FINALS IN STATE MUSIC CONTESTS BEGIN THURSDAY

First Time That All Eight Contests Will Be Held in One Place—Wide Interest.

AUTHORITIES TO JUDGE

May Musicians of Note Are Engaged to Pass on Entrants—Contests End Saturday.

Finals in the state high school music contests of Michigan will be held at the Michigan State campus on Thursday and Friday. It will be the first time in history that all the contests have been held in one place.
About 1500 students will compete.
Preliminary rounds were held in various districts two weeks ago. The winners of the different classes will come to Lansing to compete for the championships. Competition will be held in three large groups: the orchestral and vocal groups; the band; and the boys' and girls' glee clubs and choruses.

Beginning Thursday morning the eliminations will be held in the orchestral and vocal groups, while the band contests are scheduled for Friday. The eliminations will be held in the gymnasium, Peoples church audium and Little Theater.

With the arrival of the contestants at the campus, they will register at the Union building. At this time a general sponsor will be appointed for the organization. This sponsor will be in charge of the musical group all the time they are guests of the college. This person will see that they are properly placed at the proper time and will see that the members of the competing club has an opportunity to visit the various spots of interest on campus. Cooperating with Prof.
Richards, director of the contests, are three honorary musical organizations, Phi Sigma Chi, Mu Eta Sigma, and Alpha Epsilon Mu. Besides the girls' and men's glee clubs of the Michigan State college band.
Among the judges selected for the contests are, Michael Press, head of the music department of the Michigan State college; Hanna Pick, head of the music department, U. of M.; C. Guy Bauer, Educational Music Bureau, Lansing; Mrs. Harry Backer, dean of the school of music at U.
M. Alberto Stagliano, member of the Detroit Symphony orchestra; and Kileen, member of the Michigan state college music department.

TENNIS OPENER IS SPARTAN SUCCESS

Overwhelm Detroit City College by a Score of 5-2; Beat Albion 7-0.

Michigan State's tennis team opened its 1929 season this week-end by overwhelming two rival squads in a double-header that showed the Spartans to be a superior team in every phase of the game. On Friday afternoon the Spartans walked off the strong Detroit City college team 5 to 2, while the following day they took Albion down, 7 to 0.
The work of Kane Green and White man, was particularly gratifying in both matches. His play on Friday was featured by a skillful defeat of former Detroit junior champion, in opening singles match of the day.
The premier doubles, however, Miss McNaughton came back to trim Albion and Pennington in a hotly contested fray. McNaughton won the first set 6-3, but Albion won the second set 6-4. The match was a great victory for Detroit when he defeated Swan after the Spartans had won the first set. Pennington, Jennings and Colvin, all of State, won the other singles of the day.
Saturday's match with Albion proved to be a one-sided affair with the Spartan team making a clean sweep of the boards. Kane and Swan

"LITTLE LADY OF THE COOP" HAS HECTIC NIGHT

Accused of Elopement with Seventeen Year Old—Serenaders Blamed by Knowing Ones.

"What do you mean by robbing me of my son, of taking my little darling away from me?" echoed through the halls of the Women's building early Friday evening.
"What do you mean by eloping with my boy?" "Why aren't you with him?" inquired an elderly lady of one of the demure little misses making the Coop her residence. "He is gone and you are to blame. Oh where is my boy?" The little lady pleading innocence had a hard time convincing her income caller that she had not eloped with her 17 year old son, who had mysteriously disappeared the night before. The mother had often heard her son speak of the "Little Lady of the Coop" and immediately suspected an elopement.
Upon the sworn statement of a dozen or so of the other building inmates, the mother was convinced that her son was elsewhere. It turned out that he had listened too long and eagerly to the Thursday Night Serenaders and had sworn from the shock.

NOTED POET IS WELL RECEIVED

Edwin Markham Appreciated by Large Audience in Church Last Night.

Edwin Markham recognized through virtue of his "Man and the Moon" poem as one of America's finest contemporary poets, spoke before a large crowd last night at Peoples church in an informal discussion of poetry. Besides his discussion of poets and poetry, he read a number of his own poems.
The poet, appearing in one of a series of the Artists' course arranged at the last minute, opened his discussion by giving his own ideas about what a poet is.

To begin with, says Markham, what a poet is and what he should "every man is born a poet. Only every man does not develop the poet that is in him." Then he goes on to say "The real purpose of the poet is to reveal the mysteries of life to us, he gives us something to think about. He broadens the dimensions of the mind." In concluding this discussion on the poet, Markham says: "The poet completes nature and the world through picture."
In citing the relationship between science and poetry, the Lincoln prize poem author makes the statement that "Where science tells us the way of Science takes flight on the wings of conjecture. Then the poet, poet and make light."
One of the features of the evening was the reading of the Lincoln memorial prize poem, "Lincoln, the Man and the Moon." This poem was submitted in the contest for the best poem about Lincoln, to be read in the annual of the Lincoln memorial at Washington in 1922. The committee on the best poem contest, headed by Chief Justice William Howard Taft, selected Edwin Markham's poem as the prize winner from a group of 250 poems submitted.
Markham was requested by popular demand to give a reading of his world famous poem, "The Man and the Moon." This remarkable piece of poetry, called the "battle cry of the poet," was loved the authors lecture.

