A BETTER SYSTEM—

The State News cannot help but say some word in praise and favor of the system of fraternity initiations as introduced this year. The shortening of the hazing period and the placing of all initiations at a definite time under the control of the inter-fraternity council is a big step in the right direction.

We welcome the instigation of a shorter, more sensible, better regulated system of informal initiation, and we heartily endorse the abolishment of the old system of "hell-week." But it is our belief that the revision can be carried still farther, and we urge the inter-fraternity council to carry on its work in that direction.

Furthermore, we do not believe in the so-called necessity of "taking a man down." Rather we feel that we need men with above-the-average enthusiasm, and that energy should be turned in the right direction rather than carped. And finally we cannot help but feel that one of the big reasons for continuing initiation from one year to the next is due to a senseless desire for revenge, nursed along by some selfish urge, because when you were a freshman someone initiated you.

We consider it best therefore, that while the inter-fraternity council is on its way in a revision of initiation systems that they be frank with themselves and eliminate that part which many already admit, confidentially, to be non-sensical and worthless. And we urge that in its place they adopt on this campus a form of initiation which will attain the desired results of such a custom—an increased loyalty to one's society and a greater devotion to the college.

A WORD OF WELCOME

The Michigan State News is glad to welcome the members of the Michigan Press association to our campus once more. It is a source of pride to the student body of this institution that our college campus is used for so many such gatherings of the men of Michigan, and we hope that those men will continue to want to come here.

The award was made by Paul Troth, Alpha Zeta scholarship cup for proficiency in agriculture was presented by E. S. Kelsey, president, to Claude W. Mitchell, 32, Ag. Katherine Pater presented the Chi Omega fraternity prize to Helen Elizabeth Wilson, 30, L. A., for high standing in the political science division. It was the speaker's viewpoint that science had always been the handmaiden of religion and was the main factor that proved the undeniable existence of a Supreme Ruler. Admitting the truth of the evolutionistic view of the origin of man, Dr. Foster pointed out that behind the beginnings of the race there must be some power that began it all. He ended his talk with the statement that "God is a person, God and that since He can not be less than man, He must be a person."

SPARTANS SCORE THRILLING WIN OVER NOTRE DAME FIVE, 28-21; RECORD CROWD WITNESSES TILT

Grove Brothers Set Pace as State Upsets Strong Irish Outfit; Coach Ben F. Van Alostyne Pleased With Performance of Green and White Quintet.

By HARRIS COATES Sports Editor

MICHIGAN STATE scored a hard-earned 28 to 21 victory over Notre Dame university in a thrilling basketball game played in Demonstration hall Wednesday evening. The fighting Spartan players displayed fine form in their second court victory over the Irish in 11 years. The game was bitterly contested and unusually fast from start to finish, but Coach Ben F. Van Alostyne's charges came through with colors flying.

The crowd was estimated at nearly 5,000, the largest in the history of local basketball.

The Spartans resorted to "man-for-man" play rather than their customary zone type defense and the change brought about good results. State's nearly airtight defensive play, combined with a whirlwind offense, accounted for the triumph, which was especially welcome in the Spartan cage camp as Notre Dame won the two games played last year by the slimmest of margins. State defeated Notre Dame in 1924 and in 1923 and dropped 11 games to the Ramblers in this stretch.

The Grove brothers, Don and Roger, showed the way for the trump especially during the first half when they made 12 of State's 15 points. Bill regained his stride after a slump on the eastern trip last week and Roger continued to show good form at the other forward position. Until the Carnegie Tech game Roger was rated as a substitute guard and now he appears to have displaced Captain Jimmy Van Zelen as a forward. Van Zelen watched the entire Notre Dame game from the bench.

The Irish got a two-point lead in the first minute of play but Don Grove was loose to tie the count and from then on State held the upper hand. However, Notre Dame came within three points of tying the score late in the second half when Smith, visiting guard, cut loose the heavy artillery and sunk four shots from the center of the hoop to put State's lead to three points. Most of the Ramblers' points were made on shots from well out on the court.

