Music -- Art and Drama

By Zilpha Lewis

THURSDAY—Arthur C. Pillsbury will lecture on the "Miracles of Nature" at the Peoples church at 8 o'clock.

Two large canvases, "The Girl in the Red Mask" and "Meditation" by A. M. Valerio, loaned to the Art Exhibit through the courtesy of Mr. B. F. Wade of Lansing, Michigan, and hung in the Library, have attracted extraordinary interest during the past week.

The pose the artist has chosen for "The Girl in the Red Mask" reveals a poetic quality of imagination which retains one's interest even after the discovery that the picture is merely another portrait with the model happily not posed in a trite conventional manner. The subject is a young girl dressed in fluffly black tulle with a red mask in her lap. She is resting in a quiet place evidently away from the noise and confusion of a market hall, and expresses a mood of firmness, resolve to contentment and wariness. The hand and arm, which are of such difficulty to reproduce, show an exquisite modeling done by short, wispy strokes. The shadows are good and the artist gains life and vitality for his subject by the warm flesh tones.

This picture of the girl reflects the artist who is a fine, unassuming Italian gentleman with a modesty unusual in a painter of his established reputation. Mr. Valerio at one time received the Prix de Rome, which is given only to the most outstanding artists and has only recently returned from Rome to his delightful home situated midway between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti. He is most versatile, doing landscapes, portraits, figures, as well as being a sculptor of no mean ability.

"Meditation" a group of three girls in various attitudes of reverie against a blue sky and autumn leaves is more of a study in effects than a finished artistic product. This canvas shows to perfection his complete mastery of fine drawing. It is strongly painted, almost boldly, in comparison with the fine texture and careful brushwork of "The Girl in the Red Mask." It demonstrates correct values, and is painted with a simple palette—one could almost say—with the use of only primary colors. Interesting and splendid as these two canvases are, they hardly show Valerio at his best, since he has made great technical strides and had a greater maturity of expression since his last sojourn in Italy.

"The Wreck" a large canvas of Prof.

A. G. Scheele, which hung in the library the beginning of the week, is a fine example of his strong impressionistic style. The brilliant sun upon billowing waves after the storm and a small boat floundering in this beauty of color is his subject. Professor Scheele makes a lavish use of his palette while his style is entirely different from the fine quiet repose of Valerio's canvases.

Scheele obtains striking effects from this bold technique and it is unfortunate that his canvases cannot be hung in a larger place since it would gain in effectiveness to be seen at a greater distance as it has strength to carry.

Three of Prof. Michael Press' pupils presented an attractive program of violin solos at the Battle Creek Sanatorium his past Sunday. Evelyn Fine played "La Bandoline," Cooperin-Press, "La Capriciosa," Ross, "Bole," Kati, Holday, "Jahn-Press," "see Flight," Farnwell and "The Little Windmill," Cooperin-Press. Milton Roth's program consisted of "Czarlas" by Monti, "Siciliano" and "Ragouton," Franconer-Kreiser and "Cuso," Cooperin-Press.

ZOOLOGICAL CLUB VIEWS—HIGH VALUED PICTURES

Pictures of high value representing the efforts of the State Conservation department in the realm of extension work was shown at the meeting of the Zoological Club on Thursday evening. Michigan mammal life in the present stage of development was pictured.

Walter Hastings, cameraman of the department spends his summers in the Northern part of Michigan taking pictures of wild animal life. Isle Royale and the district surrounding Grand Island were the territories covered this summer. Education in motion pictures is rapidly gaining headway and holds great possibilities for future development.

The Zoological club meets on alternate Thursday evenings for the purpose of providing a program of educational value for students and faculty of the department. Films were shown on January 15 concerning the work of S. Prentiss Baldwin in the field of bird banding.

Intelligensia Prove That Exception Is the Rule

Once upon a time some gentleman said that anything could be proved by statistics. That may or may not be true; but a certain group of statistics—from the assigned reading room to be exact—do prove a lot of things about the genus colligia, and here are some of the proven things.

MOTION PICTURES SHOWN TO FARM WEEK VISITORS

Farmers' Week visitors were given a treat in the form of motion pictures shown four times daily from Monday until Friday in the Armory.

The Monday show gave a vivid description of the 3-inch anti-aircraft gun in operation from a plane and also the methods and equipment used to make the fire effective. On Tuesday was shown the Medical Service with Infantry in attack. Wednesday's picture gave the theory and manufacture of the gas engine.

