73 YEARS OF ACHIEVEMENT—

Today Michigan State college is observing the 73rd anniversary of its existence. Since the founding of the institution on May 13, 1857, far-reaching changes have taken place in the college.

As a result of over a decade of diligent work on the part of a group of foresighted citizens of Michigan, the state legislature set aside 22 sections of land as a fund out of which the finances were derived for the establishment of the Michigan Agriculture college on its present location. J. R. Williams, a graduate of Harvard university and prominent in securing the founding of the institution, was appointed as its first president.

During the first few years of its existence, the college was limited to men students and agriculture was the main course of study. Only 73 students were enrolled when the school opened and at times during the early history of the college the enrollment dwindled to but 48 students. After several years of hard struggle, the future of the institution was assured and improvements progressed more rapidly. In 1870 co-eds were admitted to the college for the first time. Since 1900 the college has developed greatly in equipment and enrollment until during the present year a total of 3000 enrolled students has been reached.

Few students of today realize the years of struggle that were necessary during the early history of the college. Numerous obstacles had to be overcome and as the Michigan Agriculture college was the first of its kind in the nation, other states watched the progress of the school. With the introduction of numerous other courses of study preceding the year of 1925, the state legislature saw fit to change the name of the institution to the Michigan State College of Agriculture and Applied Science.

Today every college official as well as every student of Michigan State can feel justly proud of the progress made here during the 73 years of existence.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS—

Much time and money is being spent by the college this spring in an attempt to beautify the Michigan State campus. Landscaping plans have been completed, more trees planted, the entire lawn has been raked and mowed, and the appearance of the campus in general has been improved.

However, in view of all this work, students fail to realize what the college officials are attempting to accomplish. Daily, students who cut across the lawns do so much damage that it takes months to repair.

Why not show our appreciation for the buildings and grounds department's work and help by keeping off the lawns? Use the sidewalks!

Tuesday—Ramon Navarro will sing over the radio on the Simoco Hour program at 8:30.
Wednesday—Michigan State College Band Concert in front of Beaumont Tower at 7:30.

Ramon Navarro and his teacher, Louis Graveure, will return tomorrow afternoon from New York City, where they have spent the week-end in order that Navarro might fulfill a radio engagement for the Simoco hour.

Miss Pausley, another former pupil of Graveure, is expected to arrive soon from Salt Lake City, where she is very prominent in musical circles, having taken four previous Master Classes from Graveure.

A scholarship program is being presented in Marine City by Betty Barton of the voice department, and Eber Solomon, Leopold Sheppmaker, violinists with their accompanist, Archie Black. The program is as follows:

IMPRESSIVE EVENTS FOR FOUNDER'S DAY

The Beaumont Memorial tower now stands. One men's dormitory was erected, known as "Saint's Rest." In the same year a brick horse barn was built. With these buildings Michigan

State college was started. The original enrollment at times has dropped to as low as 48, yet on the average has steadily climbed since that time. In 1870 co-education was established here. During the last decade the growth of the college has been unprecedented.

"Women Without Men" is Theme of Bizarre Co-ed Prom Friday as Over 150 Girls Make Merry in Old Armory

Week-end Popular Choice for Term Parties; Many Students Trek Homeward for Mother's Day; College Alumni Plan Founders' Day Dance Tonight in Union.

DESPITE THE ABSENCE of the main element of the college Friday night, the Old Armory was overflowing with hilarious co-eds, dressed in all sorts of rakish outfits. More than 150 girls danced to the Playboys orchestra at the annual Co-ed Prom. Colored lanterns strung about the room gave added mystery to the affair, and the orchestra platform was banked with ferns. Mrs. Jean Gilhooly, Mrs. Sara Cooledge, Miss Elisabeth Conrad and the faculty of the Women's Gym department were guests. Several fraternities held their spring term parties last week-end, and everyone was kept busy with preparations for Mother's Day.

The alumni of the college are making plans for a Founders' Day dance to be held tonight in the Union ballroom. It is celebrating the 73rd anniversary of the founding of this college, and will be an open party.

Mrs. Fred W. Green was the principal speaker at the annual Faculty Folk club breakfast last Saturday morning at the Peoples church. Mrs. R. P. Hubbard represented the Y. W. C. A. board and several of the mothers and daughters gave short talks. The tables were decorated with spring flowers and May poles and butterflies in pastel shades.

The Chi Omegas held their spring term party in the Little Theater last Saturday evening. Spring flowers and wall plaques with modernistic flower designs made up the decorations. Wagner's orchestra played for the dancing. Alumni who were back for the affair were: Mildred Courtney, Mariet Lucas, Mabel Geyer. The programs were of pastel shades with the seal of the fraternity on the cover.

Kenny Carley's orchestra played at the tie party held at this house Saturday night. A large number of alumni returned for the affair. Among them were Dick Rouch, Jack Hornbeck, Pat Gimes, Ralph Killy, Gertrude Schramm, Ray Fayer and Bill Eshel.

The spring term party of the Delta Sigma Pi was held Saturday evening in the Union ballroom. The Playboys furnished the music, and a Favor weather orchestra played at the Lambda Chi Alpha open house on the same evening.

Co-ed Prom at Old Armory Friday Nite Is Large Success

The annual co-ed prom was given in the Old Armory on Friday evening. The most brilliant affair of the year and this one surpassed them all. Co-eds dressed in gay costumes of every description danced to the music furnished by the Playboys. The orchestra played with an embankment of ferns which were the only decorations for the party. Though many co-eds had left the campus for Mother's Day, about 150 attended the Prom. Miss Edith Lindsey, Mrs. Sarah M. Coe, and Miss Elisabeth Conrad were judges for the stunts and costumes.

Several of the stunts and demerolops stanced clever stunts. Chi Omega won first prize for their stunt which was an imitation of the Stearns Creek bridge. They received golden medals. The Theta Tau society received second prize, a picture. The Phi Kappa Phi society won third prize, a picture. The Phi Kappa Phi society won third prize, a picture.
