STATE CAGERS PLAY MICHIGAN GAME AT ANN ARBOR SATURDAY; SPARTAN LINEUP IS UNCERTAIN

Coach Van Alstyne's Basketeers Have Chance to Score Third Win in Succession Over Wolverine Court Aggregates; Many Fans to Follow Team on Trip.

MICHIGAN STATE'S BASKETBALL TEAM will encounter its first real opposition of the season when it invades Ann Arbor Saturday night to meet the University of Michigan squad. The tilt with Coach George Veenker's Wolverine cagers will show definitely whether or not Coach Ben E. Van Alstyne's latest court combination has the ability that has made his teams feared and respected throughout the Midwest in recent years.

The season's opener with the University of Cincinnati, which the State basketeers copped, 25 to 8, showed a somewhat rugged Spartan defense, but the past week has seen some juggling in the lineup and Saturday's game should be featured by a much more spirited scoring attack.

A large following of students and local sports fans are expected to follow the team to Ann Arbor to witness the game which will be played in the Yost Field house.

Coach Van Alstyne's men have averaged 20.5 points per game in the two seasons in the annual tilt with the Maize and Blue Spartans. The team will not be the thrilling one point victory which Michigan helped the Spartans new portable demonstration hall. The result of the battle was in doubt the night and it was a beautiful shot by Roy Grove that won the game. The versatile Grove has been playing a whole of a new game, showing some of the best of his ability. He has been dropping through the air a few seconds before the buzzer and gave State a hard earned victory.

Michigan State will be minus the services of Don Grove, speedy forward, and Fred Herder, head-headed center, who were injured in the game at Ann Arbor. Wayne Heat and Art Hays, however, the Spartans' cagers of no mean ability, whom they played in last year's losing most of last year's high graduation should be at an advantage. The Maize and Blue Spartans showed unexpected quiet Ann Arbor last Saturday when it romped over the power house State Teachers team, 35 to 15. Kalamazoo team was rated the best ever to represent Michigan and was composed mainly of freshmen.

Coach Van Alstyne has been developing the entire week to perfect a strategy for the game. The Spartans' offense and the State cagers have been engaging in a series of scrimmages. The last part of the week the Spartans court mentor had his men (Continued on page 2)

Yearbook Gains Council Support

Passes Resolution Giving Aid to 1931 Wolverine Last Night.

Passage of a resolution supporting the 1931 Wolverine, the approval of a date for the Frosh Frolic, and campus problems for winter term, were the matters taken up at the final fall term meeting of the Student Council held in the Union building Thursday evening.

The council unanimously voted to pass a resolution giving the members of the Student body to support the 1931 Wolverine because of the annual's value to the college as a chronicle of events.

Freshman President Chapin submitted the date of Saturday, Jan. 24 for the Frosh Frolic which was accepted by the group. Another matter of the council was a discussion concerning the numerous honoraries and societies on the campus at the present time which have not obtained a charter from the council as yet. The matter was deferred to winter term when a check-up will be made by the council.

The remainder of the meeting was a discussion of problems which President Douglas Carruthers and Vice President Charles Lord will bring up at the national convention which they will attend at Atlanta, Ga., during the holidays.

NEW ANATOMY BUILDING WILL BE OPEN JAN. 5

Moving to Start on Christmas Day; Interior Finishing Rushed.

TO BE WELL EQUIPPED

Fittings to Total $3,800; Entire Cost of Structure to Total $100,000

Work on the new building for Anatomy and Animal Pathology is being rushed this week in an effort to get the final touches on the interior before Christmas day, when the college building and ground department plans to start the work of moving in laboratory equipment and setting furniture. The building is expected to be ready for use by the opening of winter term, January 5.

The new structure designed by Fred Mansel, Lansing architect, after the style in vogue among college buildings during the Tudor period, is being equipped by Dr. F. W. Gray, dean, head of the department of Anatomy, and Dr. E. T. Hallman, head of the Animal Pathology department, with their respective staffs. Dr. V. M. Johnson, head of the United States Department of Agriculture, will also have an office in the new building.

Members of the Anatomy staff are particularly anxious to move into their new quarters since with the closing of the old Anatomy building last summer they had been forced to occupy a part of the second floor in the Woodstock building. The department was unable to give two regularly scheduled courses during last term due to lack of room in the temporary quarters.

