

DEFEAT

Friday many of us experienced same feeling that must have over the crowds at Midville. The mighty Casey struck out being heavy over the pitch in front of the post office which very morning had prophesied a victory and a top-sided score. Sent a long distance phone call through from Chicago from one of our varsity men who could not see that the Chicago papers in crediting us with a defeat was wrong is hard to say. The Methodists upon hearing of the Kazoo game, the length of their morning fifteen minutes to a period the entire morning. If we had better change our name any rate it will be a student body that takes its stands this Saturday.

SUPPORT

Recent reports, the late Lansing and East Lansing well under way in their flags in the business districts of both cities and along Michigan. We welcome this support forward to the day when on a field of green represented by that the day is "a day of occasion."

WHY NOT?

PLAN TO FINISH IMPROVEMENTS ON CAMPUS SOON

Nearly Mile of Pipe Line Laid; Foundation of Tower Completed.

BUILD LIBRARY STACKS

After spending several thousands of dollars during the summer months in the way of campus improvements, extensive work is still being carried on. One of the most important of these is the laying of the main water line which will be completed before winter.

Several new water lines have been installed on the campus, totaling some 4700 feet in length. A four inch water line has been constructed from the demonstration hall to the new police barracks and new poultry plant that is 2200 feet in length. An eight inch water line has been built around the Union and home economics buildings, completing the system on the north end of the campus.

The pump in the rear of the entomology building has been converted into an air lift with a line extending from it to a storage tank in the rear of the Kedzie chemical laboratory that is 1500 feet long, adding nearly a mile of pipe line laid this fall.

A new locomotive crane has been purchased from the Ohio Locomotive Crane Co. of Bucyrus, Ohio, replacing the one that has been in operation here ten years. It is expected that this crane will be delivered this week.

Among other improvements is the construction of a center walk along the south side of the road from the gymnasium, bordering the Beal botanical gardens and running past the physics buildings. The north wall in the home economics building that had been seriously damaged by frost, has been repaired by workmen this week.

Two additional stacks have been built in the library but will not be fully completed before the middle of November. This work has been carried on by Sneed & Co., New Jersey contractors. Although there has been a great deal of carpenter work to be done, the task has been carried on with out any conflict with the hours of the library.

The foundation has been completed for the Beaumont Memorial tower and the stone work is to be started immediately. The contract calling for completion by January 1.

PARENTS WILL BE GUESTS AT GAME

Shaw Invites Parents of Students to Attend Game Saturday.

President R. S. Shaw and the faculty have extended an invitation to parents of Michigan State students to be guests of the college at the annual "Parents' Day" football game, Saturday, Oct. 12, Chicago Y. M. C. A. college graduates will oppose the Spartans on that date. Parents will be granted complimentary tickets for the game.

The administration desires that students notify their parents as soon as possible. Mr. Francis Dean Ryder's assistant, in charge of arrangements. Parents should register at the desk in the Union building before the game Saturday afternoon. Upon registering, mothers and heads will receive their complimentary tickets. Tickets will admit them to the game. It will be impossible to give tickets out at the gates of the stadium.

Former Co-ed Considered to Have Musical Future

It might have been bargained day in the Washington, D. C. department store. Women in rich furs, jostled other women, heavy and warm carrying bundles. Sometimes a child cried out in protest, tired of being caught in the swirling group of grown-ups with careless swinging bags and sharp heels.

But it was no table of mark down or special purchases which held these women in the big crowded store just two 44 club girls, in stuffy starched and tight belted aprons and white caps, demonstrating the latest method of cold pack canning, which they had learned in their club work. It was the work of these two girls, barely thirteen, that interested these eager, straining women.

So begins the story of the remarkable career of Myrtle Lewton, 25, in the October issue of "Farmer's Wife" entitled "When a Tomboy Grows Up."

RECORD REGISTRATION MARK BROKEN AGAIN

The record registration mark of 2800 students reached last year, has been broken, it was announced by Miss Edith Yakeley registrar this week. The latest returns show 2903 students enrolled here with more expected before the week ends.

With added restrictions upon entrance this year, Miss Yakeley expresses great satisfaction at the results attained so far. The music department has made the greatest advance in larger enrollment of any of the departments.