Prof. Clark Views Recitals of More Importance Than Study

Prof. Clark views recitals of more importance than study. He believes that a student should be able to perform a recital of a piece of music and that this is more important than studying the theory of music. He

Forester's Shin Dig Premier Party of Busy Social Week

Amid the shooting of guns and the clatter of ice chains, the Forester's Shin Dig went over with a bang. Lumberjacks, "cowboy made" wood-choppers and scouts upon arrival at the old armory Saturday night found a perfect woodland scene carried out. Boule and other chess played about the edge of the room gave the dance floor the appearance of a clearing in a dense forest. The large crowd danced to the catchy music of Evergreen's "Five Ascents." The last change bar, typical of any forest camp, served free drinks over the rail throughout the evening. Altogether, the scene gave an atmosphere of safety and the uniqueness of the party in contrast to other campus functions will make it one to be long remembered.

Aside from the Union party, many fraternities decided upon this week-end to hold open houses. About 30 couples attended the Herman open house on Friday evening with the Playboys furnishing the music for the dance. The patrons at this party were Mr. Daubert and Mr. and Mrs. Leven Horton. The Phi Chi Alpha party was also held on Friday evening with Capt. and Mrs. K. P. Flinn and Prof. and Mrs. H. P. Darlington chaperoning with the Moonlight Serenaders playing for the dance.

Louis Koepke, Pontiac, "Apples" Taylor, Clyde Ohio, Frank McCauley, Niles, and A. E. Allen, Ann Arbor, were guests at the Phi Kappa Tau open house on Saturday night. Their hosts were Mr. and Mrs. M. M. McNeil and Mrs. Martha Woodworth. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. 1928, J. D. Shedd and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Thayer chaperoned the Lambda Chi Alpha open house on Saturday night. About 20 couples were present at the party of the Psi Chi. Among the couples who attended the party were Grant Smith, Grand Rapids, Don Flinn, Flint, and Mrs. K. P. Flinn, Ann Arbor, and Mrs. H. P. Darlington, Niles, and A. E. Allen, Ann Arbor, were

J. T. Casswell and Prof. and Mrs. B. B. Resnick were present at national day evening. The music of the dance was furnished by the Playboys.

The coming week will be an exciting one for the students of the Michigan State University. The first of the week-end will be the Shin Dig, which will be held at the old armory on Saturday night. The second of the week-end will be the Phi Kappa Tau open house, which will be held at the Phi Kappa Tau house on Sunday night. The third of the week-end will be the Phi Chi Alpha open house, which will be held at the Phi Chi Alpha house on Sunday night. The fourth of the week-end will be the Lambda Chi Alpha open house, which will be held at the Lambda Chi Alpha house on Sunday night. The fifth of the week-end will be the Psi Chi open house, which will be held at the Psi Chi house on Sunday night. The sixth of the week-end will be the Moonlight Serenaders playing for the dance, which will be held at the Moonlight Serenaders house on Sunday night.

by the local dry goods dealer in lieu of the expected ride through the Red Cedar river. In compensation the girls are hoping that one of the long two-hour rides on Friday will be terminated by a picnic lunch—or just something to eat.

The class is frequently divided into an advanced group consisting of Gladys, Dorothy, Margaret, and Mary Woodworth. The beginners are Dorothy Butler, Ann Anderson, Lucille Bunge, Gladys Morris, Laura Laine, Harriet Winans, Margaret Wilson, and Mary Woodworth.

How Gold Prospector Went Scotch

Two years ago last winter I went into the Red Lake pulp fields in Canada. It was a tough trail from the house up the hill to the mine and on. There were four or five men on the trail going in, and frequently a light white scum around a big tree, or some one would ask me for a helpful cigarette. Three Canadian men gave me their own.

In four weeks I smoked out of Edgeworth's. I was glad to get most any old tobacco.

One day, however, I dropped in on Dad Brown's place, a good prospector and owner of a lot of Edgeworth's, and seeing a tin of Edgeworth's on an improvised table, I went there. He told me the "daddy" I carried up that time, saying, "Daddy, I got out of pants and I don't have a piece of paper." "Help yourself," he said. So pulling my heavy duty pipe from my pocket, I loaded it with Edgeworth's, backing it into my lips, and I couldn't get the last bit of smoke.

I crossed toward him without, and stepped aside to let him pass, and three painful minutes lay in my punch. And stirred out saying, "You're worse than any Scotchman I ever saw." Then, he confessed, I told him what happened to my Edgeworth—that I was just dying for a smoke, and he understood, and he asked, "He said, 'Boy Edgeworth is mighty scarce in these parts, but I reckon I can spare what's left of that one. Help yourself.'"

You can just bet your last nickel that I guarded the Edgeworth with extreme care until I got back to the "shed." Yours,

Edgeworth