New equipment valued at $3,800 including tables, special cases, and desks is to be installed in the new building. Equipment belonging to the Animal Pathology department will be moved from the basement of Hartwood building to the new quarters.

The new 21 class rooms and laboratories in the building of Anatomy and Animal Pathology include several clinics. The walls of the clinics are faced with vitreous enamel which is a polished surface capable of being cleaned with a wet cloth.

Green Talks To Faculty Group

Addresses Men at Weekly Luncheon Held in Union Bldg. Wednesday.

Governor Fred W. Green addressed about 50 members of the Faculty Men's Club Wednesday at the regular weekly luncheon in the dining room on the third floor of the Union. That will probably be the last time that Governor Green will meet with the members of the faculty.

The governor's talk was informal and it revealed the requested information that exists in Michigan penal institutions. He also pointed out that many young men would be in prison the day had they been caught by the proper environment in their homes.

The church is another powerful factor that could be utilized in changing the careers of many wayward young men and women, and he also suggested that better education tended to mean better employment and one who is employed has less time to devote to criminal pursuits.

1931 WOLVERINE SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE TO HAVE COOPERATION OF MAJOR CAMPUS ORGANIZATIONS

To Last From January 7 to 17; Goal Is Set for 1,400 Subscribers; Intensive Campaign to Reach All Components of Student Body.

SPONSORED by the faculty, the Student Council, Blue Key, S and other campus organizations, the ten-day Wolverine subscription campaign will swing into motion on January 7 and will last until January 17, according to an announcement made today by William Pratt, annual editor. A goal of 1,400 subscribers before the final day of the campaign has been set by committee.

Plans outlined today for the campaign include a complete canvass of the society houses, dormitory dormitories, men's dorms, and a personal visit to all students who live in private homes. Students will be given an opportunity to subscribe by paying $5 down with the remaining $5 due on or before April 15 or by paying $5 in a lump sum.

In announcing the campaign Pratt stated it will be financially impossible to publish the 1931 Wolverine unless the student body supports it at this time. Right handed subscriptions have been set at a total of 1,400.

2,720 STUDENTS ARE REGISTERED BY NEW SYSTEM

858 Pay Fees in Advance; Heads of Departments Pleased With Its Success.

At the close of pre-classification Wednesday afternoon 2,720 students had registered for the winter term, it was announced today. Practically all campus departments had taken care of a large percentage of their own classification, while 858 had paid their fees for next term. This latter is the most outstanding feature of the enrollment, since it was expected that a larger number would have advanced their payment of paying fees any time before the end of the year.

Outcomes of new schemes of pre-classification tried on this campus for the first time last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, was something of a surprise to the college faculty, who looked for greater efficiency in enrolling the student body in the winter term. The new scheme, which was carried out and engineering division yesterday had practically all their students classified, while the liberal arts had 867 accommodated. The applied science division announced that they had had more than one-quarter of their people set to report, but that they had not required immediate attention in this on the part of their students.

Students are urged to remember that the fees that they have been allowed to leave unpaid during registration will be sent to the college treasurer along with all cards received from the registrar. In case this is not complied with, delinquents will be obliged to return to school Jan. 5 to re-register. This will also hold for those who have failed in any subject this term unless arrangements by the registrar have been made with the class officer.

Winter term classes will officially start at 8 o'clock Monday morning, Jan. 5. Fees for late registration will go into effect on that date. It was announced.

ACCORD MEXICAN TROUPE OVATION THURSDAY NIGHT

Juan Torreblanca and His Tropic Orchestra Play to 1,200 On College Course.

That the students of Michigan State college like the romance and music of Mexico was clearly demonstrated last night in the Frosh Auditorium in Lansing when more than 1,200 students and a distinct visitor, Juan Torreblanca and his Tropic Orchestra, gave a concert. The Mexican music, which is the specialty of the Tropic Orchestra, was well received by the students. The Tropic Orchestra, which is a native of Mexico, consists of 15 members and includes a violinist, a pianist, a guitarist, a bassist, a drummer, and a singer. The orchestra has been playing in the Frosh Auditorium since last year and has given many concerts. The students of Michigan State college are very fond of Mexican music and the Tropic Orchestra has been very popular. The concert last night was a great success and the students gave the orchestra a warm ovation.

ESTABLISH NEW HONORARY HERE

Organize Beta Alpha Sigma, Local Horticultural Honor Society.