HOLD JOINT UNION BOARD MEETING

Discuss General Business and Union Activities for Coming Year.

A joint meeting of the Union board with the Union committee was held in the Union Monday afternoon at five o'clock for the purpose of outlining the duties of the committee for the coming year.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Marion Woodworth, and was opened by a brief report from Irving Higgs, manager of the Union, concerning certain conditions at the Union.

The business of the meeting was taken up in a general discussion of the duties of the separate committees. Various plans were discussed as to the means of making the Union more attractive to the student body and setting their support in Union activities.

The list of Union party dates were announced and plans were discussed for some form of entertainment at the Union for freshmen men. The Union parties for the remainder of the term are listed on the Friday evening program.

Discussions were also brought up concerning the possibilities of putting up coupon books in the hands of the student body in order to increase the loyalty of the Union and bring more students into the building. Methods of carrying out this plan are under consideration at the present time.

SECOND UNION PARTY TO BE HELD FRIDAY

The second Union party of the year will hold the attention of students Friday night according to the plans of the activity committee.

As was the case last week, the new price policy in regards to those parties will be in effect. This year the admission charge for members has been reduced to 75 cents while outsiders will still pay the fee of one dollar.

The orchestra selected to play at the party will be from out of town and according to the committee, is of exceptional quality.

Dates have been set for Union parties for the remainder of the term, taking place as follows: October 12, November 2, November 16, November 23 and December 7. Those dates all fall on Friday nights.

The committee which is in charge of the affairs consists of: Philip Olin, chairman; Helen Murdoch, Morris Baxter, Bernard Crittenden, Margaret Telford, and Val Anderson.

FRESH, SOPHS GET READY FOR RUSH

Underclassmen Choose Leaders in Preparation for Traditional Struggle.

By Wednesday the underclassmen will have their freshmen pledges pinned for the home rushing events of the class rush, which will take place Saturday morning. Tuesday night the student council will appoint the judges of events which are usually given to letter men.

The sophomores have chosen Bonnie Waterman and Larry Jackson as leaders of the obstacle race and the tug-of-war. Wednesday night at a class meeting the freshmen will choose their leaders and participants of the various events.

The rush starts at 8:30 a. m. The first event is the team relay race and the obstacle race, football, track, flag of war and the flag rush follow in order. The obstacle race offers 25 points to the winner. The football rush awards 10 points for each of the two halves across the line and 25 points to each half in the 10 yard zone. The obstacle race awards 15 points and the team relay awards 10 points to the winner.

The football race is one of the most exciting events of the day and one which will be the deciding factor in the total number of points rolled in by each class. It is highly expected that the strategy will be employed on the part of the sophomores to outwit the superior numbers of freshmen.

Those boys who participated last year have been participating again from other methods and various much interest in the excitement of Saturday. Freshmen are expected to see some of the best of it in a very competitive.

TO DETERMINE POLITICAL TREND VIA BALLOT BOX

State News to Join College Humor in Student Presidential Poll.

With November 6 the date of the national presidential election, only a month away, the State News is conducting a campaign with a view to determining the opinion of the student body on the question. The canvass of straw votes is in conjunction with a national movement sponsored by College Humor, which is making a great effort to obtain the viewpoint of the college student on the impending election.

Although there are five candidates in the field, Thomas, a Socialist, Poser of the Worker's party, and Heron in the Prohibitionist, besides Herbert Hoover and Alfred E. Smith, only the last two named will be considered in the local canvass.

A ballot box has been placed at the Union desk by the State News and everyone is urged to cast their vote early in order to have the votes from the campus sent into the national headquarters in time to be tabulated with the returns from other campuses.

Fraternities and sororities are urged to send their votes to the Union as a unit and to encourage all members to cast their vote.

MERCHANTS PLAN BLOCK 'S' FLAGS

Business Houses to Furl Green and White Flags if Plans Materialize.

On days of football games and other public events at East Lansing if present plans mature, Green and White flags will be furl in front of East Lansing and Lansing business places. Directors of the Merchants association approved the plan which already has been presented to committees representing the merchants of the two cities.

