DEBATERS MEET MARQUETTE TEAM HERE TONIGHT

Clash with Milwaukee Trio Finds State Favoring Change in Liquor Laws.

ROAD TEAM STARTS EAST Select Trio at Purdue Tonight; Meet Kentucky, Bucknell and Penn State.

When the Michigan State Volstead modification team takes to the floor tonight to clash with the University of Marquette it will be their first inter-collegiate match, while Marquette will be attempting to take its 30th debate of the present season.

The Staters who meet the Milwaukee trio are Ralph Boylan, Harry Smith and Carl W. Kietzman. Last week the anti-modification team turned back the University of Detroit, and tonight these men will favor the modification according to the affirmative statement of the Pi Kappa Delta question. Resolved, that the Volstead act should be amended to permit the sale and manufacture of beer and light wine.

The same Marquette team which defeated the U. of D. at Detroit last night will oppose State, and it is composed of Eugene Goldberg, Major Young and Leonard Evans.

NEW CLUB MAKES CAMPUS ADVENT

Unusual and Unique Body to Sponsor Latest Movement in Student Affairs.

A new organization is being sponsored on the Michigan State campus. It is an unusual and unique body to sponsor the latest movement in student affairs. It has no officers, no by-laws, no records, no dues, and no dues. It is the "loosest organization" on the campus in make-up. In fact, there is no organization apparent at all. Its membership is subject to few conditions and is flexible. This group will be known as the M. S. C. Hill Club.

Students and Faculty Admitted. This is an open discussion group for student or faculty member who has energy and interest enough to attend meetings. Any student or faculty member is admitted into the organization upon his entrance to the discussion room, either as an interested member or as a participant in the discussion. With more favor leaning toward the latter type of membership, subjects of general student interest will be discussed pro and con by the members present. The meetings will be held with a complete resume of both sides of the issue chosen to be discussed by some authority on the question in mind. Following there will be an opportunity to every student to offer ideas and gain thought stimulation along lines of close interest to him. Each meeting will be presided over by a new chairman, the only official to be connected with the organization.

Club Active Elsewhere. This organization is the outcome of a long expressed desire by a certain number of students for this sort of a group. The name has been associated with groups of a like nature in Chicago and New York which have attained little prominence. The New York group has been in existence for a great many years, and is carried on in an old-fashioned fashion.

Hold Special Meeting to Remedy Soph Er

Due to a typographical error the name T. Gould appeared on the sophomore ballot for Union Board in the place of Al Burdie. A special meeting of the sophomore class, called and directed by the Union Board, will be held in Olds Hall, Room 111, Tuesday, March 15, at 7:00, to elect the sophomore representative. The present ballot has been discarded.

GREEN KEY MEN TAKE NATIONAL

Fourteen Charter Members of Blue Key Take Pledge at Formal Initiation.

A new era in the history of the Green Key was opened Thursday night when 14 Michigan State students accepted the pledge of the Blue Key national organization as charter members of the organization. The banquet and formal initiation were held in the Western room of the Hotel City. The oath of membership was administered by Rev. John A. Gatchell.

Ray Higgs, editor of the Green Key, which was started in May, 1924, this group, organized by Ex-catholus campus honoraria, has served as official college host since that time. Harold Marsh, president of the new organization, spoke on the progress of Blue Key, a national working honorary fraternity for student leaders. J. B. Hassetman spoke on "What Blue Key Can Mean to Michigan State College." George Dirks, president of the student council, analyzed the pledge taken by the members. Harold Marsh presented the keys and explained the meaning of the symbols.

Blue Key was founded at the University of Florida, Gainesville, Fla., in 1924 by Major Bert V. Rice. The national organization was started in 1925. Michigan State becomes the 24th chapter and three more have since been accepted, making a total of 27 chapters. There are, in addition, (Continued on page 4)

U OF M MAY OPEN OWN MOVIE SHOW

Students Express Dislike for Two Ann Arbor Theaters; May Use Hill Auditorium.

Possibility of a university owned movie house at Ann Arbor becomes evident according to a Thursday Associated Press story following the rushing of a theatre by University of Michigan students Monday night. Dislike of the students for the two theatres is such that they have asked President Little to consider opening Hill Auditorium as a movie house for the students.

According to Dean Joseph Bursley students have proposed to him a boycott of the two places of entertainment. It is said that students provide 85 per cent of the attendance at one theatre and 95 per cent at the other.

