NOVATION IN YEARBOOK DRIVE IS HOPE TO PUSH FINAL TOTAL UP TO MARK SET FOR DEADLINE

As to Allow Military Students to Transfer Part of Deposit on Uniform to Cover Price of Subscription; To Determine Success of Campaign.

NEWLY DEVISED PLANS to materialize on promises for subscriptions in the Wolverine drive has given a more optimistic turn to the attainment of the final goal of 1400 paid-in copies by tonight. Although the total to date remains fairly static around the figure of 1100, last minute support from men of the underclassmen is being counted upon to bring an increase of subscriptions today. To give freshmen and sophomores chance to pledge for a book, a proposal will be put forth, a proposal will be put forth to them whereby they may transfer part of the deposit on their uniforms to apply on the purchase of a yearbook. Actual sales of the funds should the plan will be through the aid of the college treasurer, J. J. ...

... The final number fall short of the goal of 1400. It is being estimated that those who have already paid in their money will be able to pull out this will be only if no other means are available to drive over the top can ...

Patton Publishes Book on Canadian Economic History

Publication Commends New Work of State Economist

Among the members of the faculty who have gained national importance is Dr. H. H. Patton, professor of economics in the publishing of a book entitled "Canadian Economic History in Western Canada." An article in the American Journal of Sociology states the following concerning Patton's work: "Dr. Patton has made a valuable addition to the economic history of Western Canada. His treatment of the economic development is especially excellent. He also draws inferences regarding the results of economic development which are of great importance to the student of that movement and others. Moreover, his historical material is so complete and so carefully treated that it may eventually be used with that of the other studies as a basis for teaching the economic history of the Canadian continent, and covering articles in the field. Besides his well known book, Patton is deeply interested in international affairs. He is a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science." (Continued on page 2)

THETA ALPHA PHI TO INNOVATE MATINEE IN PRODUCTION NEXT WEDNESDAY AT STATE THEATER

Changes in Three Parts to Feature Presentation of "Three Shadows" in Two Performances; Tickets go on Sale in All Society Houses This Week-end.

A DOUBLE PERFORMANCE of "The Three Shadows," Theta Alpha Phi mystery play, will be presented next Wednesday, January 28, at the State Theater instead of the single night showing as has been customary for the honorary dramatic club offering. The matinee will be the first to be given by Theta Alpha Phi at the State Theater in a period of over three years. Tickets for the night performance are scheduled to go on sale at the society houses over the coming weekend and will be exchangeable at the theater box office for reserved seats, while general admissions will be sold at the door for the matinee. Each performance of the double bill will utilize a different campus thespian in three parts. The matinee lead, the female sub-lead and the character of the eccentric Colonel James Hammond are the parts that will see the change in actors while the remainder of the cast will take part in both afternoon and evening performances. This feature is also slightly different than any attempted in collegiate dramatic circles. The setting of the three-act play by Max Martin and Guy Bolton is in the home of an influential business man and banker in a suburb of Chicago. Military intrigue and romance are introduced rapidly in the plot. Into the theme is introduced a group of young men involving intricate relationships of friends and subsequent murder. The play opens with a revelation of the relations of Bob Andrews, the young banker and his ward, Ann Maynard, the daughter of an old friend of his and who secretly falls in love with her guardian. The latter part will be taken by Mabel Peterson, while the character of Bob Andrews will be depicted by Clarence Callahan in the matinee and Howard Smith in the night staging. To add complication to the affair Andrews shows friendly attentions to his former sweetheart, Mrs. Knowles, the part of whom is taken by Marian Allison in the matinee and Thelma Cole in the evening. ## SENIORS

The senior class meeting scheduled for last Tuesday has been postponed until next Tuesday, January 27, because of the smallness of the group that turned out. The assembly will be at 11:30 p.m. in the Physics building at 5 p.m. Gerald Green will preside. A new class secretary will be elected from the two candidates previously nominated, Jean C. Adair and Mary Herrett and a new class representative to the Liberal Arts board will be chosen to fill the vacancy left by the absence of Mrs. Paul Schwab, nee Fern-Streeter. To date only 36 seniors have had their measurements taken for caps and gowns at Hurst's Fashion Shop on Abbot road. The remaining 36 are asked to give their attention to the matter before the end of the week as no senior will be allowed to take part in the graduation exercises without the traditional apparel.