Ann Arbor is literally alive with White and Blue banners on days of football games at Ann Arbor nearly every place of business displaying the banners on the walks in front of their shops. It has been heartily endorsed by many of the merchants here and it is expected the plan will be put into active operation soon.

According to Theron M. Sawyer, secretary-manager of the Merchants association, it is hoped to have about 1000 green and white flags displayed in the downtown district of Lansing and East Michigan avenue throughout the downtown section of East Lansing, on days of the campus on days when Michigan State is the scene of an outstanding event, athletic or otherwise.

The design for the flag which appears to be the most popular is a large white block letter 'S' on a field of green with a smaller white border about the white flag. If H. Halladay, secretary of the college, has been asked to design a variation from flag makers on the rear of such a display.

Mr. Sawyer and Harry G. Klink, Spartan grid member, conferred Monday with Guy Fred W. Green and were advised of his cooperation in the movement. Mr. Sawyer said, definite price of the flags has not yet been definitely determined but it is expected the flag and standard will cost about $1000. The merchants will be solicited to collect students who will take orders for the flags.

NEW CO-ED PHYSICAL ED TEACHER BEGINS DUTIES

Miss Jane Dardant has replaced Miss Ruth Fikes as the new member of the women's physical education department here. Miss Fikes resigned at the close of the last college year to take a position at South Dakota state college.

Miss Dardant will be in charge of all dancing classes, interpretive dancing being the principal dance taught, although ring dancing will be given if there is a sufficient demand. Miss Dardant graduated from the physical education department at Iowa university and has studied dancing at the University of Wisconsin. Her home is in Moline, Ill.

A MILITARY BAND?

Saturday afternoon as State's famed military band stepped its custom as it came down the grass covered driveway and the crowd in the stands eagerly anticipated the combined thrill of the college music and crisp marching. Many times if it were some private who raise their voice against the big air of the band.

The ragged line of the musicians, the indifferent or badly trained marching spoke all of the crack organization which brought rounds of applause and newspaper praise in the past two years ago. During the last two years the students of the Michigan State band has undoubtedly been in the direction of concert work. As such the group's beyond approach and ranks high among the nation's college bands. We recognize the fact that the band should play well, that the musicians should receive technical music instruction.

Nevertheless, one must consider that at a football game especially, the attention of the throng is not so much directed at the fine musical ability displayed as at the effect created by the sight of seventy-five men advancing with military precision and step led by a platoon and skillful drum major. There are few of the people who form the audience at football games that can appreciate an occasionally poor but appreciate the complexity and necessary severity in the accomplishment of difficult music.

It is admitted that the time has been short in which to train the band full according to our information little stress is being placed on this very important feature. As yet the musicians have not begun work on the formation of the traditional M. S. C. which it has been the custom to form during the fall. Further, a regular army of new with a great deal of experience has formerly been in charge of the drilling and instructed that camp typical of a well-trained group of soldiers.

The question seems to be whether or not we shall maintain a military band of a concert group. If we are to lose the military factor it would seem best that the regulation military uniforms be abandoned and the procedure stopped. On the other hand if the military attachment is to continue let it be military and the men have the proper drilling.

Another word of criticism which seems fitting is the type of music played at the football games. We do not understand why the band does not play the light waltz or other compositions which are included in the campus music library. Perhaps they are simple and of little real musical value, but nevertheless they do materially aid in keeping up that Spartan spirit in supplying their share of the program thrills.

We emphatically do not want to see the college band lose its military tone. This factor has for years contributed to making the State band renowned. Two years ago there appeared in an eastern paper following the Cornell game this comment: "A better drilling, better playing, better appearing band than the Michigan State organization has not been seen in Illinois for some time." The mid-westerners directed to the mid band the tremendous applause that greeted their versatile efforts. The Michigan State band has always been noted for this militarism, for the exactness and accuracy in their marching in the formation of the "M. S. C."

As a concert band, we say again, the

Michigan State musicians are admirable, but let there be a return to that former military carriage.

DIFFICULTIES

During the last week further developments in the situation between the sophomore and freshman classes have caused complications which seem to make tradition enforcement extremely difficult. The sophomores have a definite task before them, the responsibility of the continuance of customs which have been observed on this campus for many years. Freshmen should by this time be fully acquainted with the campus conventionalities and take some part in upholding them.

