the Union ballroom.

Fair Reporters Fail to Get "Hespie" Social News

The State News is incomplete—lacking in some very important bi-weekly news items. The most deserving of the reporters of the co-ed editor's staff has been unable to procure any news for the society column from the Hesperian house.

Now the members of the State News staff spend their time conjecturing as to the cause instead of writing the news they do have. One curiosity-stricken reporter sits on the edge of a table and remarks that there is a big search being conducted under the basement of the old Hesperian house. Perhaps the probing fingers of the searching shovel will break the suspense and a trickle of information will leak out of the society's archives.

The attitude of the Hesperian has been evident for some weeks. At first, it was believed that it had been impossible to get news to the office in time for a place with the news of the other organizations due to the vast open spaces and purling barriers between their new home and the outskirts of civilization.

CAPACITY CROWD "COSMOPOLITAN ATTEND CONVO NIGHT" PLANNED

Australian Inspires Admiration of Cosmopolitan Club and Capitol Listeners With Address.

Students and the delegates to the State Grange convention crowding the auditorium of the People's church to capacity, heard Thomas Skewhill give one of the most interesting talks ever delivered at a convention here. The noted Australian lecturer and dramatist lived up to all predictions of his excellence.

Taking as his subject "The Coming Leadership of Youth," Mr. Skewhill foresaw the word "finish" written across the present civilization unless more attention is paid to the development of the inner man. He urged the young people of today to hold up the old ideals and forget the materialism of the modern day. "What the world needs now," Mr. Skewhill said, "is more, vagabonds, more dreamers, and more philosophers. We must sit down and think over the problems of our civilization, forget the rush and hurry of the great money race."

Mr. Skewhill told of his experiences in the world war with 20 young poets from Oxford. Among this group were Joyce Kilmer and that young poet, Rupert Brooke, who Mr. Skewhill said was the greatest poet since Shelley. These men wrote their war poems right on the field of battle and in the midst of the fighting, instead of obtaining their impressions by hearsay and records as their predecessors had done. In the midst of all this fighting, they upheld their ideals to the limit and 14 of them died the deaths of heroes and true poets.

The cosmopolitan club, in cooperation with the Capitol Theatre in Lansing is planning a "Cosmopolitan Night" at the theatre for Nov. 8.

The event will be in the form of a benefit performance for the club. The Wright Players will stage on that date the play entitled "Peg O' My Heart." Special features in decorations and music are being planned by the club.

Tickets will be on sale at the regular price by members of the Cosmopolitan Club and at the College Drug Store. It is planned to have a section reserved on the main floor for those purchasing tickets from members of the club, although if the purchaser desires, he may exchange these tickets for any other in the theatre.

EXTENSION MEN TAKE PART IN POTATO SHOW

C. M. McCrary and Nevels Pearson In Charge of Potato Exhibit.

Extension specialists will play an important part on the programs of three annual potato shows to be staged in the state within the coming month.

C. M. McCrary will be in charge of the western Michigan potato show in Greenville and Nevels Pearson will arrange boys and girls club displays.

President Kenyon L. Butterfield is scheduled to give an address at the banquet Friday evening, Oct. 29. Among the college men listed as speakers are C. M. McCrary, Prof. O. E. Reed, head of the dairy department, Prof. J. E. Kallala of the botany department and Prof. E. E. Eagle, farm engineering department.

For the fourth annual Top of Michigan potato and apple show, at Gaylord, Nov. 3, 4 and 5, Prof. R. V. Gardner, head of the horticulture department, will be one of the judges of the apple exhibits; H. C. Moore will assist in judging potatoes, and P. G. Lundin will have charge of boys' and girls' club contests.

Campus Life Compared to That of Hot House Flower

A flower may be made to start, grow and die in a very short time in a hot-house. All the steps of progress will be identical to those of a flower growing under natural conditions, but the time of maturity is very much shortened. Of course the flower makes all its own food and itself sees to the building up of its parts. It merely takes a greedy advantage of all the opportunities given it.

