Record Groups of Candidates Marks Intense Interest as Entire Campus Talks.

POLITICS ABOLISHED

Fairness of Selection Stressed as Committee Rules Equality for All.

J. D. Medill, '28

Stage clearance is entirely underway in the 1927 production of the Michigan State College Union musical comedy, "That's That."

In response to an intensive campaign throughout the campus, and reaching every fraternity, sorority, and other organizations, the past few days brought forth a record try out group of candidates.

JACKH APPEARS IN FIRST CONVO

University of Berlin Man Addressed First Convo Monday.

The students of Michigan State College were addressed Monday afternoon by Dr. Ernest Jackh of the University of Berlin.

Dr. Jackh is pronounced among the experts of the ethics of Europe. He was present at the signing of the Treaty of Versailles, the League of Nations and has been the German representative at the League of Nations in Geneva.

The subject of the address was "The New Europe." Dr. Jackh stated that Germany is the center of the new problems, which are "boiling Europe today." He said that the new Europe is between individualism and internationalism.

The industrial tendencies of Europe are being made in the new Europe. Before the war, Europe was not. They are not yet together after the conflict. Because of this they do not know each other.

Commenting on the League of Nations, Dr. Jackh said: "It is not the League of Nations that has been the cause of the World War. It is through the League that the problems of Europe are gradually being settled."

After the lecture in order to present the Jackh and his ideas on the League of Nations, Dr. Jackh was in the center of the treaty existing between Germany and Russia will set as a bridge over which Russia will be led to Geneva into the League of Nations.

Dr. Jackh, when questioned on the League of Nations, emphatically stated that it was one of the most successful of European governments, and that Russia would never forsake the communist form.

SELECT WINTER TERM UNION PARTY DATES

Stage First Union Party of Term January 14.

The selection of dates for the Union parties to be given winter term has been made according to the entertainment committee of the Union.

Jan. 14, next Friday evening has been picked for the first Union party of the term. The plan has been set out as far as possible of choosing weekends on which little else in the way of social events is scheduled.

Jan. 29 the evening after the annual Military ball will be the next convocation for a party. This will be a convoking force, in a measure, for the only persons who are not privileged to attend the military function.

The other dates set for Union parties are Feb. 12, Feb. 19, March 4 and March 19. March 19 will precede directly the triennial phantom of the final examinations.

NOTICE

There will be a meeting of the Varsity club Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock sharp, before the basketball game, to deal with the Varsity party.

TO HOLD J-HOP GOVERNOR GREEN IN HOTEL OLDS TO BE GUEST AT ON FEBRUARY 25 MILITARY BALL

Complete Contract for Favors With Brochon Company of Chicago.

ACTS AND NOVELTIES

To Screen Off Part of Main Lobby for Use in Addition to Main Ballroom.

The Hotel Olds in Lansing will be the scene of the 1928 Junior Hop on Feb. 25 according to an announcement coming from the general arrangements committee on the affair last Saturday.

The management of the Hotel Olds is more than ready to cooperate with the party committee to make the function a decided success. They have accepted a large portion of the main floor for the occasion.

Decorative effects will be used by employees of the hotel in conjunction with the committee in charge. This will be done to assist the party against its rivals.

The party will be carried out in the form of a dinner dance. At 9:30 a. m. the guests will be served with a light luncheon. The entertainment will be given in the main lobby.

The entertainment committee is negotiating with the Brochon company of Chicago for a complete system of lighting and sound equipment.

Fair Sex Recalls Days of Long Ago In Annual Prom

For the prettiest, Frances Ayers and guest, dressed in colonial costumes, for the most original, Irene Austin and Edith Simonson as bell hop and maid.

Margaret Hubbard had charge of the entertainment which consisted of selected comedies, Mary Margaret Hill, dancer, Bena Watson sang, Thelma Gillette and Lila Kessler played piano solos.

The members of the Blue Moon orchestra were the only men present and were voted up inspectors for the good time. They danced off the old refrains of Turkey in the Straw and all joined in a great old-fashioned Virginia Reel.

Another feature of the evening was a spectacular grand march. Here opportunity was afforded to see the varied and attractive costumes. One representation of Ben Hur was well portrayed with the costume of the historic Roman.

