HOUSE REFUSES TO ALLOW MORE BUDGET SLASHES

Passes Biennial Appropriation as Recommended by Committee.

ATTEMPT NEW REDUCTION

College Given $1,114,250 for New Buildings and Improvements to Grounds.

Efforts to allow further cuts in the college budget covering needs of the institution for the next two years, the House Thursday passed the appropriation bill as recommended by the ways and means committee.

The measure granted the college $1,114,250. This includes items calling for necessary new buildings and improvements to the ground and old buildings.

Although the cut made by the committee amounted to $1,493,000, several members of the House Wednesday afternoon indicated that the bill made by the committee was sufficient and a substitute bill offered in committee of the whole by Rep. Walter J. Thomas, of St. Joseph, providing the college with only $900,000 for the two years of buildings and improvements was rejected by various members with the result that it was withdrawn by Mr. Thomas.

The bill as introduced in the House originally asked for total of $7,362,000 for the college for two years. The ways and means committee eliminated a number of items and listed others. The result that the total reported in the bill was $1,114,250, a cut of over 85 percent.

When the measure was considered in general orders Wednesday afternoon, Representative Thomas offered a substitute bill which he claimed to be the same as first reported by the ways and means committee. He said the committee revealed the bill for the $900,000 total and made other cuts so that the amount finally reported was over a million dollars.

LET US BE MISUNDERSTOOD

In another column of the Michigan State News a letter, which we received from the East Lansing ladies whose eyes are so doggedly set upon the prohibition of the Sunday theater in East Lansing is, reprinted. Much as we expected, they fall utterly to visualize our point of view, and have only to offer in rebuttal, a few reports which in no way alter our point. Three items of the situation interest us in the letter. The first, in reference to the student body being forced to go down town, carries a slight tinge of sarcasm on the part of the well-meaning ladies, if our interpretive powers are active. Admittedly we are not breaking down under the strain of the three-mile trip to Lansing, either physically or mentally. We make the trip and return smiling as the ladies contend. We made no attempt to assert that we were wasting away under the strain. But because it is the habit of the college student to accept in the best light that which is available for his use or amusement, that should be no barrier in the presentation of new comforts.

On the matter of the protection of the youngsters of the city as we have been protested, we offer this. If our memory serves us correctly, we recall no city ordinances regulating the theaters in the town from which we came. We are not ashamed of our training, but do we feel that it was heedlessly recklessness we are satisfied, and we believe our parents are in the fact that the regulation of our conduct in regard to theaters or any other entertainment in which we participated came from within our home. No civic ordinances were deemed necessary in our case and in our short stay here the East Lansing children have given us no indications that such control was essential to their welfare.

On the third issue, the censorship and control of the theaters, in which our statement that we understood that the East Lansing men connected with the project would care for the provision of suitable pictures, we were interpreted by the ladies as meaning that a clause was inserted in black and white to that effect. On this matter, we will say that we are equally willing to trust the men connected with the project, whether a clause is provided in black and white or not, with the welfare of East Lansing as the well-meaning East Lansing ladies who are fostering this monstrous movement.

FRATERNITY MOTHERS

(Red and Black University of Georgia)

A system that is in vogue at many of the larger institutions and among a few of the fraternities at the University of Georgia, and one which the Red and Black thinks would serve much good at the university, is that of having resident house mothers in all the fraternity houses in the university.

Such a scheme, if it could be worked out, would certainly meet with the approval of the majority of fraternity men in college. The choice of a house mother, if wisely made, would do much to improve the atmosphere of the average fraternity house. It would help to preserve the home training that a student has on entering the university and which is so easily forgotten in the average chapter house.

The ideal of the scheme is not to place a guardian or spy over the men living in the houses, but to add to their university home that indefinable feminine touch that no amount of masculine blundering could accomplish.

These fraternities that have already tried out this scheme will quickly vouch for the success that it has been. They prove that it is a success by always keeping a house mother with them. Once this plan is tried, it is hard to do away with.

We believe that this scheme would be one of the most forward steps taken by the fraternities in recent years, and wish that the fraternities would at least give it enough thought to investigate and see what it has meant to other fraternities in other schools.

Campus Forum

Editor's Note: This is a reprint of a letter received in reply to an editorial published in the State News a short time ago entitled "Must We Go Downtown," dealing with the moving picture theatre project.

In the last copy of Community Life, an editorial from the State News was quoted. We thank them for this frank expression of their opinion, and note that, in their enthusiasm, they have made a few quite natural mistakes in summing up the purposes and spirit of the movement for closing the theatres of East Lansing on Sunday.

We want it distinctly understood that we wish for every student at M. S. C. the finest possible development and training with the minimum of hardship during his short stay with us here in East Lansing. We try to make the student feel cordially at home in all his contacts with our city.