NAME SPEAKERS FOR RURAL MEET

Prominent Figures to Address Visitors at Farm Conference.

Speakers of national reputation will figure prominently in the program of educational meetings scheduled for the annual Farmers Week conference to be held here from February 2 to 6. Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, Hon. Walter H. Reuther, superintendent of public instruction, Dr. Alexander G. Wetmore, president of the University of Michigan, and George William Russell, in past and present, head the list of prominent figures named on the program. The general plan for the event is to hold a series of subject matter sessions devoted to discussions of the latest developments in special fields of agriculture during the forenoon with general sessions during the afternoon and evening. Addresses and evening meetings will be characterized by the appearance of speakers of wide reputation who are to speak on subjects of general interest. George William Russell is an outstanding figure among economists and would lead the agricultural society. He would lead the evening session. He would lead the evening session. He would lead the evening session. (Continued on page 2)

JOURNALISTS TO CONVENE HERE

Michigan Weekly Newspapermen to Meet on M. S. C. Campus Next Week.

PLAN EXTENSIVE PROGRAM Legislators, Jurists, Notables to Be Guests at Annual Banquet in Union.

Michigan State college will be a bustling home for newspaper folk and editors when the editors and publishers of the state's newspaper press gather here for the sixteenth annual conference of the Michigan Press Association from January 27 to 31. The meeting is to be devoted to four-day sessions. Thursday afternoon and Friday will be devoted to technical discussions of problems connected with the small town newspaper field. Talks by notables will be interspersed with general sessions, many of which are to be led by members of the press association itself. Members of the Michigan Press Association will include the state supreme court justices and other state officials will be guests of the press association at the annual banquet to be held at the Union Hotel building, Thursday evening. ## PLUCK or "Bound to Succeed"

The wolf must be drawing close to the door of those two Michigan State graduates who applied for jobs as vice preside inspectors to the Georgia state legislature. The way it happened was this: A representative of the legislature, wishing to show how education was brought up a notch, resolution was introduced at a special session, which also was held in the legislature. Although the legislature was not intended to be a serious matter, it was to be a serious matter. Among the members of the legislature were two former Michigan graduates, who tentatively return to Michigan. (Continued on page 2)

FARMERS TO HEAR BAND FOUR TIMES

First Band Concert Will Be Presented on Opening Program, February 2.

Four concerts are to be presented by the Michigan State Varsity Band during Farmers Week in demonstration hall. These periods of musical entertainment for rural visitors will open on Monday, Feb. 2, with an appearance at 2:45 in the afternoon. The second concert will be a part of Wednesday's program, one coming at 2:45 in the afternoon and the other in the evening. The week's musical events will be culminated in a final performance at 8 o'clock Thursday night. Band concerts, directed by Leonard Falconer, were a popular feature of the Farmers week program last year and were heartily appreciated by the audience. (Continued on page 2)

LORADO TAFT TO TALK HERE SOON

Internationally Famous Sculptor and Lecturer Speaks Here Thursday.

The third lecture in the Michigan State college lecture series will be presented at the Peoples Church, Thursday, Jan. 29, at 8 o'clock by Lorado Taft, famed Chicago sculptor and lecturer. Taft, who has gained international prominence through his various works of art and his ability as a speaker, has selected as his topic for the evening "My Dream of America." In his lecture Taft will tell of the hundred masterpieces of sculpture and endeavor to present each one in the light that the artist intended that they should be seen. He will explain each statue or group of statues from the viewpoint of the creating sculptor, stressing the vital surroundings, light and shade. He has made a life-long study of sculpture and is qualified to speak with authority on the subject. Taft was born at Elmwood, Illinois, in 1860. He is the son of a professor of geology at the University of Illinois, from which Taft graduated in 1879. He became interested in sculpturing when a kid of thirteen. At that time he helped a Belgian sculptor put together some plaster heads which he had reached the university at Urbana, badly damaged in transit. He became interested in sculpture and dropped his ambitions as a writer to devote his time to the art. Following up his impulse, Taft continued to model throughout his long career and after graduating he continued his education in Paris at the Ecole des Beaux Arts. He spent the years at this institution. He first attracted attention by his groups, the group of the Flowers and the Awakening of the Flowers. And since his first production, he has continued to gain a reputation for his artistic ability and skill. Taft has been honored by various societies and academies throughout the country. He is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, the National Academy of Design, and an honorary member of the American Institute of Architects. Taft's lectures have been characterized by his free flowing wit and genial philosophy. He has limited success in all parts of the United States and Europe. Taft is especially known for the simplicity of presentation and his ability to present his subject even to those who have not studied art in an interesting and highly informing manner. ## MILITARY SOCIETY SPONSORS SMOKER