Beta Alpha Sigma, a new local honorary society in landscape architecture and allied arts, has recently been organized. The membership of the organization is open only to landscape architecture, horticulture, and architectural drawing students.

The charter members of the society are in landscape architecture: Fred E. Hallman and Charles Barr, architecture: William H. Brown, horticulture: Fred W. H. Brown, and architectural drawing: Fred W. H. Brown.

BYRD PICTURES ARCTIC DANGERS

Graphic Account of Polar Expedition Given Large Crowd Wednesday.

Holding a capacity audience enthralled for three hours in Frosh Auditorium Wednesday evening, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd of the United States Navy delivered a thrilling account of his recent hazardous expedition to the last frontier in the world, the Antarctic.

A complete picture review of the trip was shown by Admiral Byrd making comments on them. The new journey in the City of New York to Little America, Antarctica, the base that they built, the hardships they made exploring for the benefit of science, the joys, dangers, and routine of life during their two year trip, and the strange life of the polar were all vividly displayed.

Most people believe that the north and south poles are similar. The south pole is still in the grip of the ice sea that has never receded as it has in the rest of the world. The south pole is in the center of a huge plateau 10,000 feet high and covered with snow that never melts. The north pole is over an ocean, 10,000 feet deep and the snow is relatively light. On the average it is 25 degrees colder in the south and the wind is much stronger. Living down there is like another planet, the Admiral stated.

Some idea of the cold may be gleaned from the fact that kerosene and an anti-freeze mixture froze solid. Masks had to be worn over the face and taking gloves off for even a moment was dangerous. Their breath froze so rapidly that they could hear it crackle.

The flight to the pole was a long and arduous one. A box of kerosene was lashed down far to the south as the plane could not carry enough for the entire trip. They ran the danger of having one of the sudden spring storms sweep down on them and had only the one weather station to rely on for information. The trip had to be made in the spring because of the soupy fogs that come up suddenly during the summer.

The entire flight in the big tri-motor plane is recorded in the films. They show the near-disaster that was averted only by dumping some of the precious food supply. Over the pole a small American flag was dropped with a stone from the grave of Byrd Bennett, the companion of Floyd on the north pole expedition.

The admiral talked about the trip in a rather impersonal manner and did not bring himself into the scene unless it was absolutely necessary. He gave a great deal of credit to the men who gave two years of their life to make the success possible.

The M. S. C. military band gave a concert before Rev. E. C. Reasoner of the Universalist church of Lansing introduced Byrd. They were well received by the crowd who loudly applauded the numbers that they played.

That the State student body is interested in lectures of this sort was proven by the large numbers of them attending.

UNIQUE THEME TO MARK PARTY

Spring Dance Tonight to Have Novel Desert Scene for Decorations.

Optimistic local honorary co-ed organization is sponsoring a party to be held tonight in the Union ballroom from 8:00 to 12:00. Zopper Tan's Kings of Detroit will play for the occasion.

The ballroom will be transformed into a veritable desert scene in which the Sphinx head, its eyes lighted electrically to correspond to the flames of the Sphinx jet, will look down upon the dancers from its place on the orchestra. Walls lined by trailing palm trees in silhouette will lend an added tropic atmosphere. The melodious strains of Zopper Tan's dignified will issue from an arabesque which will replace the usual orchestral platters. Favors will be black and gold Sphinx heads and may be secured at the door.

Guests of the evening are: Dean Marie Dye, Doctor Lydia Lightering, President and Mrs. R. S. Shaw, Secretary and Mrs. H. H. Halladay, Dean Elizabeth Conrad, Miss Irene Shaban, Miss Iva Lovell, and Prof. and Mrs. E. C. Simmons. The patron list comprises the following names: Lieut.-Col. G. B. Chase, Rodney and Capt. and Mrs. G. B. Chase, Coach and Mrs. James Conroy, and Prof. and Mrs. L. C. Conroy.

Admission is $2.00 and tickets may be secured at the door.

CONTEST DATE IS SET AHEAD

Jan. 5 Is Deadline for Contribution of Names for New Co-ed Dorm.

Advance in the deadline date for the submitting of names in the A. W. S. contest to name the new co-ed dormitory has been made from Jan. 1 to Jan. 5, as was previously announced. The prize name will carry a $10 award which is offered by A. W. S.

Final decision on the prize winner will be made by the State Board of Agriculture. Although few entries have been made as yet, all students are invited to compete and it is expected that a good variety of contributions will be obtained.