This whole movement for Sunday closing has been primarily among the voters of East Lansing for the benefit of the children of the city should have a wholesome environment in which to develop. We have felt that the majority of students are not only able to but naturally prefer to "paddle their own canoe." Your parents have done for you what we are striving to do for the children of our city to provide the best environment possible for growth and development. Your parents have sent you here, and now it is up to you to show forth the results of their years of toil and anxiety. If you wish to spend your Sunday afternoons in motion picture theatres, that is distinctly your affair. We disclaim any responsibility in the matter.

We are sorry and surprised that you consider the three-mile trip to Lansing a hardship. We have never noticed a pained or exhausted expression upon the faces of students climbing into or out of the various conveniences used for the trip. If car sickness or general weakness in boarding street cars and automobiles afflicts the student body as a whole, it has escaped our notice. In our ignorance, we had rather considered that the students appeared quite willing and active in this constant travel back and forth, week days as well as Sundays. That it was generally considered a hardship upon the student body to have placed M. S. C. three miles away from the metropolis is quite a surprising point of view to us.

We feel that the Sabbath is a day which rightfully belongs, not only to the People's church, but to every church everywhere. We number among the members of this movement people of every denomination, and some of no denomination at all, many attend the downtown churches, and are interested only incidentally in the community church here. We are interested in this question as citizens, because we do not wish to see the Sabbath turned into a Roman holiday, here in East Lansing. Since in some respects it is a religious question, as well as a civic question, members of every church have a peculiar interest in the matter from the religious point of view. Any one who is interested can find out, by asking, the personal point of view of the individual members of the staff of the People's church, or of any other church. We have not yet been officially informed what public stand will be taken by the church as a whole.

As to local censorship of the proposed new theatre here, we are surprised to learn that such an agreement had been reached by the East Lansing business men to whom you refer. A few short weeks ago, an official of the East Lansing Development Co. assured us no such clause had been inserted in black and white in the contract. We were told that the new theatre would be under the same supervision, and provided with the same high class series of entertainments presented in

HALL WILL ADDRESS STATE COLLEGE MEN

All the men of the college are especially urged to hear Dr. Winfield Scott Hall when he addresses a large audience of men in the auditorium of the People's church at twelve o'clock on Sunday. Dr. Hall is the best known lecturer in America on sex and social purity, and his address is certain to be of vital interest.

Dr. Hall comes well recommended, having formerly been president of the American Academy of Medicine. He has also written a number of books and contributed innumerable articles to medical magazines on this and kindred subjects.

Not to be read

"This year of 1950," said the celebrated engineer in his Commencement address, "the electrical communication industry is just entering upon its vigorous prime."

"As the nineteenth century was termed the Age of Power, so may this period be well called the Age of Communication—so fully have communication ways and means been developed."

"It was a 1927 marvel to talk between New York and London, but now we may talk to any point on the globe, and to and from moving points at will. And of course we all know what has been achieved in projecting pictures from a distance."

"This great and growing field of communication, far from completed, is opening up constantly greater opportunity, not only for technically trained men but also for men in various commercial and professional activities—the men who in increasing numbers will always be needed to sell and administer the services which the engineers create."

A 50,000-bushel air-cooled storage house is being designed by the farm mechanics department in connection with the hort department. It will be used commercially for the storage of apples and also for experimental work.

H. A. Cardinal, extension specialist, is dusting and spraying the college orchards at night with the aid of high-powered lights. The reason for the unusual time is the fact that the low winds which prevail at night will not blow the mixtures off the trees.

In a mournful tone the department tells us there will be no peaches in the orchard this year due to the heavy frosts received in December. However, the apple crop with proper weather conditions will be better than ever.

HEALTH LEADER TALKS TO CO-EDS

Miss Mileta Hutzel Speaks Before Special Convocation.

The special convocation for women held Tuesday in the Little Theater was well attended. Despite the fact that many were away for the Ann Arbor game, the theatre was filled and many were standing.

Miss Mileta Hutzel of the state department of health, Lansing, held the attention of the girls for the entire hour as she told them of her work with youth throughout the state. At the close Miss Hutzel summarized her address in the following statement: Health and character are the two essentials of true womanhood and womanhood is the sum total of all of a girl's experiences from one to twenty years of age. She stressed the necessity of proper diet, physical cleanliness, sane thinking and right attitudes as of outstanding importance during this period of development.

Miss Hutzel's sane and straightforward presentation of the facts connected with her program of health in the interest of youth was much appreciated and her return to the campus at a later date will be welcomed by all who heard her.

STATE TOSSERS BREAK EVEN IN TWO HARD GAMES

Lose Verdict to Michigan at Ann Arbor 6-4; Take Measure of West Virginia, 9-3.