Sixty Junior R. O. T. C. Students Are Guests of National Honorary.

About sixty advanced military students, members of Scabard and Blade and the regular army officers of the Junior R. O. T. C. unit attended a smoker in Demonstration hall from 8 to 10 o'clock Wednesday evening. The purpose of the meeting which was sponsored by Scabard and Blade military honorary was to afford an opportunity for the members of this organization to get acquainted with the juniors. Colonel Dorsey R. Rodney, chap speaker of the evening, stressed the importance of military training from the standpoint of the individual and from that of the entire nation. Another event of the evening's program was a moving picture which depicted the part that the medical unit plays in caring for the nation's fighting forces. G. W. Hobbs of the M. E. department is attending a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers being held this week at Detroit. (Continued on page 2)

Small Audience Lacks Appreciation of Artistry of Denishawn Dancers

Ted Shawn Plays Above Head of Crowd at Prudden Auditorium Wednesday Night.

Superb interpretation of classic native and national dance themes was the most outstanding feature of the presentation made Wednesday night in the Prudden auditorium by Ted Shawn and the Denishawn Dancers with Ernestine Day. Scarcely more than 700 attended the concert brought here by the Michigan State Institute of Music and Allied Arts. Ted Shawn, true to forecasts made before his appearance, was easily the most brilliant and skilled male dancer to be billed on the local boards in a long time. The sheer muscular feeling and spiritual interpretation that he put in all his efforts, coupled with the remarkable liteness and grace for which he is famous, united in creating an artistry that is worth going a long way to see. It must be admitted that the major part of the concert was over the heads of the audience and that their response was accordingly but enthusiastic. This was especially true in part due to the fact that the crowd had been so small and that Ted Shawn and the troupe felt the lukewarm attitude and reacted accordingly. Shawn seemed to take a contemptuous delight in presenting the crowd his best effort and then laughing at their evident lack of appreciation. This attitude was particularly evident in the appreciation of a classical folk-dance interpretation, "The Holiday in which the audience called repeatedly for encores, after allowing unusually fine selections prior to this but with little applause. Shawn, who has tasted the homage of world capitals for his art, could not fail to realize (Continued on page 4)

SANE INITIATION

The most successful men in this world are thinkers. There is a creed of thought-before-action. This, undoubtedly, is the cardinal principle underlying their climb up the mythical ladder.

We could apply this rule in our daily life at college. With initiation nearly completed, consider now how differently it might have been conducted, had thought come before the action.

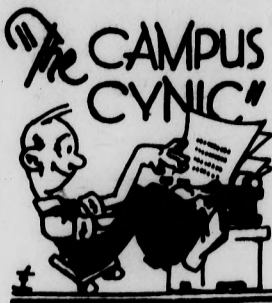

The days of barbarism have passed, to all appearances. Yet, at this particular period each year, it would seem that man is again living in the Neanderthal age. It is during initiation that freshmen are in their most impressionable stage; it is the time when likes and dislikes are emblazoned upon the mind of the initiate, when deep and lasting friendships are either made or broken as quickly as one might snap his fingers.

Many fraternities believe in breaking a man in body as well as in spirit. If physical wrecks is the goal they strive for, they certainly succeed. But is this the ideal to be attained? Obviously, the purpose of informal initiation is to place the pledge on the proper level in relation to the rest of the fraternity before the final induction. To accomplish this result, his spirit must be worn down to the breaking point. There are many ways and means used to gain this final stage, but why can't saner methods be employed without resorting to brutality.