Rules for the contest are announced as follows:

The names for the dormitory must be written separately on a slip of paper, and the name of the contributor must be on another slip. This is done in order to promote an absolutely fair contest. The entries must be on Dean Conrad's desk on the above mentioned date.

The structure is scheduled for completion on the first of July 1931. At the present time masonry work is rapidly being laid, having ascended above the first floor level all the way around the exterior. It is of red brick and stone construction and when completed will be one of the most beautiful buildings on the campus.

UNION TO HAVE RADIO SYSTEM

To Be Installed Over Christmas Vacation; is for Student Entertainment.

An expensive radio and amplification system for the entertainment and pleasure of the student body will be installed in the Union building during Christmas vacation and is expected to be ready for operation by the first of winter term, it was announced today by Roy Edgar, Union steward.

It is planned to install a master radio at the main desk of the Union building and from that point relay through to huge amplifiers in the lobby itself the radio will be carried and the main during from speakers. Capacity of the loud speaker is said to be so great that they can be heard in several blocks within their peak.

As an added feature of the system, it is thought that by merely receiving the speakers it will be possible to broadcast events and programs taking place in the building and send them to listeners in all parts of the Union.

The installation of this hook-up is in keeping with the policy of the Union to make the building a pleasant and entertaining place for the student body as a whole.

FROSH SWIMMERS DROP FIRST MEET

Lansing Eastern Splashes Beat State Yearlings, 41-34; Long Sets Record.

State's freshman swimmers lost their first meet of the season to the well-tanned Lansing Eastern high school tank squad Thursday afternoon, 41 to 34.

A few of Coach R. A. Davert's yearling splashers showed good individual form, but Eastern's team strength decided the outcome.

The Spartans' first swimmer, Montgomery, former Detroit Northwestern tank ace, won the 50 yard free style. Constance copped the 100 yard breast stroke, and Long set a record in winning the 100 yard breast stroke. Blair finished second for State in the backstroke. Two other yearling tank records were broken, but the State men failed to win the races, so the marks will probably not be considered. Blair had an easy time winning first in the fancy diving for State.

KNUTE ROCKNE TO SPEAK HERE

Famous Notre Mentor to Address Grid Banquet Dec. 20.

Coach Knute R. Rockne, famous mentor of the Notre Dame football team, is scheduled to speak at the annual grid banquet Dec. 20 in the Union memorial building. Over 900 people are expected to attend the event, which is sponsored by the Central Michigan Alumni Association and the Lansing Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Guests at the dinner will include Dick Remington and the local state high school grid team, and several other football groups of distinction. The honor team will be presented through good media symbols of the honor they have been accorded.

Committees in charge of the event are functioning and all details are rapidly being worked out. The affair is to be one of the most pretentious ever held.

Turner Broughton is general chairman. Heads of various committees are as follows: Joseph Gwin, tickets; Richard Lyman and George Julian, program; Ray Riggs and George Clark, banquet; Earl Holman and Percet Lang, guests; William Spurrier, seating; David Stouffer and Walter Neiler, housing; Charles Barber and E. A. Johnson, publicity.

W. WOOD SPEAKS AT CHEMICAL MEETING

Address on "The Cosmopolitan and Characteristics of Spring Material"

A meeting of the local section of the American Chemical Society was held on Tuesday, Dec. 9 at 8 p. m. in the main lecture room of the Keadie Chemical Laboratory.

The speaker of the evening was Prof. W. P. Wood, formerly connected with the Chemical Engineering department of the University of Michigan. His subject was "The Composition and Characteristics of Spring Material." During the course of his interesting discussion he explained the various effects of temperature on spring steel. He also brought out the fact that the formulae used in the making of springs for high temperatures are different from those used in the making of springs for low temperatures.

FROSH URGED TO TAKE TESTS

Psychological, English Placement, and Math Exams Must Be Completed.

Freshmen who expect to enter classes next term are advised to take the Psychological, English placement, and Mathematics examinations for freshmen if they have not done so already.

According to E. R. Prout, assistant dean of Liberal Arts, this is the last time the tests will be offered, and all those who have not taken them must do so at this time. The tests will be given in the Chemistry lecture room, Friday afternoon. The schedule for the afternoon class for the Psychological exam is 1 o'clock, the English placement test at 2 o'clock, and the Mathematics exam at 3 o'clock.

