HOW ABOUT IT?

An epidemic of keeping classes over the hour seems to have struck a large percentage of classroom instructors. Always in vogue with some, less pronounced in others but nevertheless cropping at times, the practice is getting a firm and tenacious grip on too many.

Fifty minutes is the time allotted to a class period. Few are the professors who do not start on the dot of ten minutes after the hour—pedagogical punctuality seems to that. No one objects to a full forty minutes of recitation or even to abstracting a few minutes occasionally. But cutting the time between classes to five minutes habitually, running the period over into the noon hour, and keeping school along into the night gets to be too much with five-credit classes and a full schedule all through the week.

The size of the campus quite often makes a considerable distance to be traversed between classes. No one will dispute the fact that many times the distance amounts to about half a mile. This, coupled with the attitude of the professor when a student arrives tardy, gives that arrival a "pardon-me-for-living" feeling that goes back to grammar school days.

Instructors are well intended but apt to be selfish in their attitude. Their class is usually the one of paramount importance, or should be—to their point of view. But it should not supersede other spots in the student curriculum by virtue of forceful methods on the part of the professor. That part is the choice of the student.

There is plenty of time for more intensive study and individual development outside of the recitation period. Fifty minutes is plenty for classroom work.

THE HELLO TRADITION.

A year ago this fall student sentiment caused the addition of the "Hello Tradition" to the long list of Spartan customs. At this time the Student Council decided to urge all students, both men and women, to speak to their fellow classmates whenever they met on the campus.

Very few of the present student body have been observing the "Hello Tradition" this fall. State has always boasted of its democratic spirit. Why not continue the good work.

Careful driving on the campus may save Michigan State from the "automobile ban" that has been placed on students at the University of Michigan.

CAMPUS CYNIC

By JOHN TATE, Jr.
STUDENT PEPPY AT A MODERN COLLEGE

Up betimes with that awful age which attends the morning after, and with no lessons prepared, off to class. There met by a vile and wrathy instructor who angrily tosses a test on which we bring a senior nonchalantly expound lengthily and to no great purpose. Witness the D's inscribed thereon when returned.

The campus detective has at last solved the mystery of where the CHEM (A)Ks that disappears from the chem lab goes to. Very poor form to end a sentence with a preposition. A group of chem instructors had a party up the river Friday night.

TRUTH IS STRANGER THAN FICTION

Michigan State is listed by the W. C. T. U. as one of the two dry colleges in the country.

The Interfraternity council has come to the annual conclusion that its constitution is full of loopholes. A great deal of heat is being generated over accusations that certain fraternities pledged men before the legal time limit. Tab, tab, such a luss over a few freshmen.

Still it seems that something ought to be done about the mess. But we don't know of any regulation that can prevent a fraternity that makes a habit of underhand pledging from doing so.

Then there is the freshman who on accepting a pin took three others out of his pocket and remarked that his pretty collection was growing.

In one of the local rags there was discovered a reference to Brucker as a "possible" future governor of the mess. It means that candidates for that august seat are classified as possible or impossible? And why pick on Brucker?

HEARD FROM BETTY CO-ED

"Dear Mr. Cynic: O the stupidity of some of these Home Ec instructors, capable of nothing but inexpressible dumb shows and noise. It offends me to the soul to hear the rantings and ravings of a middle-aged matron, impractical beyond belief, who holds the position of a college instructor and possesses not one grain of common sense. Yes, verily, it would be better to have no one at all than she who has not one grain of knowledge, no teaching ability, nor nuttin'."

"She who holds out for a sixteenth of an inch in designing yet contributes not one grain of originality, nor ideas, nor yet the fundamental knowledge to begin a project. May the devils torment her—May the imps pursue—may the rest of her years be a period of stagnation such as she now is experiencing. But Allah, Allah may she never plague poor defenseless Home Ec girls further."

T. M. H., '31

All that we can say is that as you see so shall you tip.

And now is the period which we consider the real hell week for sororities. "Silence week." No more stringent and impoverishing regulation could be placed on woman than that they refrain from conversation for six days.

NEED COLLEGIATES IN AVIATION FIELD

Boeing School of Aeronautics Sees Lack of College Men in New Work.

College education is becoming an increasingly important asset in commercial aviation, and the man who has preceded his aeronautical training with a year or more of college now stands a greater chance of success in the field. That is the belief of T. Lee, manager of the Boeing School of Aeronautics, Oakland, Calif., one of the nation's largest accredited flying schools.

