

WATER CARNIVAL

A contest is being conducted by the executive committee in charge of the Water Carnival to obtain a suitable theme for this year's production. A prize of $10 will be presented to the one suggesting the best subject. Two years ago the senior class chose a newspaper as a theme and the various floats represented the different parts of a metropolitan publication. Last spring the carnival was in spirit with the theme of Spartans, worship of a Spartan god being the theme. The idea about which this year's carnival will be built is to be chosen within the next two weeks. Suggestions have been coming in. Not only for the float but for the honor of originating the theme, a large number of the student body should give the matter their thought and hand in the results. The Water Carnival is perhaps one of Michigan State's most colorful traditions and as such should receive considerable attention in the selection of theme.

ACTION

There should be some definite action toward preparation for the Festival of Greek, a tradition initiated last spring. It is to be regretted if this year's festival is dropped. It has more than sufficient for raising a real college spirit than any of our other traditions. At present, with the exception of the singing of the college songs by the student body assembled. And then when fall comes with football and its games, we are at a loss when a college song is called for. The matter is merely into the time and it is a poor job of that. Let us by all means have the Festival of Greek and let us sing our songs.

FRESHMAN BIBLE

Presentations are to start again of a Freshman Bible for next fall. It is to be hoped that the matter is handled in a different manner than it was last year when the most that could be said for it was that it was an ideal failure both financially and in timeliness.

SPEED

With the recent ascension of the legislature, we notice that the traffic laws are about their duties again in conscientious manner. That is to say, enough for decreasing the fast driving about the campus, but a most important one is that life and limb are daily placed in danger when walk across a campus road. Show us

SUNDAY TENNIS

For some reason, the tennis courts are closed to play on Sundays. Ball is laid in vacant lots, horseback riding is enjoyed, the golf links are changed with players, the neighborly ball park is open, yet the use of the play courts is prohibited. A mechanical observance of the Sabbath cannot be the reason, since so many other activities are allowed to run unmolested. Why the courts should be closed is a mystery. Why not allow tennis players be restrained from use of courts because of their special need for reflection on this day? It is not known that there is a real lack of observance of the traditional Sunday, but why locking the gates to the tennis courts stop this evil? Why not allow

CONTEST FOR CARNIVAL THEME CONTINUES

A contest is being held by the executive committee of the Water Carnival in an effort to obtain suggestions for a theme. The contest will close Friday night of this week. Thus far the suggestions have been slow in coming in despite the liberal offer of a $10 prize for the winning theme.

Suggestions should be handed in at the Union desk as soon as possible. The executive committee will act as judges, and any student may submit as many themes as he desires to this committee.

Every year the floats conform to some general theme. The winning theme must be a workable one, adaptable to representation by the floats. Results of the contest will be announced soon after the closing date.

FROSH THINCLADS WIN EASILY FROM BIG REDS

The freshman track squad won a very decisive victory over Lansing High school in a dual meet Saturday by scoring 93 points to 29 for the high school.

Lansing displayed a pretty well balanced team by placing in every event except the broad jump. They won two events. Ferguson, a colored boy, won the 220 yard dash, and Hornley, a husky young man, did exceptionally well in the javelin throw by winning the event with a heave of 157 feet 2 1/2 inches.

OUR HONORARIES

During the past few weeks numerous honorary societies have added or will soon add new members to their rolls. The initiates will feel duly honored to have been so chosen from their fellowmen and the older members will applaud themselves for being in a position to allot deserved awards.

But what is an honor? Fundamentally it is that which is possessed by a few an exclusiveness, recognition of unusual achievement by a comparatively small number. Upon these elements alone honor is based. As soon as the limits are taken away and membership is extended to the great mass, honor ceases. It loses in inverse proportion to the number participating.

On the Michigan State College campus, there are numberless such groups lavishly bestowing so-called awards for everything from distinctive stature to tripping over a log hay. There are scholastic honoraries, departmental honoraries, activity honoraries, miscellaneous honoraries, of innumerable kinds. The campus is thronged with them. There are few things a student can do without making an honorary of some sort. It has approached such a state of inclusiveness that it is almost an honor not to be in an honorary.