Co-eds May Remain At Abbott Dorm During Vacation

These girls who expect to remain in East Lansing over the Christmas holidays are requested to leave their names at Dean Elizabeth Conrad's office so that arrangements can be made for rooms for them. According to Mae Conrad it is likely that Abbott Dormitory will remain open most of the time and for the remaining few days rooms in town will be procured for the girls. All the dormitories will be opened Friday, January 2.

With the beginning of the winter term the system of elevator and telephone alterations in the women's dormitories will be entirely reorganized. It seems that a large number of girls can remain in school next term only if they obtain some kind of work here, and this reorganization is planned to give as many girls as possible jobs.

LOST—A pair of brown kid gloves in Abbott Apts. Disappeared Thursday of last week. Return to College Manor, Apt. 9, or Union desk.

ATE PERMISSION GIVEN

The Associated Women Students will have announced that late permission will be granted to co-eds during examination week. Co-eds who do have examinations in the morning have eleven o'clock permission on examination night. Permission for check has been granted following the completion of all examinations.

How to Opponents In Orators' Battle

Michigan State's men's negative debate team (composed of Robert Hurley and Paul Youner, lost by an audience decision to Detroit College of Law at Danville Tuesday evening, Dec. 9, on the unemployment insurance question. Audience vote also decided against the affirmative team, Harry Skornia and Morris Huberman, in their debate with Olivet at Pottsville last Wednesday evening.

Society Offers Prize to Senior Engineers for Technical Paper

The third annual contest of the Detroit branch of the American Society of Civil Engineers is now open to all senior civil engineering students of this college for the best thesis on design or investigation of some engineering problem. First prize is the initiation fee and one year's dues in the A. S. C. E. The thesis is due just before commencement.

CO-OPERATION AND FORESIGHT!

At the close of the year of 1930, it is well to stop and consider the various unpleasant occurrences on the campus which have arisen which might have been avoided. Perhaps at times it has appeared easy to place the blame upon one group or another, but in the final analysis there seems to be something sorely lacking in the relations between the students and the faculty at Michigan State.

During the past term several unfortunate circumstances have arisen which no doubt will be long remembered. Trivialities which might have easily been ironed out in advance, have grown in size so as to become major problems. At these times co-operation and foresight seemed to be lacking. The faculty sat back and repeatedly asked, where did the student groups get their power while the student leaders were bewildered as to what stand they are expected to take on questions of campus interest. It all simmers down to the old game of "back passing," a thing which is not conducive to amicable relationships between the faculty and student body.

At times it has been apparent that the student groups have failed to attain their purpose in directing campus activities. But this is NOT the complete solution to the problem.

One of the major difficulties encountered is that the faculty and the student leaders have failed to find a common ground on which problems concerning college activities can be discussed and settled. Both act independently with but little thought as to what the attitude of the other group might be. Thus when an issue arises, a crisis is allowed to arise without a remedy for the occasion prepared. Co-operation and foresight have been lacking.

Once, during fall term, co-operation and foresight of the two groups proved to be a saving factor and allowed that particular event to be successful in every sense of the word. With such a splendid example close at hand, why don't members of the faculty and student leaders take heed of the glaring weakness of our college events by co-operating on everything. The two groups may differ in opinion at the outset but surely some common ground can be found and all difficulties be ironed out.

With the incoming year it would be a good plan to turn over a new leaf and forget what has happened in the past. Co-operation and foresight will go a long way to settle the many questions that arise each term.

Faculty Club Gives Christmas Party in The Little Theater

The Faculty Club is holding its Christmas meeting at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon in the Little Theater rather than in the Union as previously announced. Mrs. J. W. Stack is in charge of the Christmas music and a dramatic program will be presented under the supervision of Mrs. E. J. Miller. Mrs. Margaret H. Hartsuch will play the role of Santa Claus.

Miss Louise Clemens is chairman of the refreshment committee, while Mrs. Helen Monroe is general chairman for the day and is assisted by Mrs. E. J. Hallman, Mrs. O. A. Thompson, Mrs. G. I. Ricks, Mrs. W. L. Chandler, Mrs. C. W. Chapman, Mrs. L. C. Clapp, Mrs. S. H. White, Mrs. Gertrude Brown, Mrs. A. F. Westphal and Mrs. Elma Gross.