As the hour of 12 neared, the spell was lifted, and one by one the groups faded, and returned to their original state of reality.

SUBSCRIPTION—$1.50 THE SCHOOL YEAR

Union Library

There has been such a deep interest taken in the Union Lending Library since its installation this fall that it has been decided to maintain a regular column in the State News for the benefit of our patrons. Beginning with this issue and in all ensuing issues we will run a review of a popular book that may be found in the library in the Union library, together with biographical sketches and announcements of additions to the collection.

Although the library has been increased to a hundred volumes, we are still laboring to supply the demand. Orders for new books and second copies are being filled at short intervals and it is hoped that before long the library will be large enough to afford a wide selection for the most exacting reader. Not only will the collection contain volumes of fiction, but action-filled biography, biography proper, of popular people whose names are familiar to us, drama in the form of plays that we saw yesterday or might see at our own theaters, and the poetry of modern and popular poets.

Elizabeth's Introduction to Sally is one of two books that should have arrived from the newsdealer by the time that you have read this.

Sally was the most beautiful girl in the world. Like Helen of Troy, she went serenely on her devastating way, spreading mishaps in all directions. Beautiful, amusing, adorable she was, but not clever. However, in the end she gets what she wanted and the hilarious story of her wooing, marriage, education, abduction and triumph is interesting to say the least.

Look for Friday's review of Thomas Burke's "The Sun in Stentor."

In contrasting American students to European students, Dr. Bishop has said American students are immature. We do not read as much as European youth, we are all cluttered up with campus activities, we are well off, our life is comparatively easy, many of us come to college who do not mean business. We are getting soft.

What are these four years at the crystallization period of our lives doing to us? What will we do to affect the results of this crystallization?

ELMER L. KIRK.

In addition to the 10 short course students who attended M. S. C. last term, 129 new students registered this term. Wednesday evening a meeting was held in room 402, Ag hall, at which officers were elected for the coming year.

OUR ANNUAL NIGHTMARE

Tired to the point of exhaustion, hollow eyes, unshaven faces, ridiculous attire, ridiculous actions, sleeping through classes, lessons forgotten—these are some of the things that characterize the annual season of initiation in some of Michigan State's fraternities and sororities.

What we would consider as a forward step has been taken by some of the national organizations. In doing away with what is commonly known as "horse play." The basis on which this action has been taken is that it detracts from the formal ceremony. What better and more logical reason could be given from the fraternity standpoint if the fraternity is to mean what it is expected to. It is a wonder that the minds of some of the initiates are clear enough to understand what it's all about when it comes to the formal ceremonies.

We will admit that everyone should have sufficient sense of humor to appreciate the ridiculous. A certain amount of good, wholesome fun is good for any individual, but fun, like every thing else, gets stale when it is carried to extremes. It ceases to be funny. There may be a valuable disciplinary element in the tasks which are usually given to perform. All these things may not detract appreciably from the more serious element if administered in reasonable doses. But when "horse play" reaches the point of humiliation, as it sometimes does, it is a death angel to good fellowship and loyalty. If friendship can be resumed on the same basis after initiation as it was before, then no harm is done in this respect.

But, when the hours required are such that the individual has no time for study and no time for sleep, when he is in such a state of fatigue during classes that he leaves with no more knowledge than he had when he entered, then the merit of this sort of performance is doubtful. Many a grade has been lowered during this time, sometimes with disastrous results to the individual. If we come to college to receive that which it is intended to give, then the price, in some instances, is too great to pay.

JUNIORS' YOUR PRESENCE IS DESIRED

There will be a meeting of the junior class on Thursday at 5 o'clock in the lecture room of the Chemistry building. All juniors are urged to be on hand.

Class meetings in the past at Michigan State College are on most occasions, whether the meetings be for juniors or members of some other class a delightful spectacle. Students, it is usually found, who do not attend the meetings are also the ones to complain the loudest with the execution of the work of the class.

An appeal is issued by the junior class officers here that all third year men get out and attend the meeting. The Junior Hop, which is the premier function to be attempted by any class is in the process of arrangement. The ideas and criticisms of members of the class on the affair are solicited by the class officers and the committee in charge of the function.