In the last few years, Michigan State college has increased in opportunities to give to its students and is rapidly gaining a very high prestige with other universities. The student body has increased in comparison and is especially noticeable this year. The question arises about what the opportunities are and of what advantage they are to the student.

The life at M. S. C. may be compared to the life of the hot-house flower. In just four years is packed a variety of information necessary to start out for each one's independent life. The advantages are here and it remains for the individual to choose what he feels will be of the most aid to him. These advantages not only are in the regular curriculum but in athletics and the social side as well.

Dean John Phelan expresses the problem of the college man in saying: "The main job of a man in col-

Union Conspires With Would Be Prankers In Halloween Party

Michigan State college students, in the absence of the Green and white football team on an eastern trip this week-end, need not wander away to their native haunts for the annual satisfaction of the bottled-up devilry in the form of kiddish Halloween pranks which they would be wont to perform. A worthy substitute is being advanced by the Michigan State Union in the form of a Halloween Union party Saturday night, Oct. 30.

Intermingled with a setting which will be entirely befitting to the occasion and creative of the right sort of atmosphere and temperament, the committee in charge of the party are lining up all possible entertainment which will savor of the nature of the celebration.

Features in numbers are promised by the committee. This will come both in the form of entertainment for the would-be frolickers to observe, and stunts which will permit the merry-makers to participate personally in vent of their enthusiasm.

Detrich's orchestra from Grand Rapids is to be primed for the occasion with the spirit of the party in mind, leaving no loop-holes to would-be gloom distributors.

ARMORY TO BE STARTED SOON

Officials Plan to Dedicate Office On Founder's Day Next Spring.

Major Gray of the R. O. T. C. has stated that it is expected ground will be broken for the new Armory at any time. It is planned to have the new building across the river on the old cavalry drill field, as there is no longer room on this side if the infantry drill field is retained.

Specifications for the new building are in the hands of the architect, while an architect's sketch of the office is now resting above Colonel Sherburne's desk. This sketch shows a building of striking proportions and design, a worthy addition to the other new buildings on the campus.

According to present plans, dedication of the new home of the R. O. T. C. will be held on Founders' day, next spring, when the new Chemistry building will also be dedicated. This makes a gala day for that affair, as on that date the baseball team of Notre Dame meets State here.

Meanwhile the military department is justifying the gift of the new Armory by shipping up its various activities. The rifle team is getting organized and has fine prospects for a successful year.

The new R. O. T. C. organization known as the "Pershing's Rifles" is a surprising success. One hundred and twenty men turned out at the last meeting. Out of this number it is planned to draft eight squads of picked men. These men will serve as an infantry exhibition unit, and will be used as a guard of honor to important personages visiting the college.

HOME ECONOMICS LEADERS TO MEET

Expect 500 On Campus Saturday for Second Annual Rally Day Meeting.

More than 500 groups of leaders in home economics extension work are expected to be present Saturday for the second annual Rally Day at the college.

The visitors will be received at the home economics building by Dean Jean Krueger who will explain the work of the department and supervise an inspection of the equipment of the department. Dinner will be served in the People's Church.

Among the members of the college staff who will appear as speakers on the program are President Kenyon L. Butterfield, Director J. W. Willard and R. J. Baldwin, Extension Director. Mrs. Dora Stockman, a member of the State Board of Agriculture, will also be on of the speakers in addition to prominent outside speakers.

JAPANESE ARMY OFFICER INSPECTS STATE R. O. T. C.

An informal inspection of the R. O. T. C. was made last week by an officer of the Japanese army. The visitor, Captain Morrosai, was in this locality on business for the Japanese war department, and hearing of the reputation of the Michigan State corps, was eager to see it.

The R. O. T. C. work in Japan is stressed much more than here. All the colleges and high schools of any size have units which are trained by regular army men.

Captain Morrosai inspected the plotting room, the guns, the armory and also the gymnasium. An informal cavalry demonstration was given by the sophomore stunt riders. The captain was very much interested in all that he saw.

SPONSORS ARE CHOSEN BY BIG CADET BALLOT

Ruth Norton Elected Corps Sponsor by Closest Vote in History of State R. O. T. C.