Another factor rarely taken into consideration during initiation is the scholastic endeavors of the freshmen. It seems to be understood that the pledge shall neglect his studies entirely and devote all of his efforts toward the fraternity. However, a few of the broadminded fraternities have foreseen difficulties approaching in the future. Bearing in mind that the grades of those pledges now taking initiation will be averaged in with the rest of the fraternity when society scholarship reports are compiled at the end of the term, they are setting aside one or more hours each night for supervised study.

Now that the three week days of initiation is behind us, we can stop and view them for the perspective. Surely, everything points to a more sane, less brutal method of coping with the problem, informal initiation.

A beautiful form is better than a beautiful face; a beautiful behavior is better than a beautiful form; it gives a higher pleasure than statues or pictures—it is the finest of fine arts.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

By JOHN TATE, Jr.

This necessity for being cynical or in the mood to debunk becomes a severe ordeal at times. After all, the ag students seem satisfied with life, and the instructors get paid for what they have to do, and we can't talk about the private lives of the powers that be.

The homekeepers are learning how to cook (we are told), and to make babies' changeables, and the liberal artist are being groomed for pseudo-intellectualism. The chem students will know how to make grain alcohol (it's a wonder there isn't a law against it), and the vets are preparing to associate themselves with anti-cruelty to animals societies.

The engineers are learning how to cross bridges before they build them. Students of education are having inculcated into them the principles necessary to making everyone like themselves, and conformity is the cry abroad in the streets.

The trash idea of the ultimate perfectability of man is being summarily disillusioned. Sophomores are in their element venting puerile wrath (repressed at other times) upon the helpless yearlings, thereby proving something or other.

The juniors are looking forward to the hop when they can wear a borrowed tux and appear of consequence and feel devilish by keeping some girl out till three. The seniors think when they can't avoid it, of the day when they will set forth to conquer, and maybe they're wondering what.

The inter-fraternity council after much somnorous debate performed their most important task, that of setting the date of initiation to the satisfaction of no one, and can now relax on their respective haunches, and view with vast unconcern the cycle of passing events.

That egregious body designed to guide campus activities, the student council, has done twice as much with half the effort. They had a meeting with the A. W. S. the other night. Anyway it's good practice for those aspiring to civic clubs, where much of little importance is discussed with animation and tabled till the next meeting.

There's no use of writing this (the above), the campus won't understand it.

Progressing with great rapidity, like a troch on her first date, from the abstract to the paradoxical. There was a Broadway stage star who told her friends that she was going to Hollywood to play a character part—that of a virgin.

Having now entered the ranks of the pseudo-intelligentsia and learned the niceties of an entertaining conversation, the correct way to hold a cigarette, how to puff on it languidly, how to drink tea with a vague air of sophistication, all we need now is to acquire a simper and stop speaking to the ag students. How utterly diverting!

THE MOVING FINGER WRITES

For years the disastrous effect on student grades of fraternity initiation has been debated. Wishing to have the writer examine the records of men now enrolled at Michigan State or recently graduated. Since he is personally acquainted with not more than eight per cent of these his list was compiled in a more or less unbiased manner. The students were listed together with the term in each year in which grades were low, and the student directories for the various years consulted to learn how many of these were listed the following year as members of some fraternity. The amount of work accomplished so far in this research warrants a few conclusions: first, that grades were in an overwhelming majority of instances lowest during the term in which initiation occurred, second, that some did had low grades in the following term, third that in the year following initiation, many again had low grades, possibly due to conditions dependent upon initiations going on at that time, fourth that only about ten per cent of the initiates were able to maintain their usual level, and these seem to be students who throughout their college career have had almost no marks lower than B. On the other hand, the majority of "independents" receive their lowest grades in the first term of their college life and from then on as a rule progress to high ratings. Of course there is a percentage of entrants who are dropped early in their career at the institution of learning, and are therefore not counted in this survey.

Fraternities state that regular study periods are observed during "Hell Week," but while this is doubtless true, such periods are of negligible value, since the student brings to his work a mind conditioned by an exhausted body. The progress of the initiate will probably come out all right in the end, but many have limited physical reserve force and do not recover from the exhaustion for weeks, in too many instances having to suffer a deranged schedule from the necessity of re-arranging one or more courses in which his work proved to be unsatisfactory during that period. It would seem a though actual members could find periods of rest to rest the nerves of prospective members, without fatiguing them to the point of nullifying the effects of study.