SIX CO-EDS ATTEND MERRILL-PALMER

Six co-eds from the home economics division will again be delegated to the Merrill-Palmer school in Detroit for the spring term as representatives of Michigan State College, and it is now planned that Margaret Strong, Mildred Peterson, Marguerite Sprague, Dorothy Shoemith, Dorothy Edmonds and Ellen Morgan Buzzard will be the honored ones. These girls, who have been chosen because of their high scholastic standing, will receive credit at M. S. C. for all work done at Merrill-Palmer, which is primarily a home economics institution.

Dill Pickle Club Meet Shows 57 Varieties of Fearless Free Thinking

The first meeting of the Dill Pickle club, exponents of 57 varieties of fearless free thinking, was held in the Union building Wednesday night.

Among the suggestions furnished on the subject were the abolishing of pre-requisites for the college course; an orientation course for freshmen, in which they would obtain an idea of all courses offered by the college; methods of marking with a view toward abolishing grades and merely putting it on a basis of passing or thinking; and the capability of teachers regarding their instructing ability, personality, and interest arousing power.

Although the subject of a Utopian college was by no means covered, the group decided to lay it aside for awhile and at the next meeting take up the student side of college, with regards to fraternities, social life, and campus activities. The meeting will be held next Tuesday night in the Union building at 8 p. m. and will be open to all who wish to attend.

GREEN SPEAKS AT CONVOCATION

Governor Supports Extensive Education Policy; Election Candidates Presented.

Personally supporting an extensive policy of education, Governor Fred Green addressed a crowded gymnasium during his convocation speech Wednesday morning. He stood staunchly for youth and the spirit of youth.

Governor Green stated that he himself was a product of grade school, high school, a normal school, and the University of Michigan. He said that he believed in the youth of today and that he still wants to be considered one of them.

In speaking of the various schools and educational systems of the state, Mr. Green declared that only a clear spirit of fairness could be shown in their support. Partiality only created enmity.

The governor's speech was short but his words were his side, and he had his stand boiled down to a nicely. He talked ended in an appeal for wider and better educational facilities and the utilization of such opportunities as are offered.

The bands, both first and second, were present and offered two stirring numbers. This was the day of the Southern and Blade swing-out.

Presentation of the candidates appearing on the ballots was an interesting feature of the morning. This was done by president of the student council, George Dirks.

RE-ELECT TWO MEN TO COUNCIL

Juniors Pick Olin and Carl Again; Pierce, McInnis and Cammins New Men.

Clyde Olin of East Lansing, Arthur Carl of Sturgis and Fred Pierce of New Hudson were elected to the student council from the junior class for the coming year in the elections Thursday.

Sophomores who will be members of the body are Ted Corning of Battle Creek and Robert McInnis of Royal Oak. The freshmen elected Everett Cammins of Plymouth as their representative.

A close race was run by all candidates interested. The men elected will be members of the enlarged council, the amendment for which passed Thursday with an overwhelming majority.

The new council will take office at the beginning of the spring term, at which time this year's student governing body headed by George Dirks of Coopersville will retire.

The men who were returned to the council from this year's body are Clyde Olin and Arthur Carl.

DISCOVEROR OF RARE ELEMENT TO SPEAK

Dr. Hopkins to Appear on Program of American Chemical Society.

Dr. R. S. Hopkins of the chemistry department of the University of Illinois is scheduled to speak tonight before the Michigan State College chapter of the American Chemical Society. The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. in the east lecture room of the chemistry building.

Dr. Hopkins has spent a great deal of time in research with rare earth compounds and his latest discovery he has named Illinium in honor of the university with which he is connected. He is one of the world's leading inorganic chemists. All who are interested are invited to attend the lecture.

STUDENTS CAST RECORD VOTE IN 1927 ELECTIONS

Choose Levon Horton Editor and Wayne Barkwell Business Manager on State News Ballot.

SMITH ON ATHLETIC BOARD Pass Student Council Change, State News Fee, and Eligibility Ruling.

Michigan State College students went to the polls in record numbers Thursday to cast their vote in the all-college elections. Only about 300 had voted by noon but by the time the polls had closed at 5 o'clock 1,095 had cast their vote a number that exceeds by far all previous records.

The records were far outnumbered by the men in the number of votes cast, seven hundred and ninety-two votes were polled by the men and 303 by the women.