CAMPAIGNING STRENUOUS

Katherine Phillips Infantry Sponsor; Isabel Laird, Artillery; and Arla Pangborn, Cavalry.

In one of the closest elections in the history of the military department at Michigan State college, Ruth Norton of Port Huron was chosen honorary colonel of the R. O. T. C. as corps sponsor for over one thousand cadets after two days balloting, Wednesday and Thursday.

Strenuous campaigning marked the election in which much interest was displayed. It was a spirited contest all the way, though an example of the close race run by the candidate is that in one unit the nominee for sponsor were only sixteen votes apart in the final returns.

Katherine Phillips of Bay City, a member of the Alpha Phi society, was chosen by the infantry unit as sponsor for the year. Miss Phillips holds the honorary rank of lieutenant-colonel. Isabel Laird of Onondago also holds the position of honorary lieutenant-colonel for the artillery unit while Arla Pangborn of Bad Axe will represent the cavalry unit as co-ed sponsor.

All the girls have been active in various work at Michigan State and are outstanding members of the student body. Miss Norton, who, like Miss Phillips, is a member of the Alpha Phi sorority, is president of the Woman's Athletic association and is a member of Sphinx, honorary campus society for women. Miss Laird is an Eta Alpha and is a prominent girl in the class of '28. Miss Pangborn, who belongs to the Thetian society has been active in the Woman's Athletic association and has also distinguished herself on the rifle team and in the line of equestrian accomplishments.

The Michigan State College Military band this year took an active part in the election of sponsors, not only electing Marijorie Bernard of East Lansing as band sponsor but also adding sixty-five votes to the balloting for corps sponsor.

An interesting feature of the election was the fact that more votes were cast by the R. O. T. C. alone than by the entire college at the last all-college election. Freshmen and sophomores were stimulated to great deeds in voting by the intensive campaigning carried by the juniors and seniors. It seemed that more interest was displayed in the sponsor election than in any previous year at the local institution.

Formal installation of the newly elected sponsors will take place in the gymnasium December third at which time the newly organized "Pershing's Rifles" will swing out in all their glory.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO "TELL THE WORLD"

The soap box center is to have his fling. The State News believes in freedom of speech, freedom of the press and anything else that's free, constructive criticism is a healthy sign and ought to be encouraged. College students should have passed the period when "Little Folks Should Be Seen and Not Heard".

Any observing student realizes that real ideas are all too rare and any thinking student realizes that his competition is not too great. Ideas and constructive criticism are two of the things that keep this old world moving and keep it interesting. If there is any fertile field for this sort of thing it should be in the college or university. If a modern man or woman is not stimulated to think by the modern educational institution then the pursuit of education is a futile chase.

We hear a good deal of constructive criticism and a good deal of the so-called "crabbing" about the campus. Constructive criticism that will stir our dormant thought channels is most certainly welcome. If a thought is worth voicing to a few, it is worth voicing to the many. The State News hopes to make this possible.

Starting with the first contribution that is received, the State News will inaugurate a "Campus Forum". In the best educational institution in the world there is always room for improvement. Things that should be changed, things that could be bettered, opinions of individual members of the student body and the faculty that should be expressed.

The proposed "Campus Forum" will be open to students and faculty alike. We wish to show no partiality, offer no advantage. Probably no one is better fitted to judge a student on his shortcomings or his merits than the instructor who has to look him in the face each day. The student self government organizations are based on the supposition that the student should know what is best for himself. This is not always true but insofar as it can be used, it is a valuable factor in developing the individual. The student self government organizations allow for an expression of student opinion from a very small percentage of the entire student body and we believe that every student should have this opportunity.

We call to mind a question which is opportune at the present time for forum discussion. The new debating coaches would like very much to know just how much interest there is at Michigan State in debating and what form the forensic contests of the coming season should take to interest the largest number of students. It is possible to send the team on long trips and to bring teams of other colleges from distant parts of the country for debates at Michigan State. It is possible to look sufficient debates with colleges right here in Michigan to fill the season. An expression of opinion on this subject would be welcomed.