The Michigan State College ball tossers invaded an enemy line and engaged another foe in their own stronghold during the week, netting a defeat on their outside invasion and winning an interesting engagement on the home appearance. University of Michigan took the measure of the Spartans nine at Ann Arbor Tuesday by a 6-4 count, while the University of West Virginia was disposed of in East Lansing yesterday afternoon to the tune of a 9-3 score.

A hard opening inning in which the Wolverine team found the suffering of Lefty Tolles, respected pitcher of the State diamond aggregation, for two triples, a double and three singles, which counted for five runs and a substantial margin over the Spartans which was never overcome. The second frame witnessed the erstwhile State moundman steady, with but one run crossing the plate to the Fishermen's advantage, the last scored by the Ann Arbor team. Tolles pitched steady ball after the one bad stanza, allowing but five more hits, striking out five without issuing a single pass.

Niebling, former Michigan State College freshman pitcher a few years back, had the Spartan children well in hand. But five hits were derived from his assortment of offerings, two in the first which netted one run and three in the fifth to finish the State scoring with three more runners. Carl Bayne, was the only man who nicked his delivery for more than one hit, getting two hits in three times at the plate.

With Bob Bremer in the box, the assault started by the University of West Virginia nine Thursday in the opening frame was successfully stemmed and 14 hits used to advantage netted the Spartans a substantial victory over the invading team.

The visitors scored their three runs in the first inning on four hits and an infield error, but thereafter were helpless by effective pitching on the part of Bremer.

Bremer allowed nine hits but scattered them well after the first frame. State had 21 assists for the infield and the outfield went without a single point, another testimonial of Bremer's work.

State came back in the second inning and produced five runs to rob West Virginia of the lead for all time. Four hits scored the runs, and again in the third inning another quartet netted three more tallies.

Bremerman left the mound in this session and B. Herrick took up the mound duties for West Virginia.

Following is the score by innings and batteries for the two games:

headed by Mrs. F. W. Chamberlain presented the petition, which was signed by more than a hundred residents and called for no Sunday movies and proper censorship of films shown. The petition is being put in the form of an amendment and will come before the council again on May 2. The next step would be to hold a special election to vote on the proposed amendment.

CIVIC LEAGUE HEARS OF HINDUS

contentment with one's lot. This effect is achieved through a teaching that is essentially fatalistic, what ever is to happen was decided long ago and mere man cannot change inevitable fate. Therefore why worry, why chafe at circumstances, why not be happy? It is interesting to know that God, heaven, hell, and Satan mean practically the same things to Hindu, that they do to us.

The caste system in India originated when the higher Caucasian races came in and conquered the land. Mixed with the low type aborigines was very undesirable, and to prevent this caste system arose. This system divides the people into four groups: the priests, the rulers and lawyers, the tradesmen, and the laborers. We do practically the same thing in this country, the difference being that the divisions are not so rigid and individuals have some opportunity to change from one group to another.

In answer to some of the questions asked, Mr. Bhosale made some very interesting statements. When asked as to whether Indians generally opposed the advancement of western civilization and progress in India, he said that they did. The advance of western civilization in India has conceded very closely with the grabbing greed and corruption of western capitalist industrialism. When we westerners point with pride to the wonderful progress we have made, there is a very large question in the Indian mind as to whether he wants that kind of progress. We forget that our own ideals of progress are not necessarily the true ones. The Indian has a different ideal toward which he works. His idea of progress is that it should be more along mental, philosophical and spiritual lines. These are the biggest things with him. We of the west should be very hesitant about trying to force our standards upon the east.

When someone asked about idol worship in India, Mr. Bhosale gave an interesting account of the reasons for the origin of idols and then explained that the Indian does not worship the idol itself, but that in the idol he has something concrete upon which to focus his attention and he then is better able to worship God through the medium of the idol.

HOUSE REFUSES TO ALLOW MORE BUDGET SLASHES

The St. Joseph representative opposed such a large appropriation for improvements for the college which are not absolutely necessary at a time when it is urgent to keep the taxes down. He said other institutions were suffering while the college was given enormous sums of money and that he believed it was time to give some of the other institutions funds. He declared his substitute bill covered all urgent improvements for the college.

Several other members of the house leaped to the defense of the college, praising its worth to the state, and expressing the belief that the action of the ways and means committee should be followed. Representative Thomas finally announced the withdrawal of his substitute measure.

Where dependability is vital
IN connection with a new pumping station at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, additional feeder mains were required. It was necessary that one of these should carry an unusually large proportion of the water supply, and 54-inch pipe was decided upon. Although pipe of material other than cast iron had a lower first cost, Cast Iron Pipe was chosen because the possibility of interruption to service had to be reduced to a minimum.
The photograph above shows a section of pipe being lowered into the ditch in the process of laying it.