Tickets will go on sale to the entire college next Monday, when they will be obtainable at the Union desk, and nearer the J-Hop date, at a special booth in the Union lobby from 4:00 to 5:00 o'clock every afternoon. Financial arrangements are under the direction of James Earl Bailey, who has indicated that "blocks" of tickets will shortly go on sale in the fraternities and houses. Tickets for the J-Hop will sell for $10, the lowest price for a J-Hop that has been seen on the campus since the J-Hop came to be the climax of the college social season.

Patton has had a very interesting career to date. During the war he worked at Harvard and then accepted a position at the University of Alberta. After four years at Alberta he went to the University of Cincinnati as professor of economics. He remained at Cincinnati for four years, then came to Michigan State college to take the position of professor of economics and to complete his second year in the capacity.

A good share of Patton's time is spent in administrative work here, but he still does a good deal of research work on international matters. In the summer of 1929 he attended the International Studies in Geneva. At the present time he and his staff are assisting the state in its economical problems.

Dean R. C. Huston spoke last Wednesday before the Notre Dame local society of the American Chemical Society in the subject "The Effect of Temperature as it affects the condensation of Aldehydes with Aromatic Compounds." This subject has been one of those under investigation for the past fifteen years.

Ball and Frosh Frolic, Addition to Society Parties, Furnish Week-end Entertainment

Officers' Club Formal to be Held in Demonstration Hall Tonight; First Year Class Makes Social Debut Tomorrow.

THE MILITARY BALL, one of the most brilliant and exclusive social events of the winter term, and the Frosh Frolic, the most popular informal party of the season, enhance the gaiety of this week-end which is already festive with fraternity formal dinner dances and open houses.

The military ball, which, with the exception of the J-Hop, is the high-light of all the social events of the year, is being held this evening in Demonstration Hall by the Officers' club, and is open only to advanced military students, members of the band, and alumni of the R. O. T. C.

The ball has been cleverly decorated with an entire false ceiling of cloth of blue and gold, while the walls are covered with corresponding fringed tapestries. Miss Fales' 11-piece band from Detroit will play from a platform which has been erected in the center of the main hall.

The grand march will form at 11:00 o'clock and will be led by Miss Bernice Kelly, a Michigan State co-ed, and a member of Alpha Phi, and Claude R. Strub, cadet-colonel of the local R. O. T. C. unit.

Unique favors and programs of white with the R. O. T. C. seal in green will be given the guests who are to be received by Col. W. M. Bricker and Mrs. Bricker, Pres. R. S. Shaw and Mrs. Shaw, Col. Dorsey R. Rodney and Mrs. Rodney, Cadet-Colonel Claude Strub, and Miss Beryl Abney, co-ed corps sponsor.

The class of 1931 will make its social debut at the annual Frosh Frolic to be held tomorrow evening in the Union ballroom where Gerald VanVleet and his orchestra will play for the evening. Lacking trophies of flowers, champagne, and a multitude of other red demons, and which will change the hall into a most realistic picture of what a freshman life is. White music programs with the green pat of given as favors.

The patrons and guests for the affair include Major and Mrs. C. Thomas, Capt. and Mrs. R. C. Olson, President and Mrs. R. R. Thaden, and Mrs. J. P. Thaden.

The Alpha Gamma Phi fraternity is having a formal dinner dance tomorrow in the main ballroom of the Union. The menu includes a variety of dishes and a variety of music.

Strong M. I. A. Five Will Invade Spartan Stronghold Tonight

MICHIGAN STATE BASKETEERS TO MEET VETERAN KALAMAZOO QUINTET AT ARMORY TONIGHT

Van Alstyne-Coached Outfit Ready for Clash With Kalamazoo, M. I. A. Champions, in Only Contest on Books for This Week; First String to Start.

KALAMAZOO COLLEGE'S strong court team will meet the Spartan quintet tonight at 7:30 in Demonstration hall in the eleventh court engagement between the two schools. The Spartans, fresh from their eastern victories, are given an edge over the Black and Gold cage team but the Celery City cagers are far from being a set-up. Last year the Kalamazoo team copped the M. I. A. championship with a strong court combination and are expected to repeat this year, having won every game in the league to date.