W. E. Boeing, founder and chairman of the board of the various Boeing aeronautical enterprises, last year offered scholarships having a cash value of $7,100 to the Boeing school. Scholarships were offered to undergraduates of approved American colleges and universities. Winners of the 1936 scholarships were: Ralph J. Moore, Stanford University; Lloyd M. Spelman, Mount Union college; Charles W. Sharp, University of Nebraska; R. M. Harris, University of Washington.

Aviation is an industry, not a sport or a hobby. Lee stated recently in addressing an assembly of college instructors at San Francisco. There is no short cut to success in the industry; training is essential.

The progressive aviation executive, pilot or mechanic must look on his technical training in terms of time and expense in the same manner that he would consider training for any other profession.

Since the recent stabilization of the aviation industry, men who have college education as well as technical training are stepping into positions of considerable responsibility.

Of the graduates and students of the master pilot and mechanic courses at the Boeing school, 70 per cent are men with one or more years of college education.

Lee said that aeronautical training was becoming systematized to a degree comparable with that for engineering, law or other professions. Among the ground school courses offered with the flight training at the Boeing school are airplane fabrication, engines, radio telephony, air law, aviation, meteorology, mathematics, aerodynamics, design and drafting and business methods.

The Boeing school is operated under the sponsorship of Boeing System, flying air mail, passengers and express over the Chicago-Oakland-San Francisco and the San Diego-Seattle airways.

STUDENT PULSE

Signed and initialed articles on any topic pertinent to student interests are welcomed in this column.

Dear Editor:—The crying need at this college ever since its founding in 1837 has been a college song. Our present Alma Mater is by no means our own. Two other institutions, Cornell and Syracuse, use the same air. Apparently this school appropriated the lyrics and then wrote the words to fit.

The need for an original song was felt last spring term when a contest was conducted by Sphynx and Escalibur, senior honoraries, to bring out new material and ideas. Prizes were awarded on Cap Night and that was the last anyone heard of the attempt. Investigations and inquiries on the subject can find no trace of the winning song. The matter seems to have been dropped just when it was about to reach its goal. Why hasn't it been carried through to a conclusion? Why hasn't the song been furnished with the lyrics so that it may be properly orchestrated and played at commencement and football games?

Sphynx and Escalibur are to be commended on their good work thus far. After so splendid a start are they going to let the matter drop and allow the college to lose a much needed song? M. L. G.

U. OF M. DONOR GAVE MILLIONS, NEGLECTED SELF

Ann Arbor.—A near hermit, who lived in a tumble-down estate near Rye, N. Y., was in life and in death one of the greatest benefactors of the University of Michigan ever had, and is most modest.

Although he gave the university between eight and fifteen million dollars during his life-time, and bequeathed the institution about twelve million, William Wilson Cook never visited the place after his graduation in 1882, not even for the dedication of the beautiful Lawsons' club and the Martha Cook dormitory, both of which owe his gifts, the latter named after his mother.

The house in which Cook lived at Rye has been described by neighbors

Many Homecoming Plans Revive Dormant Campus Social Interest Following a Very Quiet Week-End

President's Reception and Theman Tea Open Social Activities This Week; Union, Olympic and Hesperian Parties Only Ones Held Friday and Saturday Nights.

THE PRESIDENT'S annual reception, a much-heralded event, will take place this evening in the Union ballroom. Mrs. Shaw has appointed the bachelor members of the faculty to assist her in introducing the newcomers. The reception will begin at 8 o'clock, with President and Mrs. Shaw, the deans and their wives, and Secretary and Mrs. Halladay at the receiving line. Satteria's orchestra will furnish the music.

Only two fraternities held open houses last week-end, but Homecoming will call forth a deluge of fraternal parties this Friday and Saturday. The Themanians are giving a tea tomorrow afternoon, and the Michigan State club is making plans for an art exhibit on Friday.

The Themanians will give a tea tomorrow afternoon for their house mother, Mrs. J. A. Dauberty, and Miss Betty Lynn. Kappa Kappa Gamma representative from Colorado university, who is staying at the Theman house until after their installation in November. Invitations are being sent to sorority presidents and house mothers and to Mrs. H. S. Shaw, Mrs. H. H. Halladay and Dean Elizabeth Conrad. Virginia Palmer and Katherine Cooney are in charge of the arrangements.

The Hesperians gave a party for their pledges Saturday evening at the house. About 25 couples danced to the four Aces orchestra. Fred and Mrs. A. J. Clark and Prof. and Mrs. E. A. Cole were the patrons.

The Olympics were the only other society to entertain Saturday evening. A five-piece orchestra furnished the music and Prof. and Mrs. Joseph Cox and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kote were the patrons.