Faculty Members Go to Chicago For Research Meeting

Last week various members of the Bacteriology and Animal Pathology departments attended convention meetings in Chicago. On Tuesday they attended the conference of the state and Federal official research workers in animal diseases and the meetings of the United States livestock sanitary association were attended on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The representatives from the Bacteriology department were Dr. Giltner, Dr. Stafseth, Mr. Huddleston, Mr. Torrey, and Mr. Johnson. Those who went from the Animal Pathology department were Mrs. Killiam, Prof. Hallman and Mr. Sholl.

A communion service for Episcopal students will be held Sunday, morning, Dec. 14, at 9 o'clock, in the chapel of Peoples church.

NEW ANATOMY BUILDING READY JAN.

Part of the first floor was constructed five feet below ground level to accommodate a large vat for storing specimens used by the department of Animal Pathology. The adjoining room will be used for laboratory work in gross anatomy.

Except for two sinker floors in the ground floor, the first and second stories of the new building will be occupied by the Anatomy department. Animal Pathology will dominate the third floor and the same water vat specimens of small animals will be kept. A service elevator has been installed to aid in moving specimens from the ground floor to the upper stories.

Construction work was delayed last week by lack of a method of heating the building, the steam main from the college power house not having been laid. The problem was solved by connecting the heating system with the boiler of a portable steam engine. Once heat was supplied, work on the interior has progressed rapidly.

The new structure, which is being built by the Reinger Construction company of Lansing at a cost of nearly $100,000, is located east of the Dairy building.

covering on the Vocational school floor in Lansing in order to overcome the handicap of practicing in the cramped quarters of the gym. Thursday night the Spartans engaged in their last hard workout before the game and exhibited much better form than that which was displayed last week Friday night.

The Spartan opening lineup Saturday night will likely find Art Hara and Wayne Scott dependable guards at their old positions. Roger Grove and Doc Pinneo may be at the forwards, with Boeskoel a possible starter at the pivot position. State is not lacking in reserve material and several newcomers will probably see action during the evening. McCaslin and Haun, centers; Barnard, Wykes, Holcomb and Duffield forwards are reserves who have shown ability.

The Spartans are leaving at 12:30 Saturday noon in order to have plenty of time before the big battle of the evening.

German Honorary Members Attend Meeting Tuesday

Fourteen persons attended a get-together meeting of the Phi Gamma Phi national honorary German fraternity at the home of Miss Louise Freshofer, 414 Evergreen street, Tuesday evening. The program for the evening was featured by an interesting talk given by Miss Freshofer on her trip to Europe last summer. She stressed especially the stories and legends of the Rhine. Among other things on the program were piano solos given by G. F. Stennetz, Katherine Schroeder, Mrs. Ethel Ratnik, and Miss Freshofer. Refreshments were served by Miss Freshofer.

STEPPING INTO A MODERN WORLD

Charting tomorrow's telephone needs

Looking ahead -- laying a firm foundation for tomorrow's telephone service -- has long been a keystone policy of the Bell System. To illustrate: business starts creeping into a residential district -- a sign that greatly increased telephone facilities will be required. Through intensive studies, commercial engineers forecast the needs of five or more years hence with scientific accuracy. Additional exchange cable ducts, equipment of all kinds planned and built. When the call comes the telephone company is ready. So long as the nation continues to change and grow, the plotting of its future telephone needs will never grow dull. The opportunity is there!

Two Feature Events to Enliven Pre-examination Week-End and Close Term's Social Activities

Sphinx Party in the Union and Sigma Alpha Iota Formal Reception at the Peoples Church are Outstanding Social Affairs.

AS A GRACEFUL FINIS to the social season, the week-end promises several interesting affairs before the usual lull during the following week of hectic academic pursuits. Outstanding among campus functions is the Sphinx party to be given in the Union ballroom tonight.

Sigma Alpha Iota To Give Reception At Church Friday

University of Michigan Artist to Be Guest at Formal Event Tonight.

Sigma Alpha Iota, national musical fraternity, is giving a formal reception tonight in the Peoples church at which Mrs. Maude Okkeberg of Ann Arbor will be presented as the guest artist. She is assistant professor of piano at the University School of Music and a member of the Alpha chapter of the fraternity.

Orators' Contest To Be Held Sunday At Peoples Church

The annual oratorical contest, to which students and the public are invited, will be held Sunday afternoon, Dec. 14, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Peoples church. The winning orator will represent Michigan State college in the Michigan Oratorical League contest in March.