Accompanying the formation of these organizations there is some other responsibility in addition to selection of new members. There must be some sort of financial arrangements and some money spent. Herein lies a danger as great as that of excess number. Some such groups have incurred debts and then literally thumbed their noses at the creditors. No better way exists of destroying the credit of the student body in general.

Nevertheless there does exist a number of worthwhile honor groups. The existence of the scholastic bodies is without reproach for the most part. They serve a good purpose. And so do certain ones giving distinction for extra-curricular work. Among these may be included such societies as Exalt, Iota, Sphinx, Phi Kappa Delta, Phi Delta Ipsilon, Scabbard and Blade Varsity Club and a few others. They are something to strive for and to spur one towards further effort.

The Student Council has taken a sensible action in their recent move to ward investigation. This seems to be the best remedy. Select the good ones, eliminate the useless. Of course the loss of some will be painfully realized. It is unavoidable.

In order to maintain honor where honor is due and to keep the financial credit of the student body on a high level, some must be eliminated. We hope that the Student Council carries to completion the work which they have inaugurated.

SHOULD MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE ABOLISH MINOR SPORTS?

It is proposed that the abolition of minor sports of Michigan State College should take place in the near future.

In order to those who support minor sports to be fair to the student body, we feel that they should have a voice in the continuation or discontinuance as the case may be. We find upon careful investigation that each student at M. S. C. spends approximately $2.00 per week of which $1.20 is given to the athletic department. It is only fair to ask, should not the student body have a voice as to how this is to be apportioned?

We further discover from a check up on the candidates that records that minor sports are equally as popular as major sports. In comparison these records show a turnout of 85 candidates for wrestling and including freshmen the track candidates number from 50 to 80. The candidates out for swimming were in excess, fencing, tennis and hockey rank proportionally the same. I think the minor sports rank favorably with the major sports as far as popularity is concerned. The competition met in minor sports is as representative as that met with in the major sports. We are convinced of this by a comparison of the major and minor sport schedules.

The question arises will not the student who has unusual talent and ability in minor sports be a victim of an injustice if minor sports be abolished? In a majority of cases those particularly candidates have not the ability

Graduate of 1912 Criticizes Advantages of Curriculum

In my particular work physics has played an important part so what the physics I secured at M. A. has been very useful. Unfortunately we had a very poor course in physics while I was here. That course should be specially adapted to the use of agricultural students going into the fundamentals of those branches of the subject which apply to the different agricultural courses. Of course refrigeration and electricity are the two phases which happen to be the most important in my mind.

My training in botany at M. A. has always been a very regrettable failure. I attribute this to the attempt of the instructor to use method of the gradua student with under-graduates. I regret the time which I unwittingly squandered in many of the laboratory periods of my early botany courses. I had no idea as to what I was to look for nor what there was to see. I once asked the instructor if there was not some textbook wherein I could read up on what I was supposed to find. I received the curt reply that there was no textbook on what I was supposed to see in the plant itself. I look back upon those courses as the "dumbest" courses of my college career. They should have been the most interesting and among the most valuable. Later courses were more appreciated, though plant physiology might have been better adapted to my specialization in horticulture.

Intercollegiate was among the most satisfactory courses given. My own work was well balanced with laboratory work and there was no monotony. We were inspired with a real interest in our subject right from the beginning and to make one of the minor sports teams. The candidates for minor sports receive the same physical and mental training as do those out for major sports. We feel justified in stating that those participating in minor sports will be doing a great injustice if minor sports are abolished.

The rapid growth of the number participating and the popularity of minor sports with the student body is sufficient reason for their continuing in our athletic program. We think the best example for their popularity and growth is given added significance by the fact that University of Michigan has found it necessary to build a minor sports building costing nearly a million dollars.

We ask will not the student body of M. S. C. suffer from the abolition of minor sports with the student body and it is probable and probable to have experienced and competent coaches to have charge of minor sports.

to practical fruit growing because some of his problems involve principles which the research worker will require. It would cause many students to decide early whether or not they wanted to specialize in research work and how to best prepare themselves for that work. It should give the student a better basis for individual thought on horticultural problems.