More than 50 couples attended the Union party Friday night. This was the only open party of the week-end. Wagner's orchestra played for the dancing.

The Michigan State club in conjunction with the Lansing Art club will sponsor a lecture and demonstration of art and etching at the Lansing clubhouse Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Bertha E. Jacques of Chicago will give the lecture and music will be furnished by Sigurd Rocco Lantz, harp soloist. Invitations have been sent to faculty members.

Dr. J. W. Gray will speak on freshman entrance requirements at the weekly luncheon of the Faculty club tomorrow noon. Election of officers will take place some time in the near future.

Dr. Marietta Eichelberger, a woman of national renown in her field, has been scheduled to speak at the next meeting of the Home Ec club Thursday night at 7:15 in the Little Theatre.

Dr. Eichelberger holds a Ph. D. degree, is connected with the American National Red Cross, and is assistant national director of nutrition service. She is an authoritative speaker along the lines of her work, and her talk will be pertinent to home economics students.

Because the club is fortunate in procuring her to give an address the organization sends an invitation to everyone. Club and faculty members are urged to bring their membership cards. Uppercasmen will have the opportunity to join after the address.

Silence Week for Sorority Rushes Now In Progress

All Preferential Bidding to Be Handled Through Dean Conrad's Office.

Silence week, commencing all week Friday, began today morning and will continue until Friday afternoon. During this time, sorority members will be requested to refrain from all social activities. Preferential bidding will be handled through Dean Conrad's office by a designated committee.

All preferential bids were mailed from Dean Conrad's office Tuesday morning. They will be opened and returned to the office by the college in person by Wednesday noon. The bids will be sent out Thursday afternoon. Students will send any acceptance to the secretary Friday, morning.

Informal pledging will be held at the various sorority houses all week Friday afternoon. They will bring to a close the fall term, pledging.

ELIOWITZ LEADS SPARTANS IN RIDING OVER BEARCATS; RESERVES ARE GIVEN CHANCE

Coach Crowley's Eleven Gets Away to Good Start in First Grid Game With Team From Buckeye State; Abie Scores Three Touchdowns; Grove's Punting Improves.

MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE opened grid relations with the University of Cincinnati in fitting style Saturday afternoon when a smooth working Spartan grid machine rode rough shod over the Bearcat team to the tune of 32 to 0. Coach Jimmy Crowley's men had little trouble in disposing of the team from the Buckeye state in spite of the fact that they resorted mainly to straight football because of the presence of Colgate scouts.

Led by the brilliant playing of Abie Eliowitz, sophomore full-back, the Crowleymen forged down the field for a touchdown in the first few minutes of the game, with Bob Monnett, another sophomore backfield ace, carrying the ball across. Both Eliowitz and Monnett were continually breaking away for substantial gains, the Spartan full-back reeling off the longest run of the day when he sprinted 55 yards for a touchdown in the opening minute of the second half.

Roger Grove, Spartan quarterback, showed a big improvement over his punting of last week at Ann Arbor. The Ohio team could not pierce the Spartan line and was forced to punt early in the first quarter. Warren and Monnett then alternated in carrying the ball to Cincinnati's 23 yard line. Eliowitz tipped up the Bearcat line for more yardage and then Monnett galloped across for the first score of the game. Monnett's try for the extra point was blocked by a Cincy line-man.

Grove Breaks Loose The second quarter was featured by the brilliant footing and ball carrying ability displayed by Grove. It was in this period that the former Sturgis star cut through the Ohio team and raced 33 yards for a touchdown. Warren and Monnett also contributed substantial gains to help the Spartans cause. Eliowitz added to his stellar offensive work by repeatedly hitting the opposing team for losses.

The first play of the third period saw Eliowitz slant off his right tackle, aided by perfect interference, and run 55 yards for a touchdown. The period was also featured by the superb toe work of the Spartan quarterback who got Johnny Orsi, rated as probably the greatest end in the east, will be one of Colgate's many beefy stars who will oppose State here Saturday in the Homecoming day football game. He weighs 175 pounds and is one of the main obstacles that the Spartan backs must overcome in gaining ground this week.

DESIGNATE FROSH GAME AS BENEFIT

Yearlings to Play Grand Rapids Junior Eleven Nov. 8 to Aid Captain Smead.

The football contest between Grand Rapids Junior college and the State freshmen has been officially designated by the athletic council and the college faculty as the "Smead Benefit game." This game will be played at 9:30 Saturday morning, Nov. 8, in the stadium. All the expenses connected with this game have been donated, which means that every penny taken in at the gate will go direct to Captain Smead to defray his hospital expenses. Tickets will be placed on sale at 50 cents each. Athletic coupon books will not be good for this game.