The show on Thursday was one filmed by the Germans during the World War picturing the first tank captured and the German attack in Palestine. On Friday was shown during tests of horsemanship in the "Life of O'Riley." The shows were well attended and the patrons were enthusiastic in approval of them.

ors to gently say that assigned reading lists are posted in the library. On the whole, the genus colligia receives this announcement calmly, although some—the abnormal ones—make notes of it. Very well, let us proceed. Saturday, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday go by and the genus still travels quietly along its usual path—until it wakes up Wednesday morning, looks at the calendar and sees that reading reports are due in two days.

How does it react? Well, by consulting our statistics, we find that on Wednesday, instead of the average 200 or 300 books used, the average jumps to over 400, and sometimes 450! And Thursday it is the same! But on Friday the average takes a steep downward plunge, and on Saturday the room is almost deserted.

So it goes, for one generation of the genus colligia is very like another, and is one of the characteristics of this genus to never do today what it can put off until tomorrow.

J-HOP FINANCIAL SITUATION—

Investigation has thrown little light on the true origin of whatever J-Hop ticket sales were made at a reduced price on Friday evening preceding the party. Investigation does reveal, however, that there were not a large number of such sales made, at least not enough to warrant the condemnation that some men have turned in the direction of the junior class. It is true that there were some cheap sales made, but we have the statement of the class officers that this was done without their sanction. And we are willing to accept a man's word until it is proved false.

It was an unfortunate stroke of fate that the unexpected death of Mr. Wallace took Charles Ladd away from the campus at a time when he was most needed. Ladd, as general chairman of the arrangements committee, kept in pretty close touch with all that was going on and handled his class party in a rather commendable fashion. Such a party is a big undertaking for any group of students, and Ladd and his committee were unfortunate in that they did not receive the support of their own class by their attendance at the party. Whereas, the committees planned on selling some 325 tickets, the actual sales amounted to a little better than 200.

In order to clear up any suspicion which has been started through the stories that are being circulated we suggest that a petition be presented to President Shaw through a group of the junior class or through the Student Council that the financial records of the J-Hop be audited. In this manner, if there has been any great amount of price-cutting, it will be revealed, and if there is any cause for blame or condemnation, we can turn it in the right direction. And lastly, if there is no fault to find we can clear the junior class of whatever blame men care to cast upon it and reveal the truth.

AS THE SOPHOMORE SEES IT—

Several times we have raised objection to the prevalent disregard for tradition among underclassmen, and the Sophomore class seems ready to correct this fault. They ask one thing, however, and that is the cooperation of the junior class in not interfering. From several sources we have had sophomore men state their willingness to enforce campus tradition, if they do not have to compete with upperclassmen in so doing.

It is our opinion that the second year class is right in this respect. The junior class should look out for the interests of its brother class and help them when they need help, but it has no right to encourage them to ignore the ancient law of the campus. The sophomores are few enough in number as compared to the yearling men, without having to oppose the junior class as well.

We look at this matter as one of campus-wide interest. We wish to see more green toques on the campus; we wish to see a higher degree of freshman class spirit, and we wish to see the sophomore class do its duty in bringing this about. And we wish to see other classes, loyal freshmen included, help them in this respect.

A FRESHMAN LETTER—

At a meeting of the Sophomore class held this week, the following letter was found pinned in a position where the class officers were certain to find it. The letter was addressed to the chairman of the class of '32.

"Before considering the freshmen and their toques find out what the sophomores have to do with the disappearance of a great number of toques. Some of the freshmen are wearing pots because their toques were stolen. Is it true that some of the sophomores are collecting toques as souvenirs for their rooms?"

"Why not do away with this petty headcover tradition and adopt a 'no booing' tradition at athletic games."

"Signed—A Freshman."

In reply we wonder two things. First, if this freshman has the courage of his own convictions and believes that he is right in his statements, why did he not present the letter in person to the sophomore class president; and secondly, why didn't he sign his own name? When a letter is left incognito in the manner that this one was, we do not intend to take it too seriously.

President Jaehrig states that he will investigate the matter of sophomores collecting toques, but he believes that it is an exaggerated assumption. In reply to the last paragraph, we do not believe that tradition is entirely a petty thing. It is a part of our college, and we like to see such things continued and observed. As to "booing" at games, this is included in our rules of gentlemanly conduct, and a good sport doesn't have to be told such things.

INDIANA ONCE LIGHTLESS

Lovers with the proverbial penchant for dark secluded spots must have found in the campus of University of Indiana thirty-five years ago, a seventh heaven, for previous to 1884 the only lights used at the university were tallow-kerosene lamps. When electric lights were introduced, four arc lights were set up. The carbon sticks in these lights had to be "trimmed" every day and the four lights of that time required more care than all the lights of the university were today—Oklahoma Daily.