Perhaps of greatest interest to the average voter were the offices of State News editor and business manager. Levon Horton as editor, and Wayne Barkwell as business manager are destined to guide the policy of the college newspaper by choice of the students for the coming year. Dorothy Shoemith will be the new co-ed editor.

Paul Smith was voted for office on the athletic board of control. Whether they were chosen for the position of ballmaster to lead his fellow students at the games for the next year.

All three general questions on the ballot were favorably received by the students. The amendment to article II of the constitution of the student council passed by a vote of 980 to 128 which means that the council will be enlarged next year to 113 members.

A large majority of the voters expressed their satisfaction with the results of the state News under the free system and it passed by a vote of 948 to 170. The majority in favor proved to be greater than it was in the vote last year.

The question of eligibility rules for campus activities the same as those in effect for athletics was also looked upon with favor and passed by a vote of 888 to 200.

The positions on the liberal arts board to come from the sophomore class.

ORATORS MATCH SKILL NEXT TERM

Coaches Blake and Wise Announce Plans for First Annual Contest; Cash Awards.

Announcement was made this morning by Coaches Blake and Wise of the public speaking department of the first annual Michigan State College campus oratorical championships to be held early next term. The entries are to be received during the coming week and the preliminaries are looked for Thursday, April 5.

This year will mark the first attempt to stage an oratorical contest at State and plans are being made by the coaches for extending the scope of future plans in oratory here to place it on an intercollegiate basis.

Pi Kappa Delta Meets Here

The campus champion will be decided this year on April 13, 14, and 15. The days of the Pi Kappa Delta district convention at East Lansing. Possibilities of sending the campus winner in competition against other college entries later in the spring term are rather remote this year, although plans may be made for such a contest. The 1927 contest will be the first to be sponsored here in years, and with an interest shown this year, attempts will probably be made to form an oratorical association.

Cash Prize Awards

The orations for the coming contests must not exceed 2,000 words in length and the subject field is not limited. Any subject may be chosen, and the first prize to be given the campus champion will be a cash award of $50.00. The runner-up will receive $15.00 as the other finalist award. The orations will be judged on both content and delivery.

At the Union

Up to 1926 College elections were held in various places on the Campus, none of which proved satisfactory. Since then they have all been conducted at the Union.

Your class room supplies are available at the Union, and by storing your campus dues privilege, you can purchase them here cheaper than any other place.

Tickets for all student functions are on sale at the main desk, none except student and College affairs are advertised there.

March 19 is the final party of the winter term. These parties have been better patronized this year than in the past.

CONGRATULATIONS TO BLUE KEY

Members of the old local organization Green Key are to be congratulated upon obtaining affiliation with Blue Key, national honorary. The local organization has done much during its brief existence to develop State spirit and through the aid of the students who have backed its efforts generously and the cooperation of everyone with whom it came in contact, the organization permanently established itself as an honorary fraternity for the campus. Its dissolution into Blue Key will mean no change, but a broader and more comprehensive program.

Blue Key is an honorary service fraternity differing radically from the old-fashioned honor fraternity whose members are chosen in recognition for service completed and which rarely has an everyday working program. Blue Key is a radical step in student organization. It has no secret work, no national installation teams, has no fees or dues and exists primarily for the purpose of service.

In a national way, Blue Key is intended to foster a national student spirit through an exchange of ideas and common understanding. The movement is likened to Rotary. Just as Rotary fills a big place in the lives of its members and the community by assisting in every way possible without trying to take over the job of mayor, city council, or any one else, so the Blue Key is intended to foster a closer fellowship among its members and to bring college leaders together to exchange ideas and work out plans for the service and good of the institution.

INCENTIVE FOR EDUCATION

We were very much interested in the story which appeared in the last issue of the State News in which Dean Phelan suggested the possibility of the student faculty committee on curriculum studying the elastic credit system. Students and faculty alike have long felt that the present system was inadequate and yet nothing satisfactory has ever been found to take its place. We have all had the experience of studying hard for one course and getting a lower grade in the course than in another for which we did not study

There are many reasons why the instructor is unable to tell with the final examination system whether or not the pupil has studied, or how much he knows.

In a few schools a system of grading has been used whereby the student is merely marked passing or not passing. Many feel that this is inadequate; that the popular grading system is needed as an incentive to greater effort.