The court teams of the two schools have met on ten previous occasions (according to the record books) and Michigan State has usually emerged with a decisive victory. The Spartans have won eight contests in all from the Kazoo cagers in past years while the Black and Gold have had to be content with two victories. State has usually emerged with a comfortable margin of victory on the scorebooks. Not since 1923 have the Hornets chalked up a win over a Spartan court team in that year they returned home on the long end of a 24-22 count. The year previous they administered their most decisive beating to the Spartans when their stellar aggregation trampled State with a score of 39 to 26. At that time Coach Ralph H. Young, director of athletics at Michigan State, was basketball coach at the Kalamazoo school and was turning out some high class combinations. Last year Coach Ben Van Alstyne's fast traveling outfit had little difficulty in subduing the Black and Gold, the final score being 33 to 12.

The Hornets this year are noted for their fight and have won several games this season alone on it. They expect to take the Spartans into camp this year by a decisive margin and the spectators should see a hard fought battle tonight. The Kalamazoo cagers employ a man to man defense rather than the familiar zone method, which should tend to do away with any stalling in tonight's encounter. There are a number of veterans on the Hornet team this year who have given outstanding exhibitions up to date. C. Murdoch, Kalamazoo guard, a veteran of three years, has shown a deadly eye on long shots and will need

Intra-Mural Sports

Interfraternity Indoor Baseball

Four block champion nines will clash this week with the playing of the semi-final matches Monday night. The schedule is as follows: Lambda Chi Alpha, champions of Block 1, will meet the Epsilon Omicron, champions of Block 2. Epsilon Omicron, champions of Block 3, will meet the Phi Kappa Tau, champions of Block 4.

Tuesday night, Jan. 20, the Epsilon Omicron stepped toward the championship in their block when they defeated the Phi Chi Alpha 10-4 in the first indoor games of the week. The game was much closer than the score indicates and the winner was always in question until the Theta Kappa Nu, who had a five run inning in the fifth frame. The Alpha Theta, capt. the Lambda Chi Alpha team and lost to the future block champions, dropping to last place in their block. The score was 15-9. In the game between the Epsilon Omicron and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon the Epsilon Omicron emerged victors by a 15-14 score. Wednesday night the Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Block 3, moved up another place at the expense of the Phi Kappa Tau who proved to be the victors of a 11-3 score. The Phi Omicron also had a rather soft game with the Theta Kappa Nu and closed the five innings with a decisive 15-6 win.

MAT MEN FACE MICHIGAN SQUAD

Strong U. of M. Wrestling Team Threatens Inexperienced Spartan Lineup.

Spartan grapplers tomorrow night will engage in their first meet of the season when they take on the mat team of the University of Michigan at 7 o'clock in the West side gymnasium at Ann Arbor. Coach Peckler, Collins, Spartan mat coach, has been working his men hard and has molded a strong team that appeared mediocre material at the beginning of the season. Coach Collins will have only one veteran on the team that represents State tomorrow all the other Spartan grapplers lack varsity experience. Tommy Tompkins, 135 pounder, is State's lone veteran grappler. Michigan this year has one of the strongest grappling teams in its history and the odds are greatly in their favor to cop honors in tomorrow's bout. Last week the Maize and Blue completely outclassed West Virginia to win a smashing victory 29 to 0. Coach Keene's men gave formal notice that they would be a formidable aggregation and greatly to be feared in mid-west matches. Parker, 155 pounder, winner of last year's Big Ten title, is on this year's team and will oppose Tompkins, State veteran, tomorrow night. The bout is expected to be a real battle as Tompkins always rises to great heights against Michigan. Donogovito, 175 pounder, is another conference champion who is on this year's mat team at Ann Arbor. The Spartans hope to collect most of their points in the lower weight divisions, in which Coach Keene's men have exhibited some weakness. State's entries are: E. Rendell, 118 pounds; F. Roberts, 126 pounds; H. Ryan, 135 pounds; R. Strom, 145 pounds; H. Tompkins, 155 pounds; I. Marsa, 165 pounds; O. Lepard, 175 pounds; I. Tompkins, heavy weight.