"THE MOST BRILLIANT MAN"

REMEMBER, the brain doesn't function alone. "The most brilliant man" of the second class takes advantage of the added mental stimulus that comes from a strong, healthy body.

Shredded Wheat adds to your thinking prowess by building up your physical reserve. It supplies the essential body fuel in the most delectable and easily digestible form. If you want your mental wheels to whirl in double quick time keep your physical machinery in perfect condition. A bowl of Shredded Wheat with whole milk every morning will do wonders to increase your intellectual caliber.

Watering 87,000 Horses

On Horseshoe Lake near Oklahoma City, in a businesslike, compact building, 87,000 horses (figuratively speaking) are stabled—nearly three for every family in Oklahoma City. For with the completion of a new unit of the Oklahoma Gas & Electric Company's power station at this point, the total generating capacity was raised from 46,930 to 87,130 horse power.

To keep these "horses" up to full working condition, and do it cheaply as possible, is no small job. Just the water required is 86,400,000 gallons daily, the equivalent of eight days' supply for Oklahoma City.

The new generating unit was made necessary by the expansion of industrial activity throughout Oklahoma and particularly by the increased use of electric power by the oil industry. For it, improved valves, fittings, and piping so vital to efficient and economical power production, were supplied by Crane Co. Thus in these modern times does progress in one industry bring progress in another.

No matter what branch of engineering you enter after graduation, you are likely to find Crane piping materials essential tools of your profession. In the Crane book, "Pioneering in Science," is told the story of Crane research in metallurgy, with important scientific data and high pressure and temperature curves. A copy will be valuable for reference. Let us send you one.

Campus Social Season Featured by Brilliant J-Hop

In the social season of the entire year is climaxed giving of the annual J-Hop and the Varsity Party. parties of the year, both the J-Hop and the Varsity and in the memory of all those who attended as the at and magnificent parties. The ballroom of the ple was entirely transformed with a false ceiling elour which was draped gracefully back until it walls to the floor and the effect was completed with nel of blue and silver squares. The orchestra was a large drop of vari-colored futuristic design. The et was gained almost entirely from an indirect light. Three white pillars flanked either side of the or- form and were the chief sources of light. Huge also used on both sides of the platform.

Grand Rapids was a guest. Eclectic society, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Kappa Phi, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon also had formal dinners before the Prom.

The J-Hop was only the beginning of the big week-end. Annually following the Junior Hop, the Varsity Club gives their party. As is the usual custom, the decorations and orchestra of the preceding evening were used. This year's party was largely attended and was highly successful. A large number of alumni were among the dancers. Guests of the party were as follows: Gov. and Mrs. Fred W. Green, Pres. and Mrs. Robert S. Shaw, Sec. and Mrs. H. H. Halstead, Dean and Mrs. E. H. Ryder, Col. and Mrs. Edward E. Davis, Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Olin, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hurd, Mr. and Mrs. L. Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Alderson, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Shingerton, Mrs. Helen Grammes, Mrs. W. A. Devensport, Mr. R. B. Daubert, and Mr. Glenn Carberry.

The programs were in white suede leather embossed in one corner with a green "S". They were tied with a green silk cord.

Cornelius Blay, Ted Bates, Paul M. Smith, Paul Marek, Rich Carl and Bob McCreeby were guests at the Delta Sigma Phi house for the J-Hop and the Varsity party.

Many societies have planned to hold parties this week-end as an aftermath to the big affairs of the past week-end. The Faculty Folk Club will hold a party in the ballroom of Demonstration Hall on Friday evening.

GIVE STUDENTS NEW CHANCE, SAYS CRIST

Many Unpromising Candidates Make Good When Given Opportunity.

"It is not too much to give an unpromising candidate for admission a chance to make good," is the attitude expressed by Dr. J. W. Crist, chairman of the committee on admissions at Michigan State college, in an interview with the M. S. C. Record, an alumni publication.

Dr. Crist points out that there is considerable good material available in the group of students which had a lower standing in high school as evidenced by the fact that many students admitted to college on trial, because of lower high school grades, make good.

A survey conducted by him shows that 42 per cent of those admitted on trial at Michigan State showed ability for higher education and met the established academic requirements, indicating that it pays to offer an opportunity to this class of students.

Eight o'Clock Postoffice Scrimmage Is Analyzed

At exactly eight o'clock every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday morning the scene at the post-office resembles a cross between a football scrimmage and a bargain sale; that hour being the time when every fraternity and sorority on the campus chooses to collect its mail.