Here is an opportunity to do some experimenting. Let the elastic credit system take the place of grades. If the student earns but one credit, give him one. If he earns six credits, give him six credits. Mark him passing or not passing. The incentive will not be lacking.

We do not advocate this for every subject in every division. We only suggest it as an experiment. It could be tried with one class in literature or history or some allied subject for an experiment.

The world has advanced by experiment. If experiments are valuable in science they should be valuable in studying education methods.

 After meeting Purdue tonight on the basis that we should not change the Volstead act, this same team will take up the other side of the issue by pleading against Valparaiso university for a complete modification Saturday night.

The State team which left with Coach W. H. Wise is composed of Thomas J. Ramsdell, 29, of Manistee; Richard M. Hair, 27, of Indianapolis; Milton D. Burgh, 29, of Chicago. These men will meet Purdue tonight and Carl W. Kietzman, 27, of Big Rapids will join the party at Valparaiso tomorrow night.

Meet Kentucky Monday
 Monday will find the Spartan team at Lexington, Ky., for a clash with the University of Kentucky on the question. Resolved, that we should have a league of English-speaking peoples in behalf of world peace. The Spartans will take the affirmative of this question, stressing the need of such a league for the promotion of world stability.

Leaving Kentucky, Coach Wise will take his men to Lewisburg, Pa., for a dual match Thursday with Buck

Campus Forum

A new chemistry building will soon be completed. The old armory will soon be replaced by a more adequate structure. The road that now encircles the campus is a great improvement. The building plans for the near future call for new barns, an auditorium, etc.

Using this for a background let us turn to the Wells Hall, the men's dormitory and home, the place where the fellows must spend the majority of their time. What are conditions there? They are deplorable.

We proudly point out to visitors the new buildings on the campus and we are only too glad to show them beyond the doors. However, we carefully turn their attention from Wells and with perfectly good reasons. We are ashamed and justly so, to take our parents or even our friends beyond those brick walls. These walls, sufficient perhaps to hold a losing place with the old structures on the campus, have behind them, corridors, stairs, and rooms that the average student would never compare with his home. The stairs are loose and rickety, squeaking and squeaking under every step; the walls are dirty and the last coat of paint has not improved with age; the woodwork would not be ruined if it was revarnished; the drinking fountains are inadequate and the mail boxes need not be mentioned; and the rooms, unpapered walls, rattling windows, cracked and broken plaster, woodwork that compares well with that in the halls, and a general delapidation prevailing.

This is the place that we live in. This is the type of building that the college furnishes those men who cannot afford to live off the campus or in a fraternity. This is the place to which we must invite our parents and friends when we show them "my room". This is the type of structure that the State catalogue advertises as a "dormitory for men with modern conveniences."

A few minor and inexpensive improvements would be greatly appreciated by the Wells Hall men. We do not ask for a new building, we do not suggest unreasonable changes, but we would like to see Wells more than a place to hang our hats.

uncomparable tones of his music and each of his admirers was caught and entranced in the meshes of spellbound admiration. Every minute he was playing the charm of the concordant strains of both classic and romantic selections stirred the very fibers of his listeners.

Very patiently Kreisler began his program with the composer, Beethoven, whose music reaches the soul of even the most critical concert-goer. The sensuous "Krautzer Sonata" captured the attention of all.

His evident lack of effort and perfect technique were displayed in "Adagio Fugue, G minor" by Bach for violin alone, and "La Folia" by Corelli.

"Andante Cantabile" by Tschudkowsky and "Variations" by Tartini were favorite numbers on the program. At repeated requests of applause the artist broke into the melodies of his own composition, "Lobos-trom", which has attracted him such a world-wide reputation. Before the close of the program he was obliged to repeat it three times.

Lovely pictures were painted by Kreisler as he played "Lotusland" by Cyril Scott-Kreisler and Debussy's "En bateau". "Frasquita Serenade" by Lehar-Kreisler and "Dance espagnole" by Manuel de Falla-Kreisler completed the regular program. The audience was loath to go and demanded several encores.

SPARTAN TRACK MEN WILL MEET MARQUETTE SAT

Opposition Will Be Strong; Alderman Hurt, May Not Enter Meet Saturday.

Having distinguished itself in every meet held to date, the Michigan State College track team will attempt to state off further opposition Saturday afternoon when Marquette university of Milwaukee, Wis., is met in the East Lansing gym.