SOPHS TO CLASH WITH FRESHMEN IN TRACK MEET

Preliminary Time Trials Show Promise of Keen Competition in Saturday's Meet.

EXPECT NEW RECORDS

Both Teams Have Several Individual Stars; Every Event Will See Close Rivalry.

Michigan State's sophomore and freshman classes will renew their traditional rivalry tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 in the gymnasium when they compete in a track meet that promises to furnish plenty of thrills to the spectators. If preliminary time trials are any criterion, Thursday night saw one of the fastest heats of low hurdles that has ever been run in the Spartan gymnasium, when Clifford Liberty sophomore, skinned from the upper peninsula, skinned the barriers in 5.01 to equal the varsity 40 yard low hurdle record, set in 1919 by DeGay Ernst.

The two squads, while relatively small compared by the numbers of other years, lack nothing as far as individual stars are concerned. Liberty will have plenty of competition in the hurdles, with such men as Bath and Steele, sophomores, and Winnecki and Lilling, freshmen, taking their marks beside him.

In the sprints, Liberty will be a strong competitor again, his major competition coming from Kibby, Dittich and Hovey, freshmen, and Stephenson, Dyest, Koppin, Bath and Steele, sophomores.

The 440 should see a new meet record, and possibly a new varsity record if Mark Stephenson finds himself in good enough condition this early in the season. Stephenson, a member of last year's star freshman relay team that broke a record set by Freddie Altman and his mates in 1925, is looked upon by Coach Young as the cream of the varsity quarter miler this year. His chief opposition Saturday will come from Warren, Pongrace and Guy, three freshmen who have showed up well in preliminary work.

The 880 yard run, which is scheduled for tonight to obviate the necessity of too strenuous a day for the middle distance men Saturday, will find virtually the same men battling for first place that will compete tomorrow in the 440, with the exception of Stephenson, Warren and Pongrace, freshmen, will match strides with Galehouse, Wisner, and Thomas, sophomores, in this half-mile event. Two more freshmen who look good in this event are Hurd and Guy.

On account of the eagerness of the season there will be no race longer than the 880. Coach Mason demanding the mile and two mile to strenuous a workout until a week or so later. There is a possibility that the results of the interclass meet next week may be used to decide the superiority of one of the two classes in this event. In the high jump, Norman Smith

Puck Chasers Play Battle Creek A. C. Here Tomorrow

Coach John Kobs' Spartan puck chasers tomorrow afternoon meet the Battle Creek A. C. sextet at 3:00 o'clock on the Spartan ice. The Battle Creek pucksters will present a fast-traveling outfit and the Kobsmen should find plenty of opposition. In last year's hockey game the Battle Creek aggregation garnered one more counter than Michigan State, the final score being 2 to 1.

State hockeyists were scheduled to meet the pucksters of Detroit City college in two games this week but the engagements were cancelled due to the fact the down state school has no ice team this year. Coach Kobs will most likely start the same lineup that was used against Haley's A. C. last Saturday. Chamberlain, Spartan ice ace, will be center; Jandren and Clark, wingmen; Capt. Warner and Schraft, defense; Pevo, goalie. Squares include Horne, defense; Jones and Little, wingmen.

YEARLING CAGERS PLAY FIRST GAME

Ferris Institute Five to Furnish First Opposition of Season.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock Coach Rye Bredin's freshman court team wins into action for the first time this season when they meet Ferris Institute in Demonstration hall. The Big Rapids school is reported to have a fairly strong team this year and the Spartan fresh are sure of having a good workout. Coach Bredin has been working with his charges since the beginning of the term and has several strong working combinations. The squad has been cut down to 24 members and some high class court talent has been brought to light in practice sessions.

The yearling court mentor will use as his starting combination Vander Roest, a lanky center from Kalamazoo; Patcher, an Adrian forward; and Bishop, a forward. Bishop or Dickson will be at the other forward position. At the guards will be Joe Krick, Detroit, and Riordan, a former Lansing high school star.

Urge Co-operation in Keeping Photo Appointments

Members of the junior class are noticeably lax in keeping Wolverine photo appointments with the LeClear studio in Lansing. It was said today at night forward, Bishop or Dickson will be at the other forward position. At the guards will be Joe Krick, Detroit, and Riordan, a former Lansing high school star.