The amount of good that is to be derived from the "Campus Forum" column will depend upon the percentage of students that take advantage of it. If it is to start out with a few articles for publication and then allowed to die out so that the editor or his assistants is forced to keep it up, then it will lose its purpose. For the benefit of the more retiring contributors we will say that when it is requested, names will be withheld from the articles published although we believe that they will enjoy more force if the name appears with the article. However, no articles sent to the editor will be published unless they are signed, but the name of the writer will not be published if the writer does not wish it.

This is to be your column. Make use of it. Address all communications to the "Campus Forum", Editor, Michigan State News.

Social life at Ottawa university, Kansas, moves along without the aid of fraternities. The substitute is "social groups". The student body is divided into sections of 35 or 40 for social purposes. The division is not arbitrary, but along the lines of natural congeniality and of friendship already existing. The clubs have no ritual, no ingenuia of any sort, and intercollegiate affiliations are not permitted.

This system seems to work at Ottawa. We wonder how it would work here but we would scarcely be in favor of trying it, although we do need a greater amount of intermingling of students. The new movement recently started to invite guests from other organizations for parties should do a great deal to foster a greater feeling of friendship and good spirit between organizations.

Of what use is a car in Michigan State now? The owner would have to go out of town to drive it with any degree of comfort with all the campus roads turned into dry canals and part of the main street of East Lansing blocked. As for convenience—it is easier to walk from home in the first place than to walk from the available parking spaces unless, of course, one lives in the great open spaces.

We notice in the Social Whirl that Harry Aten of the Trimouira society is credited with catching pheasants. If Harry can catch pheasants, he must have wings or else he has been holding out on the track coach. If he can prove that he can catch a pheasant, we will forgive him for serving a fowl dinner.

It's a good thing dogs can't read. All of our precious mascots would be leaving town following the appearance of all the threats against their lives which have appeared recently in the newspapers.

CAMPUS LIFE COMPARED TO THAT OF HOT HOUSE FLOWER

There is the ultimate goal for which to strive—Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatic society. Regular plays are produced each term by the national honorary, while the Michigan State Union produces a revue of some nature which provides outlet for the artistic temperament of the students.

Social functions provide a great deal of polishing effect to students who take part. Both the planning of the functions, the arrangement of details, and the ultimate performance lend a color and touch to college life which is indispensable. Topping this sort of contact is the Junior Hop, a function with which students are allowed to deal, but once in a college life.

As a milepost which is ahead to measure the progress of the students, as well as the records compiled in the registrar's office indicating grades, the honoraries stand in that capacity to college men competing in the activity field. At the top rung of the ladder, a real goal of attainment, Excellence and Sphinx appear as the highest honors to a student in recognition of his or her abilities.

NOTICE
There will be a meeting of all men interested in varsity or freshmen swimming in the lecture room of the gymnasium Tuesday evening, Nov. 2 at 7:15.

For those of a legal trend, and an ideal pointing to public affairs, nothing more ideal can be suggested than the forensic curricula. Both men's and co-ed's teams are put in the field each year in debating, while a revival of the art of oratory will be made this year. The highest recognition in these fields at Michigan State is the key of Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary forensic fraternity for men and women.

PLAN JOINT GLEE CLUB CONCERT

Announcement comes from Walter McLean, manager of the Glee Club, that plans for a joint concert with the glee club of the University of Michigan are likely to materialize in the near future. Details as to time and place have not yet been decided.

At present a decided need has been expressed for more first tenors to complete the personnel of the glee club. Possible candidates for such a position are requested to get in touch with the music department. The additions to the personnel of the outfit will have a large bearing upon the possibilities of concert engagements.

When the utter loneliness on the rim of the world caused the sailors to distrust their commander and the news bulletins which he issued.

It is a matter for deep concern among the members of the State News staff when a campus society suddenly becomes adverse to having their activities printed in the columns of the paper. They are beginning to feel that there is some deep dark secret that is being withheld.