The victory was especially gratifying to Coach Van Alostyne, who feels that his team performed as well as any that he has turned out at Michigan State. The Spartan basketballers flashed a versatile attack and their fast passing offense and skilful defense enabled them to completely outclass Notre Dame.

Michigan's mat team has always proved to be a formidable foe, and the State grapplers will be extended to hold them. State's wrestlers will try to avenge the defeat that Michigan handed them last year. Wrestlers who will comprise State's team are: H. Miller, 115 lb. class, A. Wilber, 125 lb. class, N. Suoner, 135 lb. class, R. Tompkins, 145 lb. class, P.

STATE-TAKKEMEN OPEN HOME CARD SATURDAY

County Baseball Deputies' varsity team will entertain the Grand Rapids Y. M. C. A. clubmen on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in their first home meet of the season. Pre-meet indications are that competition will be unusually keen and the winning will be close. Loss of veterans through graduation and irregularity has left the Spartan state squad hard hit. Men who have been lost include: Howdy Clark, dash events and relay driver; Bernard, free style; Art Smith, broad stroke; and Tate, free style. All of these men have won two letters in swimming according to Coach Deuben.

State will probably be represented by the following swimmers: Craig Macer, Schaefer and Chalmers; sprint relay; Vaughan and Snyder, breast stroke; Schaefer and Macer, 50-yard free style dash; Craig and Boucher, 150-yard back stroke; Schaefer and Crockett, 100-yard free style; Craig, Crockett and Crockett, 200-yard free style; Craig, Vaughan and Schaefer, 400-yard relay. Frolics in the open-class swimming pool will be held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, immediately following the early competition.

SPARTAN FENCERS TO MEET MICHIGAN

State's varsity fencing team meets the University of Michigan's fencers this week in the first meet of the season. Since the sport was introduced several years ago by Joseph Wailes, fencing has rapidly gained in favor on the local campus.

This year State will be represented by quite a formidable team. They will meet Michigan fencers at Ann Arbor Saturday and will try to avenge the defeat suffered at the hands of an adept Michigan team last year. The men who will go to Ann Arbor are: W. Kestner, foil; J. Olson, foil; G. Bauer, foil; J. Olson, sabre; D. Grand, epee; W. A. Stahl, H. Glasow, alterates.

Kestner, Olson and Bauer are veterans from last year's varsity fencing team. Bauer, 31, is coach of the team replacing Wailes who returned to Europe last year.

STATE, U. OF D. MEET SATURDAY

Spartans invade Detroit for Return game; 16 Men Make Trip.

Coach Ben F. Van Alostyne and his Michigan State basketball squad, consisting of 16 players, will leave Lansing on Saturday afternoon at 9 o'clock for Detroit where they will meet the University of Detroit squad in the evening. It will be the second meeting of the two squads this season, the Spartans winning a better game 26 to 21 here Jan. 9.

The Spartan mentor has been endeavoring to keep his charges from developing over-confidence for the return game with the Tigers. State was badly off form in the first game of the home-and-home series and Coach Van Alostyne fears that his men may develop another superiority complex. However, he believes that if the team takes the game seriously the Spartans should emerge victorious. Lloyd Brand, star Detroit guard, will oppose State Saturday night. He did not play in the first game.

GROVE TAKES LEAD IN SCORING RECORD

Midget Forward Scores 12 Points in Wild Game With Fighting Irish.

After dropping back to second position for a short time, Don B. Grove, midget Spartan forward, is again leading the scoring on Coach Ben F. Van Alostyne's squad. Ed Scott, midget State guard, led the lead for the eastern trip with 21 points, but Grove had a better average against Notre Dame and added 12 points to his total bringing it up to 41. Scotty has fallen an inch to second place with Art Hall ranking third.