Each delegation approaches the scene of action and ranges itself expectantly about while one of the number experiments on the trick dial combination and writes out the bills and advertisements. Then follows much passing of mail from hand to hand, accompanied by appropriate comments from the chief sorter.

VARIETY OF SHORT COURSES FOR FEB.

Agricultural Dept. Fills Month With Well Rounded Schedule.

A well-filled short course program for the month of February has been outlined by department officials for the numerous transient students that attend the brief courses offered by the Michigan State college agricultural division.

On Wednesday, February 5, 1930 there will be no regular meeting. The Short Course students will have a joint meeting and banquet with the State Short Course Association. The banquet will be held at the Union.

At the meeting Wednesday, February 12, 1930 Mr. Gifford Patch will discuss the application of the Federal Farm Board program to Michigan. Also Mr. Turner Broughton, of the Dairy Office of the State Department of Agriculture will tell the students about the service of the State Department of Agriculture dairymen.

On Wednesday, February 19, 1930 the students will be addressed by Mr. Sam Langdon, an outstanding farmer. Mr. A. C. Carlton will discuss the relationship of the State Department of Agriculture to Agricultural Fairs at this meeting.

Wednesday, February 26, 1930 the students will hear an address given by Mr. Bert Weismuth of the Michigan Farmer.

PHYSICS INSTRUCTORS VISIT JACKSON RADIO FACTORY

The faculty of the Physics department and about twenty students were in Jackson Saturday, Feb. 1. They saw the process by which a radio manufacturing company completes its vacuum tubes at the rate of 14,000 per day. The concern visited was the Sparks-Whitcomb company, makers of the Spartan radio.

POSTPONE CO-ED PROM

At the A. W. S. meeting Thursday evening, February 4, it was decided that the co-ed promenade would not be given until the spring term on the Friday of either the second or third weekend.

Feels "At Home" in the Hand

Parker's new streamlined Duofold Pens (and Pencils to match) look neater and set lower in the pocket than others because the clip starts at the top—not halfway down the cap.

The smart, perfectly poised shape feels "at home" in the hand—the hand-ground, heavy gold point writes with our famous 47th improvement—Pressureless Touch.

Like 2 Pens for the Price of One

An exclusive convertible feature makes all Parker pens actually like 2 Pens in One. When you buy a pocket Parker you need only a desk base to convert it to a complete Desk Set. We include taper, free. If you buy pen and desk set together, you get a pocket cap with clip free, making the Desk Pen a Pocket Pen, too.

Little Bethany Oberlin Send Quintets to East Lansing for Games; Den Herder Leads Offensive in Easy Win Over Kalamazoo College Friday.

ACH BEN F. VAN ALSTYNE'S basketballers are facing the busiest week of the season, with three major games scheduled.

The Spartan cagers played but one game last week, swamping Kalamazoo college, 33 to 12.

The Hornets, rated as a strong team in the M. I. A. A., were completely outclassed by the flashy State basketballers.

The game resulted in such an easy victory for the Green and White that it was practically devoid of thrills.

Fred Den Herder, veteran center, crashed through with 10 points to make his first bid for scoring fame this season.

Art Haza added eight points to State's total. Roger Grove was next in line in scoring with seven points.

Den Herder, the Hornet scoring leader, bagged two lone throws and a free throw for five points.

Kalamazoo made a plunge at the start of the game, holding State in check for the first few minutes of play.

The Hornets came from behind to tie the score at three all, but then the bottom dropped out of the exhibition as far as the spectators were concerned.

State was leading 16 to 7 at half time. Then for 21 minutes of the second period the Hornets failed to score a single point.

The Spartans were running their count to 28. Some nice feinting and foot-work by Den Herder was an important factor in this scoring spree.

EXPECT TO SET NEW ATTENDANCE MARK

Michigan Cage Game Likely to Attract Capacity Crowd; Irish Tilt Popular.

Basketball attendance records at Michigan State seem doomed to fall and there is every indication that the court sport will be self-supporting for the first time in history this season.

All because the Spartans team is playing in Demonstration hall where a crowd of 6000 to 7000 may be accommodated.

Attendance figures on the first five home games of the season reveal that 12,751 fans watched the team play. Of these five games two were played while students were absent from the campus for Christmas holidays.

An all-time record attendance mark for a single game was established when State beat Notre Dame 28 to 21 recently. There were 3,725 at this contest.

The previous mark of 2,806 was set in 1924 when Michigan last played here. As the gymnasium could seat only 2,200 there were 606 standing.