It has been rumored that some lunkie-a-Hespie lost a collar button while moving from the old location, and that members of the organization fear that his private effects may be brought to light by the relentless shovel. Meanwhile, with true nerve and nonchalance, the members look on at the activities on the old corner and whistle to show that they are keeping up their courage. Perhaps they need a column rather than a corner to whistle in. In the meantime, in the absence of news from the society for the "Social Whirl," the State News continues to go to press. And the State News staff continues to wonder WHY?

"This picture makes electrical history!"

Joseph Willard Legg, Worcester Polytechnic Institute back in 1915.

—so studious, inquisitive Joe Legg was told, when he displayed a strange, jagged image covering nearly the whole of an oscillograph film to instructors and fellow students at Worcester Polytechnic Institute back in 1915.

For Legg had done something that had never been done before at Tech. He had corralled the picture of a transient phenomenon. Translated, that means he had been able to photograph the electrical disturbance resulting from the closing and opening of a circuit breaker. From that moment the story of the modern oscillograph is synonymous with the story of Joseph Willard Legg, E. E. '15.

Legg's novel experiment was accomplished by a form of remote control rigged up for the college laboratory's oscillograph. Soon the Westinghouse Company ordered one of his controls. And it was natural that Legg should follow his device to East Pittsburgh the next autumn, after he graduated. First in the Research Department, then in the Material and Process Department, he continued to solve oscillograph problems.

The oscillograph films the records of electric current by means of an apparatus of surpassing delicacy. The most modern type, for instance, has a vibrator strip that is 55,000,000 of an inch thick—1/4 the diameter of a human hair. It contains a mirror 17,000 of an inch wide.

But before Legg began his study, the oscillograph, itself, was a clumsy contrivance weighing almost half a ton. He proved that a compact oscillograph, operated with an incandescent lamp, was practicable, first, with a three-element model (one that will record the action of three phenomena at the same time) weighing about 145 pounds. This was in 1917.

More recently a nine-element oscillograph weighing only 100 pounds has been developed. And, some of creative genius, Legg has just produced a baby one-element oscillograph, called the OSISO—which weighs but 7 1/2 pounds! For good measure, Legg designed a holder for loading the oscillograph film in daylight, something that had been fruitlessly tried for years.

As a result of these advances, power companies are saved enormous expense in learning vital characteristics of their circuits—and in solving problems faced by their plants. For instance, by devising a way to automatically record chance disturbances on power lines, Legg has made it possible with the OSISO to start recording a picture 1,000 of a second after lightning causes a flash. And so it goes at Westinghouse with many college men—not just one or a few—but with hundreds throughout the organization. They do their part in advancing the electrical industry while they ply their profession amid unlimited opportunity for creative work.

What's the future with a large organization? That is what college men want to know first of all. The question is best answered by the accomplishments of others with similar training and like opportunities. This is one of a series of advertisements portraying the progress at Westinghouse of typical college graduates of the company some five—eight—ten years.

Freshmen were honored at a Hallowe'en tea Thursday afternoon. Grace Carruthers was in charge of

Co-ed Edna Says:

I've a little advice for the freshmen girls today. The upper-class women, you know, are pretty thoroughly trained in the athletic line, and they sure "pack a mean wallop!" So here's a word of warning: All the engaged girls in school have formed a league to protect their innocent men from the ravaging beauties of the class of '30.

When a freshmen girl is caught vamping an engaged man, she is to have a dire punishment inflicted on her—the girls are keeping the penalty very dark in order that it may be that much more horrible.

In fact, if a girl is even found looking at a man who is the property of another, she is liable to a ducking in the icy waters of the Red Cedar!

The members of the club say that they have gone through enough in the past few years trying to keep their men to themselves during the first of every fall term, and that from now on there is going to be very drastic punishment inflicted on all offenders. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Isn't it the dekins when a person can't even cross a field on the day of parade without being knocked over by some self-important cavalry officer? Fine state of affairs, I call it! Especially when the injured person is one who is already carrying his arm in a sling. Honestly, Jenny, some of the fellows around here, when they get a few brass buttons and an officer's bonnet, begin to think that the world is their oyster. They haven't courtesy enough to say "I'm sorry."