Marquette is exceptionally strong this year and is expected to give State far more opposition than Western State Normal. The Normalites fell victims to State by approximately 20 points. Another feature of the meet Saturday is the fact that it may give some inkling as to the probable outcome of the Central Intercollegiate meet to be held at Notre Dame one week from Saturday.

State, Notre Dame, Marquette and Butler make up the association.

Alderman Hurt
There is a remote possibility that Fred Alderman, State captain and sprint star, may not appear against Marquette. Alderman suffered a slight leg injury in the sixth annual Michigan State Relay carnival here last Saturday night and has been limping about since. The injury is not thought to be serious, however.

Probably the most remarkable thing shown by the meet of the last weekend was the fact that the State half mile relay team is liable to threaten world's collegiate records out of doors. The team negotiated the 800 in time far below the college record in the meet last Saturday and great things are expected when spring rolls around.

McAtee-Glaser Battle
The showing of the State half mile relay was also encouraging. With two of his stars on wretches, Coach Morton F. Mason had considered his chances of a victory over the University of Michigan remote. Instead of going behind the Spartans 1/2 mile of the way and defeated Michigan by more than eight yards.

A large number of State men are expected to get action against the Milwaukee outfit. McAtee, State's star pole vaulter, is expected to return to form and stage a battle royal with Glaser of Marquette.

Glaser and McAtee were two of the five athletes who tied for first place in the pole vault at the Illinois Relay carnival two weeks ago.

HIGH SCHOOLS TO SEND TANK MEN

Fourth Annual Meet Here to Decide State Title; Ten Schools Expected to Enter.

Interscholastic swimming teams of Michigan will be on hand Friday and Saturday of this week for competition in the fourth annual meet staged by Michigan State College. The event is the only prep meet that decides the state title, according to Alden W. Thompson, state director of high school athletics.

Lyman L. Frimodig, assistant director of athletics, is in charge of the meet. Frimodig expected about ten schools to enter teams in the meet.

Eight events are listed on the program. These are the 200 yard relay, the 100 yard breast stroke, 50 yard free style, 100 yard back stroke, 100 yard free style, 220 yard free style, and the medley relay.

Northwestern High of Detroit is expected to run away with the meet. The Colts are considered likely winners of the national interscholastic title and consequently should take the state event with comparative ease.

He harnesses words to help sell electricity

OH, ST. PATRICK was an engineer," lustily caroled the senior engineers at Wisconsin in the spring of '16. But to F. L. Andrew, St. Patrick has become the patron saint of merchandising and advertising as well.

Andrew liked engineering and had an excellent record in his work. But even in his high school days, he had been interested in writing. And that interest grew as he wrote for the annual, was successively editor and business manager of the Wisconsin Engineer, and was advertising manager of the Engineers' Famous Minstrel Show. He received his degree fully determined to harness words to help sell electricity.

At that time railroad advertising fascinated him. There was romance—and adventure—in the great tangle of tracks spread across the continent. So he applied and was accepted for a place in the Westinghouse Graduate Students' Course, hoping some day to do railroad advertising.

Q "What's the future with a large organization?" That is what college men want to know, first of all. The question is best answered by the accomplishments of others with similar training and like opportunities. This is one of a series of advertisements portraying the progress at Westinghouse of college graduates of the campus some two—eight—ten years.

A month after he started the course he was made an instructor. For six months he had classes in the morning—then was free all afternoon to browse through the Westinghouse plant and learn those things that have made him valuable in the direction of Westinghouse advertising. But that's getting ahead of the story.

Andrew left the educational department to be a requisition clerk handling requests for literature on Westinghouse irons, fans, toasters, percolators. Here he got his first glimpse of merchandising electrical appliances—an activity that was soon to rank with railroad electrification, marine engineering and the other important branches of the Westinghouse business. Andrew grew up with this development. He was one of the men who organized the merchandising section of the advertising department, which has remained under his charge since that time.

But his activities have been wider than this. Because of his understanding of both electricity and advertising, he was made assistant to the advertising manager, giving particular attention to national advertising. With the growth of the merchandising department, sales promotion also came under his charge.

Today he is manager of the sales promotion section of the merchandising sales department, head of the merchandising section of the advertising department, and assistant to the advertising manager.

To engineering graduates interested in technical writing and advertising, Westinghouse offers an opportunity for realizing ambitions to the full.