After the first week of school, it was necessary to request the sophomores to somewhat decrease their difference. Disciplining any of the traditions was to be contemplated. The freshmen must again be reminded to obey their rules which have been explained to them.

Now we have taken some into the scheme of traditional customs. This is the attitude that apprehension is shown. It is an unusual case these men, who have gone before here at an early age, receive the first of men from the clutches of the sophomores when the circumstances seemed to warrant it. It is an unusual case, however, that the sophomores should remember that when they interfere with the efforts of the sophomores, they are lending direct encouragement to the freshmen to violate traditions. Many times if it were some private who raise their voice against the big air of the band.

It is difficult at times to decide just what a sophomore is to do in these days. Freshmen who appear on the street after seven o'clock accompanied by an apprehension, we are inclined to believe should be left in the custody of the older student. There is no doubt some reason for the apprehension.

In place of these rules, which are based on the fundamental respect for the tradition. Traditions are really founded on principle, which significantly mean to be the benefit of the community. For example, the green cap and a blue coat are of little value in a certain room, as a rule when he does not know his own way. This helps materially in promoting the spirit and in recognition of his own. The seven o'clock deal is a rule which the freshmen are supposed to be if they receive any guests in keeping line from their disorganization to seven o'clock. And so it is in the case of the others.

With these things in mind, it would seem that the appearance of a fresh man on the street at a late hour is a crime of an on-going procedure. Freshmen who appear on the street at a late hour is a crime of an on-going procedure. Freshmen who appear on the street at a late hour is a crime of an on-going procedure.

FORMER STATE STUDENT DROWNED AT DETROIT

John F. Olson, 27, was accidentally drowned in the Detroit river Monday, Sept. 17.

Campus Forum

A SOPHOMORE'S POINT OF VIEW
Several articles have appeared in the State News relative to the present high school situation. So far all that has been decided is that sophomores are not allowed to have freshmen members. That is, unless the freshmen break some tradition. Much has been said about the sophomores treating the freshmen right by nothing has been written from the sophomore's point of view.

In the first place, as far as a number of traditions, which I have in mind, the freshmen are more or less acquainted with them and for the most part are governing with the rule. However, there are a few who consider themselves above such rules and do not intend to obey them. These men are the ones upon whom the sophomores are concentrating their force.

We also have present on the campus a minor class and certain individuals who seem to think the freshmen as they are acquainted with these "crack" fresh they have a perfect right to prevent the sophomores working their particular traditions.

Let me emphasize individualism. Several nights ago a freshman of the school dressed in a debonairly matched dress, brand new after fresh and few. A group of second year men took him to the street and beat him thoroughly because of his dress being out of the season. He was the only

Building of New Tower Recalls Memories of Old College Hall

"What's that going up near the library?"
"Oh, that's a tower to mark the site of old College Hall. Old College Hall is used to stand there."
"Yeah, that's it. Old College Hall."
And away we go. We know all about what the construction work is going on for. We may even point it out with some pride when family or friends visit the campus. We cheer at less well informed students, and tell them in a superior manner, if we have progressed to the point where we know this that this same old College Hall was the first building in the United States connected with an agricultural college and built for the purpose of teaching the budding farmer how to do it the way it should be done.

But what was this famous College Hall, anyhow? Classroom, dormitory, library, or what have you? Most of us don't know.
It was, it appears from records in the present M. S. C. library, a little over everything in its day. Spouting from the History of Michigan Agricultural College.
This venerable structure has served a variety of purposes. It has been for classes, debates, organization of societies, church services, Y. M. C. activities, political clubs, meetings, the spaces, entertainments, banquets, occasional dances, meetings of students, not to mention class meetings of associations of farmers of the city council of East Lansing, etc., etc.
Quite a building that it has served the early students of the in all the capacities, practically are now filled by the many buildings of the present campus, but also carry on the place and club room, etc.
It was, in fact and effect, the first one-time practically all class held there and the building was supplemented, in its office of calls named by the student body. In the basement it was stored and the laboratory of one was also housed there. It contained there and some of the student might inform you that it was, near the building, the memories of old College Hall, the place, the College, for known in its early days.