Well, the hockey games are over, girls, what will we find next to quarrel over? The interclass games, I suppose. One epidemic of sprained ankles and bandaged heads is scarcely over before another comes along. And girls, commonly supposed to be the gentlest of creatures, become just terribly fierce when they are wearing shin guards and carrying heavy sticks. I suppose they are sure that nobody can hit them any harder than they will be able to hit back, so they go around administering whacks indiscriminately.

Talk it up, girls, and maybe next year we'll be having a rush of our own—at the present time our only rush comes the first two weeks of the fall term. And, believe me, that certainly is a knockdown, drag-out fight if ever there was any!

Now, if the girls here were allowed to run the rush, and the fellows had to stand on the sidelines, we'd see quite a different state of affairs. Although probably more people would be killed each year in the scramble.

DETROIT INDIANS REQUEST TICKETS FOR HASKELL TILT

Word has been received here that more than 50 Indians of Detroit will attend the Haskell game here Nov. 20. The Motor City red men are anxious that all the members of their race in the state be on hand for the tilt.

Requests for tickets are coming in at the athletic office rapidly. It would be much more interesting. And those killed off would only help rid the campus of its excess population, anyway.

Deputation Team Conducts Program in People's Church

The Deputation Committee of the "Y" was in charge of the program at the People's Church last Thursday evening.

The program was conducted illustrating the regular church services of the rural districts held every Sunday morning by the Deputation committee. Miss Jetta Thompson, chairman of the committee, asked for suggestions in regard to the improvement of these meetings. Refreshments were served and songs were sung to finish the entertainment.

SPARTANS MAKE JOURNEY EAST--FOE POWERFUL

Colgate Considered One of Best Elevens; Attack Is Exceptional.

By Dale Stafford
Michigan State college's football squad, 28 strong, left early Thursday night for its game with Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y., Saturday.

The team was scheduled to arrive in the east some time Friday afternoon. Determination to register a real comeback was evident as the squad departed.

Colgate Strong
Just how much value has been obtained from the week's labor will be shown only on Saturday when the game gets under way. Work on perfecting scoring plays was the major portion served up this week. This was the department in which State was sadly lacking last Saturday against Lake Forest.

Lineup Problematical
Navy and Penn are the teams that vanquished Colgate in its last two starts.

The lineup for State is only problematical inasmuch as many shifts have been promised.

A good guess would be Christenson and Hornbeck, ends; Hitchings and Wenner, tackles; Garver and Grimes, guards; Crabill, center; Boehringer, quarterback; McCosh and Kurrie, halves; Smith, fullback.

The lineup of the backfield is liable to be entirely different than the predicted one.

Men making the trip east are Captain Hammell, Acting Captain Boehringer, Drew, Grim, Smith, Ross, Fouts, McCosh, Garver, Barratt, Wenner, Grimes, Botwell, Christenson, Needham, Hornbeck, Fulton, Danziger, Kurrie, Anderson, Hitchings, Filottson, Mueller, Deacon, Kaultz, O'Connor and Eldred.

PHI KAPPA TAU TEAM HOLD BOWLING HONORS

Eclectic and Phylean Teams Winners and Runners-Up Last Year Also Contenders.

Inter-Fraternity bowling which created so much interest last year seems to be occupying an even more important place in intramural athletics as the 1938 season gets into full swing. At present it is difficult to make any predictions as to the grand cup winner but the Phi Kappa Tau has a great combination.

At present they are leading with a team average of 2,330 pins in two matches. The Eclectics and Phyleans, winners and runners up, respectively, last year show the next best marks in the two matches which they have bowled.

Four cups will be given this year, the "Grand Cup" to the team having the largest number of pins for the whole season, and smaller cups to the team standing highest in match play, to the individual with the highest total of pins for the season and to the individual having the highest score in any one game.

Following is a summary of the matches played, the five highest scores and the results of the matches which have been played.