This brings me to one of the most serious criticisms of my college course and I think it is possible a criticism of the American college quite generally, of my time and immediately following if not at the present time. We were not trained to do individual thinking as we stood on our own feet. We went to college expecting our knowledge to be served to us like a table d'hôte dinner and it was done just that way insofar as the faculty were able to do it. When we finished we had our ideas all wrapped up and tucked away just about as the faculty thought they should be wrapped up and tucked away. There was very little controversy between students or between students and faculty. Our professors were supposed to have absolute knowledge. Our confidence was approaching the perfect.

We would have been far better off if our attention had been directed to the principles involved, with allowance for discussion on the subject. We were handicapped by having our opinions rounded out for us. We were not trained in forming our own opinions. The curriculum for the first two years should be so designed that members of the faculty so selected that the student is inspired in the classroom to seek knowledge at its source. This is given time to do this under the structural guidance that his time will not be wasted. In other words, the methods followed while I was in college needed changing to the end that the student might learn better how to work and think of his own. These are two very important things in life, regardless of the many disciplines in which the horticultural student may go.

Finds Right Tobacco for the Tropics

October 6, 1926

Larus & Bro. Co.
Richmond, Va., U. S. A.

Gentlemen: Most all well-known tobacco smoke well in a cold or temperate climate but very few in a tropical climate. They are mostly too heavy, don't seem to be blended right—at least that is my opinion gained from practical experience.

However, Edgeworth is the same in any climate. Again that is my opinion gained from practical experience.

I cannot get the same pleasure out of any brand of tobacco that I can get out of Edgeworth, and I have tried many—and paid fancy prices, too. It costs real money to smoke imported tobacco here; the import duty is very high.

Anyway, we cannot have everything we would like in these countries, so we hold on to all the little pleasures possible. Now you know why I smoke Edgeworth.

Yours respectfully,

Open Houses and Sigma Kappa Party Head Social Events

Spring term parties and open houses claimed the attention of the well-organized students of the campus this past week-end. Still other students, attracted by the lovely spring weather, took hikes and canoe trips up the shore to Pinetum and other beautiful spots along the shore.

The Lambda Chi Alphas entertained at an open house on Friday night with a jazz orchestra furnishing the music for the dancing. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Erickson and Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hickey acted as patrons, while party guests included Bobbesheimer and Albert Sorenson among the alumni who were present for the party.

Sigma Kappa held their spring term party at the Union on Saturday night. Many guests and alumni were present and the evening featured a seven-piece jazz orchestra. The Sigma Kappa Tau and Epsilon chapters were also present. Guests at the Hermit open house on Friday night, while Gordon Williams of Detroit was also present, and Hesperian societies round up the list of parties. Although many parties were held this week-end, an unusually large number have been planned for the week-end.

START REPLANTING OF BEAL BOTANICAL GARDEN

Plan to Follow Original Form of Garden Made by Dr. Beal.

Dr. H. C. Chapman, head gardener of the Beal botanical garden, has been busy this spring, it being necessary to follow out the original plan of the garden as laid out by Dr. Beal.

The main plan is to plant the shrubs and trees which will take their place. The work is especially attractive to those interested in the new type of gardening. At the present time the bloodroot holds soil on the garden over the ledge, and it is possible that it may see the plant in full bloom. Chapman is now developing this new phase of work for the benefit of those interested in the European adaptation of the garden.

The latest blooming plant to be seen in the garden this year is the white lily, a deep blue flower in which is the only flowering shrub that is the genus Mas, or Corollan.

FOLLOWING ADDITIONS MADE TO SPRING TERM PARTY LIST

The following additions have been made to the list of approved parties for the remainder of the spring term according to a recent announcement. Approved parties for the spring term are: Sigma Kappa, April 28; Junior Psi, May 4; Delta Sigma Phi, June 2; Lambda Chi Alpha, May 19. Approved open houses for the spring term are: Lambda Chi Alpha, June 1; Psi, May 5; Foresters' Shrine, May 10; Epsilon, June 8; Delta Sigma Phi, June 20; Epsilon, May 19.

"GOOD TIME CHARLEY" COMES TO THE STATE THURSDAY

The play after your own mind, "Good Time Charley" is the story of a funny, wistful, thrill-seeking life of a song-writer named Boston. There is a pal, too, who will not forget. And men will form a theatrical mania for the glittering world of the stage where Rosita shines as a star.