In behalf of their own interests in promoting for their class a Junior Hop worthy of being remembered and recalled, the juniors are asked to attend this meeting.

Over in the woodshop is a little machine in which is put chunks of beeswax of all sizes and shapes. This machine warms the beeswax and by turning a little hand wheel pressure is put on it so that it is all forced out of a little hole, when every bit of the wax is in the same form, that of a little string, every part of which looks like every other part.

Our college is doing that very thing to all of its technical students and to most of its other students. The classification officers, its over-technical curriculum, compulsory military training, some narrowly developed faculty men, the attendance system, the emphasis on marks regardless of how they are gotten, these turn the hand wheel and by their pressure crush the individuality of the student and turn out not men but electrical engineers, foresters, chemists.

My fellow students, it isn't what college can do for you to make you a walking encyclopedia, said a prominent educator, "but to train and discipline you to grapple with problems." The aim of our studying is to pass the course. But of what benefit to you is passing a course? Then I can take another course? This seems to be the limit of a student's reasoning.

"The fact is, that civilization requires slaves. The Greeks were quite right there. Unless there are slaves to do the ugly, horrible, uninteresting work, culture and contemplation become almost impossible. Human slavery is wrong, insecure, and demoralizing. On mechanical slavery, on the slavery of the machine, the future of the world depends."
— Oscar Wilde

SLAVES

In a quarter-century the General Electric Company has produced electric motors having a total of more than 350,000,000 man-power. Electric light, heat, and transportation have also contributed their part to the freeing of men. These are America's slaves. Through their service American workers do more, earn more, and produce quality goods at lower cost than anywhere else in the world.

You will find this program on all kinds of electrical machinery. To insure quality, ask for it on equipment when you buy for factory, office, or home.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-18.

The college-trained man is the first to grasp these facts which raise man from a mere source of physical power to be a director of power, thus realizing the true economic value of the human mind.

Seek Specialty Acts

Specialty and novelty acts, original and otherwise, are desired by the committee. Students interested in trials for this phase of the production are requested to communicate with Norval D. Tyrrell, student director, at once. Many specialty acts are already awaiting candidates to try out for them, and the same method of selection will be followed in this respect as in the musical production itself.

Arrange Next Try-Outs

Due to the increasing demand on the part of the student body for additional try-outs, arrangements have been made to care for the overflow of students who could not be staged last week.

Thursday night has been reserved between the hours of 7 and 9, for both men and women candidates who have not yet received a trial for "That's That." This try-out will be held in the Union ballroom on the second floor, and it will be the final general assembly before working casts are selected by first elimination.

As in the previous trials, group appointments at the stage will be permitted. Those interested in a group work for specialty or novelty acts are also requested to appear Thursday night.

SOCIOLOGY DEPARTMENT MAKES RURAL SURVEY

Question 3,261 Families Living in Five Counties on Various Subjects.

Three thousand, two hundred and sixty-one families answered the following questions: "To how many families within a distance of five miles are you and your family related by blood or marriage as near or nearer than second cousins?"

The sociology department of Michigan State College, in its recent rural survey of five counties, has found families to be related on an average of 15.

According to Prof. J. P. Thoden, other interesting facts such as voting habits and the extent to which families are inter-related by blood or marriage, are being worked out by research workers at the present time.

BASKETBALL MEN START NEW YEAR WITH VICTORY

Brilliant Battle Marked Defeat of Marquette in Overtime Period.

Victory in the first basketball contest of the regular season, and the initial one for Michigan State in the newly formed Central Intercollegiate conference, was the reward for the scrappy fight exhibited by the Spartans against Marquette university Saturday night. State came from behind to tie the count in the closing seconds of play, and then crushed through with the 35-33 margin of supremacy in the five minutes of overtime play, required to break the 30-30 deadlock.

It was a great game, and a great victory for Coach VanAlstyne's men. At the middle of the first half they trailed 12-2, followed this up by a rather weak spurt to close the first 20 minutes of play at 17-10, with the Northerners still commanding the advantage. State was clearly and decisively outplayed and outclassed during the entire first half.