Brucker Speaks To Large Crowd In Church Sunday

Wilbur M. Brucker, attorney general of Michigan and republican candidate for governor, addressed a large crowd at a meeting of the Students' Citizenship association in Peoples church on Sunday. His topic was "The Church, the State, and Yourself." Among other points, he stressed the mutual need of church for state and state for church, stating that while each had its work in its own field, that they were also interdependent. The church is needed to impress respect for the laws which the state deposed and the state is needed to maintain freedom of conscience for the church.

Miss Vera Munsell has withdrawn from college during the fall term because of bad health and expects to spend several weeks with her aunt in New York. Miss Annie Laurie Becker, business manager of the Michigan State News, will take her place as president of Pan-Hellenic until her return winter term.

EXPLAIN DUCAT BLANK SYSTEM

Athletic Department Heads Emphasize Importance of Prompt Application.

To avoid disappointment in regard to ticket applications for future home games, the athletic department office desires to stress further the rules which are plainly printed on all application blanks.

Applications will be filed according to date received and in the following order: seniors, juniors, sophomores, freshmen.

After the deadline date printed on the application blank, all applications, regardless of class, will be given like consideration.

Groups of students wishing to sit together may enclose their applications in the same envelope. Applications from students in different classes wishing to sit together will be filed in the order of the lowest class.

Students may purchase five cash tickets as long as tickets are available and may secure an adjacent seat in exchange for the student coupon properly signed in ink. Every student is allowed to file one application only and under no condition will the order of an application be changed nor will it be permitted to add to same after its receipt by the athletic association.

No application from students for tickets will be considered unless made on the back of the blank supplied, accompanied by full remittance for all purchased tickets. The association furnishes the student with a regulation sized envelope which must be self-addressed and a two-cent stamp placed thereon. This envelope must accompany all applications. If you wish tickets sent by registered mail to insure delivery, stamps to the amount of 17 cents must be on self-addressed envelope. Tickets are otherwise mailed at applicant's risk and lost tickets will not be replaced.

Keen Competition

Jake Pace, regular end, last season, served notice Saturday when given an opportunity to play a few minutes against Cincinnati that he is still strong in the running for a flank position on Coach Jimmy Crowley's 1930 Spartan eleven. Jake got a chance to see service at Red Vandermere's right end post and gave a very pleasing exhibition. He was so effective in fact, that whenever a State substitute was sent in, the Cincy fan called for the removal of that right end.

Strong Scoring Machine

Colgate university football team, the next opponent for Michigan State's gridlers, has a powerful scoring machine. Coach Andy Kerr's team is leading the scoring for eastern eleven's with a total of 174 points amassed during the first three games. The mighty Colgate combination is one of the 26 unbeaten teams in the east and is also one of the 13 of these 26 that boast an uncrossed goal line to date.

The Spartans will be out Saturday to shatter Maroon's record of not being scored upon and are considered very likely to turn the trick. State also has a record of not being scored upon this season.

More Opportunities

Much interest is being manifested in intra-mural sports, but L. I. Frimodt, assistant athletic director in charge of this branch of competition, says that there are many chances for more men to take part. Intra-mural sports are intended to benefit athletes who are not of varsity calibre and provides plenty of good exercise and enjoyment.

Band Works Hard

For the past ten days the band has been parading back and forth between the goal posts at the stadium every night, drilling for the high peak of the year the Colgate game. With Johnny Goudback at the helm again and handling the baton in the approved Goudback manner with Director Leonard Falcone at the megaphone, and Capt. F. H. Grubb barking out the military orders for the various formations, it is a safe bet that the musical aggregation that goes on the field Saturday will uphold Spartan band traditions of the past. An entirely new formation, in which the letters "S-T-A-T-E" are formed in succession, will be the feature of the band performance between the halves.

Crowley Speaks To Kiwanis Club In Owosso Oct. 10

The growth of football from a position where it was on the verge of being banned because of its almost barbaric characteristics, to its present popularity, was described by James H. Crowley, head football coach at Michigan State college in addressing the Kiwanis club at Owosso Oct. 10.

Crowley mentioned other interesting events in the history of football. He called President Theodore Roosevelt the saviour of football because of his swift action in calling a meeting of the heads of the big schools in the east and out of that came legislation which saved it. Coach Crowley also gave a brief discussion of Michigan State's part in holding the University of Michigan to a scoreless tie.