The Actor's Home where old Charley and his pal seek refuge. And many other scenes of beauty and drama. The cast includes Warner, Helen Costello, Clyde Cook, Marjorie Love, Julianne Johnston and Hing Alan. Michael Curtiz directed the play. "Good Time Charley" is a play for the whole world and for all the little worlds. It is wholesome and human, and cannot but leave all who see it with a renewed belief in their fellow man. Helen Costello, who heretofore has been known as "the sister of Europe," has an opportunity to show her dramatic talent, and her brilliant dancing, and she has the opportunity to show her own credit. Don't miss "Good Time Charley."

SPARTAN SQUAD PERFORMS WELL AT PENN RELAYS

Relay Quartet Wins Its Heat: Fast Time Made Despite Bad Weather.

The Spartan track squad made an excellent showing at the Penn Relays, despite a chilly rain and a muddy track both Friday and Saturday. The sprint aggregation turned in some very good time in its respective-relay events, as did the four mile relay team, also. McAttee was unable to place in the pole vault although he attained the height of 12 feet, and just missed at 12 feet 6 inches.

STATE LEADS BUT GAME IS CALLED

Baseball Game with Oberlin Called No Contest—State Leads 5-4 in Fourth.

(Special to State News.) Oberlin, Ohio, April 30.—The Michigan State baseball squad left here tonight for Columbus, Ohio, where they will meet the Ohio State nine on Tuesday afternoon. The game played here this afternoon between Oberlin College and Michigan State was called a no contest when it was called off because of rain in the fifth inning. Michigan State was leading 5-4 when the umpire halted the game because of the high wind and rain which had been bothering throughout the contest made it impossible to continue.

Jerry Byrne, big right hander who won State's first two games of the year, pitched all the way for the north erners and despite the adverse conditions held the hard hitting Oberlin nine to but six hits in the four innings. Two of these were bunched in the third inning. Pevic went behind the plate. Coach Kobs' men got off on the right foot in the first frame when they worked Kiraofe, Oberlin hurler, and got two men on base. Then Capt. Tolles, playing center field for the Spartans, connected with a sharp single which scored both men. The Oberlin hurler then was deluged further scoring until the fourth by some hard pitching. In the fourth inning with two on, McAttee, State short stop, and lead off man on the batting line, drove out a hit that added two more runs to the Spartan side of the ledger. This tied up the score and a moment later another run was scored on a long fly. In the fifth the Green and White team were in position to score again when the game was called.

The Oberlin College aggregation were held at bay in all but the third inning. In this frame they bunched five hits off Byrne and scored four runs.

On Tuesday the last going State nine will play Ohio State in the Buckeye stronghold at Columbus, Ohio. The team seemed to be in high spirits when it left here.

Coach Kobs expects to use Captain Tolles, veteran pitcher, on the mound in the Tuesday game. Behind the bat Curuso will probably do the work. On the initial sack will be Holsington. Egert will play at second base. Crall at third, while McAttee will carry out around the short stop position. In the outfield Rinehart, Sachs and Davis will do the by shagging.

The score: Michigan State 5, Oberlin 4. The game was called off in the fifth inning because of rain.

FRESHMEN NINE WINS TWO GAMES IN PAST WEEK

Take Northwestern of Detroit and Flint Junior College into camp, 9-5 and 18-3.

Winning two games over the week end, the Michigan State Freshmen baseball nine started out the season right by defeating the Northwestern high team of Detroit on Friday, 9-5, and the Flint Junior college aggregation, 18-3, on Saturday. The Detroit Fresh game was played at home but the Flint game was played away.

Kahl pitched the Spartans to victory over the Detroit ball tossers in what proved to be a pitchers' duel until the fourth when both teams were able to score. Kahl was supported by McAttee, one a midget right hander who was the Spartan's plucky of resource during the early part of the game. The heavy lefting scorings got next better in the fourth and again in the sixth, so the little hurler gave way to Kral, a left hander who finished the game for the Colts. Kahl was the winning pitcher, allowing but six hits.

The Saturday game turned out to be a hotting practice for the Spartans. They soon had the jump on the Junior college boys and ran up a big score from the very start. At the end of the fourth inning, Michigan was in an extremely low state. Four home runs were obtained by the Spartans. Kral secured two hits and one homer.

Langston and Mesarey doubled in pitching duties during the seven innings played.