The judges Prof. W. W. Johnston, Prof. J. D. Menchhofer, and O. J. Drake will base their decision on the speaker whose oration shows the most promise and will grant first and second prizes of ten and five dollars each to the winners.

Five more will compete in the contest: Gordon Fischer, 33, on "Prison Reform"; Barney Claghorn, 31, "Young America on Guard"; Glenn Bedell, 33, "Chemistry and Agriculture"; and Curnel Hampton, 32, "Significance of Modern Atheism."

Activities Planned For Winter Term by M. S. C. Polo Club

Members of the Polo club plan to start indoor practice in the riding hall of the army as soon as the basketball floor is taken out in February. It is hoped that a contest can be arranged later in the winter with the polo team of the Detroit Humane and Riding club.

Graduate Speaks To Engineers on Building Problems

The student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers, held a meeting Wednesday evening, Dec. 10, at 7:30 p. m. in Olds hall. The speaker of the evening was J. B. Davidson, class of '22, who has been the representative of R. E. Olds company in the erection of the Capital National bank building, the tallest in Lansing. The speaker talked on the construction of the bank building, which is unusual due to the fact that foundational columns had to be sunk 100 feet to rest on rock to support the structure.

1930 Was Big Sport Year

THREE TEAMS HAD SUCCESSFUL SEASONS TO GIVE STATE FAME IN NATIONAL ATHLETIC CIRCLES

Football, Basketball and Baseball Squads go Through Difficult Schedules With Splendid Records; Track, Cross-Country Athletes Scored Wins.

By GIL ROTHFUSS
THE YEAR 1930 was just one more step in Michigan State's steady climb to national recognition in athletic circles, but it was a great one. All things considered, Spartan teams probably gathered more all-around prestige in sport between Jan. 1 and Dec. 2, than any similar period in the history of the institution.

Exceptional records in three major sports, and sparkling individual performances in minor sports combined to give the wearers of the green and white a truly enviable record among mid-western schools. In 57 basketball, baseball, football, and track contests, the Spartans piled up an impressive record of 41 victories, against some of the strongest competition in the nation. At the same time they lost but 14 games, and tied two.

Syracuse university pried the cover off the 1930 sport calendar against Coach Ben Van Alstyne's flying Dutchmen, when they took a hectic New Year's day game from the Spartan basketball team. The big Orange team, fresh from an overwhelming victory over Dartmouth, tripped Van Alstyne's men in the final minute of play, and as a result enjoyed the distinction of being the only aggregation to defeat the Spartans on their home court.

Only three other teams, Notre Dame, Bethany, and Marquette, were able to take the fast-traveling Staters into camp, but each of these was humbled by Van Alstyne's men in return engagements. Twelve hard games were chalked up on the winning side of the ledger to offset the four losses.

After the Syracuse game, the Spartans settled down to steady basketball.

game, dedicating the new portable floor at Demonstration hall that the high point of the season was reached. The flashy Wolverines, led by Captain Joe Frankowski, were nipped 27 to 26 in the most thrilling final five minutes of basketball ever witnessed at East Lansing.

State dropped the night game to Notre Dame 28 to 17, and returned to beat Hillsdale 34 to 23 in the gymnasium. The curtain dropped on a tired Spartan team at Marquette, when the Hill-toppers gained revenge for their previous trimming by triumphing 21 to 14.

Baseball Team Wins
Coach John Kobs developed a highly successful baseball team which won 19 and dropped six games during the entire season. Three of the defeats suffered by the Spartans were on the southern training trip during spring vacation, in which State broke even, winning three and losing three games.

The University of Michigan, Chicago university and Iowa State Teachers college were the only teams to turn back the Spartans during the home season, and both Michigan and Chicago were defeated in return games. Michigan Normal, of Ypsilanti, won two out of three games with the Wolverines, and double won over Notre Dame, Michigan Normal, Central State and Western State Teachers' featured the Spartan diamond season.

The team had not gotten in the habit of winning on the training trip and encountered some tough opposition. The Spartan nine broke even with Marquette, dropped a game to the strongest team turned out at Vanderbilt in many years, beat St. Xavier and the University of Cincinnati and lost to Miami on the long jaunt.

The Maroon nine from Chicago proved easy and Junior Kahl was credited with a 12 to 4 victory on the initial game of the home season. Charlie Griffin, sophomore outfielder, and Michigan Normal, of Ypsilanti, downed 4 to 1 in the next encounter. Kahl hurled State to a 4 to 3 win over Syracuse and with Percy Bullock on the mound the Spartans swamped Central State of Mt. Pleasant, 11 to 1.

