SCHOLARSHIP AT M. S. C.

By Dean John Phelan

The fact that over one hundred articles dealing with American colleges have appeared during the past year in the leading magazines indicates the high interest that these institutions hold in the public mind. These articles deal with all aspects of college problems, especially scholarship. At the recent meeting of college presidents at Atlantic City, scholarship was the chief problem for discussion, especially that of freshmen. There are perhaps three procedures now followed by colleges in the admission of freshmen which is in a sense the key to scholarship.

(1) Admission on certificate from high schools.

(2) Admission of the upper two thirds of the graduating class from high schools.

(3) Admission by the giving of mental tests in addition to the requirement of being in the upper two thirds of the graduating class.

I am venturing a few suggestions for the improvement of the scholarship at Michigan State College. These are only opinions based on observation. Perhaps I could not prove them statistically.

(1) I think the work of the freshman year would be improved if we had the semester instead of the term plan. This would avoid a certain waste of time that now occurs in changing courses each term and enable the new student to get down to work.

(2) The entering freshmen should have a common course of study for at least the first half year. The purpose of the first half year of work should be to determine a student's ability or inability to do college work and his interests in college life and work. By interests I mean not only academic but physical and social interests. I think it is true that the training a man receives in physical work has been very greatly underestimated in its power to form character.

(3) The instructors who teach the freshmen during the first half year should be a very carefully selected group with a view to their special interest in that line of work.

(4) During the first half year there should be no rushing or plodding in order that the student might learn that his first obligation was to the institution as a whole, that teachers might know their men better, and that the institution might give in every way possible its aid in helping the student to get a start.

(5) All initiations into fraternities or sororities should be guided by one principle—that of giving the initiate the idea that he has joined an organization that stands for the best in college life. Therefore the initiation, though it might have an element of fun, should be worthy in every way of the ideals of an American college.

Each year a certain number of freshmen will fail to be able to do college work. Statistics have been compiled in a number of colleges on this subject. These statistics are not very illuminating. Perhaps the principle should be that a college should give the student a chance to enter those who wish to do college work in carrying out their plans, and should also the standard of scholarship especially in the upper classes to that point which will fit a man to do the work of a life that he aims to do.

Every freshman at Michigan State College is assigned to an adviser who acts not as a disciplinary officer but to help the student get oriented. The plan seems to be working reasonably well so that the individual student can get individual help. The number of failures among the freshmen is no greater than is necessary to maintain the standards of the college.

The greatest impetus that can be given to scholarship on any college campus seems to be that of the leading men and women who throw their influence in favor of

to the head of the class

YEARS ago, P.A. showed a clean pair of heels to the field of smoking-tobaccos. It has maintained its lead ever since—putting more distance behind it every year. There must be a reason why P.A. is the world's largest-selling brand.

There is! Open a tidy red tin and get a full breath of that class-by-itself fragrance. Then tamp a load into the bowl of your pipe and light up. The first pull tells you why more men smoke P.A. than any other brand. Cool and smooth and mellow and mild—not for one pipe-load, but always. Try this long-burning tobacco, Fellows. You'll say so!

Future great athletes were discovered at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house Saturday night when the pledges won an overwhelming basketball victory from the actives. Captain Kenneth Thompson's men seemed to be unequal to the fight put up by Captain Ben Riddler's men and the game ended with the score 40-25. Is it possible that the members are getting off from the sidewalks for the pledges today?

Lured by Aroma of Neighbor's Tobacco

Boston, Mass. April 21, 1927

The morning I had a smoking ad-vice to record.

Next to me in the smoking car a gentleman was puffing his pipe contentedly. I was not smoking at the time and the aroma of his tobacco was exceedingly good. For twelve years I smoked Edgeworth with- out being tempted by any other brand.

The fragrance emanating from the pipe of the gentleman beside me was so wonderful that I could not resist the temptation to speak of it.

"That is wonderfully fragrant tobacco," I remarked.

"I am glad to hear that," he answered.

"I congratulate each other on your mutual good taste, and I am sure that I would continue to use Edgeworth and mine."

Sincerely yours, S. H.

A Marvel of National Defense

From this 21-acre deck, Uncle Sam's battle planes can now leap into action—sure of a landing place on their return, though a thousand miles from shore.

This marvel of national defense was accomplished—and duplicated when the airplane carrier, U.S.S. Saratoga, and her sister ship, U.S.S. Lexington, were completely electrified.

In each, four General Electric turbine-generators deliver, combined, 180,000 horsepower to the propellers—enough to drive the ship at 33 knots (39 miles an hour)—enough to furnish light and power for a city of half a million people.

NOTRE DAME TO DRAW LARGEST CROWD OF SEASON TONIGHT

Game of Last Week Excites Interest; Hopes of Victory Running High.

Team Rests for Big Game of Season; Notre Dame Backed with Remarkable Record.

When the referee blows the whistle at 7:45 tonight the biggest game that is to be played on the Spartan floor this year will begin. Notre Dame, after having to play three overtime periods before being able to wrest victory from Michigan State last week at South Bend, will oppose the State five Monday at the athletic department is looking for one of the largest crowds in the history of the Spartan gym. Although the seating capacity of the gym is estimated at 1,600, it is expected that a great number of outside spectators will have to miss the game.

Interest in tonight's game has reached a high point. Not for several years has ever before has the court game drawn so much enthusiasm at Michigan State. It is also reported that the Irish will also have quite a number of supporters here.

Notre Dame has a remarkable record lying behind their team this year.

Princeton, Northwestern, Iowa, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Franklin, Drake, and Michigan State have fallen before their attack. Only one game has been lost by the Irish five this year.

on the other hand Michigan State has not been decisively defeated except in the Michigan game which was played in December before either team was up to their present strength.

Captain VanAlstyne has not indicated what combination he will start against the Notre Dame team. If he chooses he could use the same team that played the Irish to a standstill last week. If so, Grove and DenHelder would be at forwards, Felt at center with Schmitt and McGillivray at guards. It is all together probable that Verne Dickson, who scored 16 points in the Hope College game Monday evening, will be used in place of Grove. DenHelder has been making fine records in scoring although he did not do so well in the Hope game as he has been doing in the past few games. No doubt the hard Notre Dame game two nights before had something to do with this. McGillivray and Schmitt are almost sure to start because of their exceptional work in the game at South Bend last week in holding the Notre Dame starts to a maximum of three baskets a piece. If however, either of the guards should slack up a little, Coach VanAlstyne has Red Colvin, veteran guard, to send into the fray.

The State coach gave his first play a complete rest on Tuesday but has worked hard with them the rest of the week in preparing for tonight's game.

It has been six years since State has defeated Notre Dame in basketball but hopes of a Spartan victory for tonight are running high because of the showing the Green and White engendered last week.

Military and Athletic in Tie in Number of Games Won.

The results of the Faculty Bowling League's tournament during the past week show little change in the standings of the various teams. This is the third week of the tournament which lasts until March 15.

The teams in A League are in practically the same order as they were the week before. Military and Athletics still have highest per cent of games won, having played nine and won seven. The standings of group B differ only slightly from those of last week. The Engineering and Husbandry departments of the visitors.

ments have rolled only six games to date, while the others have played nine.

The strong guarding game displayed by Plaintiff, State goal, was one of the highlights of the game. In fact all of the State pick chasers deserve credit in their victory over the University of Michigan. The Spartans will play a return game at Michigan on Tuesday.