Colvin Gave Great Account

The second half opened with the green and white combination moving under an altered defense, which as a proved effective, but still the Marquette team held away as the potential winners. Colvin, playing a wonderful game at guard, opened up with a stage-striking brilliance to exhibit some of the best basket guarding and floor offense seen here in many a game. The visitors were temporarily stopped dead, and then Felt, getting his first real chance at varsity basketball, crashed through with nothing short of a variety of court work which would characterize the most seasoned of veterans. Almost in rapid succession he added nine points, while Colvin and Drew checked the visitors' attack.

Hood Plays Big Part

The Marquette lead was cut to one point at 25-24 about the middle of the last half, when Felt came through to sink a beautiful goal from a difficult angle. Mandy Hood, who contributed the best game of his college career, sent the crowd into a mad cheering mass when he outmanned the opposing defense to retrieve the one point lead on Marquette's side of the book and give State a lead.

Dunn came through with a free goal and a field goal at this interval. Ramer sank another for the Marquette aggregation, and State once more trailed 29-25. Felt topped his man on the jump, and caged a great shot to put the Spartans back in the race at 29-27. Deusterer added a free throw for Marquette, only to have Felt equal it with another for State.

The Score in Closing Seconds

The score stood 30-28 with State at most defeated. The gun was in the air, and with less than 30 seconds of play remaining, Hood took the ball, dribbled through the Marquette defense, passed it back to Colvin, received it again and neatly netted his sphere to knit the score at 30-30. When Hood sank that memorable goal there were two seconds of play left.

The overtime opened with Hood again coming through to set the crowd wild with another spectacular shot from almost the 47-foot line. Dickerson followed with another goal after Colvin had outwitted his man under the Marquette basket. Ramer caged a pair of charity shots for the visitors, and cut State's lead to 34-32. A technical foul for Herie's failure to report added a point for State, when Colvin made good. Shimek came back with another free throw for Marquette, and three plays later the game ended with State the victors, 35-33, over their traditional rivals, Marquette university.

Strong Albion Team Next

Coach VanAlstyne will send his basketballers against the reputed whirlwind Albion college five here Wednesday night, in a game which will mark resumption of athletic relations in basketball with the Methodists. Albion has its best team in years, numbering among its roster several former Ohio all-state prep stars, in addition to several experienced veterans of no mean ability.

The eligibility of Captain Drew, which was a question up until the Marquette game, has been passed upon, and the Spartan leader is back at the helm. Stan Green, formerly a basketball man here in 1922, is the latest addition to the squad, and his status is likewise in faculty circles.

Opposition Boasts Finest Aggregation in History; State Coach to Start Same Lineup.

Fresh from an unexpected victory over Marquette University's team here Saturday night, Coach Ben VanAlstyne's Michigan State eagles will clash with Albion College in the gym here Wednesday night.

Albion, favorite for the M. I. A. A. title, boasts one of the finest aggregations in history. The team is a sophomore outfit, but most of the men are highly experienced. Over the holidays the quintet took a jaunt through the middle west and scored a large number of wins.

Coach VanAlstyne of the Spartans is more than enthused over the outcome of the game Wednesday night. He is encouraged slightly, however, by the unexpected showing his proteges made in the Marquette fray.

Defensive work to put a halt to the sweeping Albion offense took up most of the time this week. If Penmill of Albion plays Wednesday fans will have an opportunity to see a counter who wears glasses without any protection in action.

Coach VanAlstyne has announced he will start the same lineup that defeated Marquette. This consists of Hood and Dickerson forwards; Felt, center, and Colvin and Drew, guards.

MICHIGAN STATE TRACK PROSPECTS LOOK GOOD

Michigan State College is likely to have about the best track team in its history, according to critics. With Ad Jernum and Grim, world record holders in the sprints, as a nucleus there is every indication that the Spartan thinleads will be able to hold their own with the best of them.

State has applied for membership in the eastern association that sponsors a meet at Philadelphia on May 29. Most of mid-west schools who can no longer compete in the conference events have done this, according to Ralph H. Young, director of athletics.