CROPS OFFICE MOVES TO UPPER FLOORS OF AG

Several changes have been made in the location of the office of the crops office, according to the report passed to the office of the crops office.
Heretofore the farm crops office in the basement of the while the rest of the department has been together on the second floors. Lately the office has been moved up and is now with the rest of the department.
The Boys and Girls club has moved to a larger room on the floor, having been crowded in the basement of the room formerly occupied by the Boys and Girls.

Men of vision, yes. But don't overlook the fact that those old Roman road builders and empire builders kept their feet firmly fixed on the ground. They faced the facts squarely. They were demurs for detail. They were the world's first great organizers.

Pioneering in the telephone industry is like that. It is a work of vision and of leadership into new fields. But back of it all must be the ability to organize men, money, material and machines.

The telephone executive must coordinate his machine before he can run it. He must understand the possibilities in his organization before he can lead it. That done, his opportunity is empire-wide, vision-broad and ambition-deep.

FORMER STATE GRADS MARRIED AT COLDWATER

Two former Michigan State students, Miss Margaret Lois Luedders of Coldwater and Rudolph Emil (Rudy) Boehringer of Bay City, were married Saturday in Coldwater at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Boehringer graduated in 1926 and was a member of Alpha Phi. Boehringer played halfback and quarter on Spartan gridiron teams for three years and was a member of the Hesperian society.

The couple will be at home at 1627 Hoban st., Bay City, after a short wedding trip.

Plans for the men's glee club are beginning to take definite form. The first rehearsal was held in the new music building Thursday evening from seven to eight o'clock.

What a splendid thing it would be if people who lost their tempers were unable to find them again.

ALBION BRINGS VET

Tomorrow afternoon at eastern standard time, the State football team will play its second game on the 1928 when the Albion college of invade the Spartan stadium. Kipke coaching staff can show the form it led in the season's opening and win by a substantial margin.

In view of the fact that Albion won their first game at Valparaiso university last 12-0, the game Saturday will walk away as was expected. Albion had seven let-back at the beginning of the season and according to all reports new men have shown enough have themselves listed as Captain Palermo, a capable leader the visitors onto the field. The game played a fine game last year. Penzotti and Capt. Let veterans who can be depended to turn in good games at the

FUMBLES COSTLY TO STATE: ALBION WINS 2-0 GRID UPSET

Spartans Outrun and Outpant Rivals but Lack Scoring Punch.

LAST MINUTE RUSH FAILS

Going upon the gridiron, Saturday, doped to lose by a substantial margin, the Albion college football eleven sprang a big surprise by downing Harry Kipke's Michigan State team 2-0, by means of a safety scored early in the second quarter when Grove fumbled the ball while attempting to punt out from behind his own goal line. Although State greatly out-gained its opponent's seven costly fumbles took away all chances for a Spartan victory.

Albion made several gestures toward the State goal but failed to have the punch to put over a tough down. When State took the ball on its own 10 yard line early in the second quarter, the Albion ends broke through and tackled Grove as he recovered a fumble while attempting to punt. This break, giving Albion an edge, was sufficient to win the game for the visitors.

State many times threatened the Methodist goal but lacked touch-down punch. Late in the second quarter, a fast running game coupled with blocks of long incomplete passes failed to gain any points for the Spartans. Again, in the last five minutes, the Kipke-coached men came to life and carried the ball from their own 45 yard line by a series of end runs and off-tackle smashes. Nordberg, being the ball for the most part, only to be stopped when a forward pass was intercepted by an Albion back. The drive netted four first downs in the last four minutes of the game.

According to statistics, State should have beaten Albion easily. The Spartans ran 219 yards to Albion's 50 yards, while the Kipke-men gained 61 yards by the overhead route to no gains by the Methodists' aerial attack. The 271 yards which the Green and White team gained were in the form of 10 first downs while Albion was only able to score two first downs, one in the second quarter and one in the third.

In the kicking department, the State team also excelled. Grove kicked consistently and averaged better than did Penzotti for the entire game, although the latter's were a little better placed. Grove averaged 33.25 yards

Grey took the place of Palermo, captain of the visitors, who was injured near the end of the last quarter.