Compiled Results to Date
Eclectic—2,238—Trimoreira 1,922; Phylean 1,991—Delta Sigma Phi 1,861—Columbians 2,065—Phi Deltas 1,909—Lambda Chi Alpha 2,073—Alpha Gamma Rho 1,842; Trimoreira 2,033—Hesperian 1,762; Olympic 2,355—Delta Sigma Phi 1,956; Phi Delta 1,884—Hormian 1,800; Alpha Gamma Rho 1,804—Delphics 1,617; Eclectic 2,302—Eunomians 2,007; Phylean 2,175—AcTheon 1,756; Columbian 2,010—Upsilon 1,960; Phi Kappa Tau 2,315—Trimoreira 1,972; Phi Kappa Tau 2,398—Delta Sigma Phi 1,842; Phi Delta 1,972—Union Lits 1,941—Alpha Gamma Rho 1,909—Phi Chi Alpha 1,868; Eunomian 2,149—Hesperian 1,830.

Highest Single Scores
Trapp Phi Kappa Tau, 241; Green, Phylean, 214; D. Smith Phi Kappa Tau, 208; Rooks, Phi Kappa Tau, 204; Erwin, Trimoreira, 204.

STATE-U. OF MICH. HARRIERS MEET HERE SATURDAY

Plucky Spartan Runners Deserve Support of Students; Farrell's Team Powerful.

BY TED SMITH
Michigan State and the University of Michigan will compete over the varsity cross country course tomorrow (Saturday) morning at 10:30 in the annual meeting of the two rivals.

The Spartans have a strong team, as was attested last Friday when one point determined the margin of the great Notre Dame outfit over the local runners.

Michigan, coached by the veteran Steve Farrell, always has a strong cross country team, and this year is no exception. Last week Purdue was overcome, 35 to 20. The outstanding thing about the run with the Boilermakers was that six Michigan men were close on the heels of Little, star Purdue runner, who breast the tape in fast time.

Severance to Bid
Captain Roy Severance, running his last race against the Maize and Blue, will make a determined bid for first place. Last Saturday he took second to Young of Notre Dame in fast time.

The Spartan leader is running the best this season of his collegiate career. Wylie and Waterman are two other State dependables that Coach Mason is hoping will be near the front tomorrow morning.

The other members of the State team include Blakeslee, Rossman, Sheldon, LaPlant and Williams. The team were named following a trial run held Tuesday afternoon over the short course and won by Captain Severance in fair time.

Team Best in Years
College authorities are hoping that a large crowd will witness the run, which starts and finishes in the stadium. The course has been laid out in such a manner that the runners are visible for several miles from the vantage point of the cement stands.

The course is a trifle under five miles, the state record for which is held by Potter of Ypsi Normal, in 26:26. Support of the cross country team in the past has been poor, and now with a crew of determined and plucky runners to cheer for, there should be no reason why State fans

LEONARD GIVES CALL FOR M.S.C. SOCCER ELEVEN

Team to Play Games This Season; New Equipment Ordered for Newest State Sport.

Michigan State college is going to have one of the first soccer teams in its history. This was the announcement made by Ralph G. Leonard, boxing and wrestling coach today.

Leonard, formerly coached the soccer and lacrosse teams at Penn State. At Penn State the soccer team went undefeated for more than six seasons. For the present little attention will be paid to lacrosse but in the spring much time is to be devoted to the sport that proves so popular in many sections of the country.

Men Green
Because of not having had teams in the past Leonard is faced with the problem of developing inexperienced men. Many men students of the college have engaged in soccer, though, and should become good players within a short time.

Coach Leonard is especially desirous of having a large squad out for his team and for this reason has called a meeting for Monday night. The get-together will begin at 8:00 p. m. and will be held in the varsity club room at the gymnasium.

Drill Tuesday
Equipment has been ordered for the team. Leonard announces that three or four games will be played this year and more in the future if a good team can be developed.

Practice will get under way Tuesday afternoon. The field is directly across the river from the gymnasium.

EUNOMIANS AND ALPHA GAMMA RHOS WIN BOWLING

Wednesday night's bowling at the Olympic Recreation alley saw the Alpha Gamma Rho's downing the Phi Chi Alpha's and the Eunomian's.

should not be on hand for the meet. The run with the university will be held Saturday in East Lansing, the football team playing at Hamilton, N. Y., with Colgate.