The Iowa Teachers broke the Kobsmen's winning streak by eking out a 5 to 4 victory. In the next game the Spartans beat Notre Dame 3 to 2 with Griffin chinking. Western State of Kalamazoo was toppled 7 to 4, and Hope proved an easy opponent, the Spartans winning 13 to 5 with Pete Brose on the mound. State scored another victory over Western State at

Beat Michigan
The University of Chicago batters again interrupted the string of Spartan victories when they upset the hope to score a 4 to 3 win on a muddy diamond which made fielding almost an impossibility. State avenged an early defeat at the hands of Miami by winning 11 to 3 in a game played here. The Kobsmen blanked Oberlin college 3 to 0. State's crack diamond aggregation invaded South Bend, Ind., and returned with Notre Dame's scalp after a 5 to 3 victory. Cincinnati was beaten 5 to 3.

Griffin pitched State to a 7 to 1 victory in the first of the three game series with Michigan. It was State's Alumni Day game. He allowed only two hits and batters missed hurling a no-hit, no-run game, but Max Craik's error and a hot double cheated Griffin of this honor, and let the Wolverine score in the ninth inning. Michigan Normal was forced to be content with four hits, given up by Coach Kobs' outfielder sophomore mound ace and State won 9 to 3.

Michigan defeated State 6 to 3, at Ann Arbor for the Wolverine Homecoming, but the Spartans capped the rubber handsily, winning 8 to 4. The recent football season put the final touch on a successful year in sport. Crowley's team putting Michigan State on the football map for the first time in more than a decade. Married only by a one point defeat by Georgetown university in a night game, 14 to 13, the Spartans went through the rest of the season undefeated.

Turn Colgate Back
Showing under Alma 28 to 0 in a warm-up game, the Green and White gridlers journeyed to Ann Arbor, Oct. 4, and battled the Big Ten champions to a scoreless tie after outplaying the Wolverines throughout the first part of the game. The determined goal line stand made by the Spartans when the Wolverine offensive threatened to break up the deadlock, was the outstanding feature of the contest.

University of Cincinnati proved little more than a practice team, and Crowley used his substitutes freely, to win 32 to 0. Colgate, since acclaimed by experts the best team in the east, was humbled by a key-up fighting Spartan eleven on the following Saturday, 14 to 7. Leonard Macaluso Colgate back the high-point scorer of the nation, was stopped cold by the white-jerseyed State team. It was the only game of the year in which the flashy Maroon failed to score a point.

In the Case game the next Saturday, the Spartans had an easy time, winning 45 to 0. Substitutes played most of the game for State. At Washington the next week end, the Spartans suffered their only defeat of the season, losing a night game to Georgetown, 14 to 13, due mostly to

Gridders Honored
Two of State's most valuable center linemen, Cecil Foss and Don Ridler, have been invited by Coach Bob Zupke of Illinois to play a charity game with an all-star mid-western team. The contest will be held in Dallas, Tex., New Year's day. State's players have accepted Zupke's invitation to team with the best grid talent of the middle west.

Brown Chamberlain Star
Nov. 22, before a capacity crowd of 20,000 people, Crowley's men, hatted the University of Detroit to a scoreless tie, although they outplayed the Titans during the whole game. In this contest Roger Grove, premier Spartan quarterback, proved himself one of the best punters in the mid-west, placing kick after kick out of bounds well within the 15-yard line. He was removed from the game in the last quarter on account of injuries.

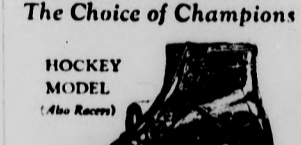

A rather mediocre year was experienced in track, the fourth major sport. The Bluebirds took even in dual meets, winning two and losing two throughout the season. Highlight of the year were the performance of Captain Laurin P. Brown, star distance man, who won the 1,000 meter steeplechase at the Iowa relay against the best talent in the east and the double victory of Clark Chamberlain at Milwaukee in the Central Intercollegiate, where he won both the mile and two mile, and set a new varsity record in the two mile.

The cross-country season was largely a chronicle of the successive victories of Clark Chamberlain, fast-stepping captain. Although the team as a whole ran but one of the three dual meets, and were last for second in the Central
